Chapter 76 If She Knew, Would She be Happy?

“What did you say?” Isaac was shocked. He did not expect that there would be such a coincident.

Five years ago, two cars collided, one car exploded and the other car almost turned into scrap metal.

“After that, Elena’s life became unhappy. If it wasn’t for that car accident, she would still be the beloved little princess of her family. She would not have been forced to marry a trash like me on behalf of her elder sister.”

“We all know whether you are a trash or not. You don’t have to slander yourself like this.”

Isaac really could not think of the reason why Lewis family did it. If it wasn’t for someone deliberately setting them up, how could the two cars have malfunctioned at the same time?

“That’s why I said that Mason isn’t a good person. When he decided on a marriage alliance with our family, perhaps he already knew the result. Since he chose to work with Roman, he will definitely help the Monor family get rid of a scourge like me. Unfortunately, no matter what they do, they didn’t expect me to survive.”

Recalling the humiliation he had suffered in the past few years, Ryan couldn’t wait to tear those people into pieces. He clearly knew who destroyed him, but he still endured the hatred and welcomed them with smile.

“There are some things that you need to deal with as soon as possible.” Isaac reminded.

If this continued, the entire Monor family would be under Roman’s control. At that time, it would be too late for Ryan to make a move.

“Of course I have a plan. Within a short period of time, Roman will never be able to fill the hole in the Monor family. Although he looks grand on the surface, he has secretly lost a lot of money.”

A while ago, when Ryan was sorting out accounts, he found a loan certificate from the bank. He did not hear that the company needed a loan. Roman must have used the company's name to borrow money, and then transferred it to private use.

If he really investigated, Roman would definitely be in big trouble.

"Then keep the evidence first. When the time comes, we can give Roman a heavy blow." Isaac said angrily.

"Did you come to find me for something important?" It was already at this time. If it was something ordinary, Isaac could say it over the phone.

"You mentioned it to me before, in the Eastern European stone gambling market, I have already bought the raw materials. I found a friend to take a look. He said that the probability of high-grade jade appearing in this batch of raw materials is very low." Isaac did not understand, why did Ryan want some useless materials? Even if he had money, he should not waste it like this.

"Very good. I will buy it directly but I will use Roman's name." After Ryan finished speaking, Isaac instantly understood. He wanted to use this opportunity to suppress Roman. If there was a problem with raw materials, there would definitely be people in the company who would be dissatisfied.

Ryan was about to take action.

"There is another batch of raw material, including good jade stones. I will get someone secretly buy it in your name and transport it back to the subsidiary company in Western Europe." After saying that, Isaac took out a document and handed it to Ryan. "This is the detailed information. You can take a look."

"I will leave this matter to you. I am very relieved. Everything will be carried out according to the original plan. Also, how is the situation with the diamonds in South Africa?"

"Aren't you ever interested in those things? Why do you suddenly like to ask about jewelry so much recently?" Although he had a partnership with South Africa, Ryan rarely interfered.

"If the quality is good, then buy it in the name of Elena."

Isaac felt a little stifled. It was late at night, and he had to report his work and be fed dog food.

"It seems that you are really interested in Elena. However, I advise you not to act on impulse and let a woman hold you in her hands."

“I owe her.”

Isaac couldn't stand Ryan's affectionate look. He stood up and said, “Nothing much, so I won't disturb you. If you need any help in future, feel free to ask.”

Ryan nodded. After Isaac left, he sat on the sofa and didn't say anything.

Mrs. Baker, who was behind him, could not stand it anymore. She took a blanket and put it on for him. “Young Master, you should rest early. It is very late.”

“Mrs. Baker, if Elena knew that my legs have recovered, would she be very happy?” Ryan suddenly asked.

Mrs. Baker sighed, “When madam married you, you announced to the public that your legs were disabled. If you could stand up, then the happiest person would be madam. But even if you kept it the same, it would not affect your relationship with her.”

“You mean to let me continue to pretend in front of her?” Ryan looked at Mrs. Baker, not knowing if she meant that.

Mrs. Baker just smiled faintly. “Young Master, you already have an idea in your heart. Why do you still need to ask me?”

There were many enemies around, both in the open and in the dark. Maintaining the current situation was a good thing for Ryan and Elena.

Ryan did not say anything. He stood up and said to Mrs. Baker. “You should also rest early.”

When he returned to the room, Elena was still sleeping. Ryan gently laid beside her and left a kiss on her forehead.

“In the past, I did not know that it was because of my car accident that you became an orphan. You marrying me might also be arranged by the heavens. In the future, I will definitely not let you suffer any more grievances.”

After saying that, Ryan hugged Elena and slept peacefully.

The next day, when Elena woke up she was still in Ryan's arms. She gently left his embrace and got up to put on her clothes.

“Are you going to see your mother today too?” Feeling her movements, Ryan also woke up and asked.

“Yes, my mother has woken up. I want to ask her face to face about the accident.” If she could find any evidence, she would be able to explain the misunderstanding to her grandfather.

Chapter 77 Once Again in Coma

“I will go with you.”

Ryan followed Elena and left the house. They arrived at the hospital in a hurry. Director Scott was standing at the door of the door of the ward with a solemn expression.

Elena saw Director Scott’s expression and had a bad premonition.

“Director Scott, is there a change in my mother’s condition?”

Director Scott handed over the medical record. “Elena, your mother fell into a coma again. I tried many ways but still couldn’t wake her up.”

The medical record in her hand fell to the ground. Elena could not believe it. “She clearly woke up yesterday and was still talking properly. How could she fall into a coma again? What is going on?”

“Elena, don’t be agitated for now. The specific reason has not been found. After the expert consultation, I will talk to you in detail.”

Elena collapsed onto the ground weakly. “Why... Why exactly?”

She initially thought that her mother would not have to continue suffering and she would be able to find out the truth of what happened back then and return the innocence of the mother and daughter. But in one night, why did things become like this again?

Ryan really could not bear it. He pulled Elena’s arm and said. “Don’t cry anymore. I believe that your mother will definitely wake up again.”

Elena lay in Ryan’s arms and sobbed. “My mother has been suffering for five years. I don’t want her to lie on the bed like this again. She cannot move.”

“Don’t worry. Since she has woken up once, there will be a next time.” Director Scott comforted her.

“Maybe my mother woke up because she heard Ryan and I called her. If we do this often, can we give her some stimulation and wake her up?”

This thought suddenly flashed through Elena’s mind. She did not expect Director Scott to shake his head.

“From a doctor’s point of view, I do not recommend you to do this. Although yesterday’s stimulus could temporarily wake her up, you saw it too. Today, she has returned to her original state. If we continue to cause too intense stimulation to the patient’s brain, her never may be cause irreversible damage, and once such a situation occurs, she will never have the chance to wake up again.”

“Then what should we do?” Elena was a little anxious but she also did not know what to do.

“Sorry, it seems that we can only continue the treatment and wait for your mother to wake up by herself.” Director Scott helplessly sighed. He did not expect Eleanor’s situation to change so quickly.

“Can I see my mother?” Elena asked.

“Yes, but don’t talk too much with her. And don’t even mention anything that might cause her to be agitated.”

Director Scott patiently tried to persuade her.

Half an hour later.

Elena walked out of the hospital and looked up at the sky. The sun was glaring and her eyes were red and swollen.

When she entered the ward, she saw that there was no response from her mother. She could not say a word and could only cry.

“Elena, don’t give up hope either. Your mother can wake up. Just wait a little longer.”

Ryan comforted her by the side. When he saw Elena’s heartbroken look just now, his heart ached. But in this matter, what he could do was not much more than Elena.

“I don’t believe it. I don’t believe that this is a coincidence. The accident must have something to do with my uncle and aunt. Since my mother can’t tell the truth, I will investigate it myself. I have to infiltrate the Lewis family.”

Elena’s eyes were no longer filled with sadness and helplessness. Instead, it was filled with ruthlessness. A cold aura was emitted from her body.

Ryan had never seen Elena like this. Even when she was really angry, she did not have such determination.

“Elena.” Ryan called softly.

Elena turned around with coldness in her face. Ryan felt that the woman standing in front of him was a little strange

Chapter 78 Wright Family's Wedding Banquet

“Ryan, what I'm going to do next will be very dangerous. If you're worried, we can sign a divorce agreement.”

Elena said calmly. She knew what she was going to face was not an ordinary obstacle.

Ryan sat in the wheelchair and slowly approached her. He held her hand.

“Elena, ever since I married you, I have never regretted it. As long as you are happy, no matter what it is, I will satisfy you. If you need anything, I will do my best.”

Seeing the determination and affection in Ryan's eyes, Elena smiled and said, “The people of Lewis family are related to this matter. I will never let them go.”

This matter had been going on for so many years. It would be difficult to find evidence, but as long as she lived in Lewis family, she would definitely be able to find some clues. As long as she tore open a hole and traced the clues, the truth would naturally surface.

“Elena, the person who can be the master of the Lewis family is your grandfather. Whatever your uncle and aunt want to do, they must get his permission. Therefore, your grandfather is the breakthrough point.”

Ryan knew that Elena also had endless resentment in her heart. No matter what, he would help her complete her revenge.

Elena's expression had already returned to normal. She nodded her head vigorously. “I will definitely think of a way to enter the Lewis family.”

Time flew by and in the blink of an eye it was the day of Henry's marriage. Amara had arrived early in the Wright family and chatted with Linda.

Linda saw her brother greeting guests with a smile on his face and said helplessly, "I really can't tell what's so good about that woman."

Following Linda's line of sight, Amara saw a woman standing with Henry to greet the guests.

To be honest, that woman had a curvy figure and was graceful. Across the entire Hai City, she was also a rare beauty. It was not strange that Henry took a fancy to her. It was just that she came from a poor family. No one else in the Wright family would take a fancy to her.

"Since she has entered your family, is she still afraid that she won't have to waste her days?"

Linda immediately understood Amara's meaning and looked at her with a smile. "You are still the one who is good to me. Since she has already married into our family, I will give her some time to embarrass her. Even a wild chicken wants to fly to the branches and become a phoenix. Dream on."

Linda had already started to imagine the scene of teaching that woman a lesson and laughed sinisterly.

Amara was too lazy to bother with her and looked around, looking for Roman's figure. Today, she must get Roman.

While they were talking, a man in a suit appeared at the door. Amara's eyes lit up. It was Roman.

Amara leaned closer to Linda and whispered, "We will follow the plan later."

"Don't worry. Leave everything to me. I will definitely let you get what you want." Linda said with a smile.

Amara got up and walked towards Roman. She wrapped her arm around his arm and pouted. "Roman, why did you come so late?"

Although everyone in Hai City knew about Amara and Roman, Amara's actions were too intimate and irritated Roman.

However, due to the face of Lewis family, Roman did not flare up and let Amara hold him as they walked into the hall.

Henry brought his wife to Roman. "Thank you, Young Master Monor, for your presence. You have been busy for a long time, but you took the time to attend our wedding."

“Of course not. We are classmate and friends. Of course, I will attend your wedding.” Roman took out an exquisite gift box and put in in Henry’s hand. “A little token of appreciation. No return.”

“Young Master Monor is too polite. Please take a seat inside.”

Roman nodded slightly.

“Why are you here so early?” Roman looked at Amara. She seemed to be even more excited than the new weds.

“Linda is my good friend. I came to chat with her in advance to relieve my boredom. I heard that the woman her brother is looking for is of the civilian class. She worked in the company of Wright family before, so she had the opportunity to talk to Henry.”

Amara picked up a glass of wine and took a light ship. Intentionally or unintentionally, she talked about Henry’s wife.

Roman heard the disdain in her tone and frowned unhappily.

Although he would not marry a woman with a lower status than him, he would definitely not deliberately slander her.

Amara’s words and actions did not seem like that of a young lady from a big family.

“Don’t forget what kind of occasion this is. If someone hears about this and tells to the people of Wright family, even if you are the granddaughter of Lewis family, you will inevitably be annoyed.”

Amara panicked for a moment and quickly calmed down. She took another sip of wine and said slowly, “You misunderstood. What I mean is that one does not need to have a matching family to marry. It is also possible for a woman who has the ability to understand how to advance.”

After hearing Amara’s explanation, Roman revealed a satisfied expression. After all, if it was not for the promise of Wright family’s parents, how could Henry hold a wedding here?

As for Henry’s wife, she must have some extraordinary qualities. Henry wasn’t stupid. He wouldn’t marry a woman who had nothing for no reason.
