

Chapter 891: So Unkind

Ye Jian directly bit his shoulder. However, she couldn't bear to bite his flesh so she used her teeth to grind his bathrobe. "You always have so many reasons when you're in front of me! You even sneaked into my room in the middle of the night. Why can't I ask you what you want?"

She couldn't even bear to bite him. Xia Jinyuan's smile turned even brighter as he hugged Ye Jian, who slowly relaxed in his arms, gently. He smiled softly and sighed. "Of course, you can ask. I like it when you ask me. You went to fetch my military uniform at 3 am. Little Fox, you are good at taking care of people. What should I do? The more I interact with you, the more I can't let you go."

"..." Ye Jian moved her shoulders. Her expression was extremely unnatural. Why was he hugging and touching her whenever he wanted... Ever since they kissed at the military unit, he had gotten more and more unbridled. "Xia Jinyuan, why don't we sit down and talk? Can we not be like this?"

She wasn't used to it and she felt extremely embarrassed. But, his hug... she didn't resist it. Was she being hypocritical... No! Whatever it was, she just felt embarrassed!

Xia Jinyuan was very comfortable with hugging Ye Jian. The girl in his arms was small and soft. She secretly helped him to settle his things. From her expression, he couldn't see any signs of hardship. It was a natural thoughtfulness.

That's right, she was thoughtful. It made him extremely happy.

"If we don't do this, what can we do?" He asked in a low voice. His voice was like the sea, low and hoarse. His breath blew past her ear. Ye Jian's heart shuddered and she gritted her teeth. She made a huge decision in her heart.

Xia Jinyuan was genuinely shocked by her decision. She grabbed her neck suddenly and kissed him voluntarily... It was a kiss on his lips.

He was stunned for half a second. He relaxed his arms unconsciously...

The next second, the person in his arms disappeared along with the kiss.

She had escaped from his arms agilely. She raised her eyebrows and said proudly, "You have hugged and kissed me. Captain Xia, can you change your clothes now?"

"I still have to go for training in the afternoon. I rested for half a month because of the injury on my arm. If I don't start my training, my skills will get rusty."

If you get a special forces soldier as your boyfriend, you need to guard against him infiltrating your room in the middle of the night. If you get a special forces soldier as your girlfriend, you need to guard against her escaping from your arms when she is kissing you.

When a male soldier met a female soldier, when a special forces soldier met a special forces soldier, their love was one where they could run and compete alongside each other. This was the love between two well-matched candidates.

Xia Jinyuan smiled helplessly. "I haven't even felt that it was a kiss but it had already ended." He touched his lips with his slender hands. Her warmth could still be felt. He raised his eyebrows and said in an ambiguous tone, "Shall we kiss longer? Let me feel the kiss."

Ye Jian took much effort to escape from his grasp. Why would she go back?

She rejected him with a smile and used her eyes to signal him to change his clothes in the bathroom...

"You're wearing a pretty dress, not your school uniform. In that case..." Xia Jinyuan placed his military uniform, which smelled good, back into the wardrobe. He smiled and continued, "I'll not wear the military uniform today. I'll wear casual clothes."

He glanced at the breakfast that was placed on the entrance cabinet. "I'll wash up first. You can watch television and have your breakfast. How about the international news channel? You're still studying but your goal is to enter the military school. You should understand international affairs."

Chapter 892: Caring About Him Because Of Someone Else

He picked up the breakfast Ye Jian brought up and placed it on the coffee table. He said casually under her slightly serious gaze. "The morning news has ended. You can watch the 9 am news. I told you that my mission was a decapitation strike, right? See if you can find any clues in the news."

The seriousness on Ye Jian's face was obvious. "Xia Jinyuan, this is the second time you mentioned your mission. You didn't forget about the ten rules of confidentiality so why do you keep mentioning your mission in front of me?"

"You can take a look first. Okay, this is the channel."

He needed to let her slowly understand his mission. He wanted to let her watch the news first because what you see always felt more real than what you heard from other people. He hoped that she could see more things and analyze the situation based on what he mentioned. He hoped that she could immediately find problems that were beneficial and accurate.

With her intelligence, she might be able to guess through the news what their mission was related to and why they needed to take on the mission.

In school, Ye Jian didn't have many chances to watch television. In 1997, Provincial No.1 Middle School didn't have the thought of placing a television in each classroom. The only television was in the assembly hall. No one dared to take the risk to sneak in and watch it.

Ye Jian felt a huge rock weighing down on her heart. She looked at Xia Jinyuan as he turned on the television and tuned to the international news channel. "I don't know if there's news regarding my mission. Take a look at it. I need to give Hou Zi a call."

“Okay.” Ye Jian nodded and started watching the international news seriously. From the corner of her eyes, she saw Xia Jinyuan taking out his phone and walking into the bathroom to make the call.

Hou Zi was still on level 23. He just finished swimming so he was only wearing tight black swimming trunks. Even though he was 37 years old, he maintained his body well. From his tight abs, one could tell how much he emphasized on exercising normally.

He picked up the call and said, “Hello.” His expression started getting more and more serious. “So this is what you mean by cooperating with this piece of land. Sure, I will send you your clothes in half an hour and bring you to choose the goods personally.”

Hou Zi cared about Xia Jinyuan because of his sister. Also, it was worth helping the other party. Today, if Xia Jinyuan asked him to bring his gun and help him, he would do it without frowning at all.

Xia Jinyuan raised his eyebrows when he heard Hou Zi’s decisive reply. He smiled and asked, “I killed someone overseas and escaped back to the country. Brother Zi, I’m a huge piece of trouble.”

“What am I afraid of? I know your identity. You didn’t kill the person because of personal grudges. Fine, stop trying to scare me. Besides your sister, no one can scare me.” When Hou Zi smiled, killing intent could be seen at the bottom of his beautiful phoenix eyes. He laughed and continued, “Thank you.”

Why was he thanking Xia Jinyuan? There were two reasons.

First, he wanted to thank Xia Jinyuan for thinking about him at a time like this. If someone like Xia Jinyuan killed people overseas, he did it for his country. Since he came to look for Hou Zi after he killed the person, Hou Zi felt that he needed to help Xia Jinyuan. Helping Xia Jinyuan was equivalent to helping the country.

Second, he wanted to thank Xia Jinyuan for giving this chance to him. This was a chance for him to reorganize everything and clean up his past for good.

Hmph, when did he ever agree to let Xia Yiwei marry that stupid designer?

So what if he studied overseas?

He never studied much but he was still able to lead a successful life. He could still marry Xia Yiwei!

“The place to choose goods is a little far. However, you won’t regret going there.” Hou Zi wasn’t afraid of letting Xia Jinyuan know where his hiding spot for his goods was. So what if he knew? He never used these goods to harm the peace of the Southern Province.

It was just his hobby. He just liked collecting them.

Chapter 893: There’s No Way You Would Marry Another Man

Xia Jinyuan knew that Hou Zi had weapons. It was normal since he came from the underworld. However, he didn’t expect Hou Zi to ask him to choose the goods. Just one word ‘choose’ told him that Hou Zi had many weapons!

Not bad. He wasn’t afraid of having too many weapons. He was just afraid there were none.

“Hou Zi, you should know the consequences of bringing me to see your collection, right?” Xia Jinyuan wasn’t afraid that Hou Zi had many goods but some things needed to be stated clearly. Xia Jinyuan’s gaze was stern as he continued, “You know my identity. If I go there, I will take your goods and there’s a high possibility that...”

Hou Zi took the towel his bodyguard handed over to him and wiped his messy hair. He grabbed his phone with one hand and walked towards the dressing room. “Since I dared to take you there, I’m not afraid of letting you see my goods.”

“I have known you since you were 16 years old. It has been so many years but I didn’t leave any traces behind. Even your sister doesn’t have any pieces of evidence of my work. You said that I’m helping you but I know that you’re helping me, helping me to reorganize my trade openly. Brother Zi is not afraid of letting you know. I still have to thank you.”

“You asked me for goods so that means that you know I have them. There’s no need to say anything useless between us based on our relationship. If you need anything or anybody, you just have to tell me.”

He needed to help Xia Jinyuan. Helping him was the same as helping himself!

Hou Zi spoke casually but his tone was resolute and cold like a decision-maker. Within a few sentences, he was able to decide on a huge affair.

Wasn’t he looking for death by bringing a soldier to his weapons warehouse?

In the past, he might be looking for death. But, now, this was his chance!

Many people wanted to collaborate with this piece of land. Now, the chance was in his hand.

He would be stupid if he doesn’t grab this chance!

Xia Jinyuan smiled. Xia Yiwei, you have won completely!

You really won!

Based on his understanding of Hou Zi, he would definitely give him weapons if he asked. However, he would never bring him to the warehouse personally.

Just like what Hou Zi said, even Xia Yiwei didn’t have any direct evidence of his crimes. Thus, how could someone as cautious as Hou Zi let him personally choose the weapons?

There was only one answer. Hou Zi took to heart what he said yesterday and was using his actions to tell him that he decided to throw his success away. He wanted the Beauty!

“Brother Zi, you can decide. I need the goods urgently. I need to get them by tomorrow morning.” Xia Jinyuan didn’t give Hou Zi any more chances to consider. He didn’t have time to wait anymore.

"I will send you your clothes half an hour later. I will be waiting for you at the underground parking lot of Hotel Venus." Hou Zi's expression was calm. He must grab this chance to work with this piece of land.

Why would he bother about his worldly possessions when Xia Yiwei wanted to marry other people?

He spent the entire night thinking about this problem. Every time he compared his current status to that heartless woman... Damn it, he realized that no matter how he compared, the moment he thought of another man sleeping beside Xia Yiwei, he felt anger burning in his heart. He wished that he could buy a wedding ring immediately and rush to her to propose to her.

He needed to do things slowly and one at a time... He suppressed the anger in his heart. His face was so beautiful he almost seemed enticing like a demon. However, the aura he had was cold and dark, the kind that made people shiver in fear.

There was no way he was going to allow Xia Yiwei to marry another man!

Chapter 894: He Is In Danger

8.50 am. Ye Jian was focused on watching the television so she didn't care what Xia Jinyuan was talking about with Hou Zi in the bathroom. It was 8.50 am now, There was still ten minutes before the 9 am news.

News shown on television had all been edited and reviewed. Thus, she didn't think that she would be able to guess what Xia Jinyuan's mission was from the television.

Xia Jinyuan hung up the call and walked out of the bathroom. He said to Ye Jian, "Half an hour later, someone will send my clothes over. We will go out together and have a look around."

Go out to have a look around half an hour later? That meant that she wouldn't be able to finish watching the 9 am news. She hoped that she would be able to see some traces from the preview.

"Do we have to go out together? Can't we go to the training grounds?" Ye Jian looked up at the man that decided her schedule for the day. Her gaze turned a little stubborn as she asked, "Captain Xia, why do I feel that you're hiding something from me?"

Xia Jinyuan raised his eyebrows. "You can't go to the training grounds today. As for the reason... watch the news first. You took my share of breakfast, right? I'm suddenly a little hungry."

Ye Jian was even more suspicious when Xia Jinyuan changed the topic directly. "Yes, your breakfast is here too. You can eat it and tell me why we have to go out together today."

Xia Jinyuan smiled at her knowingly. The deep look in his eyes gave him a mysterious aura. "Continue watching the television. Eat your breakfast slowly. I will accompany you in a while."

Little Fox's curiosity was piqued. He hoped that she wouldn't cry because of fear later...

Cry? That seemed impossible. Why would the strong Little Fox cry?

Less than ten seconds after he walked out, Xia Jinyuan came back with a cold expression. He was holding Ye Jian's school uniform in his hands. there were bloodstains on them.

“What happened on your trip?” He asked in a low voice. There was even a hint of anxiousness inside. “Did you meet any suspicious people and took care of them directly?”

After entering the country, he had been on his guard all the time. The ‘snakes’ that he lured from overseas shouldn’t be able to detect her presence so quickly... Was he too careless? Had they started attacking Little Fox already?

Ye Jian, who was watching the television, looked up. She saw him holding the bloodstained uniform with a tensed expression. She was slightly shocked by his reaction so she hurriedly explained, “I saw a car accident on my way to the airport. The blood is not mine. It got stained when I was helping with the rescue mission.”

So that was what happened. He was really frightened just now.

Xia Jinyuan glanced at the school uniform in his hand. The dried blood wasn’t Ye Jian’s but his heart still felt heavy.

Nothing amiss could be seen on his face. He smiled and said, “I see. Looks like the accident was quite bad. You got so much blood on you even though you just helped with the rescue mission.”

“It’s very bad. I wonder how the driver is.” Ye Jian furrowed her brows slightly when she saw his eyebrows relaxing after her explanation. She was puzzled.

What exactly happened during this mission? Why was he so tense even after returning to the country?

What did he mean when he asked if she met any suspicious people and whether she took care of them directly? Why would she kill someone so blatantly?

...No, that’s not right. Whether she would kill someone or not wasn’t the crux. The main point was that there was someone whom she needed to take care of!

Someone had followed Xia Jinyuan back into their country!

That was why he had to burn all the clothes he wore on the day itself throughout his journey back.

Chapter 895: I Brought Danger Back

Ye Jian squinted and walked over. Her expression was extremely serious. “Are you in danger now? Are you in extreme danger?! Someone followed you back into the country! Am I right? Answer me, Xia Jinyuan!”

Her voice was stern and agitated. It was as cold as the air in winter.

Xia Jinyuan hurriedly consoled this little fox that exploded in anger and had a tense expression. “Don’t be too nervous. If this accident happened to other people and you just participated in the rescue mission, I’m still very safe in the Southern Province.”

“I kept wiping away my traces. I didn’t even wear the same clothes twice. If there’s really someone following me, we will discover him together and take care of them.”

He touched the crown of her head and maintained a small smile. "Our profession is special. Danger is always around us. But, in our own country, we are relatively safer."

He had been dealing with these people so that J5 and his other comrades would have enough time to escape. Now, most of his comrades had reported their safety to the military. That meant that his plan succeeded.

He successfully lured all the 'snakes' to himself and let his comrades return to the country safely.

He talked about such a dangerous topic as casually as if he was commenting about a movie. He hid all the dangers behind his smile. Even his expression was calm as if this wasn't worth mentioning at all.

That smile caused Ye Jian to have difficulty breathing.

The car accident didn't frighten her or make her lose her collectedness. Her heart started dropping even more as she looked at him with a resolute gaze. She said softly, "If someone followed you back, I will definitely bear the danger with you."

That fearless expression caused waves of emotions in Xia Jinyuan's eyes. His little fox wouldn't shrink back just because he was in danger. Her choice would be to stay beside him and fight with him.

"I believe you. If I meet any danger now, you will stand beside me. That's why I came back, that's why I brought danger back with me to you. Little Fox, will you be angry?"

Ye Jian furrowed her brows tighter and tighter as she listened to Xia Jinyuan. Angry? She didn't even have the thought of being angry now!

Did this mean that even though he came back to his country, his mission wasn't completed?

Since his mission wasn't completed, why did he come to the Southern Province?

"There's one more thing I have to tell you. I can't wear the military uniform because my current identity doesn't allow me to wear the uniform that represents our country."

This bastard!

If he couldn't wear his military uniform, she could confirm that his mission still hadn't ended.

Yesterday night, when he sent her back to her hotel, he should have told her everything. Why did he have to wait until today to say it?

He came back alone with danger. Why didn't he tell her beforehand? He slept so soundly when she went to the airport. What if danger came at that time?

If she knew that he didn't need to wear the military uniform, she wouldn't have rushed to the airport so early in the morning.

She shouldn't think of it this way. If she didn't go to the airport in the early morning, Aunt Song might have gotten into a car accident.

Ye Jian wasn't able to watch the television after hearing what he said. Her voice was tight as she asked immediately, "Why, why can't you wear it?"

"Because I'm not a soldier now. I'm an illegal mercenary."

His words caused Ye Jian to stop breathing. Her heart scrunched up tightly in an instant.

What kind of special forces unit was Xia Jinyuan in? What kind of special forces unit was this? How was it able to let a soldier change his identity and become a mercenary!

Chapter 896: Heart-Shaking

He became an illegal mercenary that didn't have any identity! He wasn't allowed to reveal his face in any country. Once they got exposed, their country wouldn't be able to protect them so easily!

That was because they weren't Chinese soldiers! Their name wouldn't be found in the database of the entire military unit!

Everything about them had been wiped away before they were sent on their mission. This proved that once they were exposed, they could only rely on themselves.

Ye Jian felt her heart shaking. "Why did you still come back to the Southern Province then? ...Xia Jinyuan, there must be a reason why you came back to the Southern Province, right? The Southern Province is Brother Zi's territory. Did you think that if something happens here, he won't be a bystander and let you fall into danger, right? That's why you came back to the Southern Province directly."

"Also, Captain Xia, you dared to contact Hou Zi when you're still on your mission. You must have other motives, right?"

As compared to Ye Jian's nervousness, Xia Jinyuan's expression seemed calmer. "Smart. You guessed it so quickly. You're right, Little Fox. I came back to the Southern Province because there's a reason why I must come back."

"What you said just now is the decapitation strike. The decapitation strike is the biggest portion of your mission. It involves the matter between the two countries. This is a huge affair. No matter how powerful Brother Zi's power is in the Southern Province, he might not be able to ensure your safety." Ye Jian pursed his lips and looked at Xia Jinyuan even more sharply. She said in a firm tone, "Captain Xia, the reason why you must come back to the Southern Province isn't so simple either!"

Xia Jinyuan laughed very softly. His handsome and elegant face seemed composed but his voice was cold. "I'm an illegal mercenary now!"

He emphasized the word 'illegal'. Then, he looked at Ye Jian with eagle eyes. "Ye Jian, why do you think I have to come to the Southern Province? What is the reason I must come back?"

The Southern Province belonged to Hou Zi. If the 'snakes' that he lured from overseas attacked him here, Hou Zi wouldn't just sit still. The reason why he must come to the Southern Province was the weapons in Hou Zi's hand.

Ye Jian's brain never stopped working. She kept analyzing the reason why Xia Jinyuan had to come back to the Southern Province. Then, she remembered how he suddenly told her about his 'decapitation strike'. Based on the rules of confidentiality, he shouldn't say what he shouldn't. But, he still said it... It was as if he told her on purpose.

No one could help them. They could only help themselves. No, wait, she could help him!

If she was right, Xia Jinyuan purposely let her know about their mission... This was also the military's intention!

If not, how could a soldier like him tell her about their mission so easily?

He would only dare to say it if the military gave their consent!

The military knew that he came to the Southern Province. They knew that he went to look for Hou Zi and knew that he had contacted her. The military knew everything but Xia Jinyuan was still an 'illegal mercenary'!

An illegal mercenary contacted the boss of the underworld, Hou Zi, without hiding the fact from the military. This meant that the military allowed him to contact Hou Zi.

...This was a clueless matter and one would normally get more and more confused as they thought about it. However, Ye Jian's mind became clearer instead. Slowly, the reason why Xia Jinyuan must come back to the Southern Province floated into her head!

That was because Hou Zi had the items that the military couldn't give Xia Jinyuan temporarily. What were those items? Ye Jian's gaze turned darker and darker. They were like the ocean. They seemed to be bottomless pits.

After approximately one minute, waves started appearing on the surface of the ocean. She felt that she had guessed the reason why Xia Jinyuan must return to the Southern Province!

Chapter 897: I Will Always Stay By Your Side

Weapons! Hou Zi was the boss of the underworld. He must have guns and ammunition! As an illegal mercenary, Xia Jinyuan would need guns and ammunition. How could he not have weapons to protect himself before his mission ends?

"You came back to the Southern Province because you trust Hou Zi and you know that he will definitely help you! You need Hou Zi to get you weapons!" She was shuddering as she opened her mouth. She trembled so furiously even the tips of her fingers were shivering lightly.

After returning to his country, he still needed weapons to protect himself. What kind of people did he lure back? There was one thing she knew. The people that he lured back into the country had weapons on them too!

The smile on Xia Jinyuan's face got deeper. His gaze got deeper too.

Guiding Ye Jian to understand the danger of his current mission and hearing her analyze his reason for coming back actually gave him a sense of pride.

This was his little fox. A brave and strong young lady that would get tougher when things got more difficult.

“That’s right. I’m an illegal mercenary now so I can’t go back to the military to get weapons. If I need guns and ammunition, I can only look for Hou Zi. Coming back to the Southern Province was my best choice.”

“Our mission for coming back to the country is to ‘draw the snake out of its hole’. I’m in charge of leaving behind pieces of evidence seemingly unintentionally so that these ‘snakes’ from overseas will be lured to the Southern Province. This will give my other comrades a chance to escape. So, Ye Jian, I brought a huge danger to you.”

“Are you afraid?” This was what he asked her. There were only three words and his voice was extremely soft when he asked. However, every single word was filled with seriousness. The pressure of each word was like a mountain pressing down on you.

Ye Jian wasn’t afraid. She wasn’t afraid of danger at all. She wasn’t worried about the danger he brought either!

When she opened her mouth again, Ye Jian noticed that her voice was so tight it sounded like a string that was about to break. “What are you going to do now? What about your identity?”

That’s right, she wasn’t afraid of danger. She was just afraid that he couldn’t get his identity back!

Xia Jinyuan’s eyes felt teary when he heard this. The girl he liked wasn’t afraid of the danger he brought to her. Instead, she was afraid... that he wouldn’t be able to get his identity back.

Major Xia felt his heart aching. He forcefully suppressed the urge to hug her and took a deep breath secretly. Then, he said calmly, “I’m an illegal mercenary now but my identity will naturally be revived once I end my mission.”

Ye Jian felt the huge mountain pressing down in her heart exploding with a bang into a pile of dust. Her entire body felt relaxed now...

So he was able to regain his identity once his mission ended. That’s good, that’s good... Before she could heave a sigh of relief, what Xia Jinyuan said after this made her heart turn cold once again.

“These aren’t problems at all. The problem is the injured K7. He contacted G3 last night but he didn’t even send his coordinates. Thus, I feel that he didn’t manage to escape and was ‘bitten’ instead. Little Fox, this is the biggest problem currently.”

“G3 is K7’s person to contact. I’m G3’s person to contact. In this mission, each person will only have one person to contact. K7 climbed out of a field of gunfire. His mercenary uniform had turned into strips because of the explosions. When I saw your school uniform and recalled K7’s injury at that time...”

He stopped talking. He didn't want to personally talk about his suspicion that his injured comrade was taken as a hostage. His gaze, which was always on Ye Jian, turned heavy.

Ye Jian's emotions were all triggered by what Xia Jinyuan said. She stared at him intently. She didn't ask about anything but she asked for herself, "Captain Xia, if you tell me about your mission and all the difficulties that you face now, it means that I can ask questions about your mission as well as participate in your mission directly, right?"

Chapter 898: You're Not Just A Soldier

"Didn't you guess it already a moment ago? Do you still need to confirm it again? I can only contact you and tell you what my mission is if the military agreed." Xia Jinyuan laughed. He even raised his hand and rubbed her head. "What else do you need to confirm?"

Ye Jian pulled the hand that was messing up her hair away. "I want to confirm if my identity currently is a student or an illegal mercenary. Be obedient. Don't move! I still have many things I want to know!"

"Of course you're a student. What else do you want to know?" Xia Jinyuan laughed. His laughter was low and deep. His chest slightly vibrated due to his laughter. "You can think about what we should do in the future. After all, I'm not a soldier but an illegal mercenary now. As a little fox who occasionally gives me a headache because of your cleverness, what methods do you have to let me regain my identity as soon as possible?"

He could bring her to actual combat but she needed to grasp the entire situation of the combat herself. She was a smart girl. She shouldn't just be a soldier listening to commands. She could become a commander who commands other soldiers!

He hoped that she would become a commander who commands other soldiers!

Now, he would listen to whatever she had to say. If there was something wrong, he would point it out so that she could grow step by step. Xia Jinyuan felt proud just thinking about how he would watch her grow up slowly and achieve success.

"You can ask me anything you want. I can even tell you that after we lure the snakes out of their holes, we will eliminate them here in the Southern Province. We can't do it in the city hub. We need to find a secluded place to end this mission." Xia Jinyuan revealed the danger of his mission again to allow Ye Jian to know what they would be facing.

Ye Jian's gaze slowly turned serious. Her voice was soft and full of killing intent. "Since you have already lured the 'snakes' over, we can't let them have the chance to bite you. We mustn't let them have the opportunity to go back either!"

Killing these people meant that Xia Jinyuan had completed his mission in the country. No one would know the secret that he was a Chinese soldier.

That was the only way to allow the military to resume his identity.

“After the final part of the mission is finished, everything will come to an end. “Ye Jian said lightly. She stared at the elegant and handsome face in front of her with her black eyes. She said each word slowly, “You will be able to get your identity back.”

Her breathing had gotten calm. Even her gaze had turned calmer. Xia Jinyuan couldn't help but hold her cheeks with his hands and rub it gently. “No, Little Fox, it won't end.”

“You aren't kind-hearted towards your enemies. That is good. However, we still have to consider what situation our comrade, K7, is in.”

“I came to the Southern Province because I'm in charge of distracting all our enemies. As long as one comrade hasn't escaped, my mission won't end. My identity won't be resumed too.”

“All the identities of the soldiers that participated in this mission has been changed. If one person doesn't escape, everyone can't resume their identity.”

Xia Jinyuan told Ye Jian everything they needed to do. After he finished, he touched the edge of Ye Jian's slightly trembling lips with his lips. “Little Fox, you need to learn to grasp the situation from all angles.”

Chapter 899: I'll Die To Let You Live

“A soldier that doesn't want to be a commander isn't a good soldier. You must remember that our goal isn't just to be a soldier. We need to become a soldier that can fight. You need to know how to fight and how to command your soldiers in a battle.”

Ye Jian's entire body was shaking. She stared intently at him and looked at his thin lips moving as he spoke. She said, “I want to drink some water. I need to drink.” She was very thirsty, so thirsty that she felt agitated.

She rushed to the coffee table and covered the teacup that had a lid with her hand. She calmed her fingers that were trembling and grabbed the glass of water leftover from the night before. She gulped the cold water down in one mouth and let the coldness of the water suppress the panic that the problems gave her.

She never thought of commanding other soldiers during a battle. She only knew that they were in extreme danger!

Also, there was still K7. Before they knew whether K7 had escaped from danger, the mission couldn't end. They wouldn't forsake their comrade so the mission would still continue!

The cold water seemed to have suppressed the panic in her heart. Ye Jian took a deep breath and turned around. She looked at Xia Jinyuan with a harsh gaze. “Just now, you said that K7 contacted G3 but he didn't send his coordinates. That is why you suspect that K7 purposely contacted you yesterday to show that he was safe and make you feel at ease. He had probably decided to sacrifice himself so that you won't go and look for him!”

The relationship between comrades could be as strong as me dying to let you survive. If K7 was really caught, she felt that he would definitely have the thought of sacrificing himself to prevent his comrades from coming back to save him!

K7's skinny but handsome face flashed past her mind. He didn't talk much but he was a young soldier whose every phrase was a gem. She tightened her grip and said in a voice full of viciousness. "After completing the mission in the Southern Province, go back to look for K7. This is something we must do. I support your decision to go back."

"Are there any other comrades? Do they need to go back too? However, all of you are illegal mercenaries now. What about weapons? Where will you guys get your weapons? Hou Zi can at most provide guns for you. If you want to save someone, you need to prepare more powerful weapons like grenades. You have to consider this too."

"Since G3 is K7's person to contact, where is he now?"

Ye Jian didn't just have one question, they came continuously. Each question was sharper than the last. "In China, you can still look for Hou Zi. Who will you look for when you're overseas? What will you do once you don't have enough weapons? Go to the black market?"

Xia Jinyuan got stabbed by her sharp questions until his nerves started twitching. As expected of a comrade that once executed missions with him. Her questions came continuously and every single one of them was on point.

He thought for a moment and replied earnestly, "G3 is rushing to the Southern Province. He's the only person who knows clearly what happened to K7. He's part of this mission too. At the same time, G3 also needs weapons. Once he reaches the Southern Province, we will take Hou Zi's best weapons with us."

"Even if Hou Zi has weapons, is it enough? Our country bans people from collecting weapons privately. That's illegal. How many weapons does Hou Zi have?" Ye Jian kept probing but she was still relatively calmer. She didn't lose her cool.

Ye Jian was someone who would get calmer the more agitated she was. The calmer she was, the more she understood that this wasn't a small matter.

The news Xia Jinyuan brought back was too astonishing. She didn't participate in his mission before so even though she had a calm personality, she still appeared a little panicky.

Chapter 900: A Country Can't Exist Without Defense, The Civilians Won't Feel Safe Without Soldiers

Xia Jinyuan spoke to Ye Jian in a calm tone so that she could remain composed. In the face of her questions, the corners of his lips lifted at a slight angle and he smiled as he replied, "You don't have to worry about the weapons. Hou Zi has a hobby of collecting guns. He definitely has all the top-tier guns. We have weapons here. After we go overseas, we will have other means of getting weapons."

"We will decide whether we should save K7 at 3 pm this afternoon. The four of us might seem like scattered sands but we kept close contact with each other. For instance, if G3 doesn't contact me, it means that K7 didn't contact him."

If one person didn't contact the other, this meant that everyone couldn't contact one another. No one wanted their comrades to sacrifice. No one wanted their comrades to worry about them either. Hence, everyone would think of ways to contact their comrades to make them feel at ease.

This contact method was simple and to the point. Everyone abides by this simple and straightforward contact method. It had become a habit of them. They would report their status to their comrades anytime and they would never forget to do it.

“Now, we should quickly get rid of the ‘snakes’ that you lured to the Southern Province. Then, you can go back quickly to look for K7.” Ye Jian summarized everything in one sentence. The last sentence was the most important one.

They were comrades who vowed to one another that they would live and die together and never give up. It was their oath of life and death. It had been etched deep inside their heart. They would remember it forever.

With G3 around, they could take care of each other when they go back to the battlefield... She felt more at ease in her heart.

Ye Jian glanced at the wardrobe. He couldn’t wear the military attire that she brought back for him. Her eyes turned teary.

She turned her head. Tears were shimmering at the corners of her eyes. “That military attire... I will keep it and wait for you to come back... to wear them again!”

She was sad. It wasn’t the kind of sorrow that made her cry loudly. It was a deeper kind of sorrow that she held back in her heart and made her heart shudder. She was feeling sad because of his identity. Xia Jinyuan smiled lightly. He used his right hand to pull her into his arms. He comforted her slowly with his warm and big palm as he rubbed her arms gently. “Silly Little Fox, it will be over very soon. There will not be any problems.”

“You must believe us. You must believe our country and believe that we will never give up on ourselves. Our country will not give up on us too. A country can’t exist without defense. The civilians won’t feel safe without soldiers. We are the defense and the soldiers. No one will forsake us.”

As usual, his hug made her feel at ease. The faint smell of mint entered her body slowly. He was comforting her with his aura too so that she could calm down.

The tears didn’t fall from her eyes. Ye Jian forced that back and looked up at him with a resolute gaze. “I have always believed in you. I will take care of your military uniform. I just want to take care of it for you because I was the one who brought it back from the airport and cleaned it! I’m the only one that can take care of it.”

Her sincerity made Xia Jinyuan’s heart pound. At first, he just wanted to console her but now, he wanted to love her.

She was telling him that she would wait for him to come back and wait for him to personally take back his military uniform from her hands. She wanted to see him personally to know that he was safe and not hear his news through other channels.

Xia Jinyuan hugged her tightly in his arms. He only used his right arm but he was already able to hide her under his wings. He used the strength of his hug to express his emotions. "Okay. I will hand it over to you, my current comrade and future girlfriend."
