Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 16

The rain was wanton.

Zoey Gu was drenched and walked aimlessly in the rain curtain like a lonely soul.

Finally stumbled into a 24-hour convenience store, but was turned away. The clerk looked at her in despair with contempt, for fear that she would step on the mud-stained shoes into the shop.

She curled up under the eaves outside the store with a trembling body, unknowingly, slowly reddening her eyes.

Lydia Lin threatens her father and brother missing, and her favorite hates her. Penniless, if you want a cup of hot water to warm your body when you are down, you can't get it.

She wanted to ask more than once, is it because she did something wrong, so the world has been full of malice towards her for five years ago?

Abruptly, the glass door of the store was pushed open, and there was a sound of footsteps.

She subconsciously thought she was here to drive her away, laughed at herself, stood up slowly with her hands, and said without turning her head back.

"Don't worry, I will go now."

Someone behind him heard her voice, walked a few steps forward hesitantly, and asked tentatively.

"You are… Zoey, Zoey Gu?"

Zoey Gu felt that the voice was more familiar, and just about to turn around to look, suddenly felt dizzy in front of him, and the whole world gradually became dim.

The next second, her body suddenly lost control and fell heavily towards the bottom of the steps.

"Zoey!"

As if struggling in a long nightmare, Zoey Gu woke up quietly after a long time.

A demure and calm figure stood in front of the window, turning his head when he heard the sound. Seeing her awake, her face suddenly showed joy.

"Zoey, are you awake?"

The middle-aged woman came over and sat down by the bed, and took her hand.

"I'm looking for someone to bring you back. I wanted to give you a hot bath. But you kept holding on to your cuffs, not touching them."

"Zoey, where have you been all these years? How can you become so thin?"

Zoey looked at the middle-aged woman in front of her with decisiveness, as if waking up from a big dream, her eyes flashed red.

It's Liam Lu's mother, the one who treated her as her own and loved her to the bone!

In the next second, she suddenly threw away Mother Lu's hand, without a word, lifted the quilt and got up and left.

She has no face to see her!

Mother Lu held her hand first.

"Zoey, after all these years, it was hard to see you, do you think I would let you go so easily?"

Mother Lu sighed, her eyes reddened distressingly when she saw her skinny look.

"Relax. What you don't want to say, I won't ask. But you don't want to know how our family Liam spent these years?"

"Yes." Suddenly, Zoey Gu backhanded his mother Lu's hand without thinking, his nose sour, "I think!"

Over the years, countless nights, she thought over and over again.

I think about his changes, who is around him, how much he hates her.

Mother Lu has a heart attack.

Seven years ago, when Zoey Gu didn't know Liam Lu, he rescued Lu's mother on the street.

Seven years later, Mother Lu took homeless Zoey Gu home again.

Zoey Gu took a bath, changed into a clean dress sent by Mother Lu, carefully hid his pinhole arm, sat at the dining table, bowed his head and stuffed things into his mouth bit by bit.

Mother Lu looked at her quietly, remembering that in the gossip news that she had returned to Berven City after being abandoned because of her relationship with a man, she didn't want to believe it.

She wanted to ask, she couldn't help but sighed, walked to the door, pointed to the steps outside the door and looked at Zoey Gu.

"Zoey, do you know what happened the night you broke up with Liam?"
