

BOOT CAMP 1761

Chapter 1761: Military Soul Forged By Blood

“That’s right. That’s why I didn’t hide it from you. At the same time, I also need to tell you that our training is a military secret. You can’t choose to withdraw.” This was the army. They had to give up their ‘family’ for the sake of everyone.

For the country’s peace, the sacrifices a soldier had to make were not something the citizens could imagine.

If a soldier’s wife and children got in an accident, the soldier protecting the country could not simply appear to be there for his family.

As long as they were still on a mission, they could not be loyal and filial. They could only choose to be loyal.

The life and death of her closest family member were unknown. As a soldier, Ye Jian could not abandon her training and rush over. She could not even contact the outside world.

This was the army. It was an army with iron rules. They had to sacrifice their own people. Ye Jian could only stand in the cold moonlight and worry about her family. She would not do anything else.

Li Jinnian flipped open the entire training schedule. When he heard Ye Jian’s seemingly calm voice, he realized that she was sobbing. He pursed his lips and glanced at the schedule coldly. Then, he looked up at Ye Jian and said, “After you finish your desert training, go to the highlands. There’s a total of 29 hours left. If you can catch up with the highlands training within 29 hours, Azure Bird, I agree to give you some time to go over.”

There were still eight days until the desert training ended!

Ye Jian, who was in medical school in her previous life, knew very well that if they could save him this time, she could wait until the training was over before going back to visit Uncle Chen. If they could not and she could only go back eight days later... She suppressed the trembling in her heart and stared at Li Jinnian. Although her voice was soft, every word she said was extremely heavy, “No, it’s alright.”

Uncle Chen had told Commander Liu and the political commissar not to tell her about his gastric bleeding. From this, she could tell that Uncle Chen did not want her to break the rules of the army.

Her two closest relatives, who taught her and raised her, had told her that discipline was an order of the army and could not be violated!

Be it in the era of hard and bitter war or in this era of peace, the army had always been strict about discipline. This was what Uncle Chen had said on the first day of training.

If she rushed back now, Uncle Chen would definitely be disappointed.

She did not want her family to be disappointed.

Li Jinnian did not try to persuade her. A trace of comfort flashed past Xia Jinyuan's eagle-like eyes because of her words.

He knew Ye Jian very well. Li Jinnian, who had this thought in his mind, nodded slightly. "Alright, let's end the discussion here tonight and get some rest."

"It's been hard on you tonight. Thank you," Ye Jian thanked him sincerely. Even though she had suddenly received bad news, she still looked like a soldier. Li Jinnian could not help but cheer when he saw this.

She was not even 20 years old yet. Upon hearing that her family was in danger, he was surprised that she could remain so calm. If he had not heard her forced calm voice, he would have mistaken her for a female soldier who was cold to her family members.

She was not, but she was aware of her identity.

It was too cruel for someone under the age of 20, but she managed to keep the military spirit of a soldier.

Xia Jinyuan pulled his little fox into his arms. He tightened his iron arms so that she could snuggle into his arms. He wanted her to have someone to rely on and feel at ease.

Chapter 1762: Military Uniform Is Tantamount To Responsibility

Not all soldiers could do this when their families were in danger. Soldiers were humans too. They would also lose control sometimes.

Facing Ye Jian, who was silently in pain, he did not hear her cries or her complaints. However, her hands that were holding his clothes tightly seemed to be clenching his heart, making his heart ache.

"Everything will be fine. Believe me, everything will be fine. My father already knows about the situation. He sent a top expert from 301 General Military Hospital to the Southern Province on a private plane. They should be in the Southern Province by now. A top expert and a top team. Little Fox, believe me, Uncle Chen will survive this."

He hugged her tightly. He wished so much that he could share her sorrow. He wished so much that he could bear all the sorrow and pain alone.

However, he could not. He could not bear the pain in her heart nor her helplessness. He could only comfort her and accompany her.

Ye Jian did not say anything. She was afraid that she would burst into tears the moment she opened her mouth.

In her previous life, she had cried too much. In this life, she really hated the feeling of tears flowing out. She especially hated facing difficult problems. She would feel helpless and aggrieved.

"Don't forget that Uncle Chen is a soldier. He's an indomitable soldier. He's also a world-class sniper and is respected by many soldiers of the country. He has seen many such life and death situations. He has also encountered too many such difficulties. You have to believe that there's no obstacle that Uncle Chen can't overcome. There's no difficulty that Uncle Chen can't overcome.

"We can't go back because the responsibility on our shoulders is too heavy. Uncle Chen will understand your choice and cheer for you. That's because he knows that the girl he raised has really grown up. She has grown into a qualified soldier and a qualified special forces soldier.

"Do you remember what Uncle Gen said? He said that wearing a military uniform is equivalent to carrying the responsibility of the country and the people. Loyalty and filial piety can't go together. For example, for the country and the people, we can only choose to be loyal soldiers. There are no other choices.

"Uncle Chen won't blame you. On the contrary, he'll be happy about your growth."

Xia Jinyuan's voice was very low. Every word was heard by Ye Jian, and every word entered her heart. Her hands that were holding his combat uniform slowly loosened.

Up ahead, Li Jinnian and a few other comrades were quietly standing there, watching the two of them hug. When they saw the tall male soldier guarding the female soldier like a mountain, they heaved a sigh of relief.

Big Whale retracted his gaze and sighed. Just as his gaze landed on Li Jinnian, he seemed to have thought of something and sighed.

Li Jinnian sighed as he glanced sideways. "She's very strong."

"Yes, Azure Bird is indeed very strong. Even male soldiers might not be able to do this," J5 said. Only he, Big Whale, and the two captains knew what had happened.

Big Whale wanted to rub his chest. His first sigh was indeed because of the Azure Bird. The second sigh was because... he had discovered a secret.

The two of them were hugging each other so tightly and snuggling up to each other. He felt that any comforting words they could say to Azure Bird were unnecessary.

With Q King around, it did not matter who went over.

Chapter 1763: Finally Discovered The Secret

He also had a family of his own. His life was indeed a little rough, but it was not so rough that he could not tell what was going on.

They were clearly a couple!

Azure bird and Q King were clearly a couple!

From the looks of it, it had not just been a day or two since they got together. Couples who were only together for a day or two were not as intimate as this. They had definitely been together for a long time. In that case, the demon king really had nothing to do with them anymore.

He sighed for the second time because the demon king no longer held a place here. Azure Bird and Q King were a couple, so the demon king had to step aside.

“With Q King taking care of Azure Bird, we don’t have to go over.” J5 stopped paying attention to the two. Sometimes, the more people there were, the more uncomfortable they would be. Azure Bird was a female soldier who was used to being alone. She would feel uncomfortable if too many people went over.

Big Whale, who originally proposed to go and comfort Ye Jian, nodded. “We can withdraw and hand it to Q King. I believe he’ll guide Azure Bird well.” In the future, he must not marry off Azure Bird to the demon king!

Li Jinnian was the first to leave. As he walked past Big Whale, he said calmly, “Do you know how wrong you were in the past?” He previously tried to matchmake him and Ye Jian many times in front of Xia Jinyuan. Ha, Xia Jinyuan never once threw a tantrum. He had good manners.

“You knew about this long ago?” Big Whale was quite shocked. How could he tell?

“Know what?” Li Jinnian glanced at his shocked comrade under the moonlight. He did not say anything else to clear his comrade’s doubts and instead walked back to the team to get some rest.

As for when Xia Jinyuan and Ye Jian would be returning to the camp, no one knew except the sentinels.

The next day, Ye Jian joined the training with the male soldiers as usual. Her eyes were slightly red and swollen.

They had already arrived in the desert. The satellite signal seemed bad. Ye Jian did not receive any news about Principal Chen anymore. It was as if the day she found out that Principal Chen was critically ill was just a nightmare.

She wished so much that it was just a nightmare. She wanted to wake up from it and realize that nothing had happened.

Now, apart from seriously completing her training every day, she would quietly wait for nighttime when the military headquarters would bring her news.

Four days had passed. Other than that night when they found out that the military had arranged for top experts and medical teams to the Southern Province, there was no other news. It was as if they had forgotten about it.

Looking up at the stars in the desert, they were so bright and there were no clouds. Every star was glowing with pure light. Looking at the vast sky, Ye Jian could not help but smile.

“Uncle Chen, you’ll definitely be able to make it through. I believe you’ll definitely be able to.” There was no news from the military anymore. For her, this was the best news.

Xia Jinyuan quietly looked at the slender figure standing not far away. When he saw her raise her head to look at the stars, he could not help but raise his head. It was beautiful and vast. She seemed to be able to forget all her worries just by standing in the desert and looking at the stars... He wondered if she had forgotten all her worries and sorrows.

Xia Jinyuan did not walk over to disturb her. He gave her some space and waited silently.

The starry sky in the desert was always more beautiful than the starry sky in the cities. The cities with the flashing neon lights were too noisy, and there were too many sins. Under the multicolored lights, no one could see each other clearly. Everyone was wearing a mask. Who knew what their true appearance under the mask was?

Chapter 1764: Happy New Year

Ye Zhifan walked to the smoking room of the hospital. He took out a pack of cigarettes and took one out. When he took out his lighter, the lighter fell to the floor with a crash. He seemed to have lost his mind and did not notice it. He continued searching in his pocket, flipping through it unconsciously.

There was someone else in the smoking room. When he saw this, he picked up the lighter for Ye Zhifan and said, "You dropped your lighter. Here."

The kind-hearted person stretched out his hand but did not see any reaction from the person. His eyes could not help but contain a trace of pity as he consoled, "Calm down, don't be too anxious. Come, I'll light a fire for you. You just need to take a few puffs. My wife is still giving birth. I'm also very nervous. I also came over to take a few puffs before I could calm down."

Ye Zhifan finally realized that someone was talking to him. The other party had lit the cigarette for him too. He quickly said, "Thank you." He took a drag of the cigarette.

However, he had no intention of talking to the stranger who was nervous about his wife's delivery. He stood in a corner with his cigarette. It was obvious that he did not want to talk to him.

He was not in the mood to chat!

After returning from a meeting outside, he did not even go home and deliberately came to the hospital. He first visited Madam Ye, who was lying on the bed, before running to the ward that Chen Dongfeng used to be in. Only then did he know that Chen Dongfeng was no longer in the hospital.

He, on the other hand, knew nothing! He did not receive any news from the hospital at all! Even the person who was working for him did not give him any news!

If the person who was handling such a big matter did not send him a message, then there must be a problem!

He could not get through to the person who he called to handle the matter, which meant that his phone was switched off. He then called the director in charge of Old Madam Ye's attending physician. The call went through, but the other party did not know about the situation.

It was only when he called the hospital director to ask him about it that he found out that Chen Dongfeng had been transferred to another hospital that night. The top experts of 301 General Military Hospital had brought their medical team over. The upper echelons of the provincial hospital were all notified. They left with Chen Dongfeng...

What was Chen Dongfeng's background?! What was his background?!

It would not be wrong to say that such treatment was only given to the highest leaders!

For the first time, Ye Zhifan regretted it. He regretted that he was too hasty this time. It was because... he did not expect Chen Dongfeng to be more powerful than Grandpa Gen.

He thought, he thought... He thought that Grandpa Gen was the best. After all, even the commander-in-chief had come over.

Unexpectedly, Chen Dongfeng was even more capable than his uncle. He even got 301 General Military Hospital to bring their medical team to the Southern Province just to save Chen Dongfeng's life!

Ye Zhifan was smoking more and more furiously. He finished his cigarette in less than two minutes. When he lit another cigarette, he flicked the lighter a few times before successfully lighting it up.

The police had stepped in to investigate. All the relevant personnel was being detained, and the military had appeared as well... The more he thought about it, the more flustered he became. He was so flustered that he could not stay in the hospital anymore.

'Our hospital is in big trouble. The police and the military are in the midst of an investigation. All the relevant personnel has been detained. We've pulled up all the medication records that day...'

Ye Zhifan, who was walking quickly, thought about everything the director said. He walked too quickly and almost tripped on his own leg.

He needed to know if Chen Dongfeng was out of danger. It would be best if... he was not embarrassed by this situation! Since trouble had already appeared, he would be more straightforward!

Unfortunately, he was just thinking about it.

Xia Jinyuan received another call. He looked at Ye Jian, who was still looking up at the starry sky from afar. There was a faint smile on his handsome face. He could foresee how beautiful and delicate her smile would be later. It would be like the beautiful peony that would be famous in the capital when it bloomed..

Chapter 1765: Beauty

Ye Jian did not know how long she had been alone. She only knew that when she heard the sound of military boots stepping on the sand, she turned around and saw Xia Jinyuan's deep eyes smiling gently at her.

She had always known that there was a gaze silently watching her from afar. It was filled with pity and gentleness as it stared at her, encouraging her.

Although he did not walk over and she did not turn around, she knew who the owner of the gaze was.

That was because no one could look at her as gently as he did. No one could know when she wanted to be alone like he did. He knew her so well and could always give her the right amount of support and encouragement.

Ye Jian turned around and looked at the young major who was approaching her. Her gaze was fixed on his gentle dark eyes. Gradually, she smiled.

Just as Xia Jinyuan had thought, the smile on her face was like a peony blooming in the moonlight. She was beautiful and charming.

She thought that she already knew what kind of good news he wanted to tell her.

The cold crescent moon shone with a cold and bright light. In the moonlight, his comrade and lover was staring at him with curved eyes.

Xia Jinyuan walked in front of her and lowered his eyes to look at the female soldier who had always been so strong that his heart ached for her. He bent down slightly and took the helmet from her hand before putting it on for her. "Uncle Chen has never disappointed anyone. It's the same this time. How can he be defeated so easily when he has you to worry about?"

The female soldier who wore a combat helmet and a combat desert uniform had a tall and straight posture. Her eyebrows were as beautiful as a painting, and she exuded a tenacity that even the best masters could not depict in their drawings.

After putting on the helmet for her, he adjusted her collar. The young major, who had a handsome face and a military aura, stared at the female soldier who made him fall in love with her. His voice was low and deep like the sound of an instrument. "What you've experienced, the hardships and the pain, are all the hurdles that you'll definitely have to encounter in your growth.

"Step over them bravely. You, on the other hand, have been baptized. Azure Bird, you look like a soldier now. I can see the temperament that modern soldiers should have on you. You have the awareness you should have. Good job, female soldier!"

Her journey was not smooth-sailing at all. Only when she cleared all the obstacles and hurdles would she be a true soldier.

"Congratulations, you're one step closer to joining the Xueyu unit."

His last sentence lit up Ye Jian's eyes and they instantly shone brighter than the stars in the sky. Seeing this, Xia Jinyuan's smile grew wider. "You don't have to be surprised. In the hearts of all of us, you're the best female soldier."

Ye Jian's performance this time could be said to be beyond everyone's expectations. Even the major general of the army had told him, "Give Ye Jian three days to go back and visit her family."

He did not answer for Ye Jian but said, "I'll tell Ye Jian the truth and let her decide. However, Major General, based on my understanding of Uncle Chen and Ye Jian, she won't choose to leave."

Uncle Chen was the hero of this era. Not only did he guide Ye Jian into entering the military, but he was also her spiritual guide in her journey to becoming a qualified soldier. His selfless contribution had always influenced Ye Jian, making her rarely take the wrong path. She kept walking in the correct direction that her senior pointed out to her..

Chapter 1766: Guard

Ye Jian was influenced by the two seniors. How could she leave the secret training that was going on? How could she violate the military rules?

If Ye Jian really chose to leave and go back to accompany Uncle Chen, Uncle Chen would be completely disappointed in her. The child he had taught for close to ten years actually abandoned the army and her responsibility to come back for him. Uncle Chen would be heartbroken if Ye Jian disappointed him.

Hence, when he previously told Ye Jian that there was a problem with Uncle Chen's IV, he waited patiently for her decision.

Those few seconds of waiting were even more nerve-racking than when he was on a dangerous mission. He had never been so nervous since he joined the army.

Li Jinnian had said that she would have 29 hours of free time to do as she pleased. At that moment, he almost collapsed. He gritted his teeth and endured it.

Azure Bird had never needed anyone to make a decision for her. She was smart and could make her own decisions.

Hearing that she chose to stay, he had the urge to cry.

She had made the correct decision as a soldier. He did not know what he was feeling anymore.

Seeing the sorrow in her eyes and hearing her tearful voice, he knew that she had made the right decision. However, he did not feel relieved at all. He only felt his heart ache for her and for the soldiers who had no choice but to do so for the sake of their country.

There was no such thing as a peaceful time. It was just that someone was carrying the weight for you. You could not see the darkness because someone was shielding you from the darkness. Ye Jian was the spitting image of all the soldiers. She was making sacrifices to fulfill the dreams of others.

The desert was too quiet, so quiet that time seemed to have stopped.

After a long time, Ye Jian saluted the major who had always supported and encouraged her. She had experienced pain and knew how to hide it. She said softly, "Thank you, Major."

"You're welcome. It's my duty." Xia Jinyuan returned the military salute.

The two of them were only an arm's length away from each other. They were wearing the same military uniform and had the same temperament as each other. They saluted each other. The moon shone down on the two of them, casting a shadow on the desert. They looked like two white poplar trees that guarded the borders.

"Uncle Chen was already out of danger yesterday. We entered the depths of the desert two days ago when the satellite signal was not too stable. Even if the command center of our two teams wanted to contact us, it wouldn't be easy.

"Principal Chen's situation is indeed very dangerous, but he was saved in time after being discovered. After being jointly treated by the experts of the People's Hospital of Southern Province and the 301 General Military Hospital. After 72 hours of danger, he was finally transferred out of the intensive care unit.

"Because of Principal Chen's special identity, the military hid the fact that he was safe from danger for the sake of caution. Only Commander Liu, Commissar Yan, Commander Xia, and the major general of the army know about the situation. You and I are the only ones in the army who know. Although the demon king and the rest know a little, they don't know about Uncle Chen's identity."

The two of them walked back to the campsite side by side from the sand dune. Xia Jinyuan told Ye Jian everything he knew. "The military has put pressure on the Southern Province police to investigate this matter as soon as possible. They'll handle this matter. We can't interfere."

He just escaped from a life-threatening situation and was transferred to the intensive care unit because of the infusion. The military's main concern was whether the infusion was an accident or a work mistake!

Chapter 1767: If You Have Me, You Have A Home

Xia Jinyuan did not tell Ye Jian about the military's guess. Since he had said so, she would definitely be able to guess.

In short, it was not up to Ye Jian to interfere whether it was an intentional act or a work mistake. The best solution was for the police to handle everything.

As smart as Ye Jian was, she understood the military's guess. She pursed her lips. The military was so careful with their arrangements. It seemed that they were more worried that this was an accident planned by someone.

Uncle Chen, who had a special identity, was a discharged soldier under the protection of the country. His identity and whereabouts could not be exposed at all. If... this was an accident premeditated by someone... Ye Jian's expression tensed up even more, and the viciousness in her eyes intensified!

A man-made accident? A work accident? No matter what kind of accident it was, it was unforgivable!

“Uncle Chen’s identity might need to be changed again. The military has already begun making secret arrangements. I’m afraid Uncle Chen can’t return to Shuikou Village. Perhaps, Uncle Chen will have to be ‘sacrificed’ again to get rid of all the trouble.”

If that was the case, then every time his little fox returned to Shuikou Village, there would be no family to welcome her back. Uncle Chen would never again appear in the village where she was born and raised.

If the little fox was left alone in the empty house... The scene of Ye Jian standing alone at the door of her house flashed through his mind. Xia Jinyuan’s heart ached.

However, Ye Jian was very open-minded. As long as Uncle Chen was alive, her home was wherever he was.

Sensing the change in the man’s mood, Ye Jian said softly, “I just need Uncle Chen to live. Wherever Uncle Chen is, it’ll be my home.”

Perhaps it was because of the misunderstanding between her and the villagers of Shuikou Village in her previous life that she did not have much attachment to the village after she was reincarnated. If there was a day when Uncle Chen would not be able to return to Shuikou Village, then she would not think about returning either.

In her heart, home was where her family was.

Her smile was still so gentle. The determined look on her face made Xia Jinyuan’s heart beat faster. He raised his hand and patted the helmet she was wearing. “Come back to the capital with me in the future. I believe Commander Xia will welcome his future daughter-in-law warmly.”

He would give her a complete family. She would be with her loved ones, her husband who loved her deeply, and their children. In the future, wherever Xia Jinyuan was, it’d be her home.

It was late at night. The sentinel stood guard with a steel gun in his hand. Behind him were his comrades who had fallen asleep. The desert training would end in three days. The closer they got to the end, the more they needed to maintain their physical strength. The night was still long, but the soldiers in training only had less than five hours of rest.

As the new year approached, the pressure on the Southern Province police was getting heavier by the day. What happened at the Southern Province People’s Hospital made them feel even more pressured.

It turned out that it could be classified as medical malpractice, but with the military involved, it became complicated. Most importantly, they did not even know the identity of the victim!

The military headquarters only told their director one thing—be sure to investigate clearly whether it was a work mistake or plotted by someone.

If it was done by someone else, they would have to find out if there was any personal vendetta. They would have to ask the person involved and understand his social network. After that, they would have to investigate the person involved thoroughly and find the suspect through the leads.

They had not even seen the person involved and had to rely on the hospital to investigate. Although the progress was a little slow, at least they had some results..

Chapter 1768: Pursuit

The Southern Province Hospital was relieved by the results of the police's latest investigation. The nurse in charge of prescribing the medication was absent-minded when she went to work that day due to family reasons. She also mistook the dosage of the medication. In addition, the nurse in charge of verification received a call midway and did not check it carefully again. That was how the wrong dosage was administered.

In other words, the result of the police's investigation showed that it was a work error and not a crime.

The military did not immediately agree with the results of the police investigation. Instead, they investigated more carefully and thoroughly. They combed through the entire hospital's network of relationships. They even investigated the family background of the cleaner who was in charge of cleaning Principal Chen's ward.

After all, it was the military. The information they found was so detailed that the Southern Province police broke out in a cold sweat. It was too detailed. A list of all the medical staff who knew who the person involved was and those who were admitted on the same day as him was printed out.

"The telephone numbers of the medical staff were given to me by the military and I'll get the police to call them. I'll ask the Southern Province police to investigate the backgrounds of all the people who have come into contact with the medical staff.

"In addition, the governor of the province has said that the military isn't satisfied regarding this matter. Our Southern Province will definitely be criticized during the National Congress that will be held next March."

Xia Yiwei sent the list of phone numbers as well as a few sheets of fax paper with locations to the director of the Southern Province Public Security Bureau and said seriously, "The victim is a retired soldier who has done meritorious service. In 1986, he was even received by the second-generation core leaders of our country. Superintendent Hong, now you know why even the governor is so careful."

The second-generation core leaders were the leaders who had followed the first-generation core leaders to liberate the country. Getting to meet them was a soldier's honor!

Superintendent Hong could already hear cold sweat breaking out on his forehead. His back was drenched.

As the chairman of the board, even though his heart was surging with emotions, he did not show it on his face at all. He took the fax papers from Xia Yiwei and said solemnly, "I've made the governor worry. Please don't worry. We'll definitely give the military an explanation for this matter!"

“The governor trusts the ability of the bureau very much, so the governor can rest assured that we’ll definitely give the military a satisfactory answer!” Xia Yiwei said with a smile. She was gentle and polite the entire time, looking especially cultured.

She was only conveying the governor of the Southern Province’s words to Superintendent Hong, who was sitting in the office. It felt like one moment, he was in June, and the next moment, he was in the middle of winter. He was so stressed that his clothes were all wet from sweat.

Giving the military a satisfactory answer meant that the military was not satisfied with the results of the Southern Province police’s investigation!

“Three days. During the three days of internal work, we’ll definitely investigate the background of all the people whose phone numbers are on this list. If anyone dares to be careless, they’ll take off their police uniform and leave!”

In the meeting room, Hong Guang’s voice was as deep as water and as loud as a bell. He said sternly to all the police officers who were participating in the meeting, “If anyone has any objections and finds it troublesome, make it clear to me now!”

No one would have any objections!

Now, even the officers who were originally in charge of the investigation had been replaced. The person in charge was also replaced by the most famous police officer in the Southern Province. It was obvious how important this matter was to the higher-ups.

“Since there are no objections, investigate the matter properly. Old Ma, you’re the representative of the Southern Province’s Public Security Bureau. I’ll hand this case to you..”

Chapter 1769: Attack

Old Ma had been in criminal investigation for 23 years. He started as a young man of 22 and now, he was a middle-aged man of 45. He had handled countless cases, ranging from big and small. In 1996, he was responsible for solving serial murders that shocked the entire country.

Ye Zhifan knew that Old Ma was in charge of this matter. When he sat in his office, he felt cold. The heater was turned on, but he felt like he had fallen into a cold lake.

There was no news of Chen Dongfeng’s death. Instead, news of the police kept reaching his ears, making him unable to continue working.

“Xiao Dong, I’m going out for a while. Call me if there’s anything.” Director Ye, who was not in the mood to work, called his secretary over and informed him before driving away.

He needed to calm down and think about what else he had not dealt with.

It had not been easy for him to come this far today. He did not want to suddenly lose everything! Everything had just begun. He could not fall!

Ye Zhifan, who was driving aimlessly, was angry as he thought about it. His expression was so dark that it looked like dark clouds hovered above him. It made others shudder.

He drove to a park and sat in the car quietly. He thought about it carefully and wondered if he had made any mistakes. After thinking for more than an hour, Ye Zhifan confirmed that there was nothing wrong. He smiled coldly.

After Old Ma brought the two police officers into his office, Ye Zhifan did not panic at all. He remained calm and received them formally.

At this time, it had been ten days since Principal Chen's infusion incident. Ye Jian and the male soldiers got on the helicopter that flew into the desert to fetch them. They were exhausted and flew to the highlands for their final training.

This was the last stop of training. Although everyone looked tired, no one quit. No matter how tired they were, they would persevere. The word 'quit' never appeared in the dictionary of the two teams!

At this moment, the highlands had already been sealed off by heavy snow. The soldiers stationed at the outposts were living a life of isolation from the rest of the world. In order to maintain a smooth descent, the cabin crew on the helicopter had been in constant contact with the highlands' main station. If the weather changed, the helicopter would not be able to reach the landing site yet.

This helicopter was sent by a land-based helicopter team in China. The cabin crew was all land-based soldiers in charge of patrol in the Northwest Highlands. They were experienced in driving and could complete their patrol every time.

This was the first time that the members of Storm Commando had entered the highlands to complete their training. The lack of oxygen on the highlands was what everyone was worried about. Fortunately, the training this time was not to suddenly send them into high altitudes but to complete their training at a height of more than 2,000 meters.

This was the military's arrangement. It was a reasonable arrangement considering the situation of the Storm Commando.

It was two in the afternoon when they arrived at the landing site. The sky was clear, and the snowy mountains in the distance stretched out like a dormant dragon.

The four helicopters landed smoothly one after another. One would take off while the other landed at the landing point.

Xia Jinyuan, who was the first to come down, stood at a distance with the members of Storm Commando and waited for all their comrades to gather. During the wait, he told them about the Army Aviation patrolling the northwest border. "The places we entered aren't uninhabited areas. For example, when the Army Aviation and Air Patrol Team completes their northwest border patrol, they have to fly past uninhabited areas, highlands, and the Tianshan Mountain Range. There are no ground navigators or radar stations along the way. Even the advanced satellite navigation system is intermittent in the mountains. Even so, they still manage to take off safely and land safely. Without rich experience, it'll be difficult to achieve with a calm mindset."

Chapter 1770: Army Aviation Regiment

Two helicopters had already landed. The third one entered the landing orbit and was ready to land. Xia Jinyuan looked up at the 'Iron Eagle' that could pass through depopulated zones. He told the members of the Storm Commando proudly, "This is one of the most dangerous and most difficult flight routes in the world. The Ali Plateau is recognized as a restricted area for rotor helicopters. However, the soldiers of Army Aviation can fly safely. Their courage is admirable.

"They are called 'children of the stars and snow' by the border army along with the soldiers of the highest outpost in our country. They're accompanied by the stars in the sky and snow for most of the year."

Xia Jinyuan had stayed in the Snow Region Plateau for almost a year. Other than the base station that protected the secret construction of the country, he spent the rest of his time either patrolling or learning about the troupes in the Snow Region Plateau and the northwest of the country. Hence, he could tell the history of every troupe here and their heroic deeds.

No matter where it was, there would always be admirable soldiers protecting the country. Even Xia Jinyuan, who was from the special forces, admired them.

The members of Storm Commando listened carefully. Some of them were farther away from Xia Jinyuan and there was the sound of the propellers from the helicopters. Those who didn't hear him clearly asked the members of the Xueyu unit beside them. After asking, they realized that the members of the Xueyu unit knew each other very well.

During the waiting process, the members of Storm Commando learned a lot of stories about the soldiers of the frontiers. Even though they only heard a few stories, it still made the eyes of the tough men turn red.

After the third helicopter landed, the cabin crew sent a command to the fourth helicopter through the radar.

After they finished escorting these two troops into the highlands for training, they would fly to the Poulan Border to refuel and complete today's aerial patrol.

One of the soldiers with a laptop was operating a 3D flight map that could help them fly on the highlands. He contacted the cabin crew of the fourth helicopter and said, "It can be seen that the snow clouds have gathered and are quickly descending!"

"Roger that. Roger that. 370 meters to the second orbital route."

A series of parameters such as flying speed and altitude were accurately reported from the mouths of the crew technicians, and the pilot of the aircraft began to land on the correct track according to the radar display.

Ye Jian looked at the soldiers from Army Aviation who cooperated well with each other. Her eyes were filled with admiration.

The northwest of the territory was a bitter cold land, and it was also their territory. Tianshan Mountains, the desert, the Gobi, the boundless Kunlun mountain range... These were regions that even birds wouldn't approach, yet they were conquered by the soldiers stationed at the territory.

In the sky where the birds never flew, there were soldiers who were not afraid of death as they piloted the 'Iron Eagles' and passed through the snowstorm to guard the country. It was precisely because they were protecting the country with their lives that the northwest border of the country was peaceful.

"Fasten your seat belts. We need to avoid the storm when it arrives."

They entered the orbit and were less than ten kilometers away from the landing point. A storm swept over and advanced at lightning speed.

There was a lack of oxygen in the air, and it snowed all year round here. In June, the sun was shining brightly on the snowy mountains, but in the blink of an eye, dark clouds would cover the sky. Suddenly, pea-sized hailstones would start pouring from the sky too, and the temperature would drop by more than ten degrees.

It was already like this in June, let alone winter. Xia Jinyuan, who was talking to the members of Storm Commando, stared intently at the appearance of the fourth helicopter. As layers of snow clouds gathered on the snow-capped mountains, the darkness in his eyes deepened..
