Chapter 1311 Formidable Five

Quin West and the others stared at Lucius in shock.

Five burly men fanned out in a row behind him.

Those were his top subordinates, the Formidable Five.

They were Falkner Hall, Hilford Little, Elias McKinsey, Euler Larkin, and Cyrus Tiller.

Other than the Formidable Five, Lucius brought the Eighteen Sages and a large group of elite fighters from the Jordan family.

When Ronan, Quin, and the others saw them approaching, they knew Lucius was prepared to fight until the death.

Among them, Quin had the highest rank.

He was a major of the North Army!

He suppressed his shock and bellowed, "Mr. Jordan, since when have we offended you? Why did you bring such a large team to confront us?”

Ronan agreed, “That’s right! If you want to kill us, at least let us know why!”

Falkner pulled out a chair for Lucius and wiped it with his sleeve.

Lucius calmly took a seat and proclaimed, “My brother is dead.”

Huh? Ronan and the others were perplexed. What has your brother’s death got to do with us?

Lucius explained, “Nathan killed him!”

What? Ronan and the others were bewildered by the news. The general killed someone from the Jordan family?

Even then, Lucius should look for Nathan for revenge. There’s only one explanation for this – his brother’s death has something to do with us.

Ronan stared at Lucius in astonishment.

At the same time, the latter was glaring at him.

Lucius stated coldly, "Nathan blamed your daughter's death on my brother and killed him without any regard for the Jordan family. Therefore, I'll make you and Nathan pay the price."

Linda's face fell and exclaimed, "What did you say? My daughter died? Explain!"

She then charged toward Lucius immediately.

Before she could get close, Falkner kicked her and sent her flying. Linda fell onto the ground and was knocked out.

"Linda!" Ronan cried as he held his wife.

Lucius smirked, "Don't threaten me with Nathan. Others are afraid of him, but I'm not. When my grandfather was the chief of the army, he was still a child! Furthermore, I've wanted to have a showdown with him for a long time now. Looks like I've finally gotten my chance."

Quin was infuriated. Lucius showed no respect for the General at all!

When Ronan saw his wife unconscious, he glowered at Lucius and roared like an angered lion, “Your brother killed my daughter and now you’ve hurt my wife! I’ll kill you!”

The moment Ronan said that, he pounced upon Lucius.

Quin and the others tried to stop him, but they were too late. “Instructor Ronan, don’t!”

The Formidable Five wanted to stop Ronan, but Lucius simply commanded, “Don’t stop him. Let him attack me.”

The Formidable Five ignored Ronan’s actions.

“Die, you bastard!”

Ronan used to be a military combat instructor. Although he had retired for many years, his movements were still agile.

He aimed a punch straight for Lucius’ face.

Lucius then snapped Ronan's wrist.

Lucius landed a strike on Ronan with his palm.

All the bones in Ronan's chest snapped and a part of his chest sunk in. He was sent flying and hit the ground hard while he coughed up blood.

Quin glared at Lucius. "Mr. Jordan, Instructor Ronan is the general's instructor. You'll regret beating him up when the general arrives."

Lucius scoffed, "I don't know the meaning of regret! So what if Nathan arrives? He's the General of the North, but this is the South. He might be on good terms with the commander-in-chief of the South, Zach Hill, but the Hill family and Jordan family have friendly relations! My grandfather used to be Zach's superior. This time, not a single man in the South will interfere with me taking revenge on Nathan. Even if he's here, I'll make sure he kneels in front of me!"

Nathan glanced at Ronan’s and Linda’s injuries and his face fell. His gaze turned cold and stared at Lucius.

When Lucius saw his brother’s killer, he exuded a murderous intent.

The two of them locked eyes as though sparks could fly at any moment.

The Formidable Five and Eighteen Sages stared Colin and the Elite Eight down as well.

Falkner replied, "Roger!"

He was excited and motivated. His opponent was the nation's God of War!

If he took Nathan down, he could gain his title instead!

Falkner was eager to pit his skills against Nathan. If he won, he would be famous in the whole nation, or even the entire world!

Quin interrupted them, "General, Colonel Dunne, this man assaulted the instructor's wife."

Nathan declared, "Colin, back off. He's my kill."

Colin replied, "Sure!"

The latter employed a conventional military combat style that sought to crush his opponent with speed and sheer force.

He did not expect Nathan to be even faster and stronger than he was.

Nathan appeared in front of him in a flash.

It was too late for him to dodge, so he let out a low growl and tackled Nathan head on.

Bam!

Both of them collided with an impact of asteroids and left a ringing in everyone's ears.

Falkner felt like he had rammed against a mammoth. All the bones in his body broke, and he flew back, ramming into a wall.

The wall caved in and Falkner's corpse slowly slid against it, leaving a trail of blood behind.

Huh? The result of a frontal clash was that Falkner was sent flying and broke all his bones? He even died on the spot?

Lucius stared as his eyes widened. The rest of the Formidable Four and Eighteen Sages were flabbergasted.

Falkner was the top of the Formidable Five and the strongest among them.

However, he could not even withstand a single blow from the God of War.

Quin, Colin, Thunderstorm, Waves, the Elite Eight, and the others were filled with admiration and excitement for Nathan.

This is the strength of the God of War!

Even Ronan did a double take.

Nathan noticed his wife was frowning a lot more than usual recently, as though she had run into some problems.

The group split it into two categories — one for local consumption and another for export.

They sold the locally distributed medicine at a low price, such that they were making losses. The aim was to benefit society as much as possible.

However, the exports were sold at exorbitant prices, just like all other medicines.

This way, they could earn a killing from the global market to subsidize the local sales.

However, this form of price discrimination faced a major problem.

Some people bought the Q.Than drug from local liver cancer patients at a price higher than the local market and sold it overseas for profit.

Many local cancer patients sold their drugs to these retailers. After all, they

The group suffered huge losses; it went against their original intentions.

Penny told Nathan the situation and laughed bitterly. "After a thorough investigation, we found a lead that led us to a group of Ariaricans."

Nathan spat, "How dare they resell our drug for profit overseas when our aim is to benefit the locals?"

Nathan ordered a portion of drunken goose and a few other dishes recommended by the chef. He then opened a bottle of white wine to drink with his father-in-law.

During the meal, Nathan told Penny that the matter with Louis had been resolved.

Louis was arrested and would be punished by law soon. He would have to compensate Cross Group a hefty sum.

Nathan told Penny to wait for his good news.

Penny was surprised. "Nathan, you're amazing! The company has sent five waves of men to reason with Louis, including executives and lawyers, but all of them were beaten up by Louis. You actually resolved it immediately!"

Benson and Leah smiled at Nathan. They felt that their son-in-law was outstanding and could solve any problems.

Queenie chuckled, "Daddy's the best!"

Kylie and Frida continued eating silently. They were thinking the same thing. Nathan is the General of the North and the God of War. Of course, he can deal with a few foreigners easily!

The family continued chatting merrily over a meal.

However, this joyous atmosphere would be broken soon.

Several luxury cars and jeeps entered the parking lot near the restaurant.

A group of strong men wearing black got off the vehicles!

These men were quick and efficient. They surrounded the entire restaurant in seconds. Dozens of men wearing black stormed into the restaurant.

The diners stared at them in shock. What are these men after?

The men formed two rows and a bespectacled gentleman with curly hair strode in slowly.

When Frida saw this gentleman, she whispered, "That's Mr. Andy Jordan from Brimmopolis. He's Old Master Jordan's favorite grandson."

In the Jordan family, Lucius exuded his bloodlust outright, but Andy masked it.

Everyone praised Lucius as the rising star of the Jordan family, but in reality, many high-ranking officers and influential men placed their bets on Andy.

He strolled into the restaurant and scanned his surroundings.

He took out a white handkerchief and wiped his lips. "I'm sorry. This restaurant is fully booked. May I trouble you to continue with your meals elsewhere?"

The Heavenly Goose was a famous restaurant in Channing, and all the diners were rich and influential men.

None of these important men would settle for leaving halfway through their meals.

A plump middle-aged man got up and slammed his table. "Who do you think you are? I'm Michael Young, CEO of the Royal Flush Corporation! I'd like to see you try to chase me out!"

Andy smiled. "Mr. Young, I'm Andy from the Jordan family. Have you heard of me? If it's not too much trouble, I hope you can have your meal elsewhere, on my account."

Chapter 1319 Andy Jordan

Michael Young born and raised in Channing and had not heard of a particularly powerful Jordan family in Channing, or even in the whole of the South.

He had not expected Andy to come from Brimmopolis.

He spat, "I've got no idea who you are, you little brat!"

Andy's men were enraged and prepared to strike.

At this point, Andy smiled and took action.

He launched a kick and struck Michael's Chin.

Crack!

Michael's jawbone shattered, but he could not make a sound. He flew across the restaurant, crashing into a nearby table.

He then fell on the floor and lifelessly.

Michael was killed with one kick.

The diners were shocked and quickly got up to leave.

Andy bellowed sternly, "I told you to leave earlier, but you didn't listen. Now, you tell me you want to leave? None of you may go. Sit down and don't move, or you'll end up like this fatso."

The diners had a shocked expression.

Penny's family was worried as well. She held her daughter tightly and covered the girl's eyes from the scene.

She was indignant that Andy was killing rampantly and whispered to Nathan, "Hubby, let's call the police!"

Nathan shook his head, "They're from the Jordans from Brimmopolis. The police can't touch them."

Penny and the others stared at Andy in shock.

When Andy saw that everyone had a fearful expression, he smiled satisfactorily.

That's right. Everyone should tremble in fear before the Jordan family.

Andy glanced at Nathan's family and a dangerous glint flashed across his eyes. He brought his subordinates over and greeted him, "Mr. Cross!"

That was a smart choice.

He did not call Nathan 'General Cross', but 'Mr. Cross'. One could see the Jordan family's intention here.

They wanted to settle this as a personal feud.

Nathan scoffed, "The Jordan family sure has a lot of talented youths. Gary had no regard for the law, Lucius is prideful, and you, Andy, would kill just because someone upset you a little. Who gave your family the right to act this way?"

Andy smiled. "I simply killed a commoner, and Mr. Cross is so angry. You killed one of my brothers and maimed the other. How shall we settle the score then?”

Penny’s family was in shock. They finally realized that Andy was here to take his revenge on Nathan.

Penny felt worried for Nathan, but he was calm. He stated plainly, “Get your grandfather to come himself. I’ve had enough of small fries like you.”

A hint of anger flashed across Andy’s eyes. He sneered, “Let’s find out if I really am small fry, shall we?”

After saying that, he flung a kick toward Nathan.

The latter avoided it casually, resulting in Andy hitting a table leg instead. The stone table smashed into dust.

Some of the debris flew toward Penny and Queenie.

Nathan dashed toward his wife and swept

He glared at Andy. "Looks like I'll have to cripple you to teach you a lesson."
