

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 131

Chapter 131 Men Are the Same

Aurora didn't expect that she would meet Vernon here. After hearing Vernon's words, she felt she was pulled back to more than a year ago.

Aurora said in a low voice, "Thank you. However, Zac and I have split up."

Vernon sighed, "You two..."

The elevator door opened, and Aurora rushed out first. Her hatred for the Buchanna family would not end because of Vernon's help.

Carter had received the news and stopped Aurora outside the office.

"Ms. Bennet, Mr. Buchanna is receiving guests. Please follow me to the break room first."

His words were courteous.

Many employees of the Buchanna Group gathered around and watched them.

Vernon stood behind Aurora and said, "If you feel bored, you can go to my office to have a cup of coffee."

The employees of the Buchanna Group gathered together and said, "Why is Mr. Vernon so good to Aurora? Could it be that Mr. Buchanna and Aurora are going to rekindle the past romance?"

"A lot of reporters said that a while ago, Mr. Buchanna and Aurora..."

After Aurora heard these words, her face darkened.

"Carter, get out of the way. Otherwise, I will make a scene here."

Carter said, "Mr. Buchanna is really receiving guests. It's useless for you to go in now."

"Alright, I'll follow you to the break room. Lead the way."

Aurora said that, but when Carter walked to the break room, she quickly turned sideways and barged into Zac's office.

Zac was really receiving guests.

But his guests were Davis and Faye.

Aurora's appearance interrupted their conversation, but Aurora ignored Davis's scolding and quietly stared at the man behind the desk.

There were too many things in her eyes.

When their gazes met, Zac felt something grow in his heart.

There was a flash of hesitation in his eyes, but his face was still cold. He said, "Carter, what's going on?!

"Sorry, Mr. Buchanna."

Carter immediately stepped forward. This time, he didn't stop Aurora alone. Instead, he asked the bodyguards to take Aurora out.

Aurora was unable to break free from the three men and was pulled away.

Davis was very satisfied with what Zac had done. He smiled and said, "That's right.

Some women are shameless. I really don't know how Shawn taught his daughter in the past."

Faye lowered her head, not saying a word.

When Zac heard this, he sneered, "Where were we, Mr. Swon?" Even now, Zac still addressed Davis in this manner, and his attitude had not changed at all.

No matter how angry Davis was, he had no choice but to endure it due to the strength of the Buchanna Group. He said, "Just now, I said that you and Wenny should have another wedding. Even if you don't want to do that, you should take her to your place to stay!"

As Davis said this, he also patted Faye.

Faye immediately said with a smile, "That's right. Wenny is currently in need of you to take care of. As her parents, sometimes, it is not good for us to interfere. You two should live together."

"Mr. Swon, didn't you say that you wanted to talk about the business? Is this what you meant?"

Zac was sick of other people casually taking up the time he worked. In particular, Davis used such a method of deception to take up Zac's time. Zac finally knew the reason why Wenny always lied and played tricks.

"This is the business I said. Wenny is in a good mood, and your relationship is better, then the cooperation between our two companies can last longer!"

Zac's eyes turned cold. He held the pen in his hand and suddenly loosen.

"Alright, I will consider it. Please leave now."

"No need. Tell me the address. I will send her over later."

At that moment, Davis's face was full of fake smiles, Was Davis going to marry his daughter to Zac or sell her daughter?

Zac said as he got up, "I'll contact you after I've thought it through. I still have a guest. You can leave now."

Davis shouted, "Are you in a hurry to see that woman?"

If it wasn't for Faye pulling Davis, Davis might have chased out to argue with Zac. Zac actually ignored his suggestion and went to see Aurora!

Davis left the Buchanna Group angrily. However, Faye had been in a restless mood. Just a moment ago, she and Aurora looked at each other and her heart sank. What should she do?

In the break room, Aurora was not in the mood for coffee. As soon as the door opened, she stood up and stared at the other person, "There is something wrong with the judgment of the Racing Association. The situation at that time was definitely not an accident. It must be man-made."

Zac sat down in front of Aurora, his slender legs folded, and a cold light flashed in his eyes. He said, "Do you have the evidence? You can trust Terry's judgment unconditionally, but I can't, and neither can the Racing Association."

At that time, there were only Aurora and Terry in the car. Terry's perception was the standard of Aurora's judgment. Aurora frowned and said coldly, "Terry is injured so badly. He has no reason to make up such a lie."

Zac suddenly smiled. His smile was contemptuous and cold. He said, "He got you through this accident."

"You..."

Aurora clenched her fists and retorted, "Don't think everyone is as dirty as you."

“Dirty?” Zac sneered and slowly walked towards Aurora. He grabbed Aurora by the shoulder and pulled her towards him. He whispered, “These days, aren’t you taking care of him day and night? This is what he wants. Men are the same. He also wants to sleep with you.”

Aurora was so angry that she raised her hand to hit him.

However, just as she raised her hand in the air, her wrist was grabbed by Zac.

He stared into her eyes and the fury that was spreading wildly in his heart.

When he spoke again, his voice was especially cold.

“As an investor, I can let the Racing Association re-evaluate it. The condition is that you have to spend one night with me.”

“Are you crazy?”

Aurora widened her eyes. She struggled with all her might, but she could not break free from his embrace.

“Hem...”

Zac leaned down and blocked all the light on Aurora’s head. He gritted his teeth and said, “Are you afraid? I didn’t say that I would definitely have sex with you.”

Aurora’s throat had tightened.

Her dignity and pride were all stepped on by Zac.

“Aurora, you took the initiative to deliver yourself to me. Besides your body, do you have any bargaining chips to negotiate with me?” Zac flung Aurora away and frowned when he saw Aurora crash into the coffee table.

Zac was very angry because Aurora negotiated with him for Terry.

Zac’s face darkened. Was it because he was too lenient that she had such courage? Rage bubbled just below the surface of his mind.

The next second, he stopped at the door because of Aurora’s words.

“Okay.”

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 132

Chapter 132 Make Him Satisfied

Zac’s face suddenly darkened.

He turned and stared at Aurora, saying, “What did you say?”

Aurora almost used all the courage to say this, “You can do whatever you want, as long as you let the Racing Association re-judge.”

She was making a bet.

She was betting that Terry would have a chance to turn the tables.

She and Zac had slept before. No matter what Zac would do to her, Aurora just needed to grit her teeth and endure it. Just one night.

Aurora tightly clenched her hands behind her back. Or else, Zac would see her trembling hands.

As soon as Aurora finished speaking, Zac quickly walked back and approached Aurora in a few steps.

Aurora gritted her teeth, trying not to show any fear. She asked, “Mr. Buchanna, how about tonight?"

"Okay, tonight."

With that, Zac turned around and left.

As soon as the door closed, all strength of Aurora dissipated. She took a deep breath in a daze and muttered, "He won't. No matter what, he won't..."

There was a panic in her mind. She did not know how Zac would treat her.

Aurora could only pray in this way.

Other than Zac, no one else could change the current outcome and help Terry.

Aurora lowered her eyes. This was all she could do.

A few minutes later, Carter knocked on the door and said, "Ms. Bennet, Mr. Buchanna's car is waiting for you downstairs."

"Alright."

Aurora braced herself and walked into the elevator.

Zac wasn't in the car.

Aurora didn't ask any more questions. She sat down and put her phone on silent in advance. Carter opened the car door and told the driver, "Go to the Crown Hotel."

Carter didn't get in the car. He closed the door after he finished speaking.

Aurora frowned and the car slowly drove out of the parking lot.

Aurora felt that Zac was lecherous.

The Crown Hotel was an upscale hotel that had developed very quickly in recent years.

Only top celebrities in Clouston could get the VIP cards of this hotel.

When Aurora stood at the door, a manager came over and said, "Ms. Bennet, right?"

Please follow

me."

Step by step, Aurora stepped into this luxurious and decorated place. She felt she was walking toward hell.

The manager took her upstairs and to the door of a suite.

"Please come in."

Aurora could not tell the meaning of the smile in the other person's eyes. She slowly reached out and opened the door.

This was not a simple suite. People could drink and sing in it. Zac and many of his friends and business partners were all in the suite.

Did he have a dinner party?

Aurora suddenly appeared, and everyone inside was looking at her.

Daniel sneered, "Isn't this Ms. Bennet? Tsk, you come here for Mr. Buchanna!"

In their eyes, Aurora was the kind of woman who took the initiative to chase after Zac and pestered

Zac.

Aurora followed the light inside and looked over. Zac was sitting alone on the innermost sofa, holding a glass of wine in his hand, like a king who ruled over everything.

In front of Zac, Aurora was not qualified to bargain.

She took a deep breath and walked over bravely.

She ignored Daniel's ridicule and stood directly in front of Zac.

Bang!

Daniel smashed the glass in his hand and said, "Oh, my glass has slipped from my hand. Ms.

Bennet, sorry to trouble you to pick them up.”

Aurora bitted her lips as she looked up at Zac. He glanced at her, and Aurora understood.

Aurora was as obedient as a trained servant. Without tools, she could only pick them up with her hands and tissues.

People on the sofa ridiculed Aurora loudly.

“Tsk, a young lady who has lived in prison is really different. She’s really good at work.”

“Mr. Buchanna is charming. You two have been divorced for a long time. She is thick-skinned and still pestering you.”

She was pestering Zac?

Aurora lowered her head and still didn’t refute.

She cleaned up the glass shards and stood next to Zac.

Zac glanced at Aurora and felt bored. He raised his hand to drink up the wine in his glass.

When Aurora saw this, she moved over and wanted to fill Zac’s glass with wine. She needed Zac to be in a good mood. If he was in a good mood, she would have the chance to let him re-judge the competition.

Unexpectedly, before Aurora touched the cup, she was blocked by Daniel.

“It’s not your turn to do this.” He whistled to the door.

A dozen young, beautiful, and voluptuous beauties immediately walked in. They went into those men’s arms with smiles on their faces.

The men burst into peals of laughter.

Some women directly pushed Aurora aside in order to get close to Zac.

“Mr. Buchanna, may I propose a toast to you.” A beauty smiled sweetly and held the wine in her mouth as she leaned closer to Zac.

Did they often do this?

Aurora withdrew her gaze and turned away.

Her dodging movements fell into Zac’s eyes. Zac got rid of the woman beside him and ordered Aurora with a long face, “Come here.”

Aurora felt the jealous and hateful gazes of the two beauties.

She sighed and walked over, asking, “Mr. Buchanna, do you want to drink?”

Zac narrowed his eyes and raised his wrist, saying, “Look at how they serve us!”

Aurora looked over and saw an obscene scene...

Aurora forced a smile and said, “I’m sorry, Mr. Buchanna. I only know how to pour wine.”

After hearing this, Zac directly threw out his glass, smashing into the opposite wall, fragments scattered all over the ground.

Zac glanced at his watch and said in a cold voice, “The news of the Thunder Cup’s accident will be announced tomorrow. You still have seven hours.”

If Zac didn’t feel satisfied, the Racing Association would announce the unjust investigation result to everyone.

At that time, it would be difficult for the Black Rider Team to turn the tables.

Moreover, it would also make the murderer behind the scenes get away with it. Aurora gritted her teeth. She had no choice...

Old

Zac slowly clenched his fists. It seemed that Aurora did not like Terry very much.

Thinking this, Zac was full to the brim with joy.

However, Aurora suddenly picked up her wine glass and took a sip.

L

ai

Then, she walked toward Zac

There was no hesitation on her fair face. Aurora slowly approached Zac, her arms supporting the sofa as she slowly pressed her lips against his cold and thin lips.

The red wine flowed down the corner of her lips and entered his mouth.

Everyone saw this scene.

Daniel sneered, "The dignified Ms. Bennet still has to lower her head in front of Mr. Buchanna!"

Martin stopped Daniel at the right time, "Shut up. Let's leave first. Mr. Buchanna looks angry."

"Leave?"

Daniel did not figure out what was going on.

Zac quickly pushed Aurora away and carried her into the room.

Aurora only felt that the world was turning upside down. She lay on the soft bed, and then, Zac pulled off his tie and pressed on her.

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 133

Chapter 133 How Dare You Hurt Her!

After Aurora heard this, her tears rolled down.

She was still stubborn and refused to lower her head. Even though the pain on her lips had not dissipated, she sneered, "You like obedient women, don't you? You told me that all men were the same."

Zac trembled. When he looked at her again, he found she wore a blank expression on her face.

It seemed that Aurora had thought of everything before coming.

She didn't care about sleeping with Zac because of Terry's racing career.

Zac could no longer control his anger. He leaned over and bit her shoulder and neck like a beast. The room was filled with the faint smell of alcohol.

T00

Their breathing also became more and more rapid.

Dodge?

Aurora quickly gave up the idea.

She would remember everything that had happened tonight. She knew that she could not avoid it. After all, Zac was good at threatening her.

But sooner or later, she would have his dignity trampled on the ground.

On

Originally, she thought that Zac would not let her go, but she didn't expect that he would stop.

There was still anger in his eyes. Zac looked at the marks on Aurora's neck and frowned.

Aurora was unable to see through his thoughts and she only felt that she was almost suffocated. She coughed a few times and provoked, "Are you impotent?"

"Get out!"

Zac waved his hand and pushed Aurora to the side.

Aurora managed to steady herself and her clothes were torn.

Aurora tied back her hair and slowly tidied up her clothes, saying, "You seem to be impotent. I have done what you wanted me to do. If you don't fulfill your promise, I will definitely take this public and make you disgraced."

For the sake of Terry, Aurora actually didn't hesitate to sacrifice her reputation and...

The footsteps behind him gradually faded away, and Zac smashed his fist against the wall.

Compared to the anger in his heart, Zac was even more annoyed that he cared about Aurora so

Outside the window was the ongoing fireworks show at the Crown Hotel. The rising flames bloomed brightly in the air. Aurora took the viewing elevator and could see the whole scene.

The fireworks bloomed. When Aurora saw this, all her disguises were shattered.

She slowly squatted down, covering her face and crying.

Zac knew what she cared about the most.

Aurora lowered her head, her eyes filled with exhaustion.

As soon as the elevator door opened, Aurora only wanted to escape as soon as possible, but before she could take a step out, someone raised his hand and hit her.

"What are you doing?" Martin rushed over and grabbed Daniel.

Martin looked at Aurora who had fainted on the ground and said with a frown, "Mr. Buchanna will be angry if he knows."

W

"Impossible! I am helping Zac ease his relationship with Wenny. If Wenny knows what happened between Zac and Aurora in the hotel, she will definitely make a big fuss."

Daniel glanced at his subordinates, then one of his subordinates immediately went forward and carried Aurora.

"Since Mr. Buchanna chased her out, it means that he doesn't care about this woman."

Daniel turned to his subordinates and said, "Send her to the room upstairs."

When Martin saw Aurora being taken away, he pulled Daniel and said, "Don't meddle in Mr. Buchanna's affairs. Last time, Mr. Buchanna spent a lot of effort on your uncle's car accident..."

Daniel shouted, "Alright! Stop nagging. I am his friend, not his subordinate!" He walked out and wanted to find a few men to rape Aurora.

Even if Zac knew about it, so what? Would Zac break off all ties with him because of Aurora?

The more Martin thought about it, the more he felt something was wrong. He took out his phone and called Zac.

Otherwise, something bad would definitely happen tonight.

Two hours later...

In the Crown Hotel's room, Aurora felt very hot. She struggled to open her eyes and saw that she was lying in an unfamiliar room.

And it seemed that she had not left the hotel.

Aurora tried to recall what had happened. When she came out of the elevator, she was knocked unconscious.

Aurora suddenly opened her eyes and saw if her clothes were still the same.

After checking her clothes, Aurora finally felt relieved.

Hearing footsteps outside the door, Aurora had nowhere to hide, so she had to lie back down and pretend to be asleep.

Who was it?

"How dare you hurt her!" Aurora heard Zac's voice.

Aurora gritted her teeth. Zac had let her go, yet he was still playing dirty tricks behind her back. How shameless!

Then there was a messy sound.

Aurora could not tell what had happened.

The next second, someone shouted, "Isn't she just a loose woman you abandon? What are you doing? You can sleep with her, my friends..."

Bang!

Zac attacked once again.

Zac grabbed Daniel by the collar and beat him up.

One punch after another, Zac didn't simply vent his anger on Daniel.

"I am the only one who can touch her." Zac glared at Daniel and kicked Daniel. He shouted, "From tomorrow onwards, don't appear in front of me."

When Martin rushed over, Daniel had lost a few teeth. His face and body were also covered with scars and he cried out in pain.

"Mr. Buchanna, he isn't..."

"Get lost."

With that, Zac entered the room.

Martin sighed as he watched Daniel get beaten up. He said, "I'll take you to the hospital."

At the very least, Zac had arrived in time, and Daniel also had not been crippled.

Otherwise, there

"All these years, you still don't know about Mr. Buchanna. If he really wants to deal with Aurora, Aurora will disappear from Clouston tomorrow. He just doesn't dare to admit his feelings for her."

Martin sighed, "Go back and recuperate. I will intercede for you again. I am also responsible for this."

Daniel's head drooped down and he did not make a sound.

There was no light in the room.

Aurora felt that someone had entered, but she knew that this was not the best time to open her eyes.

Why was Zac so angry?

Aurora couldn't figure it out and could only wait for a while. Listening to the footsteps getting closer and closer, Aurora tried to find a way to deal with him. However, Zac did not get too close, nor did he touch her. For the first time, they just stayed quietly on a bed. Zac was sitting and Aurora was lying down. It was not until Zac's sigh sounded that Aurora knew he had not left yet. Zac slowly raised his hand and gently caressed the right side of Aurora's neck. That was the mark he had left behind. Zac manifested his love for Aurora in his eyes. His movements were very gentle. Aurora was shocked. She held her breath and continued to pretend to sleep. "If you can..." Before Zac could finish his sentence, his phone rang. Zac glanced at the screen, got up, and walked out. The door closed again and Aurora slowly opened her eyes. She was sure that the person just now was Zac, but she didn't expect that Zac could be so gentle with her.

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 134

Chapter 134 Scared

Aurora stayed in the room for a while, and it was almost dawn. Zac should not be back. Aurora breathed a sigh of relief, immediately got out of bed, and walked out. As soon as the door was pulled open, Aurora saw Zac's bodyguards standing outside. "Ms. Bennet, the car is downstairs. Should I send you back now?" The bodyguard asked. Aurora was stunned. She thought they were keeping an eye on her and not letting her go. Aurora nodded. The two bodyguards sent her to the car. The car was Zac's. Aurora frowned and thought, is he so kind? Aurora thought of the conversation that she had heard before. And Aurora knew that the person who knocked her unconscious was not Zac. It was Zac who saved her. Aurora glanced at the street outside the window, and she felt the whole thing was like a dream. Aurora did not go to the hospital directly. Instead, Aurora went home to change her clothes and put on a turtleneck sweater to cover the hickey left by Zac. Then, Aurora went to buy breakfast nearby and went to the hospital. Today, Terry needed to do a few examinations. Thinking of this, Aurora quickened her pace. When Aurora arrived at the door of the ward, she saw Sara and her family sitting inside. "Terry, this is the soup I made on my own. There are also some desserts. Would you like to have a taste?" Sara smiled. "No," Terry said with a frown. "I made these especially for you early in the morning," Sara said awkwardly as she retracted her hand.

Terry looked indifferent, Sara had to take the bowl back. Sara looked up and saw Aurora standing at the door. Sara looked at Aurora and said, "Aurora!" Everyone turned to look at Aurora. Aurora turned the doorknob and walked in. The breakfast Aurora bought was no match for the exquisite breakfast that Sara made. But Terry said, "Aurora, I want to eat." Terry had just turned Sara down. This sentence made the Jarrett family feel humiliated. Sara's parents left angrily. Sara was still sitting there. "Aurora, sit and rest." Kate walked over and said gently. Kate was a little guilty because Sara always targeted Aurora. "Yes, Aurora needs to rest. She must be very tired after having fun at Crown Hotel until the early morning!" Sara said deliberately. She directly took out the photos that she had prepared. "Yesterday, my dad went there for business. He saw Aurora being with several men. I remember Martin is there. "I don't expect that Aurora would be so open-minded." Aurora gritted her teeth. "Does it have anything to do with you?" Sara looked surprised as if she didn't understand why Aurora could be so confident. Sara smiled, "I'm concerned about you. I know that Mrs. Walton doesn't like dissipated girls. It's not good for you if something happens to you when you are drinking with five men all night." "Alright, your parents have already left. You don't have to stay here." Kate shouted. Terry also had a gloomy expression. "OK. I'll take my leave. I'll visit Terry next time," Sara said happily when she saw that her words had worked. When Sara went out, she glanced at Aurora with a fake smile. The door closed again and the ward was quiet. "Aurora, is that true?" Kate asked. "Yes." Aurora lowered her head. Aurora didn't want to lie. "How could you! Even if you are bored in the hospital, you can't go to that place!" Kate was angry. The Walton family's business didn't go very well recently. Terry was injured, and his parents were already very tired. If Aurora indulged herself in this kind of thing, it would be chaotic. Aurora twisted her fingers, not knowing what to say. Terry, who was lying on the bed, suddenly sat up and said gently, "Mom, I asked Aurora to see my friends." Aurora looked up at Terry. Terry was eating the breakfast she bought as if he was talking about an ordinary thing. "Really?" Kate glanced at the two of them. "Sara talked nonsense. Don't take it seriously." Terry said and continued eating. Kate believed in Terry's words. Kate then smiled, "I knew it. Aurora is a good girl. It is impossible for her to do that. I am going out

for a while.”

Kate wanted to leave them alone.

Before leaving, Kate sized up Aurora’s figure, thought of something, and walked out.

“Terry, last night...” Aurora sighed.

“You don’t have to explain to me. I know you well.” Terry looked up.

That sincere gaze touched Aurora’s heart.

“Is it because of me?” Terry took out his phone and said, “I talked to Abel this morning.

He said that the Racing Association delayed the date of the public accident investigation report. Aurora, don’t bear it yourself.”

Terry didn’t want Aurora being manipulated for his sake.

“I just want to help you. He will keep his word.”

Terry felt uncomfortable.

Terry put down the bowl and held Aurora’s hand. “If the doctor didn’t say that I might lose my legs, will you...”

Terry paused with tears.

“Will you still agree to date me?”

Terry stared at Aurora in a daze.

Looking into his gaze, Aurora slowly nodded.

Before Terry could say more, the nurse wheeled the medicine cart in and said, “It’s time to change the medicine. The doctor has just finished the consultation and you will have a second operation in

At noon that day, something big happened in the Buchanna Group.

The president’s office announced, “End all business cooperation with the Vance family and fire Daniel.”

After hearing this news, the most shocked person was not Daniel, but the vice president Saul.

Saul was playing indoor golf in his office when he heard the secretary’s report. He slammed the glass cabinet

“What?”

Saul pulled his tie and sneered, “It seems that Mr. Buchanna is a busybody.”

Zac sold off the goods in the warehouse, causing Saul to lose a lot.

And now Zac cut off all business cooperation with the Vance family.

Then how would Saul embezzle the company’s money in the future?

Saul cursed and smashed the table with his club.

Vernon happened to pass by and saw Saul who was smashing things in the office to vent his anger. Vernon sighed and turned to leave.

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 135

Chapter 135 Completely Different Looks

Then, the Buchanna Group held a board meeting.

Saul was late and winked at a familiar director. That director immediately said, “Mr. Buchanna, the accident in the Thunder Cup is serious. The Racing Association has not given a reply. I think it is time to take back our investment.”

Since it was related to their interests, someone echoed him.

“Right, others are waiting to see us make a fool of ourselves. We caused such big trouble. I think it’s better to withdraw the investment as soon as possible.”

Zac sat on the president’s seat and casually said, “The funds have already been sent over and we signed the contract in advance. If we go back on our word now, we will lose reputation.”

It’s no use crying over spilled milk.

“We don’t need to pay for Terry’s medical expenses, do we? I passed by the accounting department this morning. They…”

Before he could finish speaking, Zac glanced at him.

The director immediately shut up in fear.

ne

Saul frowned and pretended to know nothing. “Mr. Buchanna, his words are reasonable. No one knows what will happen on the racing field. Since our investment has been in place, there is no need to take the responsibility that should not be taken by us. Otherwise, people will spread rumors and say that Mr. Buchanna is abusing the public trust.”

“What do you mean?” Zac got angry.

“Well, we all believe in your good character, but there will always be villains who will have evil thoughts. Isn’t your ex-wife, Aurora, Terry’s girlfriend now? I think it is better to avoid rumors at this time.”

“Yes, Saul is right, and the Walton family doesn’t lack money!”

Zac’s eyes turned cold, and he slammed the folder on the table. “This matter has been decided during the last meeting. You are wasting everyone’s time now.”

Saul smiled.

“Do you mean that we should not consider the company?”

Soon, the conference room was a mess.

Vernon originally did not attend the meeting. When he received the report from his secretary, he had no choice but to show up as a mediator.

Vernon originally did not attend the meeting. When he received the report from his secretary, he had no choice but to show up as a mediator.

“Our company is responsible for this accident. A portion of the medical expenses is nothing to the company.” Vernon pressed down on Saul’s shoulder and said, “Be generous and there will always be rewards.”

Zac and Vernon’s shares combined were enough to dominate the Buchanna Group.

Saul had no choice but to swallow his anger and leave in anger.

The directors also knew the situation and did not say anything more.

Vernon coughed. “Alright, continue with the meeting. I’ll go and see Saul. It’s normal for young men to have different opinions. You’re considering for the company’s development.”

The tense atmosphere in the conference room eased significantly.

Before Vernon walked out of the conference room, he whispered to Zac, “You have to restrain your temper. I’ll go and take a look at Saul. Don’t worry.”

Zac nodded and did not say anything.

The meeting continued. After it was over, Carter walked over with the phone in hand.
“Mr.

Buchanna, the Racing Association wants you to go over.”

“Let’s go.”

Zac got up and left the meeting room, and then the directors all breathed a sigh of relief.

“Luckily, Mr. Vernon is here. Young people nowadays are not afraid of anything.”

ar

“Remember to send someone to inform Mr. Vernon to participate in this kind of board meeting. He can ease the tense atmosphere.”

The directors were talking about which side to stand by in the future and walked out of the company

When Zac received the news from the Racing Association, Aurora also received a call from the association’s president, Patrick.

After discussing with Terry, Aurora insisted on going alone.

“You are going to have an operation soon. You should not leave the hospital at this time. If there is any problem, your parents will worry.” Aurora knew the pain of worrying about her loved ones, and she did not want to see Terry repeat her mistakes.

“But I’m worried about you.” Terry kept shaking his head. “There must be an investigation result

Terry felt that Aurora would suffer a loss.

Seeing how worried he was, Aurora smiled and said, “It’s fine. I will bring a recording pen with me. They won’t dare to do anything to me.

“As long as your operation is over, I will come back. I guarantee that you will be able to see me when you open your eyes. Okay?”

“Alright.”

Only then did Terry let her go. He knew that Aurora would never break her promise. But it was an exception this time.

When Aurora arrived at the Racing Association, Abel and the others were anxious.

“They said that they wanted to settle this privately. They want us to admit that it was an accident. What should we do?”

“They said that they wanted to verify it. We have already sent over all the information we checked. Unexpectedly, they are certain that we have no evidence and want to settle this privately.”

The people of the race team were all furious.

“Don’t tell Terry about this.” The first thing Aurora thought about was Terry’s physical condition. “He has an operation in the afternoon.”

“Alright, I understand.” Abel looked back and told Aurora, “The one wearing the blue shirt over there is Patrick. He is a bit stubborn. Moreover, I heard that he often secretly receives gifts and benefits from the race team.”

Aurora frowned.

It was likely that Patrick had already been bribed by someone.

But who would do such a thing?

Someone who had a competitive relationship with the convoy? Someone who had a grudge against Terry and the Walton family? Or was it because of her?

Aurora sorted out her thoughts and whispered to Abel.
“Will it work?” Abel gritted his teeth. “I’ll try my best!”
“Thank you, Abel.”
Abel slapped his thigh. “No problem. You almost lost your life.”
Racing had always been risky,
Who could do that flawlessly?
Abel took the people of the race team to make arrangements. Aurora sat on the sofa and waited. There was a noise behind her. She turned around to look.
Zac, dressed in a neat suit, strode in. Behind him were Carter and bodyguards. In front of him were several staff members of the Racing Association.
Their faces were full of flattering smiles.
Aurora sneered. Zac was their fortune god. If the Buchanna Group withdrew their investment into the Thunder Cup, the losses of the Racing Association would be great. Zac’s opinion was enough to change the entire situation.
Aurora also stood up and looked at the man in the crowd.
At the same time, Zac noticed her.
When their eyes met, Aurora thought of his completely different looks in the hotel room. Which one was the real Zac?

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 136

Chapter 136 The Price

“Mr. Buchanna! Welcome. I am relieved by your presence.” Patrick was just as vain as people said.
When he faced Zac, he beamed with a smile. He tried hard to flatter Zac.
Zac’s expression was still indifferent.
He glanced at Patrick and then Carter, who was behind him, said, “Mr. Buchanna’s time is limited.
It’s best to end it within twenty minutes.”
“I see. No problem!” He looked behind him, his gaze fixed on Aurora. He then beckoned for Aurora to come over.
Aurora was now representing the Black Rider team. There have been very few female drivers in this field. In addition, almost everyone knew about her relationship with Zac.
She walked over, and there was already a discussion around her.
But Patrick acted like he knew nothing, said “Mr. Buchanna, this is the representative of the Black Rider team. I invited you here today to explain something. The results of our investigation are here, but I hope this matter ends here.”
Aurora raised her eyebrows but did not express her opinion.
“Why?” Zac glanced at her and knitted his eyebrows.
“Well ... Mr. Buchanna, you’ll know after you take a look.” Patrick smiled bitterly, and his tone carried a hint of flattery.
Just as Zac reached out to take it, Aurora took the lead, “I was there when it happened, and it was best for me to read it first.”

Her fingertips swept across Zac’s hand.

Zac’s froze for a moment. There was no expression of displeasure on his face. His gaze then fell on

Aurora.

Aurora opened the investigation results in front of everyone, but her brows furrowed tighter and tighter

“Have you finished reading it?” Patrick cleared his throat.

He reached out to take it but Aurora dodged.

She stood up, “Do you still think this is an accident? Even if you wanted to cover up something, there is a limit!”

Then, she threw the report in front of Zac.

She stood up, “Do you still think this is an accident? Even if you wanted to cover up something, there is a limit!”

Then, she threw the report in front of Zac.

“Mr. Buchanna, I would like to hear what you would say.”

In an instant, the atmosphere became extremely tense.

Patrick did not expect that Aurora, who looked weak, would be so difficult to deal with when she was angry. Moreover, she dared to get mad in front of Zac...

No wonder they divorced.

If he had known it earlier, he would have met Zac alone.

Patrick wanted to please Zac and to strive for the investment for the next competition, but now it was all ruined.

Patrick was mad at Aurora now.

“Ms. Bennet, this is the Racing Association, not somewhere you can act recklessly. If you continue to act like this, I will let you out.”

Aurora sneered.

And she took out a digital recorder from her pocket. “It uploads our conversation in real-time. What we said has already been uploaded to my computer. If you throw me out now, I will put the record on the Internet. And everyone will be the judge.”

“Aurora!”

Patrick had not expected Aurora had recorded everything, and he was so angry that he gritted his teeth.

At this time, Zac had also finished reading the report. For a time, his face was extremely gloomy.

Previously, Carter only discovered that Wenny had bought two staff members and tampered with the brakes, However, it was only the confession from a witness. He could suppress it with his power.

But...

The situation was different now.

After a week of investigation, the Racing Association had grasped solid evidence and the timeline was very clear.

Based on the evidence they currently had, it was easy to convict Wenny of murder, not to mention

If this continued, this matter would not be able to be suppressed.

And it was likely to involve the entire Buchanna Group.

Zac knitted his eyebrows. He never did business that would bring him losses. "Mr. Moore, please leave us alone. I want to talk to Aurora alone." Zac emphasized the word 'alone'.

"Alright. No problem. Take your time."

Patrick cast a look and all people of the Racing Association left.

Aurora raised her eyes coldly, "I just talked to the people of the Black Ride. We don't accept any bribes or compromises. We want the truth."

"Is that necessary?"

Zac smiled, not serious at all. "This stalemate won't be good for you, Terry, or the race team without any foundation."

Moreover, there was a possibility that this would end Terry's racing career.

After all, no competition wants a tainted participant.

Even though Aurora had mentally prepared herself, when she faced Zac alone, she would feel that his aura was terribly strong.

In this world, only those who had capital had the right to speak.

In front of him, Aurora was just struggling to survive.

Zac threw the report in front of Aurora, and said, "Tell me whatever your conditions are."

He had a deep look in his eyes as if he was certain that Aurora would relent.

The countermeasure that Aurora had come up with was shattered at that moment. Zac knew too well how to grasp the weakness of his opponent. Aurora could grit her teeth and disagree. But what about the others in the racing team? What about Terry?

They needed to keep this team alive.

It was no different from throwing straws against the wind to playing hard with Zac.

But did she allow herself to lose just like that?

Aurora was unwilling. She knew what the truth was and so did Zac!

AS

She bit her lips, unable to utter a word for a long time.

Zac saw all of her reactions. Looking at her hesitant expression, he thought that she was feeling sorry for Terry. For a moment, his tone got heavy.

"Even if it were to be made public, I still have the power to keep this matter down. Right now, you all still have the chips to negotiate. If this continues, you won't have any chance."

His words stabbed into Aurora's heart.

She lowered her head with a lonely look in her eyes.

After a long time, she asked in a muffled voice, "Zac, do you think that everyone is controlled by you and will live as you wish?"

She raised her head again and said stubbornly, "I believe in Terry. He won't compromise."

Zac clenched his fists. "Aurora, I'm giving you a chance."

Was she that considerate of Terry?

Did she have to go against him?

His tolerance and care for her were too much, so much that this woman thought she could fight him now.

Just as Zac was about to get angry, Aurora suddenly laughed.

Then, in front of Zac, she threw the report into the trash can. "Thank you for the opportunity, Mr. Buchanna. We don't need it. Just now, I had asked Terry's manager to contact the lawyer. From now on, we will not listen to the words of the Racing Association.

"Our interests will be represented by the lawyer. Since the Racing Association can't give a fair judgment, then we will wait for the judge to decide."

"Aurora, don't go too far." Something cold moved into Zac's eyes. He didn't want to waste so much time on this matter.

When she met his gaze, Aurora's smile deepened. "Zac, you forced me to do this. That day at the hospital, you knew that this matter was related to Wenny, but you chose to protect her."

The more she spoke, the colder her voice became. "She is killing people. Do you understand?"

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 137

Chapter 137 Trust the Wrong Person

Zac's face darkened.

"Good, Aurora, you are ruthless.

"Then you can try and see if you can bring the team back to life."

IC

Aurora looked straight at him and said word by word, "You're wrong. I don't have that much ability, but I will do my best to uncover the truth."

In Clouston, not everything could be covered up by him.

One day, there would be one thing or one person that Zac could not manipulate and bribe!

Aurora withdrew her gaze and turned to leave.

Zac watched her leave, and that deeply hurt his heart.

Carter and Patrick walked in quickly.

"Mr. Buchanna, what should we do? I just received a demand letter, and they are so arrogant. Isn't this blatant provocation?"

"If you had been doing your job fairly in the beginning, things wouldn't have turned out this way," Zac said as he stood up with a cold face.

With that, Patrick was dumbfounded.

He originally wanted to use this opportunity to curry favor with Zac, but now it was like shooting himself in the foot!

Seeing that Zac was about to leave with his men, Patrick immediately chased after him.

"Mr.

Buchanna, this matter..."

As soon as the car door was closed, Carter stopped him. "Mr. Buchanna's meaning is very clear. He hopes you will do your business fairly."

“Well... noted, I understand.” Patrick finally reacted and immediately arranged for someone to reply to the demand letter.

The Racing Association would definitely cooperate with the investigation.

But in this way, it was equivalent to admitting that this was an arranged accident by someone, and the mastermind must pay the price.

In the car, Zac rubbed his eyebrows. Just as he was about to heave a sigh of relief, Wenny called.

“Zac, are you busy today? The magazine cover I shot last time has come out. I want to show you.”

She just wanted to know what Zac was doing!

“I need to go to the company. I don’t have time.” Zac’s eyes darkened.

“But...”

Wenny still wanted to say, but the call had already ended.

She looked at the screen on her phone and gritted her teeth.

In the car, Ella sat next to her and comforted her with a forced smile, “Don’t think too much about it. Who they saw at Crown Hotel might not be Aurora. Maybe they took the wrong person! She is penniless now, and she can’t even enter the door of that hotel.”

Ella thought that if she said this, Wenny would be in a better mood.

Unexpectedly, Wenny became even more annoyed.

“What if Zac invited her over?” She looked at her bloated figure because of her pregnancy and became even more anxious. “Ella, did you say that there was something that made men addicted last time?”

Ella was stunned for a moment and said vaguely, “Yes, but you are pregnant now. You can’t do that.”

Although Wenny was in her pregnancy phase recently, she was able to obtain some commercial resources. Her career had a trend of rising, all because those investors wanted to fawn on Zac.

What they were interested in was not Wenny’s business ability, but the Buchanna Group behind her.

If Wenny lost the child in her belly, it would all be over.

“What are you afraid of? The doctor said that it has already been three months. It’s OK as long as I am careful.”

Moreover, she had tried it with Saul, and it was nothing.

She could not let Zac feel lonely. She had to fulfill her duty as a wife.

“Wenny, think about it again.”

Ella was still worried, but Wenny had already made up her mind. “Hurry up and prepare it for me. I want it tonight.”

No matter what, she couldn’t let Aurora snatch Zac away.

On the other side of the line, Zac’s eyes became colder and colder. He really gave Wenny too many opportunities.

But she would never repent.

If he had not been concerned that she was pregnant with his child, he would not have interfered with the matter of the Racing Association at all.

Now that Aurora had made her attitude clear, it might not be a bad thing for Zac.

“Carter.”

“Yes, Mr. Buchanna.” Carter perked up and waited for Zac’s instructions.

“Don’t interfere in this matter anymore.”

Carter was slightly stunned, but he still said, “Then Miss Swon...”

“If we intervene too much, it will arouse suspicion from others. Let the lawyer investigate.”

Those two people had already left Clouston. The people from the Racing Association would also cover up some evidence in order to protect themselves.

CO

II

For the moment, he would like to stop talking about how things would develop in the end.

At the very least, Aurora and the others had to put in a lot of effort. At that time, Wenny would insist that it had nothing to do with those people, and no one would be able to do anything to her.

“When the Black Rider fans are no longer in high spirits, it will be easier for the Racing Association to put some pressure on them. Terry is the only son of the Walton family. Sooner or later, he will go home to inherit the family business. He will soon forget about racing.”

Zac looked out the window at the street scenery, his eyes cold. He thought, Aurora, you turn out to believe in the wrong person.

He was waiting for the day when Aurora was abandoned by the Walton family.

Carter understood what Zac meant and could not help but sweat for Aurora.

She was destined to lose if she fought with Zac.

However, as Zac’s personal assistant, he knew very well that Zac treated Aurora differently.

After Aurora and Abel left the Racing Association together, Abel’s lawyer immediately went to investigate.

Everyone’s faces lit up.

“Aurora, it’s all thanks to you. Otherwise, I don’t know what tricks the chairman of the Racing

Abel scratched his hair and giggled.

“Exactly. I have been thinking about how to deal with them, and I have forgotten this method.”

However, Aurora was not very happy. “Actually, I should apologize to everyone. Because of me, such a thing happened to the team.”

Since the person behind the scenes was Wenny, then Aurora could already confirm that Wenny was coming for her.

Terry and the people in the team were all dragged down by her.

“Is it because of you?” Abel did not react for a moment, but quickly he said, “Don’t think that way. If it weren't for you, we wouldn't even know what the situation would be like in the team!"

"That's right, Aurora. We all have to thank you. It's an opportunity you fought for the team."

Hearing everyone say this, Aurora was reassured a bit.

Not far away, a black car flashed past. The man in the car held his phone and dialed a number.

"Mr. Gates, Mr. Buchanna just finished talking to the people of the Racing Association. The Black Rider team will sue the Racing Association and let the lawyer intervene."

On the other side of the line, Saul's eyes became colder.

He sat up straight from the sofa and gnashed his teeth. "Keep an eye on them. If you are found out, I will not protect you."

"Noted, Mr. Gates."

Saul shook off his phone and sneered, "Alright, Zac, do you really have to dig out my background?"

The next second, he called Wenny.

"Come to me. I want you here."

Usually, Wenny would agree to it.

But today, she was prepared to sleep with Zac, so she refused Saul's date.

"Maybe another day. I really have something to do today."

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 138

Chapter 138 Humiliation

Wenny's refusal made Saul very angry.

In the past, Wenny always followed whatever he said, now she refused him?

"Are you going to meet Zac tonight?" Saul guessed.

Saul didn't think Wenny would refuse him for anyone but Zac.

"Yes, I have an appointment with Zac tonight..." Wenny was still happily choosing her clothes.

She had to make sure that everything was ready so that Zac would have a good night with her.

This way, she would be able to stop that slut, Aurora, from getting close to Zac. She would tell Aurora that people shouldn't dream about getting things that didn't belong to them.

"Alright, you can go." Saul sneered.

After he finished speaking, he hung up.

After pondering for a while, he called his subordinate, "Check where Wenny is going tonight."

He lost to Zac in the company, but he couldn't lose Wenny to him!

After all, Wenny was pregnant with his child!

On the way back to the hospital, Aurora bought Terry some fruits.

She wondered how to tell him about the Racing Association. Her phone rang. It was the chairman of the Racing Association, Patrick.

Aurora did not want to pick it up, but the bell did not stop.

"Ms. Bennet? It was not a pleasant conversation just now. I am very, very sorry. Do you have time?

Let's meet again. We will provide all the evidence you need here."

Would he be so cooperative?

"Mr. Moore, we have already entrusted the matter to the lawyer. You can contact them directly," Aurora stood at the crossroads.

"No, no, no. Ms. Bennet, you should know something about this industry. If this matter blows up, both the association and the race team will get involved. I think you should come over. If we can come up with a solution, we won't have to go to court."

Patrick tried to persuade Aurora again and again. Finally, Aurora agreed with his proposal and said in a cold voice, "Where are we going?" If she could resolve this matter today, it would not be a waste of her efforts.

Patrick told the place and Aurora checked it with her mobile phone. It was not far from here. She sent a location to Abel and hoped that he would take the lawyer there.

Aurora carried the fruit and took a taxi.

When she reached the entrance of the high-end hotel, she hesitated.

This was not a suitable place to talk about things. She walked around the door twice and a waiter came over to ask, "Are you Ms. Bennet?"

Aurora nodded.

The other immediately smiled and said, "I'll take you in."

The entire hall was magnificent. Aurora was brought to the room on the second floor.

"Please sit

here for a moment."

"Are they not here yet?" Aurora frowned. They invited her over, but they came after her?

How could they be like this?

"Yes, they haven't come yet. Please wait a moment." The waiter said and closed the door.

Bored, Aurora put the fruit aside and planned to ask about Terry's surgery.

But just as she took her phone, she heard some strange sounds next door.

"Hug me! I just want a hug!"

When Aurora heard the seductive voice, she was shocked. The hotel was so luxurious, but the soundproofing here was so bad?

She looked at the wall on the left, and the voice seemed to come from there.

However, the next second, the voice surprised her even more.

"Zac, I know you are very uncomfortable. I will come and help you immediately. Just hug me and you'll be fine."

Aurora thought for a moment and wondered whether it was the Zac she knew.

Or was it Wenny and Zac in the next room?

Soon, there was no movement over there.

Aurora couldn't help but sneer. Zac wanted sex so much? He completely disregarded Wenny's pregnancy and ... they were about to have sex in this kind of place... In Aurora's mind, the expression of him pinching her chin that night surfaced.

Aurora hesitated for a moment and thought of something.

She opened the door, walked around the corridor, took a photo of the door of the private room next door, and was about to send the photo to the paparazzi.

The door was suddenly opened.
The room was dark.
A pair of arms wrapped around her, and then Zac's fierce breath swept over her.
"Let go!"
Aurora shouted, "You are crazy! Look clearly who I am!"
She was not Wenny.
Zac's eyes suddenly darkened, surging with emotions that could not be concealed,
"Aurora."
He called her name and kissed her the moment she was stunned.
This kiss did not stop.
No matter how she struggled, he did not let go.
In the morning, Aurora was woken up by the ringtone of Zac's phone.
She thought about everything that had happened last night and felt extremely humiliated. She had no idea that she sent herself to him in the end.
Could it be that Patrick and Zac were colluding?
She thought this and stared at Zac fiercely.
Zac also woke up at this time. When he saw Aurora's fair shoulder, he froze for a while.
Not knowing what to say, he subconsciously turned off the phone.
"Last night..." When he opened his mouth, he felt a tearing pain in his throat.
Last night, he was really out of control.
It was unknown what Wenny had given him to eat. Just as he was about to find someone, Aurora appeared In his heart, there was a trace of relief. If he slept with another woman, even if it was Wenny, he should feel uncomfortable.
should feel uncomfortable.
But Aurora...
In just more than a year, he was infatuated with the smell of her body.
Slap.
Aurora reached out and slapped him, "despicable".
She got up with her clothes in her arms. "That day at the Crown Hotel, I thought you were different from those playboys. Now it seems that you are just pretending to be more profound and dignified. It's disgusting."
Zac pursed his thin lips.
"Aurora."
"I clearly heard you and Wenny making out in this room. Why did you drag me in? You clearly knew it was me last night!"
Aurora shouted to accuse him.
She tried hard to recall, but she only remembered that all her struggles had been blocked by him. Later, she seemed to have smelled something and fainted.
Because of this, Zac's eyes darkened.
He could not accept this fact. He knew that it was Aurora, but he still did it. It was not venting, nor was it punishment. He wanted her.
There were so many women in Clouston, and she was the only one he wanted to possess.

When this thought entered his mind, he immediately stood up and wanted to drag Aurora over.

But she was one step ahead of him and picked up the fruit knife on the table, "If you take one step closer, I will..."

"As long as you can vent your anger, you can do it." A fierce look flashed across Zac's eyes. Now that things had come to this, he didn't want to lie to him anymore.

There was indeed a grudge between them.

But the Bennet family no longer existed, Shawn had paid the price, and Aurora's youth had been destroyed by him for a few years.

Zac's eyes surged with emotions that he could not suppress. He wanted to give himself a chance to see if Aurora was the kind of woman he thought she was.

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 139

Chapter 139 You Never Break Your Promise

Zac moved and wanted to get close to Aurora.

"Get lost," Aurora said as she retreated.

She looked at him with a disgusted gaze, not only because she wanted to stay away from him, but also because she hated him.

That kind of gaze abruptly stopped Zac's movements. He clutched his shirt and said after a long time, "I'll go prepare clothes for you and then prepare a car to send you back."

Aurora turned her head away, not even looking at him.

Zac withdrew his gaze, feeling very unhappy. He only heard someone knocking on the door, followed by Wenny's noisy voice.

"Zac, open the door!"

She was so anxious that she felt like her heart was being torn apart, but the more she shouted, the colder Zac's eyes became.

Aurora looked at the torn clothes on the ground. She could no longer wear them.

What would she do if someone outside broke in?

"Zac!"

Wenny ordered the hotel staff to open the door with spare keys and rushed in with people.

It was also at that moment that she saw Zac with his back to her, hugging a woman with a quilt.

In that instant, Wenny was so angry that she almost fainted.

"You... Who is she? Zac, how can you do this to me! I'm carrying your baby, but you are here to spend your time with another woman!"

The torn clothes in the room and the scattered sheets revealed how violent the sex yesterday was.

Wenny widened her eyes in hatred. She should not have gone to find Saul. When she came back, she could not open the door no matter what. The hotel even received her order in advance. No matter who came, they could not open the door.

This wait lasted for a night.

She had no idea that Zac would find a woman to have sex with.

Wenny was so angry that she trembled.

She had put in so much effort, but in the end, someone else got the fruit.

“Let me see who she is.”

She stepped forward and was about to pull the woman’s hair, but she was blocked by Zac with one hand. He said ruthlessly, “Have you had enough?”

Wenny had never seen that kind of gaze before.

“Zac, how can you betray me!” she cried.

“Then ask yourself what you did yesterday. Wenny, there is a limit to my tolerance for you.”

With one sentence, Wenny did not dare to do anything more

She didn’t expect that Zac would notice what she had done.

“I...” she muttered for a long time but could not say a word to explain.

Zac’s hand never left the woman’s shoulder. He used the quilt to cover her body and face.

When Carter rushed over, Zac picked up the woman in his arms and walked out without even looking at Wenny.

“Zac...” Wenny slumped on the sofa, burying her head and crying.

After an unknown period of time, a voice sounded above her head.

“Do you want to know who the woman with him last night was?” Saul looked down at her, raised his hand, and held her chin, “It’s Aurora.”

“What!”

Wenny could not accept this result.

Even if Aurora entered this room to seduce Zac shamelessly, Zac clearly knew what kind of situation she was in at that time, and he still kept Aurora?

Just based on the words that Zac had questioned her just now, he was must sober at that time.

Wenny sat there in a daze, her eyes filled with jealousy.

Zac took Aurora to the top suite upstairs.

Placing her safely on the bed, he said in a low voice, “You take a rest first. In a while, someone will send clothes over. When your mood stabilizes a little, we will talk.”

He said this but found that Aurora had not answered at all.

She didn’t even quarrel with him.

—

“Aurora?”

He pulled the quilt away and found that her face was flushed, and her cheeks were hot.

Her eyes

were closed tightly as if she was in pain.

wer

For the first time, he panicked.

He immediately asked Carter to call the doctor, and then asked several waitresses to serve Aurora.

He had never left the room. Even if the company had called over a dozen times to urge him, he didn’t go.

“Mr. Buchanna, Ms. Bennet must have eaten something by accident, causing her body temperature to rise. In addition, she has been working overtime recently, so she has a high fever and a short period of fainting.”

“When will she wake up?” Zac looked at the person on the bed.

“Soon, in at most three hours.” As the doctor spoke, he vaguely reminded Zack, “Ms. Bennet’s health is poor. Mr. Buchanna, you have to be considerate. Be gentle to her and restrain yourself.”

Be gentle?

Zac’s mind was filled with the image of her being by his side last night.

He became more and more greedy, unable to stop. He could not even remember how many times there were.

Carter sent the doctor away and brought suitable clothes for Aurora.

“Mr. Buchanna, the company is urging you again.”

Zac slowly got up with his eyes fixed on Aurora. “Prepare a car to send her back. Remember to tell me about her reaction after waking up.”

“Yes, Mr. Buchanna.”

Two hours later.

Aurora woke up again with a sore pain all over her body. Thinking about what had just happened, she looked around the room angrily. He was not here.

Aurora endured the pain and got out of bed. Then she saw the note and medicine on the bedside table.

Without even thinking about it, she overturned it.

The medicine bottles fell to the ground.

She wanted to vomit when she thought of Zac’s name.

There were new clothes in the bag beside the bed. She didn’t hesitate. She had to wear them if she wanted to leave here.

As soon as Aurora opened the door, there were two bodyguards standing at the door. Aurora was really sick of the protection Zac gave.

“I don’t need you to send me. If you come any closer, I’ll call the police.”

The bodyguards did not dare to go forward. They could only follow Aurora slowly from behind. They watched her take a taxi and leave. Then, they immediately reported to Carter.

Aurora washed her face in the hospital bathroom to get rid of the bad luck.

As soon as she went out, she saw Sara, who was dressed in branded clothes, holding a high-quality gift box in her hand.

“Are you washing your face in this place? The Walton family really made a bad choice.” Sara snorted in contempt.

Aurora was angry now, and she didn’t want to talk to Sara.

But Sara just followed her and mocked her. “Some people really can’t see what situation they’re in. They want to climb up to someone rich and return to living a rich life as before. Look at you, do you deserve that?”

“The Bennet family went bankrupt a long time ago. People like you are simply...”

“People like me? You can insult me, but if you continue to mock my family, don’t blame me for being merciless.” Aurora turned back abruptly and glared at Sara.

She remembered everything that Sara had done.

At that instant, Sara was frightened by her gaze and was unable to refute her for a long time.

They just happened to be near the ward, and Terry, who was throwing a tantrum inside, suddenly heard Aurora's voice.

"Aurora!"

He called her all night, but no one answered.

He was really worried.

Terry held his walking stick, but because the ground was wet and slippery, he went out and accidentally fell to the ground

He was in a really awkward situation..

Sara frowned, feeling extremely humiliated.

Aurora was the first to rush over and support Terry, 'Did you hurt yourself from the fall? Let me see.

She was in a hurry to help him check if there were any injuries from the fall, but Terry directly pulled her into his arms. His voice was gloomy and low, revealing a sense of joy that he had lost and regained

"Didn't you say that I would be able to see you after the surgery?"

"You never break your promise!"

Aurora suddenly froze, as if someone had grabbed her throat

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 140

Chapter 140 Keep the Walton Family's Dignity

"Where did you go last night?" Terry really cared about Aurora and was afraid that something would happen to her.

Aurora was silent and did not know how to answer.

She helped Terry into the ward with the nurse and changed the topic in a low voice. "Did the surgery go well yesterday?"

The nurse smiled and said, "It went very smoothly. Both directors in our hospital said that he recovered very well. If there are no accidents, he can be discharged at the end of the month."

Terry looked like a child waiting for someone to praise him. He grabbed Aurora's hand.

That smile became a beam of light that shone into Aurora's dark world.

The corners of her mouth could not help but rise as if she had temporarily escaped from everything last night.

"Thank you very much."

Terry smiled and slowly tightened his grip, wrapping Aurora's slightly cold fingertips in his palm.

At the door, Sara, who stood there like a log, was completely treated as air. She gritted her teeth and forced out a smile, "Terry, I brought you some pastries today. Have a taste. I especially went to queue up to buy them. I heard that they are very delicious.

"Oh, by the way, I heard that your race team needs investment. My father's friend heard about it. I have already talked to him. If you need the investment, you can talk to him first, and then sign the contract when you are discharged."

After Sara said this, she smiled proudly.

She wanted Terry and everyone to know that Aurora could not compare to her.

Those resources and connections were all things she could bring to Terry.

As for Aurora, she only had a beautiful face. And Aurora had such an awkward past.

Sara thought that Aurora was no match for her at all.

The more Sara thought about it, the more complacent she became, and her eyes revealed undisguised ridicule.

"Who told you that my team is looking for investments?" Terry frowned.

"It was reported on the news. It said that your small-scale race team could no longer run after this accident. Moreover, your manager is collecting money everywhere."

Terry looked at Aurora subconsciously.

Aurora did not make a sound, but Sara was still jabbering on, "Moreover, my father said that your family business has encountered some obstacles recently. Your father might not invest in your team anymore."

Money.

Everything was about money.

In fact, even without Sara's explanation, Terry wanted to get it.

First, because he was injured this time, his family had already taken out a lot of liquidity.

Second, the team was currently trapped in a competition accident and the team's reputation was damaged. More funds were needed to restore the image of the team.

Plus, the pressure from the Racing Association...

During this period of time, Abel and the others must have had a hard time.

Terry clenched his fists. If he had been a little more cautious at that time, would the situation be like today?

"It's not your fault. You've already done your best," Aurora said, pressing Terry's hand that was about to hammer the bed.

"But..."

"Terry, don't worry. As long as my father's friend is here, he will definitely be able to help you," Sara said with a concerned smile on her face.

Aurora couldn't take it anymore. She pressed Terry to prevent him from hurting himself while shouting at Sara, "Don't provoke him anymore. Can't you see that his mood is very unstable? Please get out."

Sara was shocked.

1

W

Sara was stunned, and then she saw Terry struggling like a trapped beast who could not control his emotions.

He hammered the bed with his hands and he even hit Aurora sometimes.

When the nurses heard this, they rushed over with Aurora, pressed Terry, and gave him a tranquilizer.

Sara stood by the side the entire time, and she was scared out of her wits.

Aurora's head was covered in fine sweat, but when she saw that Terry was quietly asleep, she heaved a sigh of relief.

"Fortunately, you reacted on time. Otherwise, it would affect the recovery of the wound."

The nurse checked the wounds on Terry's back and waist.

In addition to injuring his spine nerves, there were also some skin wounds at the back of his waist. And there were also wounds from the two operations. If he was emotional or intense, it was very likely that he would tear the wounds, causing them to be unable to heal.

When Sara was checking Terry's wounds, she saw the ugly scars. After applying the medicine, they were all green.

She frowned and walked out with a cold face.

She took out her cell phone and called her father. "Terry will not be well. Even if he is well, he is still an irritable and useless person. I will never come to the hospital again.

Even if their family has more money, I don't care.

"I don't want to serve a mentally deranged cripple for the rest of my life!"

Sara's high heels stepped on the tiles of the corridor, and her voice came from afar.

Kate came out of the elevator and heard these words.

She immediately turned angry and quickly entered the ward.

When Kate saw Terry sleeping soundly on the bed while Aurora was preparing breakfast, the anger in her heart immediately subsided.

She found Aurora more and more pleasing to the eyes.

While Terry was sleeping, Kate quietly called Aurora out.

la

"Kate, what's the matter?" Aurora dried her hands.

"You don't have to do these. Let the nurse and the servant do it. When the nurse comes later, you go out with me for a while."

"Where are we going?" Aurora felt that Kate's smile was too kind and warm.

"Go and dress up."

As Kate spoke, she quickly called the driver over to pick them up. No matter how much Aurora refused, Kate was very persistent. Kate took Aurora to the most luxurious shopping malls in Clouston, Kate brought Aurora several sets of clothes and took Aurora to a beauty salon.

As soon as they arrived at the beauty salon, they met several rich ladies.

They had long heard that Terry had an accident and the Jarrett family had canceled the engagement.

tightly. The other ladies found that they seemed close.

They all revealed mocking smiles.

"Mrs. Walton, you seem to be very busy recently. I asked you several times but was all rejected. Why are you so free today? You came out with..." A lady said directly.

She hesitated and sized up Aurora, "I really don't know how to address her."

The ladies immediately covered their faces and laughed.

That atmosphere made people very uncomfortable.

Aurora's brows furrowed. She didn't feel embarrassed. She only felt that these people were too gossipy.

But Kate felt a little embarrassed.

"Mrs. Walton, I'll wait for you in the car," said Aurora.

The words "Mrs. Walton" put Kate in a higher position than her. Those people were momentarily surprised. What was going on?

"Could it be that she went to work for your family?"

If that were the case, it would make sense.

Otherwise, with Kate's character, how could she approve of Aurora dating her son!

The lady who mocked them just now said awkwardly, "Sorry, Mrs. Walton, why didn't you say so earlier? We all misunderstood. I thought you want to choose a woman who was abandoned by others to be your daughter-in-law."

These ladies all laughed.

Aurora hadn't gone far yet, and she heard these words clearly.

She gripped the door handle, lowered her eyes, and sat in the car.

Kate turned back to look at Aurora awkwardly. She was grateful that Aurora knew the bigger picture and kept the Walton family's dignity, but she felt a little guilty.

But in the end, she did not have the face to refute those people.

She was not afraid of being laughed at by these people, but the Walton family still had to do business in Cloud City. Only by dealing with these people would the business of the Walton family go well.

Aurora sat in the car, with her face gloomy.

The phone suddenly rang

She clicked on the message and it was an unregistered number.

"The medicine was sent to the hospital. Remember to take it."

The medicine?

She frowned, thinking about the medicine she put on the bedside when she woke up in the hotel. Could it be

Was it sent by Zac?