

CEO is Chasing Ex-Wife Back Chapter 16

Chapter 16 Creek Club

Aurora sat in the wheelchair with a mocking smile on her face.

She had never imagined she would be in such conditions.

She had nowhere to go.

The sky gradually darkened, fine raindrops were falling from the sky, drop by drop falling on Aurora.

The rain gradually grew heavier, and Aurora quickly pushed the wheelchair and found the nearest shelter to the rain.

"Miss, may I ask ... do you need an ambulance?"

A man in a suit stood in front of Aurora curiously.

Aurora found this person familiar.

She looked behind the man.

It was a luxurious building.

"Creek Club!" The two big words stood quietly at the gate.

"There won't be a more suitable workplace for Ms. Bennet, right?"

Wenny's words echoed in Aurora's ears. Aurora finally made the decision.

Because of her relationship with Zac, no company would want her now!

But she still owed millions of debts. Besides here, where else could she find a place to stay?

Wenny was right.

Aurora clenched her fists with deep hatred bursting out of her eyes. In the depths of her eyes, she was unwilling to admit defeat!

She was from the Bennet family.

She would start from where she had failed!

Aurora had made up her mind.

"Hello, I'm here to apply for the job."

In the office of Creek Club, the manager sat behind her desk and scanned through Aurora.

She had all kinds of girls here, but not rich-born girls like Aurora.

Maybe Aurora could bring her a fortune.

"Ms. Bennet, have you made up your mind?"

"If I hadn't thought about it, I wouldn't have appeared here," Aurora said with a smile.

The manager pushed a document to Aurora.

"In that case, please sign this document."

Aurora flipped through it and found that it was full of unreasonable terms.

"What is the meaning of the terms in this document?"

The manager had a look of disdain in her eyes.

She had seen many desperate girls, but none of them were as unappreciative as Aurora.

10

"Ms. Bennet, if I'm not wrong, you should be owing a lot of money now, right? The waiter's salary is low. Are you sure?"

Aurora sneered, "I have already expressed my meanings very clearly."

The manager gritted her teeth. If Aurora wasn't that pretty...

"Okay, the waiter has a basic salary of 200 dollars. The rest will depend on Ms. Bennet's own ability!"

Aurora settled in the staff dormitory of Creek Club.

In less than ten minutes, everyone in Creek Club knew that the once respected Ms. Bennet had come to be the most despised waiter just like them.

"Why is she still so arrogant? Her family is broken and she is abandoned by Zac!"

"That's right. She also has many debts."

In the public makeup room, Aurora became the focus of their topics.

However, Aurora did not know about this.

She stayed in her room and refused to see anyone.