

BOOT CAMP 2041

Chapter 2041: Treat Them Well

From the way these men who got down from the helicopter held the guns and their reactions, it could be seen that they were professionally trained.

The man in the middle, who was well protected, was not tall, but he was physically strong. His eyes, which were focused in the direction of the container, were like those of a wild wolf that had been starved for a long time. They shone with ferocity.

He spoke heavily and very slowly in his local language. "Perhaps we have guests from afar. Tell everyone to entertain these guests well.

"Especially our Chinese friends. For God's sake, you need to treat them better. Remember, I need their help, so you must treat them well."

The man who spoke was very confident and was certain that no one on the island could escape.

One of the men, who looked like an assistant, took out his phone and dialed a number. When he answered, he spoke quickly as if he was passing on instructions to the person on the other end.

Although there were dense gunshots ahead, the leader was not afraid. There was even a faint smile on his well-defined face. It was not a kind smile. It was filled with ferocity and blood.

An arms dealer who smuggled various guns around the world was used to the sound of bullets.

Listening to the bullets was no different from listening to a piano piece for him. There was no need to be afraid.

Although he was not afraid, he did not want to stay on the island where a gunfight was taking place. He instructed his people again, "I need their help." Then, he left with the pilot and his assistant.

He was relieved because there were two speedboats carrying nearly 20 armed bandits preparing to go ashore.

As an isolated island, it was indeed difficult to escape as they were surrounded by water. It was also his territory, and there were so many of his own people here. It was not difficult for him to capture a few people.

The fast-moving speedboat caused the sound of the waves hitting the rocks to grow louder. Huge waves surged over the rocks and quickly retreated. When they learned that someone had entered the island, dozens of figures, who had already exchanged fire, jumped off the speedboat and flew towards the island.

These were well-trained men. After they got off the speedboat, there were people standing around while waving their hands. They repeated the same words in their local language. They were probably asking them to hurry up.

Pigeon, who had retreated into the woods with the engineers, shouted at his comrades who were still suppressing the other party with firepower, "Retreat!" Zhi Que, who was in charge of covering them, said in a deep voice, "Azure Bird, White Crane, retreat first. I'll follow you!"

After he finished speaking, the rain of bullets suppressed the firepower in the container. Ye Jian and White Crane didn't hesitate at all. They put away their rifles and quickly retreated into the forest.

The two of them found cover after retreating a few meters. They aimed their guns in the direction of the container and reminded Weaver and Azure to retreat and follow.

"Retreat! Weaver!" He signaled to Weaver, who was at the front, to retreat. He would switch to the first fire position.

Weaver didn't hesitate. He put away his rifle and rolled several times in quick succession to avoid the lines of bullets streaking through the darkness. He retreated from the first fire position.

To prevent the men inside the container from breaking out, they had to take turns retreating.

They could hear their comrades talking to each other. The two engineers who were rescued first had joined Pigeon and the others. There was no time to celebrate, so they didn't even say a word. Hand in hand, they ran toward the helicopter under the cover of the Xueyu unit.

Chapter 2042: Occupy

Gunshots came from afar. Ye Jian's pupils constricted as she said in a low voice, "The pursuers are here. Pigeon, let's go!"

It was supposed to be a secret rescue, but now that it had attracted pursuers, it had undoubtedly broken the entire plan of action. The Xueyu unit was composed of all highly-trained special forces soldiers, so they were exceptionally calm despite the turn in events. No one panicked.

Since there were pursuers, they needed to cover the rear. Pigeon immediately asked Azure Bird, "The helicopter can only fit seven people including the pilot. Azure Bird, do you know how to fly a helicopter?"

Including the soldiers of the Xueyu unit and Fang Gong's body, there were a total of 22 people. However, only seven people could fit inside the helicopter including the pilot. Pigeon planned to let the female soldier, Ye Jian, retreat first.

However, Ye Jian didn't know how to fly a helicopter. "No. White Crane, I'll cover the rear. Weaver will catch up with you. Let him leave with six engineers first."

"Sure, be careful! Sparrowhawk, cover the rear with Azure Bird and the others!" Faced with Ye Jian's answer, Pigeon immediately agreed.

Ye Jian and White Crane were assaulters to begin with. It was better to leave them to cover the retreat.

The tension increased as gunfire erupted behind them. Fortunately, the engineers were all soldiers and didn't panic at the sound of gunfire. They followed the special forces soldiers protecting them across the island and kept running.

The growth of the trees on the island had a common feature. The roots emerged from the ground. They zigzagged across the surface like tentacles of an octopus that clung tightly to the surface. When there was soil, they would take root. These exposed thick roots that had become one with the ground were an obstacle for the engineers as they ran.

The members of the Xueyu unit could easily leap over these easily tripped-up roots, but the engineers could not do it with such light movements all the time.

After a few people tripped, the speed of evacuation was greatly affected.

If their speed was affected, it would be easy for their pursuers to catch up to them. Pigeon thought of Fang Gong who had already been sacrificed and made arrangements in a stern voice. "Long Eagle, take turns with Weaver to carry Fang Gong to the helicopter first. Occupy the helicopter first. Hurry!"

The helicopter could only take a total of seven people, including the pilot. The sacrificed Fang Gong and the injured Jiang Gong would definitely have to leave first. The other four people had already decided in the basement, so they were running toward the helicopter now.

Long Eagle, who had just handed Fang Gong on his back to Weaver, suddenly looked up to his left. Just now, he had seen a light pass by.

"Something's happening at the beach. I saw a flash of light," he warned all his comrades. There were pursuers behind them. If something was happening at the beach too... It would be harder to get away.

Ye Jian's expression was dark. She said in a low voice, "The three of us will run to the beach and shift their focus.

"Pigeon, hide the engineers who have to stay behind and assign two team members to guard them. Then, flank us from the rear to support us! We have to protect Weaver first!"

Ye Jian was a command-type military school student. Although she had only studied for a semester, she started learning the most basic layout of military operations in her first year. As a command-type military school student, she naturally had to understand combat arrangements.

At the moment, the other party did not know how many of them there were. They only knew that they had taken all the engineers away and were acting in two groups. One group would retreat secretly, while the other would attract the other party's attention to protect the engineers.

Chapter 2043: Scattered

"I think we can do that. Pigeon, follow Azure Bird's arrangements! Weaver will leave in the helicopter. I'll meet up with you later!" Long Eagle agreed with Ye Jian's arrangements. When he realized the situation, he didn't stop. Instead, he continued to run forward with Weaver.

Just like this, the ten special forces soldiers of the Xueyu unit were divided into three groups. Ye Jian, White Crane, and Azalea were in a group. They were responsible for diverting the enemy's attention to them. Long Eagle and Weaver took turns carrying the sacrificed Fang Gong. Chi Lu and Loach would support the rear and escort Jiang Gong and four other engineers to the helicopter.

Sparrowhawk, Pigeon, and another comrade code-named Blood Swallow, protected the six remaining engineers as they hid among the trees.

At the same time, the sound of helicopter propellers came from above the island again. The members of the Xueyu unit, who were divided into three groups of ten, did not look up. Instead, they split up and worked together to evacuate safely as soon as possible.

The helicopter was loud. It buzzed from above with its very glaring lights as if it was looking for something.

Glancing at the helicopter with its beam above, Ye Jian said to White Crane and Azalea, "When the helicopter turns towards us, we have to let them see us."

Since they were attracting all the firepower to them, they naturally had to let the other party discover their whereabouts.

When the beam of light flashed past a relatively empty place, the personal bodyguard and assistant who had been observing the situation below quickly crossed his legs. He whispered to the man who did not look worried at all, "I see our guests from afar."

"Very well. Tell the men below to entertain the guests from afar." The man's eyes were closed the entire time, and he looked rather pleased with himself. "For these disobedient guests, let them enjoy the siege of the sea and send them to see God."

Soon, the man's words reached the ground. The three people illuminated by the beam entered the forest and chose to run in the opposite direction from the other two groups.

Just as they passed through a few wild coconut trees, Ye Jian suddenly shouted, "There's someone ahead!"

In the salty sea breeze blowing from the sea, Ye Jian could smell the scent of cheap cologne. There was not only one but several different types of cologne. The smell was so strong that it was pungent.

The three of them quickly went behind the leaves and saw a few people slowly approaching through their night vision goggles.

"Three just before 12, two at 10, three at two... These people must have come up from the beach. Looks like they just arrived. Their pants are wet."

Ye Jian, who was observing them, said softly. There was no need to be too loud. The earpiece could clearly transmit her words to her comrades.

“I have all the good weapons with me. I’m in charge of the area at two o’clock, Azure Bird is in charge of the area at 10 o’clock, and White Crane is in charge of the area at 12 o’clock. I haven’t figured out how many of them there are. Let’s go in the dark first.” Azalea’s lips moved as he moved closer to two o’clock.

Ye Jian brought out the silver wire and slowly leaned against a tree, waiting for the target to approach.

The silver wire wrapped around the target’s neck silently like a snake hiding in the leaves, strangling him tightly before pinning him to the tree trunk.

Ye Jian stepped on the tree trunk with one foot and tightened the silver wire... The man in front of the tree trunk stomped his feet a few times before becoming very silent.

The other target with him didn’t notice anything strange. All he could see was his companion’s back pressed against the tree and his feet kicking... as if he was trying to kick something off the bottom of his shoe.

Chapter 2044: Individual Combat

Such sneak attacks were very dangerous. Once they were discovered, they would be exposed. If the other party had guns, she would become a live target.

Ye Jian dared to attack like this because the two targets were walking separately and there were two trees between them. Moreover, the other target’s vision was blocked, so he wouldn’t discover her immediately.

As a special forces soldier, she had to learn how to win a chance of survival in the most dangerous environment, and professional skills were the guarantee of winning a chance of survival!

Ye Jian was a bold and meticulous special forces soldier. Coupled with the fact that she was hounded by Ye Ying in her previous life, she had an instinctive ability to avoid danger. She could quickly determine how to act in the most advantageous manner without arousing the other party’s suspicion.

At this moment, even though the second target was only two trees away from her, her bold move did not arouse any suspicion until the first target was dealt with.

As a special forces soldier, Ye Jian could already fight alone.

The second target saw that his companion was still leaning against the tree, but there was no movement under his feet. He seemed to be resting against the tree because he was too tired.

He shushed his partner and swept his gun in all directions. He sensed nothing out of the ordinary from the two trees that stood between them.

As he walked over, he said something in a low voice. Ye Jian, who was hiding behind the tree trunk, didn’t understand. She, who was focused on listening to the footsteps, didn’t care what the other party said. Instead, she was calculating how far away the other party was from her.

As the other party approached step by step, the silver wire wrapped around her combat glove slowly loosened. When he was close enough that she could hear his breathing, Ye Jian suddenly retracted the silver wire.

The target, who had already stopped breathing, lost the support of the silver wire and fell forward.

The approaching target instantly realized that something was wrong. He picked up the gun in his hand and fired behind the tree.

Ye Jian had gotten so close to the opponent because she didn't want to give him a chance to shoot.

Before he could shoot, Ye Jian pounced from behind the tree. She grabbed the other party's right hand with one hand and twisted it hard, sending the gun flying.

She moved quite quickly and calculated each step with extraordinary precision. She twisted the gun out of the target's hand and raised her elbow to strike him hard on the chin. Instead of shouting, he almost bit off the tip of his tongue.

Before he could recover from the pain of his tongue being bitten, his view was turned upside down and he fell heavily on his side.

This was a trained foreign man. After falling on his head, he endured the pain in his shoulder and rolled twice to avoid Ye Jian's attack. At the same time, his hand went to his pocket.

He tried to reach for his gun, but there was none in his pocket.

Realizing that he didn't have a gun, he thought of escaping. But as soon as he turned around, his heart was suddenly pressed against a foreign object.

"Were you looking for this?"

Ye Jian, who was holding a gun, spoke calmly. The bullet was loaded, and her slender finger was gently placed on the trigger. The cold muzzle was aimed at the heart of the target who needed to be dealt with. "Unfortunately, you lost it."

The man who had bitten his tongue could not make a sound and was just breathing heavily. He was a little afraid, but he did not give up. The fingers of his raised hands moved slightly. He wanted to try to snatch the gun back.

Chapter 2045: Become A Target

The gun was already in her hand, so how could it be snatched back? The other party had just raised his hand when Ye Jian moved even faster.

In order to block the other party's path, she only had time to jump and raise her gun to aim at the other party. She had no way to draw her dagger and cut the other party's neck.

But as she spoke, her left hand, which was not holding the gun, had already drawn the combat dagger. As soon as the other party's hand moved, she released the gun's magazine with one hand.

This action was very easy for Ye Jian, who could still reload with one hand. The magazine fell to the ground, along with the gun.

The other party's attack was very fierce. He fought desperately to see if he had a shot at survival.

Facing the powerful attack, Ye Jian smiled. She stepped on a rock with her left foot and kicked the other party's head with her right leg.

The man, who was so dizzy that it seemed like his brain was flowing out of his ears, staggered so much that he couldn't stand at all. At this moment when he couldn't attack, Ye Jian slashed the sharp dagger horizontally across his neck. Blood gushed out like a fountain. Under the pressure, it even spewed out clouds of blood.

The target, who was holding his neck, let out a gurgling sound like his throat was filled with air. He staggered back a few steps before falling to the ground.

Ye Jian, whose face was splattered with blood, picked a few leaves and wiped her face. She asked her comrade, "The targets at 10 o'clock have been dealt with."

As she spoke, she suddenly heard something running past on her left, leaving a trail of leaves rustling. Before Ye Jian realized what it was, she was already chasing after it.

"Target fleeing at 12 o'clock, support requested," White Crane said in a distorted voice. "...I twisted my ankle and let him escape."

That was not good news!

Ye Jian's expression changed slightly. She said in a low voice, "Treat your injury first. I'll chase after him! The target had run past me. I'm already chasing after him!"

The black shadow ahead was trying to escape. She had to catch up. Once it was discovered that there were only three of them, the other party would cause trouble for the other two groups.

Weaver had not taken off in order to avoid the other party's helicopter. If they were discovered, all the engineers would be in danger!

"If you don't treat your foot properly, you'll be discharged!"

Weaver, who was gritting his teeth and talking, was using his dagger to stab his still twitching target twice. He said to Ye Jian, "It's an old injury. That's why his ankle gets dislocated easily."

Whether it was a new injury or an old injury, White Crane needed help. Weaver stayed behind and said to Ye Jian, "Be careful, Azure Bird. Update us on your location."

"The black shadow is right in front of me," Ye Jian replied with a grim expression. The black shadow suddenly turned around and fired behind her!

Bang! Bang! Bang! The gunshots broke the silence that had finally settled over the island. A tall, slender figure paused and chased after the source of the gunshots.

He was fast like a tiger running through a jungle. Rocks and trees couldn't stop him. His figure was blurry due to his speed.

The sound of gunfire didn't just make him change his direction but it also made the men from the helicopter come running.

White Crane and Weaver's eyes instantly darkened. White Crane, whose ankle was treated, hurriedly said, "Hurry up and support Azure Bird. She's now surrounded!"

Chapter 2046: Battle On The Battlefield

Just as White Crane and Azalea had spoken, Ye Jian became the target of encirclement.

There were nearly 20 people on the two speedboats. Only seven people had been dealt with, and more than 10 people were scattered nearby. As soon as the gunshots sounded, more than 10 black shadows surrounded her.

Ye Jian knew that she was in a dangerous situation. Since the other party had already fired, there was no need for her to hide and not shoot.

The moment she dodged, the other party cunningly rushed a few meters away. Ye Jian, whose eyes were cold, kept her gaze locked in front of her. Hearing the sound of the black shadow running, she chased after it like an arrow that had left the bow.

The target was clearly more professional than the targets Ye Jian and the others had dealt with previously. However, he still couldn't be compared to a special forces soldier who had undergone harsh and professional training. After running for about ten minutes, the person's physical strength decreased drastically. His agility and reaction speed were obviously not as good as before.

Ye Jian was talking to White Crane and Azalea. "The target fled in the opposite direction of our two groups of comrades. This is good for our plan. The two of you, continue to attack in secret. I'll be here."

Although it was a little inappropriate for a sneak attack to become open, it was worth the risk for the safety of the engineers.

From the moment the three of them were intentionally exposed by the helicopter beam, they had already taken the risk.

"The two of us are about a hundred meters away from you. We've discovered three targets. Azure Bird, the two of us can't provide support in time, so be careful," Azalea instructed in a deep voice. There were probably too many targets to deal with. They had to fight alone.

"Roger!"

Ye Jian, who was staring at the black shadow flashing behind the leaves, adjusted her breathing. After answering calmly, she jumped down from a rock.

When she landed, she was in a half-crouch. Then, she rolled nimbly and hid beside the roots of a tree.

White Crane and the others had discovered three targets. Apart from the target she was chasing, two more black shadows entered her line of sight.

Judging from their movements, they were both searching with guns. Ye Jian exhaled softly and slowly adjusted the focus of her rifle.

She had no intention of shooting with the rifle in her hand. She intended to use the pistol.

The target was very close. Using a rifle to shoot was like using a sledgehammer to crack a nut.

Moreover, without knowing how many people the other party had, she first needed to ensure that she had enough ammunition. She could not waste the bullets.

The rifle in her hand, the FA-MAS, had an effective range of 300 meters and was equipped with a NATO-made warhead. There were only a pitiful 25 rounds in the magazine, but the FA-MAS had a very big advantage. The three-round burst was quite effective. There were only two targets at the moment... It was better to save the bullets and switch to a pistol.

Unfortunately, the pistol in her hand could not fire automatically. She had to pull the trigger once to fire a bullet, but it was fast.

The rifle in the other party's hand was a C-series rifle from Canada. Its effective range and speed were much faster than the pistol in her hand.

She'd have to fire two rounds for two targets. Once she fired her first shot, the other target would have a chance to fire. She'd need to use a side leap to complete the two-round burst.

After seeing what rifle the other party held, Ye Jian exhaled softly and slowly held her breath before raising the pistol.

Bang!

Bang!

The two shots were like continuous shots. The first bullet hit the target in the head without making a sound. He, who was still holding the C-series rifle, fell to the ground with a bang.

Chapter 2047: Pursuit

Although the second target reacted, he only saw shadows flying sideways in front of him. When he wanted to shoot, he heard something explode in his chest.

It was the bullet that flipped forward with such force that it penetrated his heart in seconds. His heart, which had been beating, suffered extensive damage.

There was no buffer for the other party, nor did the other party realize that his life was in danger. One second, he could breathe fresh air, and the next, death was coming.

Ye Jian, who turned sideways and shot two bullets at breakneck speed, landed first with her right hand holding the pistol. The sound of gunshots disappeared. After landing and rolling two and a half times, she was already leaning against the tree. She was panting, a little short of breath.

The gunshots were not too loud. They were low and deep like two soft drum beats. There was no power to them at all.

Even the smell of gunpowder was blown away by the salty sea breeze in less than a minute.

Ye Jian didn't stand up immediately when she heard the sound of someone falling to the ground. Instead, she leaned against the tree quietly and counted to five before bowing and leaving.

The black shadow, who had already fled at least 50 meters away, ran too fiercely. He cursed softly when he did not hear footsteps chasing after him. He sat on the ground with his hands on his knees as if he had broken down.

Before he could relax, a cold voice came from behind.

"Stand up."

At the same time, the speaker pressed something hard against his temple. "Put down the thing you're holding, or I can guarantee you that I won't treat you kindly with the thing I'm holding in my hand."

The voice was low and slow. It was clearly a threat, but there was an indescribable elegance to the person's words that made one's blood run cold.

"God..." The dark figure, who was so shocked that he almost wet his pants, heaved a sigh of relief when he heard the voice. Even his tense shoulders relaxed completely.

'This bloody Chinese! One day, I'll send you to see God!'

The Western man who looked down on Chinese people from the bottom of his heart could only curse in his heart. It was stupid to flare up at his own people at this time.

Even though he knew it would be foolish to lash out at one of his own at this moment, there was no way he could let go of his prejudice. He growled in rough English with a heavy accent, "Jack! Where did you come from?!"

He tilted his head, and the terrifying barrel of the gun hit the side of his forehead. The already disheveled man was instantly furious. He raised his hand and smacked the Chinese man's arm away fiercely.

"Damn it! Are you going to keep pointing it at my head? Get your gun off me, Chinese!"

He was embarrassed and angry at being seen in this state.

But the Chinese man didn't put down his arm, let alone put down his gun. Instead, the gun was pressed hard against the center of the other man's forehead... The Western man even heard the click of the trigger.

"You... Hey, buddy, what do you want? Don't joke around with guns." He dared to throw a tantrum just now, but now, he was terrified. His lips trembled when he spoke.

Xia Jinyuan, the Chinese man whose arm hurt from the slap, was on a mission. He saw this and retracted his gun. He smiled faintly and said in standard American English. "You seem to be afraid? Do you need to be afraid? You have a gun in your hand too."

The man whose forehead was no longer being pressed against by a gun was even angrier. Resentment flashed across his eyes as he gritted his teeth and replied, "Of course, I'm afraid! If it were you, they would have killed you long ago, just like this..."

Chapter 2048: Are You Afraid?

He stood up as he spoke. The moment he stood up, he suddenly raised his gun... He tried to hold the gun against Xia Jinyuan's forehead to regain some of his dignity.

Xia Jinyuan had already seen through his intentions. He had just retracted his arm when he lifted it and accurately pressed it against the other party's forehead again.

"No wonder you're scared. Even your moves are slower than the others. With the time you're taking... it's enough for me to take out three or four of your kind."

No matter how close two people were, it was scary to have a gun pointed at one's forehead. Moreover, this person's relationship with Xia Jinyuan was not harmonious, so he was even more afraid.

The man, who had lost his arrogance, stammered, "Yes, I'm afraid. That's why we need to work together. Yes, we need to work together.

"The enemy came from nowhere, and they're very, very skilled. There were eight of us, b-but I'm the only one who got away from them alive. They have very amazing speed. If I hadn't reacted fast enough, I'd have been taken out like Bieber."

There was nothing more terrifying than watching one's partner get killed. If he hadn't fled fast enough, maybe he would've ended up dead like Bieber.

"Jack, we can't continue this any longer. We should find the others. By the way, why are you alone? Where are the others? Where are they?"

In order to make Xia Jinyuan remove the gun from his forehead, the man, who was trembling in fear, kept talking. He was trying to close the distance between them by talking.

Hearing that there were people about three meters away from them, Xia Jinyuan covered the other party's chattering mouth and chuckled coldly, "If you don't want to die, shut up. Someone is coming."

The man was so frightened that he shuddered. He would've shut up even if his mouth wasn't covered.

There was the sound of leaves rustling on his left. Through the sparse trees, he saw three dark figures walking while in a crouch.

“Okay, right here. Wait right here. Let’s climb up the trees on your side and my side.”

It sounded like they wanted to lie in wait for someone to come over.

The man who was with Xia Jinyuan looked happy because these three people were all his people.

“Boris, it’s Boris’s voice! Wonderful! With them here, we won’t have to fear those people coming after us!” He was so happy that his face lit up. He even wanted to raise his voice to greet them.

However, Xia Jinyuan’s words made him close his mouth.

“Do you think the three of them are a match for those men? If they are, you can make a sound at once. If not, you’d better shut up, Job! Do you understand me? I don’t want to die with you! Do you understand?”

With that, the man called ‘Job’ gave up on his initial idea. He even thought about leaving quickly. He wanted to leave, but he didn’t say it.

He didn’t want a Chinese person looking down on him!

‘That was embarrassing enough just now!’

Xia Jinyuan didn’t pay attention to him. He wanted to know who was here on the private island of an arms dealer who even the highest authority in this country didn’t want to provoke. The other party dared to engage in a gunfight with the arms dealer’s people on the island too.

At this moment, Xia Jinyuan did not know who he was going to meet. At this moment, he only wanted to watch and not interfere.

Ye Jian, who was chasing the enemy, didn’t know who she would meet. She was separated from White Crane and Azalea. She carefully passed through the unknown trees and stuck close to the back of a bent tree.

Chapter 2049: Group Attack

There was danger ahead. She couldn’t go straight ahead. She should take a roundabout route.

Individual combat without support was quite dangerous. When one encountered danger, one could only rely on one’s own ability to solve it. When one encountered difficulties, one could only rely on oneself to solve them. It was impossible for anyone else to give instructions, let alone appear in times of danger.

Ye Jian knew very well that she had to be extremely careful. She instinctively realized the danger here and immediately changed her direction. She stopped moving forward and circled around.

With the help of FELIN’s equipment, Ye Jian kept her rifle up. Through her night-vision goggles, she searched for targets in the monochrome green world.

Weaver's voice came through the headset. "35 degrees north, south-easterly wind... Pilot code-named Weaver is flying Bell 407 at 11:20 local time."

"Roger, copy! Take off now!"

"Leaving at 11:23 local time. Wishing for a good takeoff."

Weaver was finishing the conversation with Pigeon. The rest of the team listened to the exchange with faint smiles on their lips.

"Sh*t, that's our helicopter. Did the guy who flew it take off? Damn it! Where did they all go? Doesn't anyone know what's happening?"

A bearded man cursed on his phone. He pulled out several phones in a row, and with each call he made, he cursed the person who answered.

"Who the hell took the chopper?! Get your asses over there and see what's going on! Damn it! You're going to die a horrible death. If you piss off the boss, you're all going to die horrible deaths!"

Even the helicopter was being flown away. He didn't need to remind the others. They knew it wouldn't be easy to answer to their boss if things got ugly.

"I know we're going to die horribly, but that includes you! If you have the time to scold us, you might as well go over there and find out what's going on! And we're not familiar with the pilot of the helicopter! Goodbye!"

A man who answered the call was scolded until his face was ashen. He returned the scolding, being equally rude.

Bang bang bang bang...

Someone fired directly at the departing helicopter in a vain attempt to shoot it down.

Long Eagle and Pigeon guarded the helicopter until it reached a safe altitude. When they heard the sound of gunfire, the two of them quickly looked at each other and ran toward the location of the gunshots.

Over there, Ye Jian heard someone whispering. She slowly searched around and saw someone lying on a tree through her night-vision goggles.

Above her head, there was the rumbling sound of a helicopter flying past. Ye Jian, who was smiling, pulled the trigger. Accompanied by the series of rumbling sounds, she shot the person hiding in the tree. He fell down.

She only saw one of the three targets. The other two shrunk their necks reflexively when they heard the gunshot. Then, they raised their rifles and fired continuously ahead.

Dense bullets streaked through the air, leaving trails of smoke.

Bang bang bang...

Some bullets hit trees, some hit rocks, and some fell somewhere through the lush leaves.

Ye Jian, who rolled twice and was crawling on the ground, held her breath and waited for the wave of bullets to finish.

“Front! Now!”

Not far away, White Crane and Azalea had heard the gunshots. They came over quickly. In front of them was Azure Bird. It must have been Azure Bird exchanging fire just now!

The gunshots were loud and attracted all the bandits who were still searching in the dark. Ye Jian, who was already surrounded, was exposed by the gunshots and became a group target.

“Over here! Someone else is over here! Damn it! If we don’t get them, we’ll all be in trouble!”

Chapter 2050: Shocking

A few black shadows rushed over from Ye Jian’s left and shouted loudly. They made too much noise and became the targets of White Crane and Azalea.

The two of them were about 30 meters away from Ye Jian. When they heard the noise, they hunched their backs and rushed forward like cheetahs. In the blink of an eye, they rushed a few meters forward.

“I’m still 20 meters away from you. Azure Bird, hide first!” The two of them kept in close contact with Ye Jian so that she would understand that she wasn’t fighting alone.

After White Crane finished speaking, Azalea said, “Don’t expose yourself so easily again! Leave the target who spoke for us to deal with.”

Although the terrain of the island was complicated, it was only so big. These people were also very familiar with the environment on the island. Now that they had already locked down the range of the Azure Bird’s activity, if she did any more actions, her hiding spot would be completely exposed. She would really become a live target that would be riddled with holes.

Attracting firepower was to ensure the safety of the engineers, but they also needed to ensure their own safety!

The only thing that reassured them was that although these people were well-trained, they were all at the level of primary school students. Although they were armed with powerful rifles, their standards were limited. Even if they locked onto Azure Bird’s approximate range of activity, it was impossible for them to easily find her.

“Understood. Be careful!” Ye Jian, who was hiding behind the tree, said in a low voice, “Don’t worry and pay attention to your surroundings. There are many targets coming ashore from the beach. I’ve dealt with five of them, and you guys have dealt with at least five more. Now, there are still targets who haven’t been dealt with. I suspect that they came ashore by boat. I plan to capture them alive and ask them about the exact landing location.”

“Are you planning to snatch the boat?” Hearing the commotion ahead, White Crane hid behind the tree, while Azalea stood guard in front of him.

The two of them had been maintaining alternating vigilance as they advanced. This way, not only could they ensure the safety of their comrades, but they could also immediately discover the targets and quickly fight.

“Yes, that way, we can all leave the island.” Ye Jian gently brushed away a leaf in front of her eyes. After saying that softly, she shushed her comrade. This was to tell her comrade that she had discovered the situation and it was not convenient for her to talk.

“She’s safe for now. Let’s go. Let’s get rid of the guys in front of us first.” White Crane made a small gesture, and the two of them crouched as they crept toward the commotion.

Carrying out combat on the island was not unfamiliar to the special forces of the Xueyu unit. Although the terrain of the entire island was unfamiliar, the environment was not. Soon, the two of them saw black shadows flashing behind the leaves and heading toward Ye Jian.

“You shoot from that side, and I’ll shoot from this side. We’ll give them the illusion that we’re lying in wait all over the island.” White Crane’s cold gaze locked on the dark figures weaving through the green trees. “That way, we spare Azure Bird from danger and draw out any targets who might still be hiding.”

Once these people thought that there were many ambushes on the island, they would not dare to approach Azure Bird again, and they would not dare to fire at will either. This would make it easier for them to meet up with Azure Bird.

Ye Jian heard their plan. Ye Jian, who was watching the black shadows walk away, reminded them to be careful. Then, she moved carefully. She wanted to go around and find the two hidden targets in front of her.

The sound of gunfire from her left didn’t distract her. Judging by the sound of bullets, they were fired by White Crane and Azalea.

The FA-MAS cartridge was an SS109 NATO standard issue. Since the FA was a light infantry machine, the chamber was noisier when it was fired from the back. Therefore, Ye Jian could tell who fired the rifle just by hearing the sound of the cartridge.
