

BOOT CAMP 1995

Chapter 1995 Anger

Senior Colonel Tan, who really wanted to test her, could not help but sit up straight. He looked at the cadet with a serious gaze. At this moment, Senior Colonel Tan no longer had a faint smile on his face. On the contrary, his expression was solemn and cold.

“Ye Jian, how much do you know?” he asked again. He didn’t probe anymore but asked directly. Looking at Ye Jian, he could make out that he had all the qualities a soldier should have—toughness, unyieldingness, and disdain for schemes.

It was better to speak to these sorts of people openly.

Ye Jian didn’t like getting probed. Since the Military Disciplinary Committee was interfering in this and the commander in chief had said that they were trustworthy leaders, she believed in the commander in chief’s arrangements, as well as the senior colonel in front of her.

Her clear and bright eyes looked at the senior colonel in a neither servile nor an overbearing manner. She replied calmly, “Commissioner Cai told me a lot of things... There were also some of the things that I had vaguely guessed in the past. I know quite a lot. This time, when I suddenly came to the Military Disciplinary Committee and saw you and the two figures that flashed past the door just now, I’m even more certain that the person who caused my mother’s death has a high military rank.

“Otherwise, why would the leaders of the Military Disciplinary Committee be alerted about this?”

Senior Colonel Tan crossed his arms and placed them on the walnut wood desk. He was shocked. He asked in a deep voice, “As far as I know, Commissioner Cai didn’t say much. Ye Jian, how did you guess it?”

“He didn’t need to say much. I just needed to grasp the main point.”

Faced with the pressure exuding from the senior colonel, Ye Jian replied calmly, “As long as I grasp an important point, I can think about it deeply and come up with all kinds of conjectures that I think are most likely to be true. Chief, it’s not a difficult thing for me.

“First of all, my mother’s past achievements were erased for no reason. No one in the military knew about it, not even the military. This alone shows that this person’s identity is not simple.

“Secondly, your appearance, as well as the appearance of the other two generals, shocked me greatly. This shows that my mother’s sacrifice was really not as simple as it seemed.

“Moreover, I know that when my mother was sacrificed, the prime minister had personally covered the flag and instructed the army to take good care of me. However, before my second year of junior high school, I didn’t receive any care from the army.

“In fact, Commissioner Cai and the rest thought that I had fallen into the water and died young. Chief, I’ve made so many guesses throughout this time. It’s just that I couldn’t bring myself to believe in any of them.”

She had guessed many things, but she still could not believe any one of her guesses...

These few simple words made the hearts of all the bureau chiefs feel extremely heavy.

Even though this was the case, she still believed in the army and her country. It meant that even though she had made a lot of guesses, she still could not believe the harsh truth.

Commander Xia’s and Major General Song’s faces sank. How could they let the soldiers who were loyal to their country and the military be disappointed? No way!

“Old Xia, no matter how big the scope of this matter is, the few of us will work together to find out the truth!” Major General Song clenched his fists and slammed the table angrily. “I don’t believe that we won’t be able to find out the truth under strict investigation!”

He was the leader of the investigation team, and the highest-ranked leader had given him full authority to investigate this matter in order to seek justice for Sun Xueqing.

In the meeting room, Ye Jian’s guesses were based on what Commissioner Cai had told her. Her analysis was so logical and flawless that Senior Colonel Tan could only nod his head repeatedly. Occasionally, when she was asked questions, Ye Jian would answer them immediately. She would use her logical reasoning to reason things out again.

Chapter 1996 Incredible

She spoke eloquently and slowly. The logic behind her reasoning was so meticulous that it was breathtaking!

Ye Jian managed to make a senior colonel and major general respect her!

Commander Xia was even more satisfied!

“Your guess is correct. Ye Jian, we invited you to the capital because we wanted to tell you that there’s something wrong with your mother’s sacrifice. It involves a huge case from more than ten years ago.”

After hearing Ye Jian’s deduction, Senior Colonel Tan felt that... it was extremely scary that there was a young woman like her!

He was even more thankful that she had joined the army and was loyal to the army and the country. Luckily, she was not spoiled. Luckily... she was still upright and did not take the evil path. With her intelligence, if she took the evil path... she would be able to make a name for herself!

Since she had already guessed it, there was no point in hiding some things from her. It would also let her know that the Military Disciplinary Committee attached great importance to Sun Xueqing’s martyrdom.

“We have already formed the task force to investigate Sun Xueqing’s sacrifice. Major General Song, the political department head of the Linchuan Military District, will be the head of the investigation team.

Secretary Miao, the secretary of the Military Disciplinary Committee will be in charge of supervising. We'll conduct a comprehensive investigation into Sun Xueqing's death!

"You have never disappointed the country, and the country has never given up on you! It's even more impossible for us to let a martyr suffer such humiliation after her sacrifice! The country will not allow it, especially the army!"

Ye Jian stood up and saluted Senior Colonel Tan. Her dark and bright eyes were filled with trust toward the country and the military. "I've always believed! Justice may come late, but it'll never die!"

This was great!

There was hope. 'Mom, I didn't stand up for you in my previous life. In this life, I could walk into the Military Disciplinary Committee openly and tell the officers that you didn't sacrifice yourself in battle but were killed!

'Ye Zhifan, no matter how powerful the person behind you is and no matter how high you climb, pulling you down is no longer my biggest headache!

"The Military Disciplinary Committee is now investigating this case. Your good days are over!"

The great case from more than ten years ago was brought up once again. The dusty history was no longer covered in dust. The truth that was buried in darkness was only waiting for the Military Disciplinary Committee to come and reveal it!

The conversation ended. Major General Song turned off the monitor and praised Commander Xia, "Incredible! This cadet is incredible! I'm really glad that she's a military cadet with good morals. If she were to go down the wrong path, she would definitely cause trouble everywhere!"

She was so smart that it was terrifying!

There was no shortage of smart people in the military. However, Ye Jian was not just smart. She was smart when it came to handling matters. She dissected every single thing in detail and slowly sorted them out until she was close to the truth!

Listening to her analysis and guesses made people break out in cold sweat.

Commander Xia didn't like the last sentence. What evil path? Cause trouble everywhere? Even if Little Ye didn't join the military, she wouldn't become a bad person!

"Even if she hadn't joined the military, she'll still be an honest child. When she said she had made a lot of guesses but couldn't bring herself to believe in any, it's obvious that she's an honest and righteous child." Commander Xia would definitely protect his future daughter-in-law.

ere

Major General Song still didn't know about Ye Jian's relationship with the Xia family. He nodded in agreement. "She is indeed a sincere child." Then, he suddenly changed the topic and said with interest,

“Old Xia, she’s a good budding talent. You even have her information. You have to nurture her to become the ‘sharp knife’ of the army
