Chapter 6 Help Me Wipe My Body

In the office, after Xavier finished his report, he stepped aside and said, "Young Master, this is what happened."

For a moment, the atmosphere in the office was usually heavy.

Lewis family had always been cunning. They had long guessed that Lewis family would look down upon his disability. Sure enough, Elena was the woman who married him instead of Amara.

The Lewis family dared to lie. They were getting bolder and bolder.

Ryan sat on the sofa and looked very cold. He didn't have any extra expression. His cold look scared everyone present.

"What else did they say?" Ryan asked after a long while. However, he looked very dissatisfied.

"Stella scolded you. The madam was very angry. She slapped Stella. She also said that if she heard Stella say bad things about you in future, she would cripple Stella."

Xavier was speechless. Why did she do that?

Was madam showing off or was she really sorry for Second Young Master?

Ryan heard Xavier's words. His originally cold face became a little touched. This was the first time he felt protected by someone.

"Where is she now?" Ryan was a little happy.

"Madam went back to the hospital after buying something. She stayed in the hospital ward for the whole afternoon. She should have returned to villa till now."

Ryan responded and turned around to ask Xavier, "How did you handle that matter?"

“That matter is almost settled.” Xavier answered, lowered his head, “Sir, it’s getting late. You should go back to villa and rest.”

“Let’s go.” Ryan said slowly.

In the Villa.

They didn’t see Elena in the hall. Xavier looked at Ryan’s expression and asked to a servant, “Where is madam?”

“Madam just came back. She has gone upstairs to rest.” The servant said truthfully.

Just as the servant finished speaking, Elena’s singing voice came from upstairs.

Xavier was stunned. He felt that it was time for him to leave.

Ryan revealed a smile that he hadn’t shown for a long time. He said happily, “She is very adaptable to the environment.”

“Will I let you there?” Xavier asked with his head down.

“No need.” After saying that Ryan turned on the electric wheel chair and walked to the second floor. He said lightly, “You can go now. I’ll go by myself.”

In order to take care of Ryan when he went out, there were wheelchair pass ways everywhere in the villa.

Xavier looked at Ryan’s back. He felt that Ryan seemed to be very happy today.

Ryan opened the door. The entire room was completely different from before.

The decoration of the room had always been cold before. The room had previously been black and white. Now, the bed sheets and carpets were pink. It looked like a girl’s room.

On the counter at the door, there were various items used by woman as well as a photo.

Ryan picked up the photo and looked at it carefully. The woman in the photo didn’t put on makeup, so she looked very delicate and pretty.

Elena only came out in a towel when she finished bathing. When she saw Ryan sitting in a wheelchair at the bathroom door, she cried out in surprise.

“Why are you here?”

"This is my room. Why can't I be here?" Ryan said with an expressionless face. He looked at the frightened Elena with a mocking expression.

What he said made sense. She actually could not refute him.

Ryan put the photo on the counter. His gaze swept across the room. Even the color of the curtains had changed. He asked lightly, "Did you do all this?"

"Yes, I thought that the renovation of the room was too monotonous, so I brought these things. Sorry I didn't discuss it with you. If you think that the color isn't good, I'll immediately exchange them all back."

There was no expression on Ryan's face. She was indeed little afraid. She didn't know him. She didn't know if he would immediately lose his temper.

"If you like these things use them." Ryan looked at Elena. She had just taken shower. Her hair had not completely dried yet. Crystalline droplets of water fell from the tip of her hair to her collarbone. She looked very beautiful.

Ryan was little excited. He immediately lowered his head and started the wheel chair. He said lightly, "I want to go in and take a shower. Help me wipe my back later."

She thought she misheard him. Wipe his back? Their relation seemed to have developed quickly.

"You are my wife. Do you feel wronged when you scrub my back?" Ryan looked like he was going to get angry again.

Elena wanted to say something but stopped herself. They had indeed held a wedding. So, no matter what they do, it was reasonable. But Elena still felt a little repulsed.

"Alright."

After Ryan heard Elena's reply, he went straight to the bathroom.

Only then did Elena realize that he went in in a wheelchair. She did not know if he needed help.

But before Elena could say anything, Ryan closed the door. He stopped Elena from saying what she wanted to say.

Elena curled her lips and did not say anything else. She wiped her own body and changed into a clean nightgown. Then she blew her hair dry. It was only then that she heard that Ryan calling her from inside.

"I'm coming." She patted her face and opened the door to walk in. She saw Ryan sitting in the bathtub.

Ryan saw that Elena in a daze and could not help but remind her, "What are you looking at? Did I let you in to be in daze?"

Elena instantly reacted. But she had a nosebleed. She immediately covered her nose and anxiously said, "I'm sorry."

Elena did not wait Ryan to reply and turned around and ran out.

She actually had a nosebleed!

Ryan saw Elena's flustered look and was very happy. He couldn't help but laugh.

Chapter 7 How Embarrassing!

Elena ran out of the bathroom and covered her nose with a tissue. She leaned against the wall and panted heavily.

It was not like she had never seen a man before. Why did she become like this when she was with him?

She wanted to stop the bleeding quickly but the more panicked she got, the more nosebleeds she got.

"What are you doing? Come in quickly." Ryan's voice came from the bathroom.

"I'll be right there." Elena didn't think about what happened just now, only then did her nosebleed stop. She threw the tissue in the basket and took a deep breath before walking in again.

This time she did not dare to raise her hand and picked up a towel from the shower table and gently rubbed his body.

"You are very afraid of me?" Ryan turned around. He looked at her lowering head, could not help but laugh.

"No"

"If that's the case then why didn't you raised your head to look at me?" In the next second, Ryan used his strong arm to directly bring Elena into the bathtub.

Elena screamed and her entire body was immersed in the water. She was so scared that her face turned pale. She raised her head and looked at him.

Elena's face instantly turned red. Just as she was about to shout, Ryan covered her mouth, "Don't shout, or the maids downstairs will misunderstand."

Elena's face was already so red that blood was about to drip out. Could he not be so frivolous?

He only took his hands off when he saw her nod.

She was afraid that she would be as useless as before. After she finished wiping his back, she ran away from the bathroom.

Ryan laughed. It had been many years since he laughed so easily. She was quite interesting.

He wiped his body, took out a pair of pajamas and sat in the wheelchair.

In the bedroom, Elena was already lying on the bed. She used the blanket to cover her tightly.

Ryan couldn't help but laughing, "If you continue like this, you will die. I do not wish my newly wedded wife to be to be sent to the hospital for emergency treatment as soon as she marries me. This matter will be in the headlines."

Elena hid under the blanket and heard his words. Although it was a very normal sentence, when he said these words, there were some additional meanings in it.

Elena tried her best to calm her heart and did not think about the awkward scene that just happened. She moved her body to the side of the bed and left a spot for Ryan.

"Are you inviting me?" Ryan came to Elena's side and slowly approached her. He smiled evilly.

"Nonsense!"

"I won't scare you anymore. If you are tired then rest first. I still had something to do in the study."

"Come back early to rest."

Although Elena wasn't a speaker, she didn't shutter when speaking. But why did she always feel awkward when talking to him?

"Okay" After he said that, he raised his hand and gently rubbed her head. Then he turned around and left the room.

After a while, Elena came to her senses. She was only one left in the room, lying on the bed in a daze.

Tonight was definitely was the most embarrassing night in her whole life.

However, did Ryan just touch her hair just now? She touched her face with both hands. It was very hot.

After he entered his study, his smile gradually disappeared. Instead, he changed into his usual solemn and cold expression.

He took out his phone and dialed a number.

"Sir, what orders do you have?"

"Go find out what happened to Elena's mother and how Amara and Roman's relationship is." He had no interest in investing these things before, but now he subconsciously wanted to know everything related to Elena.

"Okay"

Although Xavier didn't know why Ryan would investigate these things but as a subordinate he knew he shouldn't ask these things.

Ryan finished his work at one o' clock in the morning. He looked at the time and found it was already so late.

When he returned to the room, Elena was already asleep on the bed. There was no sound in the bed room.

Ryan slowly raised his hand and gently caressed Elena's cheek. When his fingertips touched her skin, he discovered her skin was tender and moist like a baby's.

He didn't go to bed to rest and once again entered the bathroom. Not long after, the sound of flowing water could be heard from inside.

Chapter 8 Let's Go Home

Early in the morning, the sun was shining through the glass on the pink bed. Elena slightly moved and her flickering eyelashes cast two small shadows on her cheek.

"Madam, are you awake? Sir asked you to go down for breakfast." Someone knocked on the door.

Elena opened her lazy eyes. She scratched her messy hair, stretched, yawned and sat up upright from the bed.

"I'm awake. I'll be right there." Elena rubbed her eyes. It had been a long while since she slept so long.

After a while, Elena found that the bed sheets around her were as smooth as new and there were no traces of sleeping.

Could it be that Ryan didn't return to room yesterday?

Elena quickly got up from the bed and ran to the bathroom to wash up as fast as possible.

In the dining room, Ryan was already sitting in the dining table. He held the newspaper in his hand and elegantly drank his coffee.

The golden sunlight shone on him from the window. His movements were elegant, constantly showing up the noble temperament on his body.

She didn't know till what time he worked yesterday but he was still so energetic this morning. He was indeed the darling of the heavens.

"Madam,

breakfast is ready."

Maid saw Elena walked in. She greeted with smile.

Elena coughed lightly and looked away from Ryan. After she walked into the restaurant, she naturally sat opposite to Ryan.

"Sorry, I was a little tired yesterday, so I didn't wake up to make breakfast for you."

In her mind, it was a responsibility for a woman to cook for her husband. She had just gotten married and her behaviors were a bit outrageous. Every day, she had to make her husband wait for her in the restaurant for her to wake up.

“Madam, how can I let you do something like cooking? You are tired at night, so you should sleep a little more in morning. This is the chicken soup that the kitchen specially stewed up for you to nourish your body.”

Elena’s face turned red. Why did she feel like there was a deeper meaning in the maid’s words?

She looked at Ryan. Ryan put down the newspaper. His calm face also revealed a trace of smile.

The maid served a bowl of chicken soup in front of her. She knew it was delicious when she smelled it.

“This chicken soup is really delicious. Ryan, you should drink some too. I can’t drink so much by myself.”

“No need. They specially made it for you. Drink it.” After he finished speaking, he continued to eat porridge and side dishes in front of him.

After Elena finished a bowl of chicken soup, the maid served another bowl for her.

She waved her hand, “No need, I’m already full. Give it to Ryan.”

Ryan working overtime must have been tiring. It was only right for him to nourish his body.

“Madam, this chicken soup is especially for you to replenish your body. You were also tired last night, so you should drink more.” The smile on maid’s face even became brighter, and her eyes seemed to emit a golden light.

When Elena heard this, she felt something was not right. Then, she looked at Ryan. He still had a smile on his face. Only then did Elena know that this made seemed to have misunderstood.

“I’m full. The car outside is still waiting for us. Eat faster.” Ryan put down the tableware and interrupted her words.

“Where are we going?” Elena looked at Ryan with a puzzled expression.

After Ryan finished speaking, he sat in a wheelchair and walked towards the door.

They had been married for three days, so it was time for them to go home. It was pity that her mother was not at home and there was no need for them to go to Lewis family.

She hoped that Ryan would bring her to the hospital to see her mother.

On the way, Elena kept her head down and didn't talk. She didn't seem to be in high spirits.

The Lewis family didn't like her. They definitely wouldn't want to see her.

If those people made things difficult for her, Ryan would lose his face.

Elena seemed to be nervous when he saw her. Then, he pulled her hand and found that her palm was full of sweat.

"Are you afraid?"

"Not at all." She wanted to pull her hand from his but couldn't succeed.

"We are husband and wife." Ryan reminded Elena. She could talk to him directly.

Elena wanted to say something but stopped herself. She raised her head and looked at Ryan's face, "I don't get along well with Lewis family."

Right now, Lewis family was all trying to please Roman. They even allowed Amara to break off the engagement and let her secretly date Roman. In their eyes, Ryan, who had both legs crippled, was far less valuable than Roman.

She didn't know how the Lewis family would treat her husband. She was used to be treated differently. Now, would her husband also be looked down upon?

"Are you worried about me?" Ryan was in a good mood after hearing her words.

Elena was speechless. Did he get the point wrong?

Even if Ryan wasn't favored these few years, he was still the second son of Monor family. He had been living a pampered life since he was young. Naturally, he would not be looked down upon by others.

If the people of Lewis family didn't treat him fairly, he wouldn't be able to bear it.

"Don't worry, I'm here."

Ryan placed her hand on his leg. He looked forward but didn't see Elena's red eyes.

Ever since she was young, other than her parents, no one ever had spoken to her in such a warm manner. It somewhat touched her heart.

The car stopped in front of Lewis family's gate. Elena got out of the car first and then carefully helped Ryan to sit down in the wheelchair.

But she did not expect the Lewis family's door would be tightly shut and there was no one in front of the door.

Elena's face revealed embarrassment. She already knew that Lewis family might not give face to Ryan. She never thought that the Lewis family would not even open the door.

"Didn't the people of Lewis family know that Mr. Monor and Mrs. Monor are coming home today?"

Xavier looked at the tightly shut door and could not help but shout out. He knew that the people hid inside could hear his words.

However, Ryan didn't care at all. He held Elena's hand and waited quietly.

"Ryan, why don't we go back first?" She was afraid that he had never faced such a grievance since he was young.

Ryan remained silent and stubbornly waited outside.

When Xavier saw, Ryan's frightened expression, he knew that the people of Lewis family were going to be in trouble today.

"Xavier." Ryan coldly called Xavier.

"Sir." Xavier bowed slightly and waited for his order.

"Blow up the door." His cold voice echoed throughout the entire street. His calm expression indicated that he wasn't joking.
