

Chapter 137

Then Alyssa listened to Leon and stayed at the old house for lunch.

After careful observation, she found that Kevin was a man with a great sense of life. He would put a bouquet of flowers in a corner of the dining room. Not roses, but the more plain kind of flowers. Although those flowers were not very conspicuous, they were very unique.

Besides, Kevin loved to collect paintings and vases. His villa was elegant and quaint.

Alyssa remembered that besides the Sun Tzu Art of War that she brought over last time, she also collected several books. She could bring them to grandpa for his collection the next time she came.

"Alyssa, what are you thinking about? Do you dislike these dishes? What do you want to eat? I'll have the cook make it right away."

Seeing that Alyssa hadn't eaten anything, Kevin worried that today's lunch was not to her liking.

"Grandpa, I was just a little bit lost in thought. I suddenly remembered that I still have a few books. Although those aren't masterpieces, they are somewhat collectible. I'll bring them to you the next time I come here."

Those books were of little use to her anyway. She just put them in her room.

If Kevin liked them, she would give him all those books to make him happy.

"That would be so kind of you. But what kind of books do you have?" Kevin's eyes lit up. A soft light came out of his eyes.

In his eyes, those books were more valuable than precious gold, silver, and jade.

If he could get more books, he would naturally be happy.

Alyssa thought for a moment, "I really forgot what books I have. However, I remember that I have a copy of the Preface to the Lanting Collection. Those books are all at my house. I'll go back and get them out later. I'll send them over to you in a box."

"Great! Thank you, Alyssa, you know me best."

Kevin was happy when he heard Alyssa's words. Alyssa really knew his stuff.

He had two grandchildren, but neither of them would give him some gifts that he liked. Instead, Alyssa knew what he liked and gave him these things specifically.

He quite liked the Preface to the Lanting Collection, but he never found a better version. After hearing Alyssa's words, he looked forward to those ancient books even more.

Watching Alyssa and Kevin chatting happily, Leon just bowed his head and ate.

Grandpa hadn't been this happy in a long time.

Alyssa was good at making him happy.

Throughout lunch, he had watched Alyssa and grandpa chatting while eating.

After lunch.

Ella called Alyssa.

Alyssa quickly answered the phone.

"Ella, what's up?"

"You didn't come to class this morning. The teacher said you took a leave of absence. Are you okay?" Ella said while looking at Hassan who suddenly appeared in the school. She held the phone, pouted and looked at Hassan, and said, "Hassan suddenly came to school. He said he wanted to see you, but you didn't show up, so he asked me where you were. I had to call you. Will you come to school later?"

After saying this, Ella saw Hassan with a deep look on his face.

Hassan didn't expect his little cousin to be so sincere.

What he had said to her before was in vain.

It was quiet. Alyssa could feel the awkwardness on the other end of the line even through the phone.

It took a few minutes for Ella's voice to resound, "Alyssa, are you okay? I'm worried about you too, so I called. I wasn't exactly forced by Hassan."

She said these words with resignation.

She was afraid that Alyssa would be angry.

Hearing Ella's tone, Alyssa felt a little sorry for her. Ella was sincere. She smiled and said softly, "I didn't feel well this morning, but I'm fine now. Is there something your cousin wants to see me about?"

"I ..."

Only the word "I" came out on the other end of the phone.

Soon, Ella's voice was replaced by a magnetic male voice.

"It's me. I let Ella ask you why you didn't come to school. I haven't paid your last salary yet. So I want to give you the commission money in person. After all, it's a lot of money." Hassan cleared his throat. He hadn't thought it would be so difficult to see Alyssa once. After Ella's birthday party last time, he purposely looked up Alyssa's information.

She was the only daughter of Graham Group. Besides that, she was also the president's wife of Hunter Group.

When he saw Alyssa and Leon together last time, he didn't feel anything wrong.

But after knowing that Alyssa was already married, he was surprisingly more curious about Alyssa.

How could such a smart girl get married without a few years of experience in society?

At that moment, Alyssa's voice rang out.

"Mr. Wood, the treasurer should have my bank card number. You'd better transfer the money directly to my bank card."

"It's not very convenient. This is the double commission I promised to give you separately."

"Well, is it a lot of money?"

"How much money do you think there will be since I can't transfer it through the treasurer?"

That was true.

Alyssa got a big bonus last time.

She would get more money this time.

She bought Leon a gift with the money she got last time. So she didn't have any money left.

In fact, she didn't have much money and was actually in a state of lack of money.

She earned this money with her hard work, so of course, she should take it.

Alyssa thought of the danger she had been in several times before when she dealt with Jones Group.

So, she immediately agreed to meet with Hassan.

After the call, Alyssa looked at Leon, "I'm going to go to school."

"You just said you wanted to go home, didn't you?"

"No, I have to go to school now. Hassan just called me. He said he was going to give me my commission money. That should be no small amount of money."

"Why didn't he transfer the money to your bank card?"

"That's what I just asked him. He said that the money could not go through the bank. I don't know the details. I've worked hard for this money and I can't refuse to take it, so you send me to school first."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon glanced at Alyssa and remained silent for a long time.

Only a fool could not hear what was going on.

Hassan just wanted to see Alyssa.

Leon was not happy. Alyssa was his wife. He was worried that something might happen to Alyssa. So, he said, "I'll go with you."

"No, I ..." Alyssa suddenly smiled before she finished her sentence, "Okay! You accompany me to see him. I'll treat you, Mr. Wood, and Ella to dinner once I get the money."

Leon smiled when he heard Alyssa's words.

His wife was too smart.

She was really agreeable.

He liked her even more now.

A University.

A small pavilion entwined with trees.

Hassan looked at Ella, and Ella just bowed her head.

They didn't speak for a long time.

Finally, it was Ella who said first, "Hassan, I didn't mean it. Alyssa and I grew up together. It's not good if I lie to her. Besides, I never want to lie to her. I didn't mean it ... Please don't blame me. It really has nothing to do with me."

To be continued