Catch Me If You Love Me Chapter 141

He pressed her harder and harder, his hot breath pressed tightly to her lips, rolling back and forth.

"Zoey, you are worried about me, are you?"

Before she could answer, it was another deep k!ss, "Zoey, I miss you…"

His k!ss was deep and heavy, with endless emotions, taking away the air in Zoey Gu's chest inch by inch.

The bodies of the two were pressed tightly together, and Zoey Gu was forced to raise her head, but keenly smelled a faint smell of blood.

My heart jerked!

In the next second, Zoey Gu pushed him away with unfamiliar strength.

"Liam Lu, you have enough! Let me see your injured arm first."

As soon as the voice fell, Liam Lu, who had been hugging her hard, was pushed hard by her, and the whole person was caught off guard and fell backward.

thump!

There was a loud noise on the floor, followed by a painful grunt!

"Liam Lu?"

Zoey Gu suddenly panicked, turned around panicked and went to turn on the bedside lamp.

Liam Lu's voice resounded in the darkness, "Zoey, don't turn on the lights…" It was too late.

Snapped!

The light in the room suddenly brightened, and the bright and dazzling light immediately shone directly on Liam Lu's face.

He was getting up from the ground with some effort, closing his eyes and leaning against the bed a little weakly, his face was pale, and his face was sweating with cold sweat.

At this moment, he seemed to be enduring great pain, and the veins on his forehead were jumping vigorously one by one.

Even so, when the lights were turned on, he squinted his eyes and looked at her very deeply.

As if intentionally, he kept half of his face sideways, completely avoiding Zoey Gu's sight.

Zoey Gu jumped off the bed, crouched next to him a few steps, and pulled his arm.

The arm pierced with glass slag and blood was not dealt with at all, the eye was full of blood!

Zoey Gu twitched his heart, and his eyes reddened distressingly.

"Liam Lu!"

She stood up all at once, so angry that she wanted to get angry, but when she lowered her head to meet his smiling eyes, she closed her eyes severely.

In the end, he was also trying to save her injuries.

Taking a deep breath, she slowed down and said softly.

"You stay still, don't let anyone spot you, I'll go downstairs to get the medicine box."

After speaking, she turned around and opened the bedroom door and walked out lightly.

Fu's house at night was pitch black, only a little faint light was shining in the corridor.

Zoey Gu leaned on the railing with one hand and tiptoed downstairs. Following the location in his memory, he quickly found the medicine cabinet.

When she got up, she subconsciously glanced at the huge living room. Seeing no one around, he went upstairs gently.

It wasn't until the bedroom door upstairs was closed that the figure who had been hiding in the dark walked out slowly.

The man raised his head and glanced at the closed door of Zoey Gu's bedroom, twitching at the corner of his mouth, and sighed helplessly, seemingly regretful.

"It's a pity. When you really hit the south wall and look back, everything will be too late."

Zoey Gu carried the medicine box into the door, and Liam Lu remained motionless and leaned against the bed, with a few drops of fresh blood on the floor beside him.

She walked over and squatted down beside him, reaching out to open the medicine box.

Liam Lu suddenly reached out and clasped her wrist!