

BOOT CAMP 2061

Chapter 2061: Strong Country

Xia Jinyuan's answer didn't reassure Ye Jian. Instead, she felt even more worried.

She had accidentally bumped into him, who was also on a mission. Without thinking too deeply, she knew that he was hiding now. In a situation like this, what consequences would there be for him and a few fellows who wanted to stay alive to return?

Ye Jian couldn't relax.

The moment he took her hand, Ye Jian gripped it harder. "What's your mission? Can you tell us?"

"That's right, Q King. What's your mission? We'll perfect it together and try to keep you from getting too involved in this." White Crane was equally worried, but he knew better than to worry. He also knew that his comrade was too deeply involved in this mission to get away completely. He could only try his best not to get too involved.

Xia Jinyuan had already understood Ye Jian's worry from her sudden grip on his hand. He curled his lips and revealed the arrogant smile that was unique to him. It was calm and revealed the confidence of the strong. "Antonio is an extremely arrogant arms dealer. He's so arrogant that even the local government can't afford to offend him. At the same time, he's a guy who looks down on China and despises the Chinese. He likes to say how timid and cowardly the Chinese are. This has become his mantra."

If he despised Chinese people, wouldn't Captain Xia be in even more danger? Ye Jian's breathing tightened.

Her change in mood did not escape Xia Jinyuan. His other hand, which was not clenched, patted the back of her hand gently. She was too nervous about him. He could feel her nervousness through the combat gloves.

"He looks down on the Chinese. He thinks that everyone in China is timid, cowardly, afraid of trouble, and never dares to voice out. Even the people around him have been affected by this. They naturally started to think that the Chinese are timid and afraid of trouble."

He spoke quietly, but there was an unmistakable edge to his words.

Ye Jian and the other two clenched their fists when they heard this. An arms dealer looking down on their country was something that a soldier could not tolerate!

Only a strong country could intimidate the world. Only a strong country could let the world know that their country was not to be underestimated.

They were all soldiers. After wearing this military uniform, they had the responsibility to fight alongside the strong and powerful army.

Gunfire continued to ring out around them. The enemies who had suffered too many casualties were already retreating as they fought. They did not dare to continue fighting, afraid that they would fall into a pool of blood as well.

If not for Xia Jinyuan's instructions to keep them alive, the Xueyu unit would have definitely killed these guys who looked down on China.

Xia Jinyuan knew that his words would make his comrades angry, but that was the truth. Antonio was not the only one who looked down on China. Many countries in the West did. Even some countries in Asia looked down on them.

This was a fact they had to admit. Only by admitting it could they progress.

He continued in a low voice, "I'm sure that he must now think that some local gang received money from a Chinese company to fight him. He wouldn't expect China to send troops to rescue the engineers.

"He was sitting in the helicopter just now. He left things to his subordinates and was at ease. From this, you can tell how conceited he is. I was worried that the high-ranking mercenaries around him would harm you. However, it seems that these mercenaries were also affected by him, so they thought that they could easily resolve what Antonio instructed them to do."

Chapter 2062: Shouldering Glory

Their contempt became Xia Jinyuan's shield. Of course, it would also become their country's shield. One day, these people would pay the price for their contempt.

Ye Jian wasn't as flustered as before. She looked at White Crane beside her and realized her shortcomings again.

She was flustered, but White Crane's breathing was steady without any disorder. He faced Captain Xia's matter with a normal mentality.

White Crane, who didn't notice Ye Jian's reaction, asked calmly, "Are you planning to face Antonio with a few survivors and get yourself out of it?"

Xia Jinyuan nodded. "That's right. There are probably two or three people over here who are still alive. I'll go back with them. As a Chinese man who he despises, I'll tell him who laid a hand on his private island and took away the engineers of the Chinese company. He won't suspect that this operation was actually ordered by China. As long as you return to China as soon as possible, nothing will happen."

Ye Jian understood what he was planning. He was using Antonio's contempt for the Chinese and his belief that they wouldn't dare to lie to him to get them out of this.

In addition, those mercenaries who underestimated their enemy would definitely say the same words as Captain Xia in order not to be punished by Antonio. This would make Antonio believe what Captain Xia said even more.

But how could a full-on escape be possible?

However, if Xia Jinyuan didn't say more, she wouldn't get anything out of him.

All her comrades understood that Captain Xia would definitely not be safe when he returned. They all knew this very well... She understood it too.

This was an ordeal that any special forces soldier would experience. It was the same for everyone. There was nothing special about it. How one protected oneself in an enemy camp depended on one's ability.

The excellent soldier in front of her was not worried about his own safety. On the contrary, when he mentioned that Antonio despised the Chinese and looked down on them, his deep voice was filled with sharpness.

A great country was despised by a criminal, and its citizens were despised by criminals too. Such contempt was nothing to a Chinese soldier who carried the honor and responsibility of his country.

Protecting the glory of the country and showing this arms dealer the might of a great country was what Xia Jinyuan wanted to do.

Of course, he would not be so foolish as to take the initiative to run up to the arms dealer and show him the great power of their country. China, with its modesty, would one day tell those arrogant guys who looked down on China that the great country had risen!

As a soldier, Xia Jinyuan would use his strength and life to protect the dignity of his country.

After all, Xia Jinyuan was a Chinese soldier who also represented millions of Chinese soldiers.

Hearing his sharp voice, Ye Jian gently placed her right hand that was holding the gun on the back of his hand. She slowly told him, "We'll be waiting for you to return safely. Please return safely."

As long as he could come back alive, even if he was injured, she could accept it.

Injuries were nothing to a soldier. On the contrary, injuries were a soldier's glory.

It was an honor not to be ashamed of but to be proud of.

"Don't worry, we'll all return safely." Xia Jinyuan took Ye Jian's hands and shook them hard. He looked at the two male soldiers coldly and said in a low voice, "White Crane, Azalea, protect Azure Bird! Do you understand?"

"Understood!"

"Understood!"

Two powerful voices replied, telling their captain that they would definitely protect their comrade well!

Chapter 2063: Azure Bird! That's An Order

Xia Jinyuan nodded, and a smile appeared on his handsome face. He believed that his comrades would protect Azure Bird well. "Remember, after leaving the island, return to the country tonight!"

Only sporadic gunshots could be heard from both sides. After instructing them, Xia Jinyuan let go of Ye Jian's hand. In the faint starlight, his dark eyes looked at his lover gently. He looked at her lovingly. "Azure Bird, give me your pistol."

Ye Jian, whose expression softened because of his gaze, immediately looked at him warily. She subconsciously felt that it was not a good thing for him to ask her for a pistol.

White Crane glanced at Ye Jian, who looked wary. He took out his pistol from his combat vest and handed it over. "Use mine."

They had been comrades for many years. He already understood why Xia Jinyuan needed a pistol.

"No, I'll use Azure Bird's." Xia Jinyuan refused. He stared at his lover coldly and said calmly, "Azure Bird, give me your pistol."

He repeated the question.

Ye Jian's heart trembled. She gripped her pistol tightly. Tears welled up in her eyes.

As smart as she was, she understood why he insisted on getting her pistol. This man who had always led her like a towering mountain once told her that there was no such thing as getting soft-hearted on the battlefield.

With everyone on Antonio's side injured, how could Captain Xia, who was temporarily one of them, be unscathed?

He needed to go back. He needed to go back injured.

White Crane couldn't bear to watch any longer. He bit the inside of his cheek and looked away.

Sporadic gunshots continued to ring out. Azalea growled. "Give it to him, Azure Bird! That's an order!"

'That's an order!'

A soldier's duty was to obey orders!

Finally, Ye Jian reached out her trembling hand and handed over the pistol. Under the combat gloves, her right hand was so strong that her knuckles looked somewhat hideous. The skin on her knuckles was so fair that even her green veins could be seen clearly.

She had no choice but to hand over the pistol.

She held it so tightly that Xia Jinyuan did not manage to get it into his hand the first time. It was only when he grabbed her wrist and tightened his grip that he forced her to let go.

"Sometimes, Azure Bird, you have to make the choice that's best for you. I once told you that the battlefield is always filled with cruelty beyond your imagination."

He took the pistol that had fallen from her hand. He was calm, even smiling a little. It was so gentle, but also cold. "It's not hard to make a choice about something on the battlefield. You only have to remember two things..."

Before elaborating on the two points he had yet to say, he shot himself in the arm as Ye Jian watched.

Ye Jian knew that he would hurt himself, but she wasn't prepared. She thought that he would at least finish his sentence before starting. Because of his sudden shooting, she covered her heart with her hand. Her face was filled with pain.

The smell of blood wafted over, and Xia Jinyuan's calm voice sounded again. "You only need to remember two things. One, is it the right choice or not? Two, will it be a gain or a loss?"

"Remember these two things. That way, in the future, you can quickly make the best choice for yourself." As long as he discovered her shortcomings, Xia Jinyuan would only make one choice—seriously explain it to her and teach her.

The low sound of a gunshot echoed. Compared to the sound of the other gunshots, the sound of a pistol bullet with a silencer was quite soft. However, it sounded like a thunderclap in Ye Jian's ears.

Chapter 2064: I Have No Regrets

Such a soft gunshot had made Ye Jian's heart hurt. It was too painful. It was so painful that it seemed to have pierced a hole into her heart. She felt so cold that she couldn't stop it at all.

The smell of blood wafted to the tip of her nose. In an instant, the tears in her eyes fell.

This was the bloody battlefield, a battlefield that was filled with cruelty. Even so, as soldiers, they had to face it.

Wearing this dark green military uniform, one had to undergo the cruel baptism of blood. Only by undergoing the cruel baptism of blood could one become a qualified soldier.

Tears fell on the back of Xia Jinyuan's hand. He moved his fingers slightly as he returned the pistol. He didn't comfort her. He just handed the gun to her and said calmly, "I'll bring them out in ten minutes. You must complete the retreat within ten minutes. The speedboat is only about eight minutes away from you.

"Let's all return to the country in peace. It's still uncertain if Antonio will meet a small fry like me."

He said this to Ye Jian. He knew that she was worried. There was no need to say anything else. His duty was to tell her... that he would return safely.

Xia Jinyuan, who was maintaining a faint smile, patted White Crane's shoulder gently. "Protect Azure Bird and have a safe journey, my comrade."

"Don't worry." White Crane nodded solemnly. Since they came here together, they naturally had to go back together!

By the time Xia Jinyuan raised his hand to pat Ye Jian's shoulder, Ye Jian had already grabbed his hand.

She wanted to say something first, but the pain in that part of her heart was so intense that she felt suffocated by it.

His arm was still bleeding. Ye Jian kept adjusting her breathing. She wanted to hug him... so badly.

After she thought about it, she hugged him.

In front of White Crane, Ye Jian pulled out her hand that was being held tightly by him and hugged the man who was constantly leading her forward.

She avoided the bullet wound in his arm and hugged him tightly, afraid of losing his hold.

"I'll wait for you to come back. Please come back safe and sound."

She did not ask how badly he was hurt. She was afraid that if she opened her mouth, she would start sobbing.

Xia Jinyuan hugged her back naturally and patted her back gently. Little Fox's heart was aching for him.

"I'll return safely. I said I'd always be with you."

It was a man's promise to a woman that he would always be with her and never leave her side.

Tears sank into his collar. One drop, two... It was only a brief embrace, but his collar was already streaked with the tears she shed. "Yes, I'll remember that, Captain Xia. I'll remember every word you said."

She cared for him so much that she wished she could stay with him and face the danger together.

Xia Jinyuan, whose heart had grown soft, closed his eyes. He turned his head and kissed her ear quickly. "Remember, if I break my promise, you can do whatever you want with me.

"Be good and let go. It won't look good if you hug me for much longer," he finished his sentence.

Perhaps his light kiss had given her strength, or perhaps his promise had calmed her down a lot. Ye Jian let go of her arm and turned to White Crane. "We're already at the fourth magazine. It'll be too late if we don't leave now."

She had never let her guard down. It was her habit.

She tried very hard to control her emotions. She didn't want Captain Xia, who was on a mission, to worry about her. No matter how much her heart ached, she had to show him a strong version of herself.

Chapter 2065: Such Love

Sensing her emotions, White Crane patted her back gently and said to Xia Jinyuan, "I'll wait for you to come back."

He patted Xia Jinyuan on the shoulder and rushed out of the forest into the sea while supporting the trembling Azure Bird.

Their brief encounter ended before they could confide in each other.

Xia Jinyuan didn't touch the back of his hand until he couldn't see her anymore. His fingers were stained with cold tears. He pursed his lips. The tears were cold, but they seemed to be scorching his flesh.

'This is war, Little Fox. With no way out, you must face its cruelty. You have no other choice.'

Wiping away the tears on the back of his hand, Xia Jinyuan started his operation. He had to meet up with Antonio's subordinates first.

The distance between the two sides was not far. Xia Jinyuan took only five minutes to sneak close. Ye Jian and the other two had just rushed out of the forest and were looking for the speedboat according to Xia Jinyuan's instructions.

Eight minutes away. They had to get there in six minutes!

On the other side, Xia Jinyuan told the two injured mercenaries seriously, "If we don't go after them, Antonio will be even angrier! At the very least, we have to know who came to Antonio's territory to do bad things.

"You all know the ferocity of Antonio's temper. What awaits us if we know nothing?"

Of course, it was the consequences they least wanted to face!

The two mercenaries gritted their teeth and accepted Xia Jinyuan's suggestion. However, the local man was afraid. He was so afraid that his entire body was trembling and he refused to go with them.

Xia Jinyuan glanced at him. Even though Antonio's weapons and the people under him were powerful, there were a few cowards mixed in.

Xia Jinyuan was used to being domineering. When he suddenly saw the man's terrified look, he was not used to it.

When Ye Jian and the others saw the speedboat, Xia Jinyuan and two mercenaries rushed into the beach from the trees. The speedboat started up, and the sound alarmed the mercenaries who were looking for it. One of them shouted, "Damn it, they're taking our speedboat!"

The speedboat was maneuvered by White Crane. With a beautiful swing, it rushed into the sea.

Ye Jian turned to look at the sea. Vaguely, she saw someone chasing after her from the beach. She held the railing tightly and pursed her lips into a straight line.

"Q King is an all-rounded soldier. His comprehensive skills, physical fitness, and other traits are much better than those of us veterans of the Xueyu unit.

"Back then, when he joined the Xueyu unit as the captain, we were all unconvinced as he was still so young. However, in less than three months, we were all convinced."

Seeing that Azure Bird was worried about Q King, he told her some things about Q King in the Xueyu unit.

At the mention of all these, there was only admiration in his tone. "It should've been the air force's responsibility to test the new batch of fighter jets, but because our unit needed to introduce it, the military ordered the Xueyu unit to send six special forces soldiers to test the new fighter jets.

"The flying test was considered high-risk. When Q King completed the high-altitude spin dive, a certain control key suddenly failed. In order to protect the new fighter plane, Q King refused even when the command center ordered him to abandon the plane and jump!

"In the end, he managed to fly the fighter back to the airport. Just from this incident, I was completely won over by his courage and his skills.

"He is our king, Azure Bird. He's the captain of our Xueyu unit and the soul of our unit.

"Since he said he'd return safely, Azure Bird, you must choose to trust him. For he is the soul of us all and is one with us. We must trust him."

It was a veteran's lesson to a new recruit.

Chapter 2066: You're A Soldier

'We have to trust him...'

Ye Jian looked at the island that was getting farther and farther away from her. She retracted her gaze and said in a light voice, "I know we have to trust him. I just... feel sorry for him."

He wasn't a god. He needed people to love him too. Her heart went out to him for having to face so many difficulties. When doing anything, he always rushed to the forefront.

He wanted to protect her, but she... wanted to protect him too.

Azalea could tell that something was wrong, but he did not know what. Azure Bird's heart ached for Q King? Why did it sound strange?

For a moment, Azalea didn't know what to say.

However, he knew that Azure Bird wasn't at ease now. She was still worried about Q King facing the arms dealer alone. Hence, from the island to the port, she kept talking about Xia Jinyuan's matters in the army and what he did on missions. Every matter was about how he had brushed shoulders with death. Every story made Ye Jian's heart tremble.

"Q King used his strength to tell us that there's no one else in the Xueyu unit who can be captain. He's the captain. Everything he says is an order to us, and we have no choice but to obey.

"There's no point in feeling sorry for him. You can't stay with Q King. It's pointless to worry. You can't reach out and help him. But Q King isn't fighting alone. J5 and the others aren't at the base either. Maybe they're on the same mission as Q King."

He had already said so much. If Azure Bird still could not relax, there was really no other way.

Although he did not know if J5 and the others, who were not at the base, were really on a mission with Q King, he could only say this to comfort Azure Bird.

White Crane, who was maneuvering the speedboat, frowned when he saw that Azure Bird was still not at ease. "Azure Bird, we're on a mission ourselves. Before we're done protecting the engineers and before we return to the country, our mission is not over yet. You can't be distracted by the appearance of Q King, understand?"

"You have your mission, and Q King has his mission. It's the greatest comfort to each other that each completes their mission."

His words made Ye Jian's heart turn cold. Yes, they weren't done protecting the engineers. She was still on a mission!

She had made a particularly serious mistake. She had been swayed by personal feelings!

Realizing this, Ye Jian's face turned pale. How could she neglect her mission because of her personal feelings?

Captain Xia had once told her very clearly that on the battlefield, they were no longer lovers but comrades. Their personal feelings could not affect the entire battle.

How could she forget his teachings? How could she let him down?!

"I'm sorry, I was wrong!" Ye Jian was willing to admit her mistake. She was a soldier on a mission now, not Captain Xia's girlfriend. She could not be controlled by personal feelings!

If she failed the mission because of her personal feelings, even she would look down on herself, let alone Captain Xia.

Her apology earned a tolerant smile from White Crane and Azalea.

"You didn't do anything wrong. No one would feel good if they encountered such a thing for the first time. It's very normal. You feel sorry for Q King, but actually, we feel the same way too. It's just that as veterans, we know better how to hide our emotions. We know that as soldiers, we should act like soldiers!"

White Crane comforted Ye Jian so sincerely. It was not perfunctory.

Chapter 2067: Fight Our Way Out

Ye Jian was a female soldier taught by a world-class sniper and a level-one sergeant major. Realizing her mistake, she quickly fixed her behavior and stopped letting herself be affected by her emotions.

She was a soldier on a mission. At this moment, her personal feelings had to be placed at the back. Nothing was more important than her mission!

This was the responsibility a soldier should have! It was also a responsibility that she had to have!

The three of them had set off from the island nearly two hours after Pigeon and the others. When Pigeon and the others got into the vehicle arranged by the embassy, the three people who had received the location of the port were still at sea on the speedboat.

“Arrangements for the first batch of engineers are done. Their luggage has been sent to the airport. The direct flight back is at 4:08 a.m. There are still two hours and 19 minutes before the plane leaves. It’s very likely that Azure Bird and the other two won’t be able to catch the first flight back!”

Pigeon, who had finished communicating with the embassy, told his comrades in the car with a solemn expression, “The second flight will be four o’clock in the afternoon... This will be a headache. They’ll have to wait nearly 12 hours before being able to return to the country.”

12 hours was an unusually long time. There was no guarantee of an accident happening during the long wait!

“Antonio isn’t just an arms dealer. Even the taxis here work under him. The entire city is filled with his forces. What if something goes wrong in between?”

When Pigeon finished speaking, it was so quiet in the car that one could hear a pin drop.

Long Eagle’s eyes turned fierce. He said in a low voice, “I’ll stay and support them! If something happens, we’ll fight our way out.”

“Antonio is too powerful. Even the government forces don’t dare to fight him. How can we fight our way out?!” Chi Lu immediately rejected the idea. This soldier from the northwest was not handsome, but his years in the military had given him a sharp look in his eyes. One would feel as though one’s neck had been slashed by his gaze. He hugged his rifle and said coldly, “If we’re really discovered, Q King will be in even more danger. He’s still in Antonio’s camp!”

This meant that if Antonio discovered Ye Jian, he would probably think that Xia Jinyuan, who was Chinese as well, had deliberately let Ye Jian go.

At that time, not only would Ye Jian and the other two be in danger, but Q King as well!

Blood Swallow, who was dismantling his gun, looked up and added calmly, “There are still a few brothers missing from the base. You should count them in too.”

If anything happened, it might not only affect Q King but also the missing brothers in the base!

Instantly, the atmosphere in the car became even more somber.

“Q King shouldn’t be in our scope of consideration. We can’t interfere in other missions.” Despite their concern for Q King and the others’ safety, it wasn’t their place to interfere. In a deep voice, Pigeon said, “The embassy made the worst arrangements. If Azure Bird is discovered by Antonio, they’ll have no choice but to smuggle themselves back into the country.”

“Let’s hope they get away safely and get through the 12 hours they’ll be here.”

No one spoke again. Abandoning their comrades and leaving first... They were forced to do so.

“The military—”

Long Eagle had just mentioned the military when Pigeon, who knew what he wanted to say, interrupted with a bitter smile, “The military has already contacted me. We have to leave first. Jiang Gong and the others have a lot of information related to military defense. We can’t stay.”

“I also asked the embassy if we could delay the flight by an hour. The answer was no. The longer the engineers stay here, the more danger the country will be in. The information Jiang Gong and the others have is too important... If anything unexpected happens, our country will suffer incalculable losses. It’s not something we can imagine.”

Chapter 2068: Escape

Bang!

Chi Lu hit the car door with his fist. With his long legs stretched out, he hugged the rifle and closed his eyes. He had a look of anger on his face and did not want the conversation to continue.

He was furious, but he had no choice.

He knew that his comrades would be in danger, but he could only watch.

“I’m just thinking about the worst-case scenario. It doesn’t mean that something will really happen. Haven’t similar things happened before? In the end, everyone still returned safely.” The equally helpless Pigeon enlightened his comrades. “Look on the bright side and think about the skills of the three of them. Think about the good possibilities and don’t give yourself too much pressure.”

They didn’t see Ye Jian and the other two until they boarded the plane. The car arranged by the embassy was still parked at the brightly lit port. No one drove it away.

The port was not quiet at four o’clock in the morning. There was a constant stream of people driving motorcycles from one side of the pier to the other. There were also people climbing onto freighters full of containers and walking back and forth.

There were still people on top of the lighthouse with binoculars looking out to sea from time to time as if looking for something.

The men all held knives. Some of them had bulges in their chests that showed the outline of guns. They kept coming and going around the port.

There was a gentle breeze on the surface of the sea. The incoming breeze smelled of salt and oil. The pattering sounds of the speedboat drifted faintly from the dark sea, gradually drawing closer until they could clearly see the people from where they stood in the port.

It didn’t come to the port. After making a 180-degree turn, it sailed back out to sea.

There was not just one speedboat on the sea but ten. They circled the area, advancing and converging. From time to time, the people on the boats would shout at the top of their lungs.

They were all looking for a certain speedboat and the people on it.

“Expand, expand! Expand farther!”

“What the hell?! Where the hell have they gone?!”

As the speedboats dispersed, some cursing could be heard.

In less than five minutes, the people on one of the speedboats contacted their companions loudly. Immediately, all the speedboats rushed over in a direction.

There were three figures who dived under a ship. Not long after, someone emerged out of the water and grabbed a rope to release the lifeboat.

Soon, the figure took advantage of the fact that the strong light of the ship was not sweeping over and grabbed the rope tightly with both hands. She was as agile as a monkey climbing a tree. Her feet pushed against the hull as she climbed to the deck in no time.

Someone walked over with a light on the deck. Ye Jian’s eyes darkened. She suddenly lowered her body and hid under the lifeboat.

As she was drenched, she couldn’t roll straight across the deck. The water left behind would tell these guys with knives that someone had walked through here.

When the footsteps passed, Ye Jian immediately climbed onto the deck. Her feet hooked onto the railing of the deck, and her hands were agile as she quickly untied the rope and placed it in the sea.

Earlier, she had felt that the rope was not released into the sea. Now, she had to release the rope so that her comrades could successfully board the ship.

In order to prevent the water droplets from dripping onto the deck and attracting attention, Ye Jian quickly took off her clothes in the night and wrung out the water. She couldn’t take off her pants and wring them dry. She could only grab a corner and wring it.

Water was running down the hull. Not a drop fell on the deck.

Soon, White Crane and Azalea came up and did the same with their clothes.

When a few men with knives walked over, the three of them were already long gone.

Chapter 2069: Forces

Xia Jinyuan had told Ye Jian that Antonio was so powerful that even the government did not dare to provoke him. He was not lying at all.

The three people coming out of the port were unable to drive even though they had seen the cars prepared by the embassy. The entire row of cars, regardless of whether they were big cars or small cars, had their wheels locked. There was red spray paint that spelled out ‘Antonio’. It was a grand way of telling the owners of these cars that the person responsible for this was no other than Antonio.

“Abandon the cars and find the embassy.”

When White Crane saw the locks and red paint, he made a snap decision to find the embassy.

According to the agreement, a comrade would pick them up and they'd head to the airport together. Now that there was no one in the cars and the cars were locked, it was obvious that their comrade, Long Eagle, had also left.

The departure of Long Eagle undoubtedly told the three of them that the situation was dangerous and they had no choice but to leave.

Ye Jian, who was in charge of guarding, had already seen the five people who had just walked past them return from the front. The strong light that could illuminate 20 meters shone directly at them. She whispered, “Hide!” The three of them slid under the chassis of the car.

Most of the cars parked at the harbor belonged to tourists heading to the island to sightsee. These people weren't serious enough to search underneath each car. They just kept sweeping around with their bright lights, looking for suspicious people.

The three people under the car watched as several pairs of big feet passed by under their eyes. They only came out when the footsteps disappeared one by one.

Long Eagle had prepared a package in a black plastic bag and left it behind for them to find.

The three of them, who did not have time to open it to check, did not stay at the port anymore. They left silently. There was already pale gray daylight.

“The embassy made good preparations.” Azalea took a passport out of the black plastic bag and waved it. “This will solve half our troubles.”

The passports that the three of them had forged to board the plane were still on their bodies, but the photos were destroyed. Meanwhile, their rifles and other equipment had sunk into the sea.

Now, apart from a pistol, GPS device, dagger, and the set of clothes they were wearing, they had no other worldly possessions.

What the embassy had prepared solved the problem of traveling for the three of them.

There were bus cards, cash, cell phones, passports, and entry cards. These would be enough for the three of them to travel across most parts of the city and head to the airport.

It was dawn, and the thin golden light broke through the clouds to illuminate the city where sin and beauty coexisted. The cars coming and going on the streets kept honking as they crossed the not-so-wide streets and arrived where they needed to go.

Ye Jian, who had changed her clothes, learned a little about the city she was in with the help of the convenience store clerk. Then, she came out of the convenience store with their breakfast—chicken rolls and hot milk.

Azalea and White Crane were waiting for her at the side of the road. One of them was wearing a black short-sleeved T-shirt, while the other was wearing a white short-sleeved T-shirt. At this moment, the two of them who were dressed casually did not have the sharpness of soldiers. They were just tourists coming and going on the main street. They were holding maps and gesturing as if discussing how to go from here.

“Little Ye, you’re out.” It seemed that all his attention was on the map. Azalea smiled and waved at Ye Jian.

White Crane, who was wearing a white short-sleeved shirt, looked at Ye Jian with a smile and whispered to Azalea, “I have good taste, right? Doesn’t Little Ye look good in this?”

“That’s right.” Azalea nodded. Ye Jian was indeed beautiful. She looked as clear and fresh as a young girl. Her eyes were innocent, and her smile was like a flower. She was so beautiful that she looked happy.

Chapter 2070: Avoiding Danger

White Crane, who came from a wealthy family in Jiangnan, had a slightly better aesthetic sense than his comrades. When Ye Jian first picked out jeans and a white T-shirt, he couldn’t bear to look at her.

He couldn’t help but ask her, “Do you like jeans and white T-shirts so much?” Ye Jian only replied to him with one word, “Convenient.”

The word ‘convenient’ stunned White Crane for at least three seconds. The girls he interacted with would struggle for hours to get dressed up, and his mother was even worse. She would start preparing for what she was going to wear tomorrow on the first night.

After interacting with so many girls who wasted time on dressing up, Bai He didn’t know how to react when he heard Ye Jian say ‘convenient’.

However, he soon felt relieved.

Ye Jian was not like the girls he had interacted with before. Ye Jian was a soldier. To a soldier, time was not to be wasted. In order to pursue efficiency, she would definitely do whatever was convenient.

In the end, he stepped forward and picked out the clothes that Ye Jian was wearing now—a pair of loose but especially long brown cotton linen pants paired with a light sky blue linen loose-sleeved shirt as well as Bohemian-style sandals. When she put them on, Ye Jian herself was surprised.

Azalea and White Crane, who were outside waiting for her to change, were even more stunned.

She was really beautiful! Her fair and exquisite facial features carried a hint of coldness, but there was also some gentleness in the corners of her eyes. She had an ice-and-fire temperament. She was exceptionally charming.

When Azalea brought over a colorful flower hat, Ye Jian would look more playful.

Seeing that Ye Jian was still a distance away from them, White Crane said in a low voice, “In the future, Little Ye will be a flower in our team. She’ll be the only one.”

“Life will be more exciting,” Azalea concluded succinctly.

Wasn't life more exciting with a female soldier in a group of male soldiers? They would be more well-behaved in private!

Stepping out into the sunlight, Ye Jian didn't know that her comrades were discussing her. She handed their breakfast to them and asked with a smile, “How is it? Which route will be better?”

There was no way to grasp the entire route. At the very least, they had to know the general route. The map would help them grasp the general route. This was so that they could escape immediately if anything happened.

“The roads in the city are complicated. Old drivers will probably get lost.” White Crane, who had rolled the map into his hand, took a bite of the chicken roll. He looked at the surroundings and saw a few people with totems on their arms. He knocked hard on the glass window of a taxi and said in a low voice with a dark gaze, “Looks like this street isn't peaceful anymore. Let's talk as we walk.”

He knew the language and could clearly understand what the burly men were saying.

Ye Jian's eyes darkened. Antonio's power had exceeded their imagination. How would Captain Xia fare after they returned?

White Crane lightly tapped her on the shoulder and said, “Let's go.”

“Okay.” Ye Jian hid her worry well and didn't let her comrades notice anything amiss. She smiled lightly and got into the taxi.

She believed in Captain Xia's abilities, but she could not believe that he could really escape unscathed.

The taxi drove for less than three kilometers before it turned a corner and was blocked. The sound of the honking was deafening.

As the car slowly came to a stop, a few burly men knocked on the glass window. The taxi driver wound down the glass window after the first knock, afraid that these people would smash his car.

A burly man leaned against the car window with one hand and sized up Ye Jian impudently. White Crane and Azalea, who were behind her, were also sized up by the two burly men.
