

Chapter 1086

Ann rolled her eyes.

“Newborn babies are only this small, weren’t you the same when you were little?”

Kyozawa was even more surprised at the news.

He had a high IQ, but he was still young and didn’t understand a lot of the common sense stuff about common sense.

There is even less to almost no experience in life.

Therefore, it was simply amazing to her that there were children so young in the world.

But since Ann had witnessed his birth, Ann was able to accept that fact.

The two children were picking up next to the cot, looking left and right, as if they couldn’t get enough of it.

The little competitor also reached out to poke his sister’s face in curiosity, and drew back in shock immediately after feeling the incredibly soft touch.

The baby in the rocking blue deflated with discontent, like it was about to cry, but it was too sleepy, so it went back to sleep.

They watched for a while longer, then Jenny called over.

“Well, you two should stop disturbing your siblings’ sleep and come over here and play!”

Both children were quite obedient and didn’t refuse to go over and sit down.

Jenny Jing looked at the two of them as they were well behaved and felt only satisfaction in his heart.

Then, suddenly, Ann spoke.

"Mommy, have you gotten your siblings' names yet?"

Jenny was stunned, and only then did she remember, because the child had been born in a hurry and hadn't been named yet.

She shook her head, "Not yet, why, do you have an idea?"

Ann's eyes lit up and said, "Well, will you let me name my siblings?"

Before she could finish her sentence, she was interrupted by Biden Lu, who had just walked in from outside.

"Think about it, I haven't even taken it yet, when is it your turn?"

Because of the special circumstances of Ann's birth, she was given a straightforward Lu Jing'an, which was taken by the old lady, who wanted her to grow up quietly and healthily.

And when little Jingze was born, he was given his name by Master Lu.

So don't look at the child is two, Biden Lu himself hasn't really given the child a name yet.

Now that the two little babies were born, the old man didn't interfere anymore.

He would not let go of the opportunity that was so hard to vacate.

Ann's small mouth flattened at that, looking like a boss who was upset.

Jenny Jing couldn't help but laugh, but didn't want to disappoint the child, so he compromised and said, "How about this, your daddy takes your younger siblings' first names and you give them their second names, okay?"

Ann's eyes lit up again at the news.

"Yes, yes, I'd give them nicknames."

She's a good eye-catcher and knows that an arm can't twist a thigh, so she won't force it.

Just then, however, little competitor added to the mix.

"I want me too!! I'm going to name my younger siblings too!"

Ann was usually quite conceding to her brother in other matters, but this time the right was something she had fought hard for, so dang it.

"No!! I was the one who first said I'd take it, you didn't, so you've lost that opportunity."

Little Kindred was usually good at other things, yet this time it was about his younger siblings, and all of a sudden he refused to let go.

"Why not me? I have to take it too, or my sister will take it without me, and my siblings will dislike me later."

Little Competeze looked like he was so sad that he was laughing at the people next to him.

Seeing that the two children were about to fight, Jenny was busy making rounds and smiled: "Alright, alright, let's do it this way: if you don't want to give your brother the name of An An, then little Jing Ze will give it to your sister, how about it?"

One for each of you, fair and square, and no one should take it from anyone, okay?"

The two children sniffed and looked at each other.

Little Competeze's ebony eyes were begging for more, and Ani was still heartbroken for her brother in the end.

Therefore, there was no more insistence.

With a snort, he said, "Fine, in that case, I'll let you have this opportunity."

Little Competeze then smiled with joy and hugged and k*ssed Ann.

"Thank you sister."

After agreeing on a name, the two children sat off to the side to think of names.

And at this time, Biden Lu also brought a small book over.

The face that was originally serious towards the children immediately changed when it was directed at Jenny.

Putting on a smiling face, he said, "Honey, look here are some names I've proposed, which one do you like?"

Jenny picked it up and looked at it.

There were a dozen names listed on the top of the paper, and each one was beautiful and meaningful.

Finally, she selected two of them and pointed.

"Just these two."

Biden Lu craned her neck to look over, only to see that one she was referring to was Lu Tian Yu and the other was Lu Tian Jiao.

It just sounds so overbearingly harsh.

Biden Lu couldn't help but smile, cupping Jenny Jing's face and k*ssing her on the cheek.

"Honey, you're exactly as I thought you would be, and my favorite of the two."

The name Lu Tianyu was fine, but the name Lu Tianjiao was actually a bit earthy when he first heard it, he subconsciously thought.

But then I thought about it, isn't his daughter the proud daughter of heaven?

He was born to be arrogant and generous. What's wrong with calling Lu Tianjiao?

After Biden Lu and Jenny Jing had decided on the name, they took it to the old man and old lady.

The old couple were also happy with the name, so the two little ones' names were settled on.

Soon, Ann and Little Competeze had their children's nicknames as well.

Because my brother had a red mole on his earlobe that looked like a tiny little ruby.

So Ann gave him the nickname, Little Gem.

And one of my sister's eyes was curved like the moon, so my sister's nickname was Little Moon.

Two kids, one jeweled and jade and one bright as a moon, both sound pretty good.

Jenny was satisfied.

As soon as the name was chosen, Quexu and Mo Caiwei came over.

Mo Caiwei purposely stewed a tonic soup that nourished the blood and added some herbs provided by Quexu, which were also beneficial to the maternal body and could strengthen the body.

As soon as they entered the room, they smiled and said, "I hear you guys are so busy inside, what were you talking about?"

Jenny then smiled and told her about the name she had just chosen, and Mo Caiwei's eyes lit up.

"That's a good name, and it's especially blessed when you hear it."

Jenny laughed, as Biden Lu stood up.

"Mom, come sit over here, closer to Jenny, it's easier to talk."

Although he also wanted to stay with Jenny twenty-four hours a day, he also knew that at times like this, there was more to talk about between Jenny and a woman like Mo Caiwei.

Mo Caiwei wasn't polite and sat right over.

Chapter 1087

After sitting over, the two women shake hands and talk happily.

The conversation was about nothing more than children and families and whatnot.

Mo Caiwei was different from Jenny, she was a housewife with few opinions.

Gentle in nature, traditional in outlook, everything in life follows the principle that a man is God.

If not for that, they wouldn't have been eaten to death by those two sc*mbags Kevin Jing and Kelly Wang in the first place.

In the past, Jenny actually didn't understand her.

She didn't understand why her mother hadn't resisted when her father had sc*mmed up to this point.

But then she had a child of her own, and it seemed that gradually she could understand her mother's heart in the first place.

She was lucky to have met a good man like Gu Jingchen.

So after the marriage, there was hardly ever any wrongdoing.

But not everyone in this world can be so lucky.

More people, however, are like a perfectly ordinary person, with grievances and joys.

Although sometimes the bitterness may be more, most of it is just tolerated in order to be able to provide a complete home for the child.

As long as the other person isn't doing too much, for the sake of the child, everything can be left alone.

Although Jenny couldn't disagree with that notion until now.

But just because you refuse to agree with it doesn't mean you can't understand it.

Because sometimes she asked herself, if she were to stand in Mo Caiwei's shoes, she might not be able to do better than Mo Caiwei.

Now, the Jing family is gone, and Mo Caiwei has a new life of her own.

That's actually pretty good.

Jenny sighed in her heart, but Mo Caiwei didn't know what she was thinking.

Mo Caiwei laughed, "After talking for a while, I've forgotten about the main matter."

She said, patting herself on the head, getting up and walking away to get the thermos from the cupboard.

"Jenny, this is a tonic soup that I personally made, it also contains many things suitable for women who have just finished giving birth, it's all prescriptions that your Uncle Que has personally prepared, drink more of it and take care of your vitality."

Jenny laughed, "Mom, you're not afraid of making me fat if you fill me up like this."

She's actually quite worried about her postpartum body being out of shape.

Unexpectedly, Mo Caiwei glared at her.

"I'm warning you, you've only just had a baby, this time it's still a C-section, your body is weakening, don't be tempted to try to lose weight or anything, is thinness and beauty important to your health? What can you do without a healthy body?"

Jenny was trained by her for no reason, so she didn't touch her nose.

Somewhat helpless and amused, "Okay, okay, I'll do whatever you want, I'll drink, okay?"

When Mo Caiwei saw her promise, that's when she was satisfied and handed over the ladled soup.

Jenny took the bowl and drank slowly.

I have to say that Mo Caiwei's craft is really as good as ever.

It's obviously a great tonic soup, but it doesn't make you feel greasy and stuffy at all, smelling only a faint fragrance.

When you drink it in your mouth, you can even feel a hint of sweetness.

Those who know are having soup, but those who don't know think they're having some kind of drink.

Such a soup changed Jenny's previous illusion about all the various greasy and tonic things that she ate during the month of sitting.

Because the soup tasted really good, Jenny drank three bowls in one go before stopping.

It was just embarrassing, probably because she'd had too much soup, and she felt a rush of internal stress as soon as she put the bowl down.

Hmmm....Want to go to the bathroom.

Mo Caiwei didn't know that she wanted to go to the bathroom, and was happy to see that she'd had so much soup and was babbling to her about her family.

It wasn't until she unexpectedly turned around and saw Jenny's face in some pain covering her stomach that she was so frightened that she ran over.

"Jenny, what's wrong with you? Is it somewhere uncomfortable?"

Mo Caiwei was nervous as hell.

After all, it's hard not to think elsewhere when you just drank her soup and now you're covering your stomach.

Jenny laughed awkwardly.

"Mom, I'm fine, I'm just...It's a bit of an internal emergency and I need to use the bathroom."

Mo Caiwei was stunned at the news, then relieved.

"So you want to go to the bathroom, so wait a minute, I'll call the nurse right over."

Jenny was delivered by cesarean section, which is a little harder and slower to recover from than a normal birth.

So now, while still recovering from her bedridden injuries, she needs a professional caregiver to help her go to the bathroom and such.

Even though Mo Caiwei could help her over, she wasn't a professional and wasn't strong enough, but she was still afraid that she would hurt Jenny.

Mo Caiwei got up and went outside.

Unexpectedly, just as they reached the door, they ran into Biden Lu who walked in from outside.

Seeing Mo Caiwei and Jenny chatting happily just now, Biden Lu didn't want to disturb their mother and daughter chatting, so he went out.

When she came in now, she saw Mo Caiwei looking panicked and headed outside, and couldn't help but ask, "Mom, what's wrong?"

Mo Caiwei said, "Jenny needs to go to the bathroom, I'll go call the nurses over for her."

Vladimir Fu was stunned and laughed at once.

"There's a bell in the ward, so you can just ring it if you want to call the carer, you don't have to come out and call."

It was only when he said that that Mo Caiwei reacted.

Yes, she was in such a hurry that she forgot the bell.

Mo Caiwei was embarrassed and amused at the same time.

Biden Lu, however, did not stop any longer and strode inside.

Placing the things in his hands, he walked over to the bed and picked up Jenny.

Jenny was shocked by his actions and asked, "What are you doing?"

At the same time, hands subconsciously gripped his collar tightly.

Biden Lu's movements were careful, avoiding her wounds almost perfectly, and smiled, "Didn't you have to go to the bathroom? I'll carry you."

When he said that, Jenny's face reddened.

"No, no, I'll go by myself."

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows.

"You can yourself?"

Jenny: "....."

This man, he's clearly bullying her into not being able to right now!

"I'll wait for the nurses to come."

"Don't bother the caregiver with this kind of thing, I'll just carry you later."

Although the caregiver was also a woman, Biden Lu still didn't really like having people see Jenny Jing go to the bathroom.

Where would Jenny not know what the man was thinking, so ashamed that her face was almost buried in her chest.

And at the door, as Mo Caiwei was about to return, she heard Biden Lu's words, and a happy smile appeared on her face.

Nor did he want to embarrass Jenny here, so he went out first.

Biden Lu carried Jenny Jing to the bathroom and placed her carefully on the toilet.

Jenny was looking straight at him like that, where could he get on?

With a reddened face, he said, "You go out first."

Biden Lu raised his eyebrows, actually a little uneasy.

Chapter 1088

Jenny added, "I'll call you when I'm better."

Seeing her look like she was so shy, Biden Lu smiled dumbly.

"Okay, well, be careful and call me when you're ready."

"Well."

Biden Lu opened the door and went out.

About three minutes later, Jenny's shy voice came from inside.

"I'm good."

Only then did he open the door and go in again, fixing her clothes and carrying her out again.

Jenny was lying in bed when the little baby in the crib woke up.

Biden Lu then took them out and followed Jenny Jing's instructions to change their diapers and feed them.

The children were young and twins, and Jenny couldn't feed them alone.

That's why they are fed half breast milk and half formula.

The good news is that both little ones are in good health and hold their bottles so tightly that sometimes even Jenny can't break them.

In the past two days, Master Lu and Old Mrs. Sham have also been coming over every day.

Look at the little great-grandchildren on one hand, and look at Jenny on the other.

The old lady knew that Jenny had worked hard this time, and specially bought a very large coral tree to put in Maple Bridge Villa.

It means presenting peace, and I hope that Jenny will recover quickly and that the children will grow up healthy and well.

Jenny was naturally happy.

On the third day, Nina Hua also came.

Originally Nina Hua was going to come over to accompany Jenny when she gave birth, but she didn't expect Jenny to give birth early.

At that time, Nina Hua was still accompanying Kepler on business abroad, so he couldn't make it back in time.

Now that she's back with great difficulty, it's natural to come to see her godsons and goddaughters firsthand.

Yes, since neither An An nor Xiao Jing Ze could be Nina Hua's godson and goddaughter, after all, at that time, Nina Hua was still worrying about himself and Kepler, and he wasn't in the mood to think about it.

But this time, everything had been settled, and she wouldn't miss it.

Nina Hua bought each of them a pair of pure gold bracelets, not to show off their wealth, but it was just a tradition that all the kids over here had.

There is also a blessing in wearing gold bangles after birth.

Jenny smiled as she sat there teasing the kids, the two little ones waving their chubby little arms to grab the stuffed toy she was hanging in the air.

Not to mention how sweet the scene was.

Just at that moment, Kepler walked in.

Since it was Nina Hua who arrived first, Kepler had gone on business and couldn't make it over in time.

This is the time to come over and just present your gifts to the children.

A gift from the heir of the Jin family is naturally expensive.

Jenny smiled and thanked for the children, Kepler looked around the house and didn't see Biden Lu, so he asked curiously, "Where is Biden Lu?"

"He just had something out."

Biden Lu had been with her all this time, and none of them had gone to deal with work matters.

Now that her condition has basically stabilized and there is nothing to worry about, and with Mo Nan and the nurses accompanying her, and Mo Caiwei and the old ladies coming over often, the ward is not lonely at all, but rather seems a little too crowded.

That's why Biden Lu was relieved to leave for a little while.

Kepler nodded at the words.

Jenny looked at his appearance and guessed, "You want something from him?"

"Well, something's up."

His tone was somewhat curt, and Jenny's heart jumped suddenly for no reason.

A bad feeling rose up.

"In a hurry? You can sit and wait if you're not in a hurry.

He should be back soon."

Jenny said, gesturing to the couch in the living room outside.

The room she was in was a large suite, a super VIP room.

Kynning lives inside in the bedroom, outside in the living room, small kitchen, etc.

Kepler didn't refuse and looked at Nina Hua.

Nina Hua was teasing the child with his back to him, ignoring him and just said, "You go, I'll stay here with my godson and goddaughter."

Kepler was a bit helpless.

Finally, he went outside alone and waited.

After all, Nina Hua could stay in the bedroom with Jenny and the baby, and it was somewhat awkward for him to be there as a grown man.

Fortunately, Biden Lu didn't make him wait too long.

About ten minutes later, it came back.

Upon entering, I was a little surprised to see Kepler sitting on the couch.

"What are you doing here?"

Kepler stood up.

"There's something I need to tell you."

His expression really didn't look like he was about to say anything joyful, Biden Lu thought, nodding his head.

"Okay, when I put my stuff in, we'll talk somewhere else."

He said, and went into the bedroom with the food she liked to eat that he had just bought for Jenny.

At this point, the bedroom.

Nina Hua had already carried the child out of the Shaking Blue.

Little Moon was in her arms, and Little Gem was in Jenny's arms on the bed, the two children giggling at their amusement.

Biden Lu's arrival drew the attention of the children, who all opened their big, beautiful eyes and looked curiously at the door.

When they were first born, Biden Lu was still a bit disgusted with them.

Now a few days have passed and the baby has gone from a red and wrinkled newborn to its current pearly pink appearance.

Biden Lu heart love so much that he walked over and k*ssed one of the two little ones on the face.

Jenny smiled, "Where have you been?"

"Went out to run some errands and stopped by to get you your favorite dessert."

Because Jenny was still sitting on the moon, and the moon meal was too light, Jenny always felt like her mouth was going to fade out of the bird.

Today it was hard to take advantage of the fact that no one was around, begging Biden Lu to buy her something tasty to eat.

Biden Lu was so pestered by her that he quietly asked Quexu in private if eating dessert now would have any effect on the maternal body.

After getting the reply that it was okay to eat a little less of Quezuku, this is when I went to buy it for her personally.

Jenny's eyes lit up when she heard that she had bought dessert.

As he took the things over in high spirits, he heard Biden Lu say, "Kepler is looking for me for something, I have to go out again, you rest for a while, if you need anything, call the nurses, or call me."

In the meantime, Jenny was stunned, remembering Kepler's appearance just now.

"Did something happen? You guys..."

"It's okay, don't worry."

Biden Lu stroked her head reassuringly, while beside her, Nina Hua also advised, "Don't worry about them. Heart out, it's all men's business, let them deal with it."

Jenny was slightly silent for a moment at the words, but in the end, he nodded his head.

"Then be careful."

She tilted her head up to look at Biden Lu, concerned.

Biden Lu's heart was warm and soft, and he pitied her even more, lowering his head and kissing her forehead.

That's when I nodded, "I will."

Afterwards, he turned around and went out.

It was only after the man's figure had completely disappeared outside the door that Jenny Jing Fang curiously tugged on Nina Hua's sleeve.
