

BOOT CAMP 2031

Chapter 2031: A Little Different

After running a distance, Ye Jian turned back and looked at the opponent thoughtfully. She leaned against the tree trunk and said in a low voice, "I feel that something is wrong. The opponent I killed just now... didn't seem to know how to resist."

"Didn't know how to resist? What do you mean?" Pigeon, who was still following closely behind, asked, "What's the difference?"

As Ye Jian completed the anti-reconnaissance steps, she frowned and said, "I can't describe it. It feels like dealing with an unarmed commoner."

If not for the gun in their hand, she would have suspected that they were just an ordinary citizen.

Thinking back to the attack just now, when her arms were wrapped around her opponent's neck, the opponent's first reaction was not to use their hands to pull her arms away but to struggle and twist their entire body.

Those who had a certain level of skill would definitely not twist their bodies and try to struggle free. Instead, they would use their hands to break the lock on their neck... This was a subconscious action. If they did not do it, it would mean that they didn't expect their lives to be in danger. Perhaps they did not even realize that their necks were locked.

This person's vigilance was quite poor, then!

Pigeon knew that Ye Jian wouldn't say such words without reason. He said in a low voice, "They have guns. No ordinary people would walk around the island with guns at night."

Even if they were ordinary citizens, it was a fact that they had guns in their hands. They even hijacked the engineering team!

"I understand." Ye Jian nodded as she looked ahead. Since they had guns on them, no matter how weak they were, they were still targets that needed to be cleared to ensure the safety of the rescue team!

Pigeon and the others knew that Ye Jian didn't have much combat experience. Long Eagle reminded her, "Azure Bird, don't underestimate ordinary people. Sometimes, they're as lethal as a soldier."

In those war-torn countries, which of those women, children, and elderly in the suicide bombing were not ordinary citizens? But the destructive power that they carried with them was always terrifying.

Ye Jian suddenly remembered the two young men she killed when she returned to Pakistan to carry out her mission. Long Eagle was right. She must not treat her target as an ordinary person. This was a fatal mistake!

When they walked into the depths of the island, they could no longer hear the sound of seawater hitting the cliffs. The ten figures crossed the rocks and lightly stepped over the thick layer of fallen leaves, quickly completing their search.

After passing through the forest, Ye Jian leaned against a moss-covered rock and saw a civilian helicopter through the FA-MAS night-vision goggles. "Found a helicopter. No suspicious targets around."

"Azure Bird, White Crane, stand guard. Weaver, go take a look." Pigeon immediately made arrangements. Helicopters were the best means of escape. It would be best to rescue the engineering team and leave in a helicopter!

Weaver was good at flying all kinds of helicopters. After receiving the order, he and Azalea quickly approached Ye Jian and White Crane. Meanwhile, the other six surrounded the helicopter and started clearing it.

There was someone in the helicopter. Weaver moved and squatted down immediately. Holding his gun with one hand, he let out a sigh of relief. He raised his other hand and pressed it down again to show Azalea who was also squatting down.

Ye Jian, who was in charge of keeping watch on the other side, also saw that there was someone in the cockpit. She said to White Crane, who was guarding the tail of the plane, "There's someone inside. It won't be easy to handle."

The glass window of the helicopter door would not shatter like a car door. One could open the door by reaching inside. But the lock inside was locked by the pilot. It could not be opened without unlocking it first.

Chapter 2032: Approaching

"Capture him alive." Pigeon's voice was very soft but clear. "Interrogate him properly."

"Roger that." Weaver, who already had an idea, replied in a low voice. He waved for Azalea behind him to come over. After making a few hand gestures, Azalea, who understood what he meant, nodded gently and slowly squatted down below the cabin door.

Since he couldn't force his way in, he had to let the person inside open the door.

Weaver made a bold decision and raised his rifle to knock on the cabin door.

Ye Jian had already placed her finger on the trigger when she heard the sound. If anything happened, she would quickly pull the trigger of the silencer.

At the tail of the plane, White Crane was half-squatting. He focused his attention to ensure the safety of Weaver and Azalea.

The knocking sound could be heard clearly in the quiet night. It echoed continuously, causing the person sleeping inside to open his eyes and look outside.

It was dark outside, and there was nothing unusual.

The pilot with the deep-set features and dark skin touched his pocket. Very warily, he took out a pistol. With his other hand, he picked up a flashlight and switched on the light source, shining it out of the hatch.

Sparrowhawk, who was paying close attention to the cabin's movements, reminded him, "Be careful of the gun in his hand."

Right at this moment, Ye Jian and White Crane noticed a strange sound at the same time. They shouted at the same time, "Someone's here! Retreat!"

The two rolled a few times and hid behind the dense leaves. The Xueyu unit members who were on guard had also found their hiding spots.

Ye Jian aimed at a spot ten meters away from her and reported in a low voice, "Six people. Two of them are holding guns. Two of them have their hands tied and their heads are covered..."

As soon as she finished speaking, Ye Jian narrowed her eyes slightly and immediately adjusted her focus to observe.

What she saw while wearing night-vision goggles was just a monotonous green color. Ye Jian stared at the two people who were being subdued through the goggles. She pressed her lips together and asked again, "Are the two people who are being subdued... our engineers?"

Our engineers?

Ye Jian's words shocked Pigeon and the rest who couldn't see the targets for the time being. It would be great if those people were the hijacked engineers!

"All 12 of the hijacked engineers should be wearing the same work uniform. Look at their uniforms." Pigeon shuffled her feet, carefully approaching the nearest concealed spot near the helicopter. "If they're our engineers, we're going to take action immediately."

The ten members of the Xueyu unit quickly got ready.

"It's the same uniform," Ye Jian replied. Then, White Crane added, "Same shoes. Whether they're our engineers or not, we'll settle the six surrounding them first!"

Weaver, who was closest to the helicopter, and Azalea saw the rather vigilant helicopter pilot turn around. The two of them looked at each other and moved their feet lightly, pulling themselves closer to the helicopter.

The rather vigilant pilot had already seen a light flicker in front of him. He simply turned off the flashlight in his hand and waited for the figures ahead to approach.

"He's quite alert. Let's wait for him to fully open the cabin door before we take action." With a cold glint in his eyes, Weaver crept forward until he reached a low area that was covered in moss and could only hide one person.

Chapter 2033: Careful, Azure Bird

When he was done hiding, he peeked at the helicopter and asked Ye Jian, "How far are we from you?"

They were all hiding on the other side of the helicopter. Their vision was blocked, so they couldn't see the suspicious people Ye Jian was talking about. They could only ask Ye Jian and White Crane to understand the situation.

"Not too far. About two meters. We're still six meters away from the helicopter." As the suspicious people got closer, Ye Jian, who was hiding against the tree trunk, slowly moved her feet. When the suspicious people passed by less than one meter away from her, Ye Jian went around to the other side of the tree trunk.

Her courage was so great that even White Crane couldn't help but sweat. At such a close distance, even the slightest sound under Ye Jian's feet would be discovered!

Only when the suspicious people passed by did White Crane finally relax.

However, before she could calm down, she saw Ye Jian following them closely!

"Azure Bird, what are you doing?!" White Crane asked in a low voice, his light voice filled with worry. "If you get too close, you'll be discovered!"

Pigeon and the others immediately tensed up.

Ye Jian didn't reply. She was too close to them, so she couldn't answer. She pointed at the two figures and made a 'rescue' gesture. She was telling White Crane that when the battle started, she could protect the two of them immediately. They might be their engineers.

White Crane took a deep breath and explained Ye Jian's actions to the other comrades.

It would indeed be better if she could protect them at a close range.

"Be careful, Azure Bird," Pigeon warned. They were here to rescue the engineers. How could they ignore their mission just because it was dangerous?

He didn't stop Ye Jian. As a special forces soldier, she had the ability to protect herself and had her own judgment. He didn't interfere too much.

The pilot of the helicopter, who had noticed the approaching silhouettes, waited for the silhouettes to come over. He did not open the door immediately even after confirming their identities. Instead, he pointed at the cabin door, indicating for them to come over and talk to him.

The signal was obvious. He wanted to confirm if there was any danger around him.

Sparrowhawk, who had been observing him, sneered. "The pilot is focused on the targets. The rest can be killed. He has to be kept alive." He was so vigilant. Heh, he obviously knew what they were doing and what danger they might be in.

As for the men with guns, they were clearly not as vigilant as the pilots. They strode forward and spoke loudly as though they were certain that no one would notice them. They appeared rather conceited.

The pilot waited until they reached the cabin door. After a while, he unlocked the door and jumped down from the helicopter.

He looked around and asked a man with a gun, "Why did you bring them out here? Why didn't I get the notice?"

"One, two, three, move!"

While they were talking, the hidden Xueyu unit members started moving. Ye Jian jumped and used a silencer to kill one of the targets. She shouted in Chinese, "Get down!"

The two figures with their hands tied and their heads covered reacted quickly and fell to the ground. White Crane took care of the other opponent.

Several gunshots rang out. The few figures who were not on guard did not even have the chance to resist before they were killed. The moment the vigilant pilot took out his gun, Weaver, who was hiding, transformed into a ferocious tiger as he pounced. He leaped up and accurately grabbed the right hand of the other party who was holding the gun. He threw it over his shoulder, not giving the other party a chance to make a move.

Chapter 2034: Answer Me Honestly

The pilot had always been on high alert. When he heard the gunshot, he immediately realized what had happened. He wanted to resist, but he didn't expect to meet a trained special forces soldier. He wouldn't give him any chance to resist.

"Behave! I've been watching you for a while."

Weaver grabbed the pilot's hands and twisted them behind his back. At the same time, he grabbed a fistful of the ground and stuffed rocks, grass, and leaves into the pilot's mouth.

The pilot, who had fallen over his shoulder, felt a sharp pain in his chest. Just as he was about to open his mouth to ask for help, a bunch of foreign objects that made him want to vomit were stuffed into his mouth.

His mouth was stuffed with rocks, sand, and grass. He had no way of making a noise. He was crying out in fear and alarm. At the same time, he was struggling to escape the uniformed man.

Azalea picked up the pistol that had been knocked away by Weaver and walked over to the struggling pilot. He slowly crouched down in front of him.

When the cold metal object was pressed against the struggling pilot's forehead, he instantly calmed down.

“Answer me seriously, carefully, and honestly. Otherwise, the bullet will go through your head.” Azalea spoke in fluent English, his gaze cold as he stared at the other party. “Who are you? Why did you hijack an engineering team from a Chinese corporation?”

“Answer me honestly. Otherwise, the bullet will blow up your head and your brain will splatter everywhere.” As he spoke, he pressed the cold muzzle of the gun against the other party’s forehead. “Only by cooperating will you have a chance to live, understand?”

The cold muzzle of the gun made one’s heart palpitate with fear. It made the pilot, who was in disbelief, narrow his eyes.

“I can give you water to clean your mouth. Remember, if you dare make a sound, the bullet will really shoot into your head—just like this...” Azalea suddenly moved the gun that was pressed against the other party’s forehead and shot the ground.

The bullet brushed past the other party’s ear. The intense heat produced by the huge pressure swept across the other party’s ear. Mud and sparks flew, and the smell of gunpowder could be smelled.

This move was direct and ruthless. The pilot, who was initially uncooperative, trembled in fear.

If he didn’t cooperate, the bullet will let him know the consequences of resisting.

However, an engineer whose identity had been verified did not give the pilot a chance to speak. He hurriedly said, “Engineer Fang and Engineer Jiang have been tortured. It’s unknown whether they’re still alive. We need to rescue them as soon as possible! We can’t delay any longer. Save them first!”

This meant that there was no time for interrogation!

Naturally, saving the hostages was more important. Ye Jian told everyone what the engineer said. Pigeon immediately said, “Get rid of the pilot!”

The pilot, who was still trying to act innocent and pretend that he didn’t know anything, was vaguely saying things like how he was clueless to all this. Weaver interrupted him coldly and told him, “Don’t swear in God’s name. I’ll send you to see God now.”

If he were to break the pilot’s neck, he would be able to finish him off without any blood.

The dead pilot’s face was still filled with fear, as if he was in disbelief. He had indeed been sent to meet God.

Long Eagle and Sparrowhawk picked up four M4s and handed them to Pigeon. “Semi-automatic carbine from the American Special Force. They also have special forces guns, which means they have enough firepower.”

The M4 had a terrifying shooting range and lethality. Its back strap was designed to connect to one side of the weapon. This way, the person carrying this gun could be ready to shoot when patrolling.

Chapter 2035: The Personality Of A Soldier Translations

Those people guarding the outposts that they had killed earlier had only wielded ordinary rifles. Compared to the M4, the rifles were many levels lower.

Pigeon took the guns and asked the engineer beside him, "Have you held an M4 before? Do you want to take one for self-defense?"

It was not Pigeon's fault for asking this question. The engineers were different from the soldiers in the field army. Although they had dealt with targets before, they focused on engineering. It was normal that they had not wielded M4s before.

"Even if you haven't held it before, you have to take it now. The principles are the same. Although you won't know much if you take it now..." The engineer took the M4 from Pigeon. "It's important to protect yourself first. The trigger won't be pulled so easily either."

If the guy did not know how to use it and still fired, it would be easy for him to accidentally injure his own people. However, he could still use it to defend himself.

The rest of the Xueyu unit had already cleaned up the scene. Weaver got down from the helicopter and said that he was fine. After the rescue mission was successful, he could fly the helicopter and they could leave.

Without further delay, he led the engineer toward the signal.

"The pilot of the helicopter was hired by the local government. Usually, if we need an air drawing, he would be the one piloting the helicopter. We've been working together for half a year now. This time, no one expected anything to happen until Xiao Ding found out that something was wrong and contacted the country immediately. When we woke up, we were in a dark basement."

As they walked, the engineer carrying a rifle told the Xueyu unit members how they were kidnapped.

Although they were engineering technicians, they were still soldiers. They were not as agile as the special forces soldiers, but they had enough courage.

Listening to the conversation, the engineer realized that they were on a small island. It was no wonder they could hear the waves. Previously, they had thought that they were at a place not far from the seaside. Who knew that they were actually on a small island?

Ye Jian and White Crane were still charging forward. Pigeon could hear what the engineer said through the earpieces. The engineer who had successfully been rescued by them didn't know why they were kidnapped in the first place. He also knew that their identities hadn't been discovered until now.

"Xiao Ding's arm is embedded with a human sensor satellite signal. Once activated, as long as his body temperature is constant, the signal will always be there. Can you still receive his signal now? Zhang Gong and I have been brought out for at least two hours now."

He had been saved, but his colleagues and comrades were still not.

Pigeon pulled out the infrared detector that was connected to the human sensory satellite connector. The red signal wave was blinking weakly. "It's still there. They're fine."

"That's good, that's good! We have to save Fang Gong and Jiang Gong as soon as possible." The engineer heaved a sigh of relief when he saw the blinking signal.

The signal fluctuation couldn't be detected by anything else. It could only be seen on the military computer connected to the Chinese military satellite.

Now that they could see a red wavelength, it meant that they were very close to their destination.

"We've found the engineers. From the looks of it, the containers they're in are made of metal." Ye Jian's low and cold voice came from their earpieces. She enunciated every word clearly, "There are two containers on the two floors and three containers on the first floor. There are three armed targets patrolling on the roof. There are 15 people in total. We can't rule out the possibility that there are sentries around.

"I suggest that we surround the entire area and search. We'll deal with those in the outer area before we go inside." Ye Jian suggested while observing. "We'll assassinate the targets on the outer and patrolling areas. The firepower inside is unknown. It's safer to hide in the dark."

There were still ten people on the engineering team, and two of them were injured. They could not fight until they were found.

Chapter 2036: Never Gave Up On Them

The members of the Xueyu unit who used birds as their code names were best at sneak attacks. Now that it was dark and the wind was strong, it was a good time to kill and commit arson. When Ye Jian mentioned sneak attacks, it was equivalent to hitting the nail on the head.

After observing for a while, they saw a few people jump off the container.

Ye Jian immediately added, "They're changing shifts. They're patrolling and changing shifts. The eastbound single-story container that's four meters away from the other containers is the first sentry position. There are three people patrolling.

"There are two men patrolling above the two-tiered containers near the sea. This is the highest sentry position. There are two men patrolling the single-tiered containers near the westbound side. That makes seven. The rest of you, enter through the middle double-tiered container."

Ye Jian, who was in charge of observing, explained in detail.

Pigeon knelt down slightly and said to the two engineers, "Please hide outside. These are two GPS units. Please carry them. We'll come to you immediately after we complete the rescue mission inside. If anyone escapes from outside, we'll have to trouble you to take care of them."

After handing the two GPS devices into the hands of the two engineers, he whispered, "We'll join you immediately after we get the other 10 engineers out. Hide here well and don't move around unless you have to."

The two engineers who took the GPS devices nodded calmly. “Don’t worry about us. The two of us definitely won’t walk around and hold you back. If the two of us aren’t here, take the other engineers away first.

“Especially Fang Gong and Jiang Gong. They’re core technicians. We have to protect them!”

To the members of the Xueyu unit, they were responsible to rescue the 12 members of the engineering team and have them safely return to the country. Each of them shouldered this responsibility. How could they abandon their responsibility?

“We have orders that 12 engineers from the engineering team must be rescued successfully. We can’t abandon even one. Please take care, both of you. We’ll be back soon.” Pigeon saluted them both and sped away into the still and dangerous night.

The two engineers lay quietly at the invisible spot chosen by Pigeon and the others. They stared ahead without blinking... In the night that was as thick as ink, they only saw the tree trunk that was as ferocious as a monster’s horn. The soldiers who were with them just now had disappeared without a trace.

“I don’t know which special army unit they’re from, but they’re a lot more skilled than the soldiers who escorted us here. With them, Fang Gong and Jiang Gong should be fine.”

One of the engineers spoke quietly, his voice strained but steady.

The other engineer said, “As long as Fang Gong and Jiang Gong are still alive, they’ll definitely save everyone. The two of us should hide well and not cause them any trouble. Our country’s soldiers are reliable. When I heard the female soldier shout, ‘Get down!’, I was really relieved.”

When they heard the familiar voice, a light suddenly struck the gray world. It gave them an instant sense of security, and they saw hope filled with light.

This was their country. It had never given up on them, even from thousands of miles away. When the country learned that they were in danger, they immediately sent troops to rescue them. That ‘get down’ meant that the country had sent people over!

As soldiers, they had never been afraid to go abroad to carry out projects despite the life-threatening risk. It was because every one of them knew in their hearts that no matter where they were, they never had to fear being abandoned.

Chapter 2037: Sneak Attack

A seabird swept across the sky above the island, leaving behind a string of startled cries that disappeared in the blink of an eye. The wind blew the leaves, and someone walked past without rustling a single leaf. He approached the container-modified house like a ghost.

From the words of the two engineers who had been rescued, he learned that they were held in a basement where the sound of waves could be heard. They were later escorted out, and they felt as if they were walking through a corridor before being led up the stairs.

After another four or five meters or so, they heard a creaking sound above them. They were pushed up an iron ladder that was about two meters high. When they climbed out, they smelled fresh air.

Then, they were pushed down an iron ladder that was about two meters high. Only then did they really step on solid ground.

Several points can be drawn from the engineers' words. First: The basement where they were held was under these containers;

Secondly, the containers in front of them were all six meters long, two and a half meters wide, and two and a half meters tall. The data provided by the engineers showed that they had passed through a one-story container.

If it had been a two-story container, they wouldn't have been able to smell the fresh air just by climbing about two meters up an iron ladder from the basement. They would have had to climb four feet to smell fresh air.

Thirdly, they should focus on finding individual containers with exits open at the top and ladders.

According to these points, the ten soldiers were divided into two groups. Group B had Ye Jian, White Crane, and the others who were in charge of clearing the patrolling targets and guarding the area. Group A's responsibility was to approach the single-story containers to clear the targets while finding the exact location of the engineers.

Ye Jian and White Crane were in charge of the single-story container a distance away. Ye Jian put her rifle on her back and didn't pull out her dagger like White Crane. Instead, she revealed the silver wire that had been used as jewelry recently.

It had been a long time since she had let it out for a breather. Tonight, she would let it have its fun.

As the silver wire stretched and straightened, it flashed an extremely clear cold light, causing White Crane to glance sideways. Ye Jian had something in her hand?

"I'll go up, you go sideways." Ye Jian pointed up, then to the side. With her night-vision goggles on, Ye Jian communicated with White Crane in sign language. "Two against three, okay?"

Less than three meters away from the two of them, three armed men were walking back and forth on the container. These were the targets Ye Jian and White Crane needed to deal with.

White Crane pointed at Ye Jian and showed two fingers. "You'll take care of the two above? I take on the one on my side?"

"Yes." Ye Jian nodded. Then, she pulled the silver wire in her hand. "I have this. It's easy for me to handle two of them."

What was that?

White Crane's eyes widened. All he could see through his night-vision goggles was something as long as a thin thread.

It definitely wasn't a thread. A thread couldn't emit cold light.

That was Ye Jian's secret weapon.

On the battlefield, the ones with the strongest beliefs were always their comrades. White Crane did not question Ye Jian and just nodded in agreement.

The silver wire was a better combat weapon than a combat dagger. As Ye Jian's strength increased, the invisible lethality of the silver wire could be easily displayed.

It wrapped silently around the neck of one of the targets. Before the man realized what was happening, something cold tightened around his neck in an instant. The force of the tightening caused him to panic. Holding the gun, he flailed around and tried to pull the thing that was strangling him.

The other two men realized that their companion was acting strangely. They picked up their guns very warily and gently pulled the triggers. One of the men asked, "Hey, what's wrong with you?"

Chapter 2037: Sneak Attack

A seabird swept across the sky above the island, leaving behind a string of startled cries that disappeared in the blink of an eye. The wind blew the leaves, and someone walked past without rustling a single leaf. He approached the container-modified house like a ghost.

From the words of the two engineers who had been rescued, he learned that they were held in a basement where the sound of waves could be heard. They were later escorted out, and they felt as if they were walking through a corridor before being led up the stairs.

After another four or five meters or so, they heard a creaking sound above them. They were pushed up an iron ladder that was about two meters high. When they climbed out, they smelled fresh air.

Then, they were pushed down an iron ladder that was about two meters high. Only then did they really step on solid ground.

Several points can be drawn from the engineers' words. First: The basement where they were held was under these containers;

Secondly, the containers in front of them were all six meters long, two and a half meters wide, and two and a half meters tall. The data provided by the engineers showed that they had passed through a one-story container.

If it had been a two-story container, they wouldn't have been able to smell the fresh air just by climbing about two meters up an iron ladder from the basement. They would have had to climb four feet to smell fresh air.

Thirdly, they should focus on finding individual containers with exits open at the top and ladders.

According to these points, the ten soldiers were divided into two groups. Group B had Ye Jian, White Crane, and the others who were in charge of clearing the patrolling targets and guarding the area. Group A's responsibility was to approach the single-story containers to clear the targets while finding the exact location of the engineers.

Ye Jian and White Crane were in charge of the single-story container a distance away. Ye Jian put her rifle on her back and didn't pull out her dagger like White Crane. Instead, she revealed the silver wire that had been used as jewelry recently.

It had been a long time since she had let it out for a breather. Tonight, she would let it have its fun.

As the silver wire stretched and straightened, it flashed an extremely clear cold light, causing White Crane to glance sideways. Ye Jian had something in her hand?

"I'll go up, you go sideways." Ye Jian pointed up, then to the side. With her night-vision goggles on, Ye Jian communicated with White Crane in sign language. "Two against three, okay?"

Less than three meters away from the two of them, three armed men were walking back and forth on the container. These were the targets Ye Jian and White Crane needed to deal with.

White Crane pointed at Ye Jian and showed two fingers. "You'll take care of the two above? I take on the one on my side?"

"Yes." Ye Jian nodded. Then, she pulled the silver wire in her hand. "I have this. It's easy for me to handle two of them."

What was that?

White Crane's eyes widened. All he could see through his night-vision goggles was something as long as a thin thread.

It definitely wasn't a thread. A thread couldn't emit cold light.

That was Ye Jian's secret weapon.

On the battlefield, the ones with the strongest beliefs were always their comrades. White Crane did not question Ye Jian and just nodded in agreement.

The silver wire was a better combat weapon than a combat dagger. As Ye Jian's strength increased, the invisible lethality of the silver wire could be easily displayed.

It wrapped silently around the neck of one of the targets. Before the man realized what was happening, something cold tightened around his neck in an instant. The force of the tightening caused him to panic. Holding the gun, he flailed around and tried to pull the thing that was strangling him.

The other two men realized that their companion was acting strangely. They picked up their guns very warily and gently pulled the triggers. One of the men asked, "Hey, what's wrong with you?"

Chapter 2039: Forever A Soldier

Instead of taking action immediately, he threw a small stone inside. After a few clangs, it was silent.

Without further hesitation, Loach was the first to disembark from the container, while two comrades extended their rifle barrels inside to keep watch for Loach.

Loach did not charge straight down like a hothead. After quickly entering the container, he grabbed the outer support of the iron ladder with one hand and turned sideways. His entire body was on the outside of the hanging ladder, and he relied on his arm strength to support himself. In a few seconds, he completed the two tasks of entering and observing.

Two minutes later, everyone heard Loach say, "Come down."

Ye Jian and White Crane didn't go down. Weaver and Azalea guarded the two-story container that someone had entered and left before they died. That person had guarded the single-story container that their comrades entered.

Entering the container, Pigeon and the others walked through the entire container. When they reached the front, they saw an underground passageway. The entrance was as wide as the container and could fit three people at a time.

It was very dark inside. There was no light or sound. The two members of the Xueyu unit took one step at a time, stepping nimbly on the ladder.

After the two of them got off the ladder, they immediately leaned against the wall on both sides and stared ahead through their night vision equipment.

In the turbid green world, they saw a long stone cave that had been dug. After confirming that there was no problem, they gently waved to the back. The other four comrades entered and advanced alternately.

Outside, the sound of a helicopter circling the island could be heard. Ye Jian, White Crane, Zhi Que, and Zou Ji's expressions turned cold at the same time. Even though they had yet to see the helicopter, the four of them quickly reacted and found a new cover.

The voices came closer. They were clearly coming in their direction!

"Pigeon! How's the situation inside? The situation outside has changed. There's a helicopter coming!" Ye Jian immediately contacted Pigeon, who had entered the basement.

Then, she looked at the helicopter in the sky. An extremely strong beam of light shone straight from it to the top of the two-story container that Zhi Que and the others had been guarding.

Someone crawled out of the second-floor container that had been silent all this time and stood on top of it, waving at the strong light.

Ye Jian and the others looked from the helicopter to the person waving.

At this moment, the four of them were in sync, which was why they said the same thing at the same time.

“This person is the next target.”

When the people on the helicopter saw someone respond, they retracted their bright light and flew forward.

Weaver and Azalea didn't give the man a chance to look around. Just as the helicopter retracted its light and flew ahead, the two of them quickly appeared from below and dealt with the target.

Pigeon, who was in the basement, answered Ye Jian, “We've found the ten engineers. They're preparing to evacuate! Fang Gong has been sacrificed, while Jiang Gong is in a coma. The situation is dangerous.”

Fang Gong had been sacrificed.

This news was like someone punching everyone in the heart. In an instant, their hearts suddenly hurt, and it even became painful to breathe.

Ye Jian closed her eyes as she watched the helicopter slowly descend. She suppressed the pain in her heart and said in a low voice, “Retreat immediately! Send all the engineers to the helicopter and take them away.”

Her heart sank even more. Those who stayed on the island were those who were not very skilled. Who were these people who had returned?

The two-story container suddenly made a clanging sound. Ye Jian, who had been guarding the surroundings, cut off the call. She needed to support Weaver and Azalea!

Chapter 2040: Changes

The atmosphere suddenly became tense. White Crane joined the call and quickly informed them of the situation outside. “The approaching helicopter alerted the people in the container. Someone climbed out to receive the people in the helicopter. Let's deal with a few of them first. We'll cover you guys while you take the engineering team and leave!”

The situation on the battlefield had always been unpredictable. After finding the engineering team, there was no need to stay any longer. They had to retreat immediately.

White Crane didn't mention that the target Weaver dealt with just now was a tough nut to crack. The newcomers weren't as easy as the previous targets.

The other party had done a few moves to dodge Weaver's killing attacks. They even rolled on top of the container, alarming the people inside.

Ye Jian immediately went to support them.

This time, it wasn't a fight. Ye Jian ran over and saw someone leaning out with a gun. She took out her pistol without hesitation and shot the other party in the head.

The person was only a second slower than Ye Jian when he fired the gun.

Although the pistol was equipped with a silencer, the two targets fell back into the container from the exit. The people inside were stunned to see their own people bleeding from their heads. Someone shouted and fired back while turning off the light source.

Gunfire suddenly sounded. Long Eagle, who had climbed out of the container, reached out and grabbed Fang Gong, who was sent up by his comrades. He tightened his arms around Fang Gong and carried him out of the container.

Fang Gong had already been sacrificed. His body was only slightly warm now. Long Eagle had red eyes as he carried the body out and said hoarsely to White Crane guarding below, "Receive! White Crane!"

The cooperation between the comrades was tacit. White Crane was already prepared. When Long Eagle carried Fang Gong out, he immediately brought the body away from the container.

Then, the unconscious Jiang Gong was successfully rescued from the container too.

Pigeon, which was still in the container, repeatedly instructed the engineering team who had gotten out, "Follow them and don't look back!"

An engineer had been sacrificed. He didn't want to see another engineer end up the same while under the protection of the Xueyu unit.

He could already hear the sound of bullets outside. The situation was tense, and they needed to evacuate with the engineering team immediately.

The bullets passed through the metal wall of the container one after another. The people inside couldn't see the outside, and they weren't sure what was going on outside. In order to survive, they fired blindly, trying to scare the people outside.

They did not dare to come out of the container to counter-attack. They were afraid that if they came out... they would end up like their two companions who had their heads blown off.

They fought blindly, but that was a method not used by Ye Jian. She picked up the M16 that the target's body was holding and went around to the front of the container to lie down. She aimed at the center and fired continuously.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Ten bullets were fired continuously. A hole the size of a bowl appeared on the container wall.

This hole was the only way Ye Jian could see the view inside.

1, 2, 3... Ye Jian, who was aiming at the targets, pulled the trigger of the FA-MAS rifle. After three consecutive shots, three people inside were directly hit by her.

Without stopping, Ye Jian rolled to the side and left the spot.

After killing three targets in a row, she would become a target herself if she stayed any longer.

All the engineering team members retreated into the forest. After receiving the notice, Ye Jian and the others stopped fighting and quickly retreated.

Ahead, the helicopter had completed its descent. Without the sound of the propeller, one could clearly hear the gunshots from up ahead on the island. The group of people who got out of the plane reacted quickly and instantly took out their pistols. They quickly surrounded the man in the middle to protect him.