

Bride Of The Mysterious CEO Chapter 968

Elena and Ryan went to the restaurant and sat down.

Elena then took out her plan that she had prepared for the whole day long and showed it to Ryan.

“What is this?” Ryan frowned. He did not like to talk about work when he was eating, especially when he was with Elena.

“Just take a look. This is my analysis and opinion on this case. I wanted to give it to you in the office just now, but I forgot as I was disturbed.”

Elena glanced at him. While Ryan was holding the document, she took a large plate of salmon and placed them all in her bowl.

Ryan glanced at the document briefly and then looked up. He saw that all the salmon in front of him had disappeared. The woman opposite him was trying her best to stuff them into her mouth.

He smiled and the corner of his mouth raised into a beautiful arc. “Waiter, I want another three servings of salmon.”

Elena almost choked and coughed dryly. “Hubby, you’re so good to me.”

Since there was no limit, then there was no need to rush to snatch it. This fish was fresh and delicious. One would get addicted after eating it once.

In the past, Elena did not like eating Japanese food. But after eating it once with Ryan, she fell in love with the taste of salmon and ate a lot each time.

People's tastes would change, just like aesthetic tastes.

In the past, Elena liked tall and sunny men. Now, she realized that only mature and stable career men were suitable for her.

The call of husband made Ryan's face turn red. He rarely heard this woman call him so intimately, especially outside.

"How's the plan?" Elena looked up and asked while chewing.

"It's a good idea." Ryan first gave her encouragement and then said, "But you have overlooked one point. Roman will not give us too much time, so this kind of battle strategy will not only delay time, but also give Roman more opportunities to find trouble."

Roman was worried that he would not have the chance to chase him away. Once the contract was delayed, the former would definitely bite him like a mad dog.

Elena put down her chopsticks. "I have considered this problem. I think the risk is as important as the opportunity. If we succeed this time, it will be equivalent to slapping Roman in the face. In the future, you will have a higher position in Monor family."

Ryan knew that she was thinking for him, so he put the document away. "Come back to the office with me later. I will show you another plan."

There were two hours of lunch break in the afternoon, so no one would disturb them in the office.

After they returned to the office, Ryan closed the door and handed a document to her. Elena saw the company's name on it and was shocked.

“Leonardo Reynolds? This is... The world-renowned jewelry company in Western Europe?”

Ryan shook his head. “They do not only do jewelry business. There are also many other industries. However, the boss behind the scenes is very mysterious. No one knows who he is.”

Elena could not help but be speechless. Cooperating with such a large company, would they have a chance?

“But for a company of this scale, if the two of us went to negotiate, would it have any effect?” Elena said worriedly.

They needed help in this very moment. Negotiating with a company like King seemed to be very difficult.

“No, this time it is not the two of us going to negotiate, but you.”

Ryan leaned on the wheelchair and looked at her firmly.
