

BOOT CAMP 1997

Chapter 1997 Remove His Veil First

After Ye Jian finished her conversation, Commander Xia was about to leave too. When he saw Major General Song asking about Ye Jian's future plans, he pondered for a moment and said in a low voice, "I have such plans. But before that, we have to investigate the case of Martyr Sun Xueqing first.

"I don't want anyone to use their power again and cause the country to lose another outstanding soldier!

"Ye Jian has an uncle. He's now the director of the Southern Province Construction Bureau. Back then, she was sent to his family. Ye Jian said that the mastermind didn't dare to kill her directly. He might have ordered Ye Zhifan to cripple her. Old Song, although you can't scare the snake by beating the grass, you can still make a move to scare the snake this time!

"Investigate Ye Zhifan's past history. Get the Central Committee to investigate him. Take the veil off him first! Then, take note of anyone in the military who cares about Ye Zhifan's fall. We'll be able to lock onto the target then.

"Using the target as a coordinate, we'll investigate the target's connections. At the same time, we'll also find out which tiger did something harmful to the country and controlled Sun Xueqing's troops."

Major General Song thought about it for a while and nodded. "What you said is a good plan. Sure, I'll have a small meeting with them and plan what to do next step by step. It's not difficult for the Central Committee to intervene. The newspaper had published reports about officials embezzling bribes last year. It's feasible to send them to the Southern Province to investigate."

Ye Jian didn't know that Commander Xia's words had caused Ye Zhifan's official career to come to an end. She pursed her lips as she walked out of the meeting room. She asked Senior Colonel Tan, who seemed to have made up his mind, "Chief, can I ask you something?"

"Of course. Ask away." Senior Colonel Tan, who had a good impression of Ye Jian, smiled. "I've told you everything about your mother. If you have any more questions to ask, it won't be easy for me to answer."

Ye Jian shook her head. "No, no. I just want to ask if Commissioner Cai is okay now?"

They had been talking about her mother the entire time just now, so she didn't dare to bring it up.

"Cai Zhizhang is doing quite well. Don't worry, he'll be fine. It's just that he'll have to stay for a few more days. There are a few other comrades who are on good terms with your mother and have been secretly investigating with Cai Zhizhang. They haven't come yet. When they come over to our Military Disciplinary Committee, we'll ask them a few more things before letting them leave."

With Senior Colonel Tan's words, Ye Jian was relieved.

Just then, a guard came over. They followed the guard out of the Military Disciplinary Committee building.

Ye Jian had always walked quickly. Commander Xia had only chatted with Major General Song for two minutes before he saw Senior Colonel Tan walking over alone.

“Where’s Little Ye? Has she left?”

Senior Colonel Tan saluted before replying, “She just left. I asked the guards to send her off. Is there anything else that you wanted to talk to her about?”

“Yes, I have something to talk to her about. Go look for Old Song. He’s waiting for you.” Hearing that Ye Jian had left alone, Commander Xia quickened his pace and walked outside with the guards.

It was the new year and he hadn’t given her a red packet.

As for the matter regarding the old residence, he would not make things difficult for her for the time being. She would definitely feel uncomfortable if he asked her to go over. He could only wait for the little brat to return before bringing her to the old residence to visit Old Master and Old Madam.

Ye Jian had already asked the sentinel at the door. Knowing that the commander in chief hadn’t left, she stood outside and waited. In less than five minutes, she saw the commander in chief rushing out with two guards.

“It’s good that you haven’t left. I was just speaking with Old Song for a little while. I didn’t see you when I came out.” Commander Xia walked over and signaled for the guard to drive the car over. He then asked Ye Jian, “There’s nothing else to do here. Do you plan to return to the Southern Province now? Or do you want to hang out in the capital for a few days?”

Chapter 1998 Getting Along

Before Ye Jian came, she thought that she would stay in the capital city for a few days to cooperate with the Military Disciplinary Committee. Who knew that they would only ask her a few questions before letting her go?

Hence, when Commander Xia asked her about it, Ye Jian felt a little uneasy.

It was the new year, but she had come to the capital. If she didn’t go to Commander Xia’s house to pay her respects, she would be rude.

But if she went... Captain Xia wasn’t by her side. Wouldn’t it be inappropriate for her to go?

There was one more thing to consider. Commander Xia wouldn’t be in his own residence during the new year. He would probably have to go back to the old residence of the Xia family in Beihai Old Alley to spend the new year with Old Master and Old Madam.

If she wanted to go over, wouldn’t she have to go to the old residence?

It was winter, but Ye Jian's forehead was dripping with sweat.

She also wanted to appear magnanimous, but she really could not bring herself to say the words that she would go to the old residence to give her new year greetings. She felt a little flustered.

After thinking for a few seconds, she replied respectfully, "Before I came, I thought that I would stay in the Military Disciplinary Committee for a few days. I didn't expect that I would be able to leave so soon. Commander in Chief, I haven't thought about whether I should go back to the Southern Province or stay in the capital for a few more days."

She should just say whatever she wanted to say. Who was Commander Xia? He was a general, and his sharp eyes revealed his true colors. It was better for her to be honest and not have any tricks up her sleeves.

Indeed, she never thought that she would have to rush here. The Military Disciplinary Committee only knew just as much as she knew about her mother's case. They told her that the people involved in the case were not simple. They even reminded her not to interfere.

... The entire conversation was completely different from what she had imagined. They did not even reprimand her, let alone make things difficult for her.

Her respectful tone made Commander Xia feel a little helpless. As an open-minded parent, he had expressed to his future daughter-in-law many times that he was an elder who was easy to get along with.

But in the end, she was still as reserved in front of him. He lowered his eyebrows, and his gaze completely lacked the imposing manner he had when speaking to Senior Colonel Tan earlier.

Did he not have any affinity with her?

Commander Xia, who suspected that he wasn't friendly enough, smiled amiably and said, "If you want to stay in the capital for a few days, I'll get Yiwei to bring you around. If you want to go back to the Southern Province to accompany Old Chen, I'll get the guards to send you to the airport.

"I won't bring you to the old residence today. If Little Six were here, I'd get him to pick you up without a second thought. Unfortunately, he's not in the capital now. We can only wait for him to come back."

Commander Xia could naturally see the hesitation in Ye Jian's heart. She was a good child. She never acted pretentiously to the other people around her. She was frank and didn't have any ulterior motives.

The Xia family did not need a scheming daughter-in-law. What the Xia family wanted was a daughter-in-law who was as broad-minded as a man.

Ye Jian knew that Commander Xia must have seen through her concerns, so she pursed her lips in embarrassment. "Commander Xia, when Captain Xia comes back, I'll go to the old residence to visit Old Master and Old Madam."

Hence, she planned to return to the Southern Province today.

“Alright. I’ll tell Little Six what you said and ask him to arrange a time with you to visit Old Master and Old Madam. Coincidentally, the two of them have been looking forward to you coming over.” The guard had already driven the car over. Commander Xia got into the car and said, “To the airport.”

Ye Jian heaved a sigh of relief, but at the same time, she was filled with gratitude. She felt that Commander Xia’s family was very easy to get along with. In the future, she would... Yes, in the future, she must be filial to Commander Xia, as well as Old Master and Old Madam.
