

Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 133

Pick-sh!t?

Pouring-dung?

Are you kidding me? He is the proud son of heaven, Liam Lu!

Zoey Gu went straight up with a burst of energy and blood, and instantly turned pale. After seeing Mr. Fu's expression clearly and making sure that he was not telling a joke, he instantly raised the volume.

"Mr. Fu, you are too much!"

Not to mention Liam Lu, even she could see that this so-called genius doctor had no intention of saving her from the beginning!

When Liam Lu saw her mad and hated to beat people, the corners of his mouth twitched slightly, he held himself close to her ear, and whispered.

"Zoey, do you love me?"

He made an understatement, as if completely indifferent, and tightened her hand.

"You don't need to do anything, just stand here and wait for me. Huh?"

Where did Zoey Gu see Liam Lu who was so compromised and bent over, his eyes flushed with anger, and he stepped forward and took Liam Lu's hand.

"Don't go."

She stared at him, her voice tinged with crying inexplicably.

"Liam Lu, it's not rare for you to do this for me! The big deal, I won't be cured!"

She raised her eyes to Mr. Fu and said coldly.

"Like this kind of doctor who has bad medical ethics and deliberately finds people happy, I don't expect him to cure me at all."

As she said, she curled her lips mockingly, "It's just a vain name to give the world a guise!"

Mr. Fu squinted his eyes suddenly.

Even if I have seen big winds and waves in my life, I understand that the little girl is just challenging herself and deliberately irritating him. He still frowned displeasably and stood up all at once.

“The girl looks soft and weak, and her mouth is very tricky. Cure! Your arm, I have to cure it!”

He suddenly changed his mind, but he didn't finish speaking.

“But don't forget my rules here. Don't see the doctor easily, and don't treat women and couples. The promise to treat the little girl today is an exception. So now...”

As he said, turning his head to look at Liam Lu, he smiled strangely.

“She stays, you go. You are not allowed to step in here until she recovers. Do you agree?”

Zoey Gu was taken aback for a moment, as if her mind had been short-circuited in an instant, she didn't know how to react, and she subconsciously looked at Liam Lu beside him.

Liam Lu squinted at her for a long while, with complex emotions flashing in his eyes, and looked at Mr. Fu in a low voice.

“Okay, I agree.”

Zoey Gu pursed her lips, her eyelashes trembling lightly.

Knowing that this is the best result.

At this moment, she felt lost inexplicably, and there was also a vague sense of anxiety.

Then, Liam Lu turned around and asked.

“In that case, Mr. Fu should also give me a time limit. When can I return a healthy wife Lu?”

Mr. Fu squinted his eyes and looked at Liam Lu with a sharp gaze, as if he had an insight into the world, he suddenly grinned.

“I advise you to still care about yourself. Since I promised to keep her here, I will naturally give her consideration. When you come, she will be yours. But the premise is...”

“You have to live to take her away...”