Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 140

Zoey Gu was startled, and soon thought of seeing his dead brother Chase Gu in the hypermarket in the afternoon, and his heart suddenly jumped.

Logan Fu had already spoken deeply.

"When I had nothing to do, I sent someone to go around the bottom of the sea. It turned out that I found the car that your father and brother were driving when they fell into the sea."

Zoey Gu raised his eyes abruptly, and the hand holding the phone trembled violently, and his voice immediately became crying.

"and then?"

Logan Fu chuckled lightly.

"The car was found. The body is intact and the airtightness has not been damaged. What is surprising is that the car is empty and their remains were not found."

"Do you know what this means?"

It means that to a large extent, father and younger brother escaped after falling into the sea, or were saved by others.

Realizing this fact, Zoey Gu's tears suddenly welled up.

"Logan Fu, thank you."

This news, coupled with the "resurrected" younger brother Chase that I saw in the afternoon, seemed like a ray of light in the darkness, so that Zoey Gu's heart rekindled hope.

"Please continue to track down the whereabouts of my father and younger brother, and of course, my child. As for the reward, rest assured, I must…"

Before she finished speaking, Logan Fu over there suddenly chuckled and interrupted her.

"I don't lack money, but I lack a woman who looks pleasing to the eye. If I can help you find the flesh and blood of your loved ones, will you marry me?"

Zoey Gu: "…Logan Fu, I don't like this joke."

"If I say, this is not a joke, but a threat?"

"you…"

Zoey Gu's heart tightened and his face changed suddenly.

"Logan Fu, between us…"

At this moment, the sound of branches swaying suddenly appeared on the windowsill outside the bedroom.

Immediately afterwards, a leaning and tall figure "plopped" and landed firmly on the windowsill.

Zoey Gu followed the prestige, and with the faint light outside, he vaguely saw a familiar figure outline, and suddenly became stiff.

With a shake of his hand, the call with Logan Fu was instantly hung up.

Zoey Gu tensed her body, firmly held the phone, stared at the figure on the window sill motionlessly, and asked in a dumb voice.

"Liam Lu, is that you?"

The man did not answer.

For a moment, the figure shook suddenly, opened the window with a "click" and jumped in from outside!

Zoey Gu suffocated her breath, and a heart jumped wildly. After reacting, he turned and turned on the light, trying to find something that could defend himself at any time.

The figure flashed in the darkness, and the human wind came behind Zoey Gu. Before she could turn around, he buckled her waist and turned her over.

"what!"

She screamed subconsciously, but was pressed by the other party, pressing her head down, bowed her head and k!ssed it.

"Well…"

Suddenly, a strong and familiar masculine aura attacked her overwhelmingly, digging into her nose, lips and teeth all pervasively, causing her to shudder.

It's him.

It's Liam Lu, he really came!

Zoey Gu breathed quickly, putting his hands in front of him and trying to push him away.

"Liam Lu, let me see you…"

But her lips were k!ssed strongly by the man again, all the way to the city, clasped her head with big hands, and k!ssed deeply…