Chapter

Chapter 5

"Why aren't you as rational as when Dennis left abruptly? Even if you were cheated on by a scumbag, you can't give up on yourself, Elaine!"

Kelly knocked on the table and shouted, almost out of control. The customers around heard the loud voice and looked over.

"Shh!"

Elaine mentioned Kelly to calm down and then smiled apologetically at the people around.

"Keep your voice down. I'm regretting it now."

Kelly sighed heavily and said worriedly, "Hurry up to divorce that man. It's serious!"

Elaine nodded, answering in a low voice. "Got it."

"Well, did Chris contact you after that?"

Elaine was dazed, glancing at the phone on the table with a trace of sadness in her eyes. "I don't know. I blacklisted him after leaving the hotel that night."

Yesterday, Elaine had been so tired that she lay still in the dormitory all day. The scene of Chris with another woman frequently appeared in her dream.

Elaine really couldn't believe that her gentle and affectionate boyfriend, who had been dating her for three years, cheated on her...

"Well done! Never talk with him. He's disgusting. You've been together for so long, and I was confused why he could resist the desire to sleep with you. It turns out that he has found a coquettish mistress outside!" Kelly said indignantly.

Elaine moved up the corners of her mouth, forming a faint smile. "Don't mention him, Kelly."

Meanwhile, Elaine caught a glimpse of a gorgeous figure who entered the water bar from the corner of her eye, and her smile froze on her face.

Even though the woman was wearing sunglasses, Elaine could recognize that the woman was the one in Chris's bed the night before yesterday!

“What are you looking at?”

Seeing Elaine looking elsewhere in a daze, Kelly followed her line of sight in confusion. When Kelly eyed the lady, her pupils shrank. “The mistress!”

Walking to the front desk and ordering a cold drink, Crystal glanced at the people nearby and met their hostile look.

A trace of surprise flashed across her eyes, then Crystal got close to them with a smug and confident smile.

Elaine’s body tensed up unconsciously, and her little face turned pale.

“What a coincidence.”

Crystal stopped at their table and took off her sunglasses, revealing her seductive eyes.

Kelly said with apparent disgust. “Tsk! What bad luck!”

Without responding, Crystal gave Elaine a friendly smile. “I’m sorry to give you a sad experience the night before yesterday. You left too fast and we had no time to have a talk.”

At this point, she reached out and elegantly pulled her hair back. After a pause, she continued.

“Chris has been with me for a year. He loves me. I know your relationship with him. Chris has been with you for three years. After he fell in love with me, he was afraid that you wouldn’t be able to accept it, so he didn’t tell you about it. But since you happened to know it, it’s unnecessary for me to hide it. Anyway, you’re so young. Take it easy.”

As an audience, Kelly sneered with her lips curled. “Ha, that’s funny. Happened to? It was you who sent a text message to provoke Elaine!”

Elaine looked gloomy and squeezed out a cold sentence, “What right you have to say it to me?”

Took it easy? They had been together for three years and were about to get married. Now everything was ruined! How could she take it easy?

“Right?”

Crystal raised her eyebrows slightly, then smiled faintly, lowered her head to play with her hair, and replied with a casual air, “For I am his closest bedmate?”

“Bang!”

Unable to resist her irritation, Kelly angrily smashed the glass on the table and scolded, "You little mistress is so fucking shameless! I really can't tell if you were apologizing or showing off for being the third person!"

Crystal smiled disapprovingly. Instead, she looked at Kelly with a look of disgust. "Tsk, tsk, tsk, you are really hot tempered. This is between Miss Curd and me. What does it do with you? Speaking of mistresses, they're just dating, not married. Everyone has a right to pursue true love and compete fairly."

After all, it was not an easy job for Crystal to steal Chris from Elaine, though Elaine was only a college student. But this was also a sign of Crystal's charm, which she was proud of.

"I can't stand it anymore! How shameless you are!"

After saying this, Kelly suddenly stood up, grabbed Crystal's hair, and quickly slapped her hard on the face.

"Slap!"

The crisp slap sounded abrupt in the cold drink shop, and Crystal's sunglasses fell to the ground.

Other customers were dumbfounded, including Elaine.

Elaine knew well that Kelly was hot-tempered, but she did not expect Kelly to take up the cudgel on behalf of her.

"How dare you hit me!"

Crystal came to her senses with her hand covering her right face. Then, without asking Kelly to take her hand off her head, Crystal picked up the cup, about to smash it on Kelly's head.

Seeing this, Elaine quickly stepped forward to stop them. "Kelly, let it go. Leave her alone."

Elaine snatched the cup from Crystal's hand and stood between them, trying to separate them.

The people in the store had no idea what was going on among them, so they didn't stop their fight. Instead, some indifferent onlookers even picked up their phones and recorded the scene.

Seeing Elaine was in the way and persuading her friend, Crystal was furious and pushed Elaine away.

Elaine was pushed so hard that her waist hit the corner of the table and she gasped in pain. "Hiss~~"

Then, Crystal's soft and angry voice came, "Elaine, why are you pretending to be innocent?! Why are you pretending to be weak and nice? It seems that I'm bullying you and you have no choice but to swallow the insult!"

With no mood to continue fighting with Crystal, Kelly quickly went up to check Elaine's condition.

"Elaine, are you okay? Are you hurt?"

"I'm fine."

Elaine shook her head, looked up into Crystal's eyes, and finally responded to the exhausted love for Chris, "Miss Talty? Please don't show off in front of me. The fact that I remained silent just now doesn't mean I'm weak and a coward. I just don't want to have anything to do with a third party like you. If you want Chris, just take him. I'm a neat freak, and I won't accept a man who is unfaithful"
