Chapter 36

"I will tell my dad that I have broken up with Chris tomorrow."

"Yes."

Issac nodded. He seemed to think of something and said, "How about telling your father that I am your boyfriend?"

Elaine opened her eyes wide in surprise, "Why? It is not necessary. We should think about what to do next."

She could not divorce him or tell her father that he was her boyfriend. Elaine felt that she was so silly. Not only did she sleep with him, but she also married him hastily!

Issac sighed slightly, "If you don't want me to meet your father, I can do it. But I will not divorce you. Girl, don't you think that you will fall in love with me?"

Elaine's eyelid trembled and said, "I'm sorry. I just broke up with Chris and don't want to go out with anyone. I want to focus on my work."

JS on my

She didn't think she had the energy. She was tired after loving Chris. She thought they would have a better relationship and she would be the happiest woman after three years, but she was betrayed.

Issac was outstanding and he was Mr. Charming for every girl. However, Elaine tried not to fall for anyone. So she kept avoiding Issac.

It seemed that everyone she depended on and loved would leave her. Chris was the second one.

Issac was upset after hearing her answer. He didn't change his expression and said, "It's okay"

He could wait until she wanted to go out with him.

Ivan would come back, so Elaine got up early to clean the house.

Issac felt bad due to the hangover and didn't go to the company. He didn't go out until Elaine asked him to leave after the meal.

Ding-dong

At noon, the doorbell rang.

Elaine took off her apron and walked out of the kitchen joyfully.

Creak!

The next moment, the door was opened and her father came back.

Elaine's eyes lit up. She rushed forward to hug him, "Dad, welcome home."

Ivan smiled indulgently and rub her hair, "Sweetie."

Ivan was in his middle age. It could be told from his features that he was handsome when he was young

Ivan was tired. Elaine looked up at him and asked with concern, "How are you? Are you tired? Do you want to sleep?"

Ivan waved his hand, "No. You said that you cooked delicious food for me. I cannot miss it."

Elaine was happy and said, "Okay, I'll serve the dishes right away!"

"Okay."

Elaine walked into the kitchen. Ivan took off his shoes and walked into the house. He looked back at the courtyard and said, "Chris, put the luggage in the living room."

"Okay."

Chris, who was tall walked into the house with two suitcases and panted.

Elaine poured a glass of water and walked out of the kitchen, "Dad, you..."

When she saw Chris, she stopped smiling and stood still.

Why was he here?

Seeing that Elaine was shocked, Ivan smiled helplessly, "Are you shocked that Chris comes? I remember that he always comes."

"Elaine."

Chris smiled gently as usual. He had peach blossom eyes and stared at her tenderly.

He kept missing her after she left that day.

Elaine changed her expression and questioned him expressionlessly, "Why are you here?"

She was going to tell her father that she broke up with him. Chris came here as if nothing had happened. What the hell did he want to do?

Ivan frowned in confusion, "Elaine, why do you say it? Chris went to the airport to pick me up. I asked you the day before yesterday and you said that he went abroad on a business trip. I called him yesterday and found that he didn't go abroad. You are his girlfriend. You are so sloppy."

After that, Ivan gently flicked her forehead, "Well. It's time to have lunch. Come and sit down."

What? They had broken up.

"Okay," Chris said.

He put the luggage aside and sat down beside Elaine.

Elaine moved to the other side awkwardly and had food without saying anything.

"Elaine, have more meat."

Ivan picked up a piece of meat and put it in Elaine's bowl.

"Yes, you should have more."

Chris also considerately put a piece of meat in her bowl.

Elaine was slightly stunned and felt bad.

She put the meat that Chris gave her into the trash can at her feet when her father didn't pay attention.

Chris, who was staring at her, had a glint of bitterness in his eyes and had food in a bad mood.

It turned out that Elaine hated him so much that she didn't want to see him or eat the food he gave her.

Elaine had some food and was full. And then she went upstairs.

Chris stared at her.

“What’s wrong? I just felt that something was wrong with you. Do you have an argument?” Ivan asked after Elaine left.

Chris looked away and smiled to reassure him, “No. We can handle it ourselves.”

Chris had some food and walked on the second floor.

When Chris was on the last step to the second floor, he was stopped.

Elaine was beautiful, but she looked distant and cold, “We have broken up. You pretend that nothing happened and come to my home. What on earth do you want to do?”

Chris felt pained and looked sad, “I don’t want to do anything. I just miss you very much.”

Elaine was not touched but sneered, “But I don’t miss you. And I don’t want to see you.”

CEO’ s Unexpected Wife by Charlie Chapter 37

Chapter 37

Chris’ face turned pale and he subconsciously clenched his hand, trying to avoid her indifferent attitude.

“Elaine, we can go back, can’t we? We’ve been together for three years.”

Elaine sneered again and had a flash of indifference in her eyes. “Three years. So what? A rotten relationship can’t go back no matter how many years it has been. Chris Lakey, we are done now. Please don’t appear in my place again.”

Seeing that she was so determined, Chris did not look as sentimental as before.

Instead, he saw her directly and his tone became tough. “Does it have to be in this way? Why can’t you forgive me once? I need to socialize when I work outside, and that kind of thing is inevitable. You're too simple-minded. It's actually very normal. I love you. It's just a normal need to be with her!"

Elaine took a deep breath and smiled grimly, "Well, it seems that I owe you a thank you. But unfortunately, our values may not be the same. I never think it's normal for a man to make love with another woman when he's in a relationship. You just can't control yourself and have to say such shameless logic!"

Her words hit his heart badly.

"If I could touch you, do you think this would happen?" His eyes turned a little red.

Elaine couldn't believe her ears. She covered her mouth and chuckled softly, "What? You promised not to touch me before we get married, and now you cheat on me? Chris, I've never seen such a shameless person like you. Stop pretending a gentleman. Besides Crystal, you have other women outside. If I take you back, I'll feel disgusted at the thought that I have to share you with so many women!"

Infidelities had nothing to do with times.

She suddenly realized that even they had dated for three years, this man looked strange to her.

Chris didn't expect her knew that he had other women besides her.

Indeed, after breaking up with Elaine, he was depressed and kept an ambiguous relationship with a few women. But this was all to temporarily forget her, he just wanted to have fun.

At the thought of this, he felt a stream of sadness. He remembered the efforts he had made to be her boyfriend and the sweet time they had spent in the past three years.

When did it start to change? Was it when he accepted his family's company?

At that time, in order to prove his ability to give Elaine a better life, he worked hard to make the Lakey Group bigger.

Later on, he did improve himself. Meanwhile, there were more temptations around him.

His heart seemed to be tightly gripped by a big hand, and the pain made him tremble with every breath he took.

He tried to calm himself down, and Elaine was impatient obviously.

She turned around and walked towards her room.

There was a trace of panic flashing through his eyes. He quickly stepped forward and grabbed her wrist. He said pleadingly, "Come back to me, okay? I promise I won't do it again. I'll give you all my money and report you my moves, okay?" We'll get married at the end of the year. We'll hold the wedding at your school and let everyone witness our happiness.?"

These beautiful fantasies she had made broken her heart. Her pretty face turned pale and her body trembled slightly. She withdrew her hand coldly. "These are no longer meaningful to me, Chris. I don't want to love you anymore, and I don't want to be your bride anymore."

Wasn't it too late to pretend to be affectionate now?

Hearing her last words, Chris was so angry that his face turned ferocious. He pulled Elaine against the wall and asked, "Then whose bride do you want to be? Is it the man who answered the phone last time? You refused to forgive me no matter what, because you have already found a new boyfriend, right?"

Seeing him face to face, Elaine showed no panic. She calmly said, "I don't know what you're talking about. But I'm definitely not as shameless as you."

"I am shameless? Very well, I'll let you experience what shamelessness is now! Don't worry, I'll be gentle."

At this point, Chris grabbed her arm roughly. Before she could react, he pushed open the door and walked in.

Elaine bit his hand hard, the pain causing him to shake her away.

At this moment, she ran out of the room and shouted, "Dad! Chris..."

Before she could finish the word, Chris had rushed over like crazy and covered her mouth. No matter how hard she struggled, he forcefully dragged her back to the bedroom and locked the door.

In the narrow bedroom, Elaine was pushed onto the bed by him cruelly. She saw a tall figure falling down.

His lips fell on hers. Elaine struggled and reached out to scratch Chris' neck.

Chris gasped in pain and covered his neck. Blood slowly flew down on his neck.

"You really hit me hard, Elaine. Unfortunately, I won't let you go today!"

He smiled evilly with his eyes full of madness and craziness.

Then, he raised her arms above her head and kissed her again. His legs pressed against her knees to prevent her from the struggle.

She was so scared and escaped his lips. She struggled to say, "Chris Lakey! Are you crazy?!"

"Yes! I'm fucking crazy! I'm only crazy about you, Elaine Curd!"

While saying, he took off her shirt cruelly.

Chris gazed at her directly and he could feel the desire of wanting her.

In the past, their close contacts were only kisses and touching her through the clothes at the most. He never thought that under the clothes, there was such a beautiful and amazing body.

Elaine tensed up and her clear eyes filled with tears. She tried her best to scream, "Help! Mmm..."

The words were barely finished. Chris covered her mouth instantly.

Chapter 38

Seeing Eliane's struggle, Chris's handsome face darkened, and it became even more ferocious. "You'd better save some strength to moan! Baby, you'll like this feeling!"

Then, he bent down again, and his thin lips moved downwards. Loosening his hand that was covering her mouth, Chris pulled off her clothes.

Elaine trembled uncontrollably, her little face turned extremely pale, and her eyes were filled with despair. "No, no! Chris, get out!"

"Ding-a-ling..."

All of sudden, an urgent ringtone came out of his pocket.

Chris stopped unbuckling his belt and impatiently took out his phone, about to throw it out. He caught a glimpse of the screen and paused.

Why did the family call him now?

Confused, Chris glanced at Elaine under his control and sternly warned, "If you dare to make a sound, you will regret it!"

Then, he tapped "answer", "Hello."

"Chris, hurry to SHS Hospital! Dad had been sent here because of a sudden heart attack!"

There came an anxious and tearful female voice.

The man's stern look soon disappeared.

After finishing the call, he quickly loosened his grip on Elaine. Without caring about his messy clothes, he got up and dashed towards the door in a panic.

Seeing Chris leave, Elaine sat up in shock, then quickly put on her clothes, picked up her phone, and stumbled out of the room.

She was about to dial the alarming number with her trembling hands, but she hesitated and stood still at the stairs in a daze as if she had thought of something.

Even if Elaine called the police, she had no evidence to prove that Chris was going to rape her. It would be even worse if the powerful Chris fought back and frame Elaine. Moreover, Elaine was filming the Arrival of the Empress now. If the news was revealed, it would definitely have a bad impact on her, which made it difficult for her to survive in the entertainment circle.

Thinking of it. Elaine stiffly withdrew her fingers.

She took a deep breath, calmed herself down, and walked downstairs.

In the kitchen, the sound of pots and pans colliding came. A tall man stood in front of the sink, busy washing the dishes.

Elaine was slightly surprised, then approached the figure quickly. "Dad, Let me do this. You'd better have a rest."

Hearing the voice, Ivan looked back. "Elaine, why did Chris leave with such a worried look?"

At the mention of Chris, Elaine could not help recalling the thrill that had just occurred in the room. Looking awkward, she replied. "I have no idea. Something seems to have happened to his family."

Just now, Elaine vaguely heard that it was about Chris's father and the hospital.

"Did you two quarrel?" Ivan asked hurriedly.

Elaine put on her apron, stood in the other sink, and began to wash the dishes. Hearing the question, she replied casually, "Dad, tell you the truth. Chris and I have broken up."

Astonished, Ivan asked in a loud voice, "Break up?"

"Well, it happened a few days ago. I planned to tell you as you came back, but I didn't expect Chris to follow me."

So Elaine didn't announce it in order to preserve peace.

Ivan frowned thoughtfully. "What happened? Don't you two love each other?"

Ivan clearly knew how much his daughter liked Chris. Something wrong must have happened!

"I don't like him now, so we broke up."

Elaine answered perfunctorily and pretended to say casually, "Don't worry, I'm fine. You don't have to worry about me. I'm taking on a role in a drama now, which serves as a step forward in the entertainment industry. Next, I'll earn more money to support you!"

The last sentence sounded like a joke, but it was actually Elaine's long-lasting dream.

Seeing that she was reluctant to explain more, Ivan stopped asking her, sighed softly and patted her on the shoulder. "If you have any grievances, tell me, okay?"

"Yes, I know."

Issac was on the top floor of Prosperous Mansion.

"Mr. Tort, the share prices under the Lakey Group have all plummeted."

In the quiet and bright office, Ian pushed the door open with excitement with a newly printed document in his hand.

The pair of slender hands suddenly stopped typing, and a meaningful smile appeared after the corners of the thin lips were curled up. "Excellent."

Ian handed the information to Issac and reported, "Besides, I just received news that Nathan had a sudden heart attack and was sent to the hospital for emergency treatment."

"Well."

Issac nodded calmly and skimmed the stock market statistics on the paper.

Issac hadn't planned to trouble the Lakey group, but it was so eyesore that Issac must take action.

As a result, Issac invested some money these days to create turmoil in the stock market.

As expected, the Lakey Group nearly went bankrupt, which frustrated Chris's father and made him in hospital.

In the next stage, the Lakey Group would have to seek investment, and the Prosperous Group would definitely be their target, which would make it more interesting.

Seeing that Issac had no other instructions, Ian said, "Mr. Tort, the information about Crystal you asked me to find last time has already been sent to your email yesterday. You..."

"Yes, I've read it."

Crystal, the signed model of Phoenix Shadow Media, was currently Chris's girlfriend.

was curr

Hehe, Crystal was a nobody who had hooked up with the wealthy man by virtue of her appearance and dirty tricks.

Thinking of it, Issac looked up at Ian nearby. "Book a private room of PT Club. Then contact Phoenix Shadow Media and say that the Prosperous Group wants to cooperate with them and invite them to go to PT Club tonight."

"Yes."

At this moment, in the hospital filled with the smell of disinfectant, a group of well-dressed people were standing outside the operating room, looking nervous and uneasy.

"How's it going?"

Chris rushed to his family in a dusty state.

Seeing him, Chris's mother Vanessa leaned against Chris sadly, grabbed his shirt, and cried bitterly, "Where did you go?"

Chris looked down guiltily and patted her on the back. "Mom, don't cry. How's my dad now?"

A trace of melancholy flashed in Vanessa's eyes. "He's still in the operating room."

Chris frowned slightly, then helped Vanessa to a chair. "Why? Dad can't have a heart attack for no reason."

Chapter 39

Hearing these words, Vanessa was tearful and could not say a word.

Brianna picked up a handkerchief to wipe her tears away and looked into Chris, "Company's shares suddenly plummeted without warning. Dad was unconscious since he noticed the share prices and was stimulated, and we sent him here."

"All plummeted?"

Chris asked in shock.

"Yes." Brianna nodded heavily and asked cautiously, "is the company going bankrupt?"

Chris was a little angry and immediately cast a sharp look at his sister. "Don't talk nonsense!"

After taking over the company with a lot of effort, he had improved its performance and now had to tide it over.

Seeing Chris coming, a few middle-aged men in suits and leather shoes, the most experienced department managers, walked over.

"Mr. Lakey, the company."

Before he could finish speaking, Chris immediately made a gesture of silence and pointed to the end of the corridor. "Let's go aside and talk."

Chris had to take care of his mother and decided to deal with matters about the company alone.

At night, Elaine lay on the bed tiredly after finishing her work.

She felt uneasy when recalling what happened during the day.

Fortunately, she caught the chance to leave when Chris had a phone call.

Although her father wouldn't let Chris come over again, she wondered what she should do if she met Chris next time.

Elaine shivered in fear and took out a bottle of pepper spray from the drawer.

She thought it was useful.

Then, she stuffed the spray into her bag and inadvertently caught a glimpse of a document exposed.

She found it was the contract with ZC Entertainment!

Elaine took out the contract and clutched it to her chest.

She didn't read the contract carefully because when Mr. Larney of ZC Entertainment gave it to her, she stuffed it into her bag for she was in a hurry to film.

Elaine pondered the terms of the contract for a while and looked at the pen not far away.

As an unknown new actress, she had no agent and was bullied. And sometimes, she may even lose the movie roles she had already landed.

The thought of Crystal made Elaine angry.

After hesitating for a while, she signed her name neatly on the contract.

Then, she took out the business card from her bag and dialed the number on it.

"What? I heard that Prosperous Group and Phoenix Shadow Media are here tonight to discuss business affairs?"

In the brightly lit box, Thomas was staring at Isaac gloomily.

Thomas didn't expect that his friends were negotiating with his rival company when he came here for fun.

"Well, just cooperation affairs."

Issac took a leisurely sip of the wine.

Thomas was angry. "You're betraying your friend! Do you know that in the past two years, ZC Entertainment has been competing with Phoenix Shadow Media! Why is the Prosperous Group going to get involved on both sides now! I'm really disappointed in you!"

Although Phoenix Shadow Media was not as influential and financially powerful as ZC Entertainment, it had been developing rapidly in the past two years and had signed several new celebrities and big shots in the entertainment industry.

Issac glanced at Thomas indifferently. "There is no conflict between investing in ZC Entertainment and this affair. Besides, it's just a small-scale cooperation. It won't affect ZC Entertainment or anything."

"What cooperation?" Thomas asked curiously.

Issac casually put down his glass and answered as he took out his phone, "Half of the billboards Outside Prosperous Mansion will be replaced by the Phoenix Shadow Media for a week."

Thomas spat out the red wine he had drunk, "Poof! What? Why you're so generous?! What's the point of doing this?"

"You don't have to know that," Issac replied.

He looked at a number in the address book.

Thomas shook his head helplessly. "Awesome. Your billboards in Prosperous Mansion are all for your own use. Suddenly, half of them are given to Phoenix Shadow Media. Are you crazy?"

Ian also thought so.

Thomas reached out to touch Issac's forehead.

Thomas stopped when Issac who was on the phone immediately cast a warning look.

The next moment, Issac frowned slightly when nobody answered his phone.

Issac wondered why.

Thomas noticed that his phone on the table was vibrating.

He picked up his phone to answer.

"Hello, is Mr. Larney from ZC Entertainment?" A woman said in a pleasant voice.

Thoma answered. "Yes, I am."

"Hello, I'm Elaine who play the role of Barbie Saffel in the The Arrival of the Empress. I wonder if I'm disturbing you now?"

Thomas was shocked and quickly looked at Issac and deliberately replied loudly. "Elaine?!"

Issac looked at Thomas, as he expected.

Elaine had to answer, "Yes, that's right."

Just as Thomas was about to speak again, Issac grabbed his phone and turned on the speaker quickly.

"Mr. Larney?"

Seeing that he was silent, Elaine called out in confusion.

Thomas quickly replied, "Oh, sorry, continue."

He looked at Issac who was standing beside him with a cold face.

Thomas didn't know how to do.

"Okay. Mr. Larney, after consideration, I decided to join ZC Entertainment."

She finally replied.

Then, Issac didn't frown.

Hearing her words, Issac thought that he could look after her in the future.

Thomas was excited. "Well, that's great! Welcome. Come to the headquarter of ZC Entertainment tomorrow afternoon and we'll talk about it in detail"

"Okay." She said.

After a few simple words, Thomas ended the call under Issac's oppressive gaze.

"Look, your wife now belongs to us, the ZC Entertainment! Hurry up and work together!" Thomas said.

Issac ignored him and said, "Arrange an experienced female agent for her."

Thomas propped up his chin and pondered, "The experienced female agents are too busy. How about an experienced male agent, who was not popular with other entertainers. The two people he is in charge of are on vacation, so he can help Elaine. What do you think?"

"No." Issac glanced at him and said coldly.

Thomas shuddered involuntarily and added, "He is gay..."

Issac walked out of PT Club. Ian drove the car to his side and got out of the car to open the door for her, (This novel will be daily updated at)"Mr. Tort, are you going back to Splendid Villa?"

Issac got on the car, "Yes. Take the contract with Phoenix Shadow Media back to the company and put it away."

"Yes."

Ian drove the dark Maserati away from PT Club.

Issac took out his phone and called Elaine.

Elaine answered the phone soon, "Hello, Mr. Tort."

When he heard her beautiful voice, Issac said in a tender voice, "Haven't you gone to bed?"

Elaine halted wiping her hair, "No. I just took a shower. What's wrong? Why do you call me?"

Issac asked, "Does your father go home?"

Elaine said, "Yes."

Issac asked, "Did he find anything?"

Elaine said, "Not yet. I told him that I broke up with Chris."

After she finished speaking, she vaguely heard the sound of cars. She asked, "Are you outside now?"

Issac lazily opened his eyes and glanced at Ian. He said, "Yes. I just finished my work. I am on my way home."

"Okay. Have a good rest. Don't smoke or drink all the time."

It was just casual concern, but a smile touched Issac's lip, "Okay. Do you have any good news?"

He indicated her.

"Good news?"

Elaine raised her eyebrows. She seemed to think of something and said, "I have a piece of good news. I'll work in ZC Entertainment!"

She would not be alone. She would work in the company.

She was so joyful. Issac was also happy and said, "Really? Congratulations, sweetie."

Ian was shocked when he found that Issac was so tender when he called at the back seat.

The day before yesterday, Issac looked gloomy and smashed his phone when he received Elaine's call. (This novel will be daily updated at)He drank a lot in Night Light Bar. But now he called her as if nothing happened!

Love was so terrific...

Crystal, who dress elegantly, heard the news in a luxurious apartment the next morning. She turned ferocious and swept everything on the table to the ground.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

The things fell to the ground. It was in a mess.

“Why? The company promised to give me good resources, but canceled my activities for nearly a month and didn’t allow me to take other jobs by myself. They also asked me to wait for their news at home. Why?”

“I don’t know.” Andy, her agent, was distressed.

What was wrong with her? Everything did go well after her debut. Her agent hoped that she could get better resources with the help of her sponsor. In the end, her job was taken by her competitor.

And the notice of the company just meant that she would not the opportunity to hit.

Crystal scratched her hair irritably, “Andy, help me get more resources! You worked for several entertainers before. The senior will take your advice!”

Andy sneered and lit a cigarette. He smoked and said, “Do you think I did nothing? I tried my best, but they didn’t change their mind. They ask you to wait at home but don’t arrange activities for you. I can do nothing.”

Crystal frowned in confusion, “I didn’t offend anyone in the company! I can do any work. Why do they make the arrangement and only target me?”

She felt uneasy.

“Let’s wait and see. You signed the contract with Phoenix Shadow Media. They won’t make their models and entertainers idle. Or they will lose.”

And then Andy slowly stood up.

Before she left, she reminded Crystal, “If I were you, I would use what I have to compete in Phoenix Shadow Media.”

Bang!

It was not until the door was closed that Crystal understood. She had a glimmer of hope in her eyes.

What did she have? Was it Chris?

“That’s all. If you have any questions or you are not satisfied, don’t hesitate to tell Mr. Wackerman.”

Thomas briefly told Elaine her work in the spacious and bright office. (This novel will be daily updated at)And then he looked at the capable young man. He called jokingly.

Mr. Wackerman was Elaine's agent in ZC Entertainment. He was Edward, a gay.

Elaine nodded, "I see. I understand all and I am satisfied"

"I hope to have a good cooperation with you."

Thomas reached out his hand in a friendly manner with a mysterious smile.

She was Issac's wife and his employee. Issac would be good to ZC Entertainment.

"The same to you."

They shook hands and let go.

Thomas put one hand in his pocket gracefully and patted Edward on the shoulder with the other hand. "Mr. Wackerman, show Miss Curd around the company."

Edward nodded and gestured, "Okay. Miss Curd, please follow me."

"Okay."

They walked out of Thomas's office one after another. Thomas took out his phone and called Issac.

(This novel will be daily updated at)Issac was carefully reviewing the proposal submitted on the top floor of Prosperous Mansion in B City.

In the end, he looked gloomy.

Seeing his reaction, Ian was nervous.
