

Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 12

Chapter 12

Hearing this, Liam Lu glanced more and more coldly, and the corners of his mouth twitched, as if he had heard a big joke.

Zoey Gu is clean?

“There is no woman in this world who is dirtier than her.”

Shiyue understood what he meant, but felt puzzled.

“But in the past five years, there are only two people who can help you restore your face. One is qualified virgin blood, and the other is not a virgin, as long as the blood in the body meets the requirements.”

“The woman just now is neither a virgin, and you haven’t touched her blood. You just touched her body and you recovered. How can I say this?”

Liam Lu’s complexion was deep, and he looked up in the direction where Zoey Gu had left, and the folds between his brows became deeper.

“This is exactly what I want to know.”

When Zoey Gu came out of the Financial Building, it was raining well.

There seemed to be eyes staring at her all the time in the darkness. As soon as she left the lobby, Lydia Lin called.

“Zoey Gu, you idiot! People were all slumbered by Liam Lu, and he still didn’t nod and promised to let Gu’s family go. Or did you deliberately mess up and said something in his ear that shouldn’t be said?”

“Don’t forget, your old immortal father is still hanging out!”

Zoey Gu was instantly anxious.

“I didn’t! How could Liam Lu hate me so easily?”

Thinking of his father and younger brother, Zoey Gu’s heart suddenly felt a pinch, and tears fell without warning.

“Aunt Lin, even if I beg you, Aunt Lin will give me some more time and let me think of a way?”

There was silence on the phone for a long time, and Lydia Lin’s sneer came again.

“As long as you don’t play tricks, of course I will give you a chance. After all, I still have to take care of your father and younger brother. If you don’t work hard to break Gu’s house, we will die together.”

Snapped.

The other party directly hung up.

Zoey Gu’s hand shook, and the phone suddenly fell to the ground, rolling down the steps into the rain.

呲...

A pair of silver-white vans rushed through the rain at some unknown time, ran over her phone all the way, and stopped steadily in front of her.

The car door opened, and two tall men jumped out of the car, grabbing her arm and dragging into the car.

Zoey Gu didn’t even have time to react, and the person was neatly stuffed into the car.

She stared at the two unfamiliar faces in a daze, dull for a few seconds, and struggling fiercely in an instant.

“Who are you? Where are you taking me? I don’t know you!”

“Let go of me! Or I will report...”

The tall man sitting next to her did not give her a chance at all. Before she finished speaking, he grabbed her scalp and forced her to raise her face, and a rag was pressed against her nose and mouth.

She only smelled a strange scent, and instantly her eyes went black and she lost all consciousness.

In a daze, she could hear the sound of pouring rain outside the window of the car, and the sound of the wheels cutting water waves.

Then, a group of people deliberately lowered their voices.

“We brought people, what to do, you know better than us. As long as this woman can’t die, people can do whatever you want.”

There seemed to be dangling lights and figures all around, freezing to the bones.

Later, her arms and legs were framed.
