

BOOT CAMP 471

Chapter 471: A Rare Meeting

The other two glanced up and immediately got the picture. The pistol was Ye Jian's. She was mentioned several times in the meeting and her file was submitted to the leader's office and then accepted as part of the accompanying group.

Xia Jinyuan picked up the QSZ92 9mm semi-automatic pistol and checked its magazines and barrel. After confirming that everything was working fine, he signed the weapon documents.

"Your little fox should like the pistol. Small, exquisite, and easy to use. It's lethal too." J5 patted Xia Jinyuan's shoulder. He finally understood why Q King had always given him a familiar feeling.

An image flashed past his mind. When he joined the army, the Commander came to inspect the troops. The young and handsome face in front of him matched the middle-aged face then. He understood the connection.

The family members of the Commander are rarely exposed to prevent criminals to target their innocent family members.

Like Q King, if it was not for the familiarity that he had captured, he wouldn't have thought that Q King was such a prominent figure. He mingled well with all the brothers and was not haughty or arrogant because of his family background at all.

However, Xueyu unit did not lack children of senior military officials. Z7 and K7 were also the offsprings of high-ranking officials. Their families were only slightly worse than Xia Jinyuan's.

After keeping the pistol, Xia Jinyuan looked at his watch and the corner of his mouth raised unconsciously. His little fox had already boarded the plane and would be expected to arrive at the airport in two hours and eleven minutes.

It was a pity that he couldn't pick her up.

"I need to meet Ye Jian. Look at the information about the accompanying staff again." When he mentioned Ye Jian, Xia Jinyuan's facial expression softened and he looked even more handsome. "There will be a special plane tomorrow at four in the morning. We will assemble an hour early and secretly cooperate with the brothers from National Security to clean up the surroundings and ensure that there are no problems."

When the leaders were traveling abroad, there was no way the time of departure and place would be disclosed. The National Security was to keep everything strictly confidential. Unauthorized personnel must not get near them. They had to make sure not even a housefly could get in.

And the soldiers from Xueyu unit would not reveal themselves easily. For this mission, they knew who was from National Security and who was from the Imperial City. However, the soldiers in those two teams had no idea that the Xueyu unit was already among them.

That was why Xia Jinyuan said it was a secret cooperation.

The four of them walked out of the armory and left in a vehicle that was arranged for them. Xia Jinyuan went towards the military area to meet Ye Jian alone. He needed to bring Ye Jian to see one of the accompanying leaders – a high-ranking leader.

The plane arrived at the airport at eleven o'clock and they only arrived at the military area half an hour past midnight. By then, there were only three hours before the leaders left abroad.

“Girl, Commander Liu and I will be leaving now. Go to the sentry box after you get off the car, someone will be waiting for you.” When they arrived at the gates, Commissar Yan smiled at Ye Jian, who had rested on the plane for two hours. “If there are any problems abroad, you can report it to the accompanying secretary. Do not make decisions yourself when there’s an emergency. Try to report it first before handling it.”

“There is only one thing that you can decide on yourself. Besides that, you have to be careful.”

He urged and urged before leaving, for fear that Ye Jian would be impulsive and leave a bad impression in front of the leader.

Chapter 472: Why Is It You Again?

Ye Jian knew that there was only one thing in which she could make her own decisions, and that was when it was time to pull out her gun.

She chuckled, “Commissar, Commander Liu, please rest assured. I will not make mistakes.”

Ye Jian was quite confident in herself. She was the best at not making mistakes.

The two of them trusted her words. She was smart and enthusiastic. When she was quiet, her temperament was calm and distant. Like a landscape painting, she gave off a vibe that she was well-behaved and there was no need to worry about her.

Well-behaved and conscientious, she had the honor to be tasked with an important role at such a young age. Even so, she was still able to maintain her composure and there was not a hint of pride and arrogance. Her calmness was enough to set their hearts at ease.

After Commander Liu and the commissar had said their piece, they asked the driver to leave the military area and head for the military guest house.

Tomorrow was their meeting and there was no need to go in at midnight.

Ye Jian carried her camouflage luggage in one hand and held onto her access pass and military letter on the other as she walked over to the sentry post.

It was half an hour past midnight, and there were sentries wearing military uniforms and holding QBZ-95s standing guard at the sentry post. One of them saw Ye Jian walking over and his gaze landed on her camouflage luggage. Although he didn't point his muzzle at Ye Jian, he bellowed, “Military area, do not approach!”

The importance of sentinels was to psychologically deter enemies, gang members, and miscellaneous people, and to prevent them from sabotaging anything.

There was no live ammunition in their weapons, only five blanks.

Even so, anyone who saw the armed sentinels would be awestruck, and it would make the civilians feel safe and secure.

Ye Jian put her luggage at her feet and saluted, "Hello, I'm a student who came to the military area to report. This is the military letter and my access pass."

She got out of the car and handed the military letter and access pass to the sentinel. With two rifles in front of her, what Ye Jian felt was not fear, but amiability.

The sentinel took the military letter and read it carefully. He didn't allow her to enter immediately and looked at Ye Jian with cold eyes, "Please wait at the side, we will need to verify this."

This was the normal process. Ye Jian smiled slightly and stood by the side, listening to the sentinel to verify and confirm before she was let in.

Wasn't someone supposed to pick me up at the sentry post? Why isn't there anyone?

The military area was heavily guarded at midnight. The street lights were on, illuminating every corner of the military area, showing the mystery, the grandeur of the country's majesty in the hazy night.

The national emblem at the center of the gate was illuminated by a snow-white lamp. It was the brightest scenery in the night and the most solemn one too.

Someone strode across the military area in a hurry, and his tall figure brought with it a stern temperament. Ye Jian looked at the figure coming out of the shadows, walking past the sentry post, and then towards her.

A familiar mint fragrance, a familiar face... And a familiar soft smile that made her heart tremble.

"You... are the one picking me up?" Ye Jian felt a bit silly after asking. Since he was the one that came out, he would naturally be the one picking her up.

Xia Jinyuan took her luggage from her hand and smiled while he raised his eyebrow, "That's right. I'm the one picking you up."

Chapter 473: I'm Overjoyed

Pick her up? Ye Jian couldn't help but glance at the man who was in a black suit. He actually said that he was coming to pick her up?

Shouldn't he be in military uniform? Why is he in a suit, like an elegant nobleman who had just come out of a cocktail party?

Ye Jian was focusing on why he was in a suit while Xia Jinyuan was focusing on how she was always so calm when she sees him. Can't she be a little surprised?

He smiled and asked, "Let me see if there's any surprise. How come... you're not surprised at all?"

"Captain Xia, every time we meet, you give me a shock, not surprise." It was because the more she didn't want to have too much contact with him, the more she would encounter him. They even got in and out of the hotel together.

Xia Jinyuan had already built up immunity and was already used to hearing those similar words. He had been waiting for her for a few hours. She arrived when he left for five minutes to settle something trivial. He felt that it was a pity to not be able to meet her first-hand. But now that he saw her, he was feeling satisfied again.

Incidentally, that small mouth would never say anything that would fill his heart with joy. The words that came out from it would always render him speechless and at a loss whether to cry or laugh.

Xia Jinyuan raised his thin lips and watched Ye Jian as they entered the military area. She looked gentle and lovely under the moonlight, like a little fox that just stepped out of its fox den.

No slyness, only obedience... Xia Jinyuan felt as though there was a feather caressing his chest... He raised his hand and stroked her hair gently.

"But I was pleasantly surprised and overjoyed to see you here."

He said softly. Ye Jian looked over and locked eyes with Xia Jinyuan. In that moment, Ye Jian breathed hastily.

Under the dim lights, she could see an ember igniting in his calm gaze. There was something she could not understand... something that made her panic a little.

Her black eyes moved slightly and Ye Jian looked away. While holding his hands gently, she grinned, "Overjoyed? Now that I'm here, I think you're overjoyed because you won't be the one getting criticized."

Now that they have met, she would have to get used to him and slowly learn how to deal with him.

Ye Jian gently let go of his hands and smiled, "My flight was at eight in the evening. I rushed over here immediately after getting off the plane without delaying. I think the leader knows that I could only reach at this time. I don't think Captain Xia would be criticized because of this."

Overjoyed... Based on this explanation, what else can he say?

What can he say? He just felt that every time they met, this little fox became more daring in front of him and her way of avoiding him was keeping him on his toes. He would have to react every time she made a move.

Xia Jinyuan was surprised to discover that he really liked this way of getting along.

He grinned and his eyes were warm and gentle. His deep eyes seemed to be clear and bright under the moonlight, as though he could see what was going on in her mind.

“My joy has nothing to do with the leader. It is purely because of you that my heart rejoices.” There was some distance between the gates and the office building. Xia Jinyuan had enough time to have a conversation with Ye Jian, who he had not seen in a month. His fondness for her filled his heart with joy.

Chapter 474: It's Not Good To Be So Close

But to Ye Jian, she didn't want to carry on with the conversation. That night at the Swan Lake, she clearly saw the predatory gaze in his eyes, like a beast waiting for its opportunity and ready to strike.

And she was his prey!

Right now, his smile was just an appearance. For someone like him, even if he stood still, he was unreachable. Even if he was easy-going, as long as you saw his smile, you would immediately remember how far away he was from you and how dangerous he was.

Ye Jian was not afraid of him being out of her reach, but she feared his amiable disposition and his shallow smile. She pursed her lips and grinned, “I'm also happy. I just arrived in time. Captain Xia, you will be able to report to the leader.”

He had to laugh with every sentence she made... until her heart was trembling!

Listening to his gentle laughter in the silent night, Ye Jian was constantly telling herself to always keep a distance from this dangerous and elegant man.

Never let him have the opportunity to disrupt her mind at any time and to steer the topic in the right direction!

“I can still wait even if you're late, all the way until...” He bent his waist and his minty breath brushed across her cheek. He was so close to her... Ye Jian's body tightened up.

Even her breath felt like it was following Xia Jinyuan's rhythm... Her whole body was enveloped in his breath as she listened to his elegant and intoxicating voice, “Until you show up. No matter how late you would be.”

He knew that her body had tightened up. Even if her face was calm on the outside, he could see that her facial expressions were quivering. His smile on his handsome and elegant face grew wider.

His low and intoxicating voice was gentle like water, rendering Ye Jian's heart powerless.

Even though this was her second life, she still couldn't maintain her calmness and composure in front of Xia Jinyuan.

With her heart thumping, Ye Jian fixed her gaze on him and calmly replied, “Of course, you'll have to wait for me. If you don't, you will be the first one to get a scolding from the leader.”

After hearing that, Xia Jinyuan chuckled again.

Their faces were only a fist away. As he laughed, his minty warm breath sprayed on her cheek, and her heart trembled more. The defenses in her heart were fortified.

“That’s right. I have to wait for you before I can report to the leader. The leader is afraid that you would be scared by the sentinels. That’s why I came to pick you up. Turns out you reached after I left for a while. I almost got into trouble.”

Xia Jinyuan knew that she was avoiding him and he stopped teasing her. He moved on and talked about serious matters, “There’s a small meeting. There’s no time for you to rest. You need to attend the meeting right away.”

Ye Jian’s eyes could finally calmly meet his and she nodded earnestly, “I’ve rested on the plane for more than two hours. I don’t feel sleepy at all. I can attend it immediately.”

Chapter 475: Restraining That Gentleness

“Alright. Later, a high-ranking leader will be asking you some questions. Just answer them accordingly. Don’t be afraid. It’s an ordinary conversation.” Before entering the office building, Xia Jinyuan suddenly held Ye Jian’s hand. “If you’re nervous, just look at me. I will be sitting opposite you.”

Her palms were sweaty and Xia Jinyuan thought that she was nervous. But it was his gentle smile that made her nervous.

She was more nervous facing him than the leader.

Sitting in the conference room, Ye Jian answered the lieutenant general’s questions. He was indeed a high-ranking person, but she was undaunted.

“You’re courageous. We need bold ladies like you in the army.” The army’s lieutenant general was one of the leaders. Dressed in a military uniform, the star on his shoulders exuded authority and might. The whole conference room was motionless.

As soon as Ye Jian entered the conference room, she faced several military leaders and instantly got into her spot. She was no longer a student, but a soldier!

“We were very surprised when the Military District of Southern Province recommended you. Looking at the picture, you were dressed in school uniform, beautiful, well-behaved and not aggressive. But no one had expected that you were trained by Chen Dongfeng.”

“A soldier that was trained by a world-class sniper. You have the airs of one. It makes me comfortable and assured!”

The lieutenant general was obviously more satisfied with Ye Jian than what he had seen in the photos before. He then probed about how her sessions of training in the military unit. He even asked briefly about where she was planning to go to in the future.

Ye Jian answered them calmly. Her sentences were complete and there wasn’t a trace of stagnation. She didn’t freak out at all.

Sitting opposite her was Xia Jinyuan. His face looked cold, but his heart was gleeful. Occasionally, he would gaze at Ye Jian and not bother hiding it. He wanted to continue watching, but after all, there were three leaders present and it was Little Fox's first time here. He didn't want to mess things up.

There was no need to conceal his admiration. The little fox was received by a lieutenant general, and there were three colonels... These were men that could move troops with just a stomp of their feet.

His little fox was not afraid. She was still calm and composed. Not everyone had that kind of concentration and focus.

He was openly admiring her. Why hide it?

Ye Jian looked calm indeed. But that man's gaze... it was burning like a fire, making her throat dry... He didn't even restrain himself in front of a lieutenant general and three colonels!

...Ye Jian's head was hurting. She had the thought of beating Xia Jinyuan up after the meeting was over.

Until his face was bruised and swollen. She'll see whether he will continue to dangle his face in front of her!

"There are two more hours left. Colonel, show Ye Jian the information in your hands." The lieutenant general picked up his military cap and grinned at Ye Jian. "This colonel is also accompanying us. If you have any questions, you can ask him."

Finally, the lieutenant general had finished his questions. Before he left, he said one last sentence to her. "Every oak has been an acorn, work hard!"

Chapter 476: Half A Finger Apart

One meeting was all it took for the lieutenant general to recognize Ye Jian's ability and appreciate it.

Although the three colonels returned her salute back with stern expressions, they were all smiling at Ye Jian and advised her after lowering their right hands.

After they had left, everyone in the conference room relaxed. Xia Jinyuan watched as she patted her chest gently and couldn't help but grin, "I thought you weren't afraid. It turns out that you hid it well."

"Sit down, I'll pour you a glass of water to moisten your throat. You spoke so much and stayed up late. Don't let your throat be hoarse when you board the plane. This time, you're building a bridge of friendship between the students of the countries. You need to let the other party feel our country's sincerity."

Ye Jian only knew that she was going to a country where war has only recently subsided. But as for which country and why the leaders had chosen to go there at this point in time, it was not something that she was to know.

Hearing that, she sat on the chair and took a deep breath. "I wasn't really scared in the beginning. Later on, it was you... Captain Xia, are you so presumptuous even in front of the leaders? You kept staring at me! I was feeling okay but then when you glanced at me, I felt so nervous and thought that I've said something wrong."

A dim light flashed across Xia Jinyuan's dark eyes as he poured the water, and a slight grin surfaced on his face.

He approached and handed the glass to her and raised his eyebrows slightly, "That's weird. You're not nervous with the leader, but nervous when I looked at you. That doesn't make sense."

"It does, because you..." Before she even finished, Xia Jinyuan suddenly bent down. Ye Jian, who didn't have her guard up, raised her head and looked up subconsciously. This time around, their distance was really getting close.

... The distance between their noses was only... half a finger apart!

Her bright eyes widened as she looked at him. Even if she stopped breathing immediately, there was a swirl of his breath circulating in her chest.

Her pupils gradually constricted... to the point where he was the only thing that she saw in her world.

Ye Jian bit her lower lip uncomfortably and calmed herself down. "Stand up first, let's talk properly and not get too close. From a medical point of view, being too close is bad for breathing. Not only will you breathe in the carbon dioxide, but there will also be cross-contamination..."

What was she trying to say?! Unable to get ahold of herself, Ye Jian leaned back and her legs pressed against the floor, trying to inch away from Xia Jinyuan.

It was a useless attempt. The floor was carpeted and the chairs had no wheels. There was no way she could move it.

"It doesn't. My rank is not as high as theirs. Not to mention my military experiences and qualifications. Completely incomparable. Why would you be afraid of me? It doesn't make sense." He gently rubbed her chin as he remarked. Ye Jian looked like she was cast in stone as her pupils contracted to the size of a pinhole. She was paralyzed by his affectionate actions and her toes were all tensed up.

Is he crazy? This is the military area, a conference room! Are there any surveillance cameras? Will anyone see this?

Chapter 477: Don't Easily Say That You're Scared

Ye Jian glared... If he dared to do anything else, she was contemplating whether to teach him a lesson by raising her knee.

If they made a ruckus and attracted the sentinels' attention, it would be unfortunate.

No matter how capable or calm Ye Jian was, it was her first time in the military headquarters. She was really stunned by Xia Jinyuan's bold act.

She didn't dare to act lightly either... Ye Jian began to force herself to calm down. Only then was she able to face it with composure.

His finger had not left her chin. He raised her chin and made eye contact with her. Ye Jian didn't evade his gaze and quietly listened to his deep voice. Xia Jinyuan smiled vaguely, "And we're so familiar with each other. Why would you be afraid of my gaze? Unless..."

Unless what?

As he paused intentionally, Ye Jian, who managed to regain her composure, removed Xia Jinyuan's hand from her chin and looked at him. "It's because we're too familiar with each other. That's why I was afraid of saying something wrong and you would correct me in front of the leader and make him feel disappointed in me."

"Your eyes are sharp. I needed to take every word seriously and think twice before speaking. I was afraid of you thinking that I was exaggerating. After all, you know a lot about me."

If she had said what she was thinking about, then... Xia Jinyuan's grin faded away and he stood up, staring at her silently.

After some time, the corner of his mouth curved up. "No, Ye Jian. No matter how familiar the person is, you should never be scared of him. At the very least, never easily say that you are afraid."

"Outside, there is danger everywhere. Once you're scared, there will be flaws."

His gaze was colder than hers, so cold that you could feel it in the bones. "When executing a mission, your fears will become your weaknesses, and your every move will become the enemies' best target."

The aura that enveloped him was no longer gentle, but cold and harsh when he faced soldiers. Ye Jian regained her composure and got a grip on her emotions. The ambiguity between the two dissipated and only solemnity remained.

"I understand what you mean. Were you testing me just now?"

Xia Jinyuan raised his eyebrows, "That's right. I was testing you because I realized that whenever I take notice of you, your gaze would flicker unnaturally."

"Ye Jian, if you want to be part of the Special Forces, you will need to be able to control your emotions in any public space. Don't let your emotions control your eyes, but use your eyes to control your emotions instead."

Xia Jinyuan wanted to test her when he was pouring the water. If he wanted to bring her forward, then that small habit of hers would have to be corrected by him!

He wanted to bring his little fox to a place much higher and much further away. Any problems that he found on her must be corrected in time!

Ye Jian didn't realize that the dubious move... was actually to test her. She hated herself for failing to notice it and thinking about something that she shouldn't be thinking about!

She stood upright and accepted Xia Jinyuan's harsh criticism and advice.

Chapter 478: A Lesson

“Don’t let your abilities go to ruin just because your emotions were exposed. Especially when you’re executing missions. There should only be vigilance in your eyes and no one else! Ye Jian, do you understand?” They were the harshest words that Xia Jinyuan had ever said to her ever since they’ve known each other.

The ambiguity and the teasing all disappeared from her mind. All that was left was the calmness before executing the mission, and a focus that would not be disrupted by anyone.

While standing straight and acknowledging that, Ye Jian could feel her a thin layer of sweat coming out of her back.

She couldn’t see through the man in front of him. He was like a spring breeze in one moment, and a cold wind in the next. She was still immersed in his cold voice and yet, he had already concealed his coldness and revealed an intoxicating warm smile.

“Alright, now you can relax. I believe that with your intelligence, you will remember what I’ve said and change.” He grinned and handed over the glass of cold water again. “Here, drink up. It’s cold. It’ll freshen you up.”

Ye Jian’s deep and dark eyes could not understand him completely. After receiving the glass of water, she took a sip... It was really refreshing, her brain woke up a lot.

Xia Jinyuan was a mysterious man. There was too much for her to learn from him. It was all thanks to his prompt reminder that she understood that no matter who it was, she needed to maintain a certain distance in public and not let her emotions be wavered by others.

He was her mentor and could also be considered as her good friend. It was fortunate that she could have such a companion on her path to growing up.

“The plane will take off at four-thirty. You will need to rush to the airport with me and get ready in advance.” Xia Jinyuan was satisfied with Ye Jian’s attitude. After being stunned by him, she didn’t choose to escape, but to accept and recognize her flaws and the truth.

She knew how to separate work from personal matters. When it came to work, he would be strict on her and would never let it affect her private matters.

Someone like that was also someone who could clearly distinguish between kindness and hatred. He was not afraid that his harshness would be met with her keeping a distance from him.

Battles emboldened her. Why would she escape from him?

As he watched her sip the cold water, he elegantly drew out a cold metal object from his side pocket – a QSZ92 9mm semi-automatic pistol that could fit in a briefcase.

“This pistol is from the armory. It’s a brand new pistol that has never been used. It’s suitable for you.” He placed the pistol on the table and pushed it in front of her. “A total of thirty-five rounds in the two spare magazines and also the magazine in the pistol. If no shots are fired, all thirty-five bullets will have to be turned over to the armory.”

Ye Jian picked up the pistol and held on to the pistol grip. She then released the magazine and the magazine fell onto her left palm. She then checked its contents and reloaded the magazine after she had counted the fifteen rounds.

She then cocked the gun handsomely and aimed at a moth that was outside the conference room through the crosshairs.

“No problems.” Withdrawing her pistol, Ye Jian’s calm eyes looked at Xia Jinyuan and grinned, “We can set off now.”

“Of course.” Facing a little fox who was very indifferent to him, Xia Jinyuan was not in a hurry. He left the conference room first. While walking, he spoke, “You will need to change your clothes. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs has prepared a new set of school uniform for you.”

A new set of school uniform?

She took the bag that he had taken out from the locker and glanced at him, before going into the dressing room to change.

It was a western-style uniform. The bottom was a navy blue skirt with dark red plaids while the top was a white blouse and a navy blue jacket with gray edges. She also donned a pair of black leather shoes and white lace socks...

Ye Jian instantly felt the urge to return to the restroom and change back into Provincial No.1 Middle School’s school uniform.

This school uniform... felt a little strange on her.

Xia Jinyuan, who was waiting outside, saw that she was pulling her skirt uncomfortably and his Adam’s apple slid up and down involuntarily.

The little fox’s school uniform had made his blood flow restlessly.

His thin lips puckered slightly as he contacted the logistics department through his earpiece.

“Let’s change a new set.” Her legs were too long. It was supposed to be a knee-length plaid skirt, but it became a short skirt and an extremely short one! Her straight and slender legs, coupled with her fair and delicate skin, blurred Xia Jinyuan’s eyes.

As soon as Ye Jian heard that, she heaved a sigh of relief, “Let’s have pants, this skirt is too short! I’m afraid it’ll be obscene when I bend over.”

“Mmm, trousers.” Xia Jinyuan also thought that trousers were a good idea!

Soon, a pair of trousers of the same design was sent over. At that time, they were considering between skirt and trousers. They thought that a skirt would be more suitable for a girl, but they were afraid that it wouldn’t be appropriate. That was why they brought both the skirt and trousers over together.

Fortunately, there was a pair of pants!

After changing into the trousers, Ye Jian immediately felt comfortable. She then swept her foot across the dressing room. Not bad, the trousers are elastic!

When she came out again, Xia Jinyuan felt that his little fox was... gorgeous. Her long legs, slim waist, and her ponytail revealed an alluring look.

"It's not early, the car is waiting for us." Xia Jinyuan cleared his throat and concealed his gaze and hid her charm in his heart.

The office building in the military area was dead silent, whether it was day or night. There were no soldiers in military uniforms around and Ye Jian could only feel an overwhelming and solemn atmosphere in the building.

After walking out of the office building, Xia Jinyuan took a briefcase from a soldier and thanked him slightly before rushing to the airport with Ye Jian. In one night, she had already went to and fro the airport.

"We will reach the airport in an hour. You can take a break now. I will wake you up when we're there." Xia Jinyuan sat in the back seat and every move of his was reflective of a soldier's code of conduct. He no longer teased Ye Jian with his words or actions.

This was the time when Ye Jian would accumulate her experiences. He would never let her focus solely on him. The only personal time he had with her was when he fetched her from the sentry post to the office building.

Once it was over, they had to conceal everything and direct all their attention to the mission.

Chapter 479: High Alert

It was already two in the morning and there were two and a half hours left before the plane took off. At this time, every department was already in their positions and ready. The guards from National Security and the Imperial City had already arrived and were carrying out inspections and surveillance. The security director was also conducting a comprehensive inspection before the take-off.

The flight route inspection teams had also concluded their various tasks before the domestic take-off. After the plane takes off, they would immediately start preparing for the foreign plane to land and handover to the other country's Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The four soldiers from the Xueyu unit had also arrived at the building and inspected it. They didn't even let off any CCTVs to prevent anyone from divulging and leaking the leader's route into the airport and harm them.

The crew members in the building were already on standby and had all cooperated with the security's inspections. After confirming that they didn't carry any dangerous items on their bodies,... the entire designated private aircraft building had entered a high alert.

It was not only the case here. It was likewise abroad. People landing an aircraft abroad were also on a high alert.

When Ye Jian arrived at the airport fifty-three minutes later, Xia Jinyuan and her received layers of rigorous inspections and finally entered through a special passageway after they were cleared.

“Go directly to the waiting room and wait. You can take a look at this information first, if the leader...” Xia Jinyuan was interrupted by a voice in the earpiece after walking for a few steps, “I’m Q King.”

J5’s voice came from the earpiece, “The lieutenant general’s admin officer has called, please inform Ye Jian that the highest-ranking leader in this trip will be waiting for her in the waiting room and will be introduced by the lieutenant general.”

“How long will they be meeting? Besides him, are there any other leaders that she would need to meet?” Xia Jinyuan immediately passed the information in his hands to Ye Jian. With a faint light floating in his eyes, he glanced at Ye Jian. “We are at the special passageway. We will reach the designated private aircraft building in about two minutes and we will reach the waiting room in five minutes.”

Ye Jian was a student on exchange. The leader naturally had to meet her to understand the situation.

After receiving all the information that was related to the customs and cultures of other countries, Ye Jian glanced at Xia Jinyuan who was engaged in his conversation and started looking through the information.

“Alright, I will bring her over now. Wait for me in the waiting room.” After cutting off the communication, he looked at Ye Jian who flipped through the information speedily. It could be said that she scanned the page from top to bottom and then flipped to the next one. It was fast, but he knew that she had already remembered its contents.

His thin lips curved into a sexy arc and his black eyes looked like he was praising her. “Little Fox, the lieutenant general has a very good impression of you and mentioned you in front of the Head. The Head will have five minutes with you.”

Hearing that, Ye Jian’s reading speed slowed down. She raised her dark and bright eyes and looked at him. “What do I need to pay attention to?”

“Nothing much. You’re a student. The Head will not talk to you like he would during an inspection.” The expression in her eyes did not waver and Xia Jinyuan couldn’t help but laugh. This girl’s calmness... is that of a general’s.

Uncle Gen and Uncle Chen had trained her well. Calm, composed, able to react in chaos. She would never fumble in critical times.

Chapter 480: We Can Talk About It When You’re In Uniform

He had mentioned before that she was a qualified soldier. Now, he had to say that his little fox was capable of being in the Special Forces.

“Relax, be calm, organize your thoughts, speak clearly and grasp the rhythm. You’ll be fine. There’s still time. Read the information in your hand first. The leader would probably ask about this.” Xia Jinyuan remarked unhurriedly, trying not to give Ye Jian any pressure and easing her thought process.

It was extremely important to have a mentor and a friend. Not only would they not hinder you, but they would also help and advise you at any time. Ye Jian grinned as she glanced at him.

A Xia Jinyuan at work was worlds apart from the usual Xia Jinyuan. Even though he was speaking softly and gently now, his eyes had a sword-like intent that was not concealed at all. Each gaze was cold and full of a man’s charm.

On the contrary, she was able to face this version of Captain Xia more calmly. She wouldn’t need to speculate what he would be doing next or what he would say to her.

She couldn’t help but sigh, “Captain Xia, you’re so good to me, especially when I have questions to ask you about work. I feel at ease. But you’re frivolous when you’re taking a break. It distresses me.”

Frivolous? Distress? That sudden comment suddenly made Xia Jinyuan’s mouth twitch. When was he frivolous? How did she get this idea? If he was really frivolous,... he would have done whatever he wanted to do with her.

Oh, that won’t do. The little fox would make him pay in blood with her claws.

He narrowed his eyes and said indifferently, “Why would you think so? Have I done anything rude? I shouldn’t have, except for that time in the military area’s conference room,... I don’t remember any others.”

“You didn’t do anything rude, and I will never let you do anything rude to me. It’s a feeling. It’s a feeling that you give me. Captain Xia, don’t you think... that sometimes, you like to...” Having finished reading the information, she closed it up and frowned slightly at the handsome and flawless face. “You like to say things that make people misunderstand. I wouldn’t take it to heart if it was once or twice. But any more than that, I feel that you take pleasure in teasing me.”

“It’s sad. It looks like in your heart, I’m frivolous and only capable of teasing you. Tsk tsk tsk, Little Fox, your crude words can really hurt people.”

Xia Jinyuan would never feel sad. Even his tone had a trace of joy. A dim light started to shine in his pitch-black eyes. Occasionally, it looked dangerous yet mysterious. “Then can you think carefully about why I would act like this?”

The color of his pupils were really deep, like the bottomless ocean. It was extremely black, concealing everything, such that no one can figure out what he was thinking.

Ye Jian had to admit that she was not capable of figuring him out. She seemed to have an answer, but when she thought it through, she felt that it was impossible.

In the end, her eyes flickered and she shook her head. “It’s difficult, and I don’t dare to think about it.”

“Then don’t think about it. Study hard, get into the military school. One day, when you’re in uniform, I will tell you the answer. And one more thing, I treat every one seriously. I’ve never had a relationship since I became sensible. You can rest assured.”
