Chapter 5 Mrs Monor's Dignity

Furthermore, this woman had just said that Ryan Monor was inhuman. She had even said that

Elena had an infectious disease!

"You have no proof!"

"Is that so?" Elena took out her phone and turned on the play button.

The three of them heard her voice and their faces turned pale. Their mocking and disdainful expression instantly turned into panic.

Stella was shocked and immediately shouted threateningly, "You dare."

"Guess if I dare or not?"

Stella's expression was not very good. She might really be afraid that her words would harm the entire family.

No matter how much Stella was favored, if she affected the interests of the family, she would be abandoned by the family.

Amara's expression was also very ugly. Now Elena had become different from before. If it was in the past, Elena would definitely not dare to refute her words.

Given Elena's current status as second young master's wife, if today's matter were to blow up, to the three of them, it would be a disaster.

It was not a good thing.

Amara immediately laughed to resolved the awkwardness, "Younger sister, I was just joking with you now. Let's just forget about this matter."

She was really detestable!

When Elena was bullied, Amara ignored her, but now she stood out to speak for outsiders.

Elena's tone was not good, "Why don't I feel that this is a joke?"

"I only made a few jokes, why do you need to take it seriously? Do you have to make it so that everyone in the H city knows about it before you can let it go?"

Amara's tone had a hint of blame and her eyes were also reminding Elena to stop when it was good.

"Okay, then I will treat it as a joke." After Elena finished speaking, she reached out and grabbed Stella's collar and pulled it forward.

Stella was shocked, "Let go! What do you want to do?"

"From today onwards, if I hear you say that my husband is crippled again, I will really cripple you. I will beat you until you find your teeth all over the floor!"

"Just you wait!" Stella did not dare to make a move against her again. She could only put on a fierce look but was weak inside and say fierce words.

"Did I let you go?" Elena saw that they were about to turn around and leave and called out to them.

"What else do you want?" Amara's tone was unhappy. She had suffered a loss today and she had already given Elena a lot of face. Elena actually still did not give up?

Elena did not pay attention to Amara's expression. She walked over and directly slapped Stella's face.

Stella used her hand to touch and found that her plastic nose was crooked from the slap. She was so angry that she almost fainted, "Elena, I will not let you go."

Elena pointed at her, "You can call me Mrs. Monor from now on. Also, don't use this tone to talk to me."

Stella hurriedly rushed to the hospital to treat her nose. The other one also followed her. It was rare that Amara didn't go with them and stopped to stare Elena.

"Do you have anything else to say me?" Elena wasn't as angry as before and was ready to go back to the hospital to accompany her mother.

"I haven't seen you for a few days. Elena, you really made me look at you in a new light. But let me remind you; don't put on the airs as Second Young Madam of Monor family. Others might be afraid of you, but I am not!"

Amara was also going to marry into Monor family in future. And the person whom she was going to marry would be the head of Monor family in future.

“Aren’t you afraid that this position should belong to you?” Elena mocked, “Do you regret it?”

“Elena, don’t be so shameless!”

The most shameful thing for her was, she had an engagement with that cripple, Ryan Monor. Now, she finally found someone to replace her and marry him. Elena was clearly pocking her soft spot.

“You don’t need to worry about my shamelessness. But you haven’t married yet. You should at least give yourself some face, right?”

She had no interest to chatting her idly with Amara. So she took her thing and was about to leave.

A trash of light flashed across Amara’s eyes and she said in cold voice, “Elena we’ll wait and see. I want to see who can laugh till the end.”

After the two of them left, a person flashed out of the corner and dialed a number.
