

Bodyguard 95

Chapter 95 – Just Like That?

Wait, one last question Lin Yi asked quickly; the guy seemed to be getting impatient.

Speak. Jiao Yazhi said dully.

Who are you, exactly? And whos this mentor you keep talking about? Lin Yi asked curiously.

I am Jiao Yazhi, as Ive just told you. Yazhi answered. My mentor, naturally, is someone of absolute power and ability, though that is not your concern. You also dont have to fantasize about becoming his pupil just because you picked up a scroll and jade he made when he was bored! Its impossible!

Ugh Lin Yi wasnt sure where this was coming from, but Yazhis eyes seemed to be asking who do you think you are?, and Lin Yi didnt understand what hed said to piss him off- the guy was obviously calm and neutral just a while ago.

Lin Yi thought about it, and came to a realization- the guy who left the scroll and jade was the master of Yazhis master: this meant that Lin Yi would be Yazhis elder if he were to go under that guys tutelage! No wonder Yazhi was so upset! Lin Yi smiled at Yazhi at the thought. Of course not! Even if I were to become anyones pupil, itd be Elder Jiao before anyone else!

Hm Not bad, kid- you know your stuff! Yazhi said as a smile finally squeezed its way onto his face. Well, Ive seen your sincerity, so I guess Ill teach you for a little bit!

Ah Lin Yi smiled, deciding to leave it at that. He then sat down cross-legged on the floor, entering a training state.

Lin Yi decided to stop asking about the mentor- Yazhi obviously didnt want to talk about him, and there was no point in forcing it. The time would come eventually, if Yazhi deemed it necessary or appropriate to speak to Lin Yi about it.

An overwhelming amount of energy surged into Lin Yis body from all directions, taking Lin Yi aback with shock. Hed experienced fast absorptions in the deep mountain forests before, since there was more natural energy there in comparison to the cities But it was nowhere near as fast as this! It was as if all existing barriers were removed, allowing the wealth of energy to flood in with no restrictions at all! A sensation of overflowing filled Lin Yis body up before he managed to control the absorption rate.

Fuu Lin Yi noticed Jiao Yazhi looking amused some distance away, and Lin Yi squinted his eyes helplessly. Did the old guy think this was some sort of joke? Couldnt he at least warn him about something like this beforehand?

The energy from all around continued surging into Lin Yi even after hed limited the absorption- the only difference was how fast it was going in. It wasnt long before Lin Yi felt a sensation of the energy filling him up, capping as if his body were at its limit But the energy never stopped flowing in!

Lin Yi started sweating at the sensation- what was going on? Hed never went through something like this before!! Lin Yi was a bit frightened, but continued to let the energy flow in nonetheless- there wasnt much more he could do to stop the flow.

He felt like a magnet, pulling everything to him without halt.

Jiao Yazi. Lin Yi said, calling for help- he felt like hed explode any minute now

But the guy only looked at him, as if he were watching a show- it was obvious that there'd be no help coming from him.

A rumble sounded, and Lin Yi's body started breaking down from the pressure- his entire essence seemed to explode as his clothes blackened into crisps, flying away from him.

Fuu

Lin Yi's eyes fell on his red, naked body just as he thought hed died. He was standing right in front of Jiao Yazi, and an indescribable sensation permeated throughout the entirety of his body- it was very pleasant indeed.

Was this a breakthrough? Lin Yi was dumbfounded- hed never experienced a breakthrough before, and the burst of overflowing energy was a strange sensation to him as well. Lin Yi didnt know what to say.

So that was why Jiao Yazi didnt do anything about it- hed expected this to happen from the very start!

Well, how was the breakthrough? Feels pretty nice, doesnt it? Yazi spoke up.

It does feel nice, but I didnt expect the energy here to be so overwhelming that Id make a breakthrough just like that- I thought Id died, even. Lin Yi said, smiling bitterly.

You were on the verge of a breakthrough in the first place, but there were just too many hazardous circumstances in your surroundings outside. There's simply not enough energy for a one-time burst like that. Yazi said with a smile. There's plenty of energy here, that's why you had the energy needed to break through instantly.

The explanation enlightened Lin Yi- So he was on the verge this whole time, and all hed needed was a supply of energy strong enough for a single burst? It also seemed that an overflowing like that only came about during breakthroughs, and there probably wouldn't be surges like that during regular training.

Thank you, Mister Jiao. Lin Yi gave the old man a genuine bow- the guy had helped him a great deal no matter what, and Lin Yi had only sincere gratitude.

Yazi was a little stunned at the bow- this Lin Yi was acting so solemn and serious all of a sudden. Okay kid, no need to be so serious. You can call me Elder Jiao or Old Jiao from now on, whichever you want. Actually, lets stick to Mister Jiao

Then Ill call you that. Lin Yi nodded in compliance. Mister Jiao, so do you think Im ready to start training the second stage?

The second stage? Do you have that? Yazi asked, startled.

Huh? Dont you? Lin Yi looked curiously at the elder, startled as well.

Where am I supposed to pull one out for you? You're supposed to go get that from behind the second set of doors. Yazi said, a little speechless.

Doesnt that belong to your masters master? Did you not practice it before? Lin Yi asked, even more speechless than Yazi.

So I have to train in something just because its my masters masters? Yazi said with a roll of his eyes. My path is different from this one, I train in different things. This ones for you to master only.

Ah I see... Lin Yi scratched his head awkwardly- his mentality seemed to be limited by conventional thoughts. The guy was right: he didnt have to train in the Art of Dragon Mastery just because his masters master left it behind.

You think Id be asking you to hurry up if I knew that art? Yazi continued helplessly. Dont be expecting too much from me now, Im just an illusion! My function heres pretty much just a lecturer: I tell you about the uses of the training space and things like that, also maybe chat with you a bit if youre feeling down or bored There isnt much beyond that! The rest depends on you yourself.

Lin Yi only blinked speechlessly at the statement. It seemed that even slacking off wasnt an option anymore, there was no second stage for him to train in yet It was still a while before the gates opened- what should he do in the meantime?
