

Boss, Your Wife's Asking For A Divorce, Again Chapter 921

Sonia patted Toby's back and urged, "Come on, get up. I need to accept the call."

Upon hearing her, Toby pursed his lips and got up reluctantly.

Then, Sonia propped herself up from the couch and reached out for her phone in her coat's pocket, ignoring her messy hair.

When she saw the caller ID, she quickly said, "It is Mrs. Lane. She probably wants to know what time we are coming."

Sonia accepted the call and placed the phone against her ear. "Hey, Mrs. Lane."

Meanwhile, Toby sat next to her and started combing through her unruly hair gently.

On the other end of the call, Grace was sitting on the couch in her living room with her phone in her hand as well. With a gentle smile on her face, she asked, "Sonny, it is already 7.30PM, what time are you guys coming over?"

At that, Sonia quickly lowered her head to glance at her watch before answering, "I am sorry that we took so long to get ready, Mrs. Lane. We are heading out now and will arrive at around 8.00PM."

Since Paradigm Co. was not really far from the Lane Residence, reaching there would only take approximately 40 minutes.

Meanwhile, Grace nodded after she heard Sonia's answer. "Alright. I will get the chefs to start preparing dinner now. We will be waiting for you guys."

After the call ended, she placed her phone down and pulled Toby up. “Come on, Mrs. Lane is asking about our whereabouts already. We should hurry.”
