

CEO's Unexpected Wife by Charlie

Chapter 12

Chapter 12

Elaine could not believe it and did not speak.

Although it was just a supporting role, it was an outstanding one. Mr. Jasmin thought highly of her.

"Elaine?" Mr. Jasmin called her in confusion when Elaine didn't reply.

Elaine calmed down and said, "Yes! Mr. Jasmin, I'd like to take a try!"

Leopold chuckled satisfactorily, "Great. I'll send the audition address and the director's name to you. When you get there, tell the director that you are my student."

"Okay! Thank you, Mr. Jasmin!"

After Elaine hung up, she received the message from Leopold.

She should take the audition at 2:30 p.m. so she quickly put on light makeup. And then she jubilantly packed her things.

If Elaine set out now, she could take the first audition. If she succeeded, she would be a member of the entertainment industry!

"Elaine, lunch is ready."

Kelly sang and walked into Elaine's dressing room with the takeout.

Elaine picked up her bag and combed her hair neatly in the mirror, "Kelly, I won't have lunch. I must go for the audition now."

"Audition? You are so hardworking. You don't have breakfast. Won't you have lunch?" Kelly asked in surprise.

"I'll have lunch after the audition. Goodbye. Don't forget to pay me."

Then, Elaine left the dressing room in a hurry.

"Chris, it's so nice of you to come with me."

Crystal, who was dressed gorgeously, held Chris's arm affectionately and walked for the audition in the office building of YW Group.

“Yes.”

Chris answered absent-mindedly.

Crystal stepped on her high heels and raised her head proudly, “If I succeed, I can shoot films and make catwalk shows.”

She wouldn’t have had an opportunity to audition without Chris’s help. Although she didn’t learn acting, she could be famous with his help and decided to take the opportunity!

When they arrived, they met Elaine.

Chris said excitedly, “Elaine!”

Crystal paused when holding Chris’s arm.

Crystal didn’t expect to meet Elaine and wondered if she was here for the audition of The Arrival of the Empress.

Elaine didn’t notice them. After chatting with the director for a while, she seemed to get good news and smiled brightly.

“Go back to prepare for it. We’ll start filming in the next few days. You’ll be informed.” The director looked at Elaine, who didn’t dress deliberately, with satisfaction.

The director thought that Leopold recommended the right one since Elaine achieved his expectations in terms of appearance and ability!

Barbie Saffel, the supporting role, should be natural and fresh.

Although she didn’t have many scenes, the character was important for the heroine and the later plot.

“Got it, thank you! I’ll try my best.” Elaine bowed sincerely to the director.

“Good.”

After the conversation, Elaine left excitedly.

She looked up inadvertently and saw Crystal and Chris not far away.

She changed her expression and looked away. And then she tightened her hands and walked past them faster.

Chris followed her. As she was about to disappear, Chris shook off Crystal's hand to catch up with Elaine.

Crystal quickly grabbed his arm and reminded, "Chris, have you forgotten that a man answered when you called her yesterday."

Chris stopped and became angry.

Crystal succeeded in stopping him and smiled and pretended to comfort him considerably, "Don't be angry. You can ask the director if you want to know what she was doing. You are one of the investors anyway."

Chris didn't answer, but he went to the director with Crystal.

Crystal took the opportunity to get acquainted with the director and indicated to him that she was supported by Chris.

Elaine left the audition area and found that Chris didn't catch up. She leaned against the corridor wall and laughed at herself.

It was ridiculous. Why did she worry that Chris would catch up with her? He had been with the model.

They had been in a relationship for three years, but it was just bullshit.

Elaine calmed down and was about to leave. When she stepped forward, her stomach ached.

She became pale in pain and subconsciously held the wall and covered the abdomen with another hand.

Oh no! She didn't have breakfast or lunch and felt uncomfortable now.

Elaine gradually had no strength and stood in a strange position. The office workers ignored her when they passed

1.

She wanted to ask for help, but they left before she finished speaking. Elaine was so helpless.

"Mr. Tort, many groups are interested in the latest project in the suburbs. If you join us, we'll do better in the project!"

At this moment, Issac, who was noble and elegant, was visiting the group with many people.

A middle-aged man in a suit and leather shoes beside him flattered him with a fawning smile.

When Issac saw Elaine, he suddenly stopped.

The people beside him stopped and looked at him in confusion.

"Mr. Tort, what's wrong?" Ian leaned over to him and asked in a low voice.

Issac looked away and said simply, "Go back."

Ian nodded and said to a middle-aged man, "Mr. Zamani, it's enough. Mr. Tort has work to do. He'll consider the investment carefully."

Warren nodded happily, "Okay. I'm looking forward to your reply."

"Mr. Tort, this way." Ian gestured.
