

Boss, Your Wife's Asking For A Divorce, Again Chapter 914

As soon as he said that, Rose was taken aback for a moment. However, she soon calmed down and nodded with a sigh. "You're right. Him being alive is the biggest flaw in this plan. Although you've never met him, you'll eventually meet him one day. By then, this secret will start falling apart. It is but a matter of time for you to find out about it. But, I want to know how you found out about this if Connor hasn't met you yet.

Rose looked at Toby, who took a step back and sat down on a bench under her left hand. "Little Leaf told me." "Sonny?" Rose was stunned.

Mary was dubious as well. "How did the Young Mistress know?" Except for her and Rose, no one else knew about this—not even Toby himself. She hadn't expected Sonia to know, and was naturally surprised.

Toby didn't hide it either, and answered them directly, "Little Leaf met Connor and found that he was very similar to me in the past, so she figured it out."

Rose's hand tightened around the cane she was holding. "What? Sonny met Connor? How did that happen? Did she go to Westsashire?"

"No." Toby shook his head slightly. "Connor came to Seafield. His illegitimate daughter provoked Little Leaf, and was thrown into jail by us. When he came to Seafield to bail her out, he ended up meeting Little Leaf."

"I see." Rose nodded in understanding before a strange expression appeared on her wrinkled face. "Toby, you just mentioned an illegitimate daughter. Does Connor have an illegitimate daughter?"

Toby hummed in reply. "For now, that seems to be the case."
