

Boss, Your Wife's Asking For A Divorce, Again Chapter 900

“It’s not funny at all!” Toby refuted Sonia with a stormy expression. Sonia’s smile froze on her face. “You... you’re upset?” She saw how grim he looked, and it was obvious that he was angry.

Toby reached out and cupped Sonia’s face with both of his hands. “I am angry. In fact, I’m furious. Do you have any idea why?” Sonia blinked in bewilderment. She did not respond since she obviously had no idea why.

Toby sighed. “I’m angry because you made a fool out of Connor right to his face. Did you think about what would’ve happened if you had infuriated him, and he decided to do something to you right there and then? What would happen to you if he did that?”

“I... I know it was careless of me.” Sonia finally figured out why Toby was angry. He was worried that she might have gotten hurt.

She took his hands off her face. “Actually, as soon as I did that, I realized how reckless I had been and regretted it. I was also worried that he might do something to me, but luckily, he had his apprehensions and did not do anything to me.”

“You should be thankful that he had his apprehensions. If he had nothing to be wary of, then you probably wouldn’t be here right now, but with Tim Lancaster.” Toby still had a deep frown on his face.

Sonia grabbed his arm and tried to appease him. “Okay, okay, don’t be angry anymore. I’ve realized my mistake, and I won’t do it again.”

Toby felt helpless after taking a look at Sonia, who was blinking at him with a pitiful expression. He massaged his temples and said, “So long as you don’t do it again.”

“I definitely won’t,” Sonia quickly promised.

Toby flicked her on the forehead. "Did Connor say anything after he changed his tune?"

"He told me to not make a decision so hastily, and that he was giving me two more days to reconsider. He said I might change my mind," Sonia replied.

Toby's eyes narrowed. "Change your mind?"

"Yeah, that's what he said. He looked like he was absolutely certain that I would change my mind after thinking about it for two more days."

got a hold against you, or else he Toby's hands as she asked in puzzlement, "But I don't know what he would have that he could begun to ponder about this, but she still you can't think of anything, then let's not dwell on it. In two days' time, we'll find out what

"I thought

comes, I'll go with then she would feel a lot more reassured. In any case, Connor did not say that she could not bring someone with he say anything else?" Toby

He only said these

at

realized that she had something to say that concerned

urged her while stroking for Anya. He came to visit an old friend as well. Even though he didn't

and the

could feel it too, so she

to say something, but Toby interrupted her. "I'm full of disdain as he said, "He's here to visit my mother? Hah. He betrayed her, but he's still shameless enough to come and see her. It's been over thirty years. He never came to see her when Sonia nodded in agreement.

If Connor really cared about Toby's mother,

was only her sense of dignity that stopped her you know?" All of a sudden, a thought occurred to Sonia thigh, and he

his eyes, but surprisingly, he actually looks like a scholarly gentleman with a pleasant demeanor. He wore a white suit and carried a walking cane around with him, and he looked like a distinguished professor.