

Bride Of The Mysterious CEO Chapter 93

Ryan looked at Elena calmly, "Of course, I have a way. You don't have to worry too much."

Elena could not help but feel a little worried. "My only hope now is the Roman will not put any more pressure on you. The burden on your shoulders is already heavy enough."

Knowing that Elena was thinking for him, Ryan was very touched. He comforted her a few more times before Elena felt relieved.

She returned to her position and started to deal with work. She also wanted to help Ryan a little more to relieve the pressure on him.

Once Elena left, Ryan immediately called people to chase Tina out. He felt annoyed even when he looked at her.

Actually Tina woke up very early but did not find a chance to come out. She did not understand a single word of what Ryan and Elena were talking, so she could only pretend to be asleep.

In the afternoon, Elena always felt that there was a gaze staring her from behind. She suddenly turned her head and found it was Tina.

Walking over again, Elena did not give her a good look this time. "You look at me. What do you have to say?"

Elena knew that Tina's major in the university was related to trade. She originally thought that the later could help Ryan with something.

But in the end, other than the pretty face, this woman's brain was filled with air.

Tina stood up. "Sister-in-law, I didn't stare at you. I was thinking about something and got distracted, sorry."

"Since that's the case, you do not need to apologize to me. But I have to tell you that Ryan needs a secretary who can help him and not a brainless person." Elena said unhappily. This woman was really a trouble.

"I know, I will do my best to help my cousin..." Tina put a pitiful look again, making Elena disgusted.

"Stop, this kind of useless determination. You don't have to say but to work."

"Also, this is the company. Ryan is the General Manager. Don't call him cousin. Call him Director Monor!"

"..."

Tina lowered her head. Her hands clutched tightly on the desk. She really did not want to be angry with Elena, but there was nothing she could do.

After getting along with her today, she vaguely understood that Elena pretended to very good to her in the surface, but in fact, she did not want her to get close to Ryan.

Without waiting Tina's reply, she turned around and returned to her office.

Tina glared at her back a few times before sitting down and continuing to read the documents. But in the college, she did not listen to the classes properly and when she saw those reports, she felt that it was like a heavenly look.

Originally she thought that by relying on the relationship with Ryan to enter in the Monor Group, she would be able to enjoy different kind of enjoyment. But now it seemed that she did not have a chance to slack off.

Elena was focusing on her work when she heard the commotion in front of her. She stood up to take a look. She did not expect to see Roman here.

Nova immediately went up to greet him. "CEO, why are you here?"

"I came to see if you guys were slacking off. If I find out, the yearly bonus will go down the drain."

Roman said with smile and did not put on airs at all. It was precisely because he was gentle and refined that many female colleagues in the company had a crush on him. Even if they knew that he had a girlfriend now, they could not help but fantasize.

"President, you're joking again. With you as our boss, we won't be able to work hard enough." Nova pouted and looked extremely flattering.

Seeing Elena standing behind him, Roman walked straight to her. "Why are you standing here?"

"I'm going to pour a glass of water. President, aren't you busy? You are so free that you even have the time to inspect." Elena said without any hesitation. She did not give him any face at all.

However, Roman was not angry with her. Instead, he explained. "As a President, caring about my subordinates is also a part of my job."

Seeing Tina, Roman causally asked. "Is she the new secretary Ryan hired?"

Elena did not answer to him. Tina immediately took this opportunity to go forward and said with a flattering smile. "Big Cousin, I am Tina. Don't you remember me?"

After Ryan's accident, Tina and her mother also wanted to seek refuge with Roman. They did not expect that although Roman looked gentler than Ryan, it was harder to get close to him.

Fortunately, Tina did not give on Ryan. She found a chance to sell herself in front to him again, and that was how she got what she had now.
