

Chapter 160

For a moment, all of Alyssa's irritation was gone!

She just smiled and then lifted her hand to hold Leon's face.

Leon looked at Alyssa's smiling face and felt even more that he had done wrong.

Just then, she kissed him on the face.

He stared at her blankly, suddenly a little nervous.

"Did you read the end of the letter?" She looked into his eyes.

Leon thought for a moment. He really hadn't read it.

Alyssa nodded, "Take a look."

He picked up the letter and froze at the end of it. He turned his head to look at Alyssa, "This isn't a love letter to you?"

"Well, how could I have that kind of charm! No one would write a love letter to me. I am aloof and cold, and no one seems to want to make friends with me, except Ella, who grows up with me and knows me. Except for her, no one understands me at all. Only you like me and want to take me as your wife."

Alyssa laughed. She was actually grateful in her heart.

She looked at Leon gently but choked up, "In the future, if you want to peek at something, you must look at it clearly. Don't punish me if you don't understand the situation. Now, you are punishing yourself too. Anyway, I'm pregnant. I can't do that."

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon moved over and hugged her, "I didn't know that was a letter to Ella."

"Then you know that you opened someone else's love letter now. I'll see Ella tomorrow and give this to Ella. She might be mad at me. She's the only friend I have."

"Then I'll go with you to see Ella tomorrow. I'll explain to Ella that it was me who opened this, not you." Leon said.

Alyssa suddenly laughed, "I'm just kidding. Don't take it seriously. Ella and I are good friends. We grew up together. Now, we help each other too. It's not as serious as I said. But you did something really wrong this time. Leon, I really have a favor you can do. Can you help me out?"

Leon nodded, "Okay."

Seeing Leon nod, Alyssa told Leon about Sky.

Leon looked at Alyssa, "About your job, why don't you discuss it with me?"

Alyssa didn't expect Leon to focus on that. She said softly, "I am an independent individual. I'm studying now and I'll work in the future. Even though I'm pregnant, I can't stay at home or school forever. In that case, I will be out of touch with society. I know you don't want me to work, but I really want it."

She thought about how Leon would be angry about this.

He might be furious.

However, he was the only one she could trust.

She only wanted to talk to him when she encountered something.

This was a kind of uncontrollable trust.

After hearing Alyssa's words, Leon didn't say anything for a long time.

He quietly leaned to the side, holding Alyssa's hand.

Alyssa knew he was thinking. Perhaps he was also trying to convince himself not to be angry.

She didn't say anything and bowed her head slightly.

For a long time.

Leon's voice rang out.

"Do you want to work for my company? Recently, the company is really short of people, but I won't give you a vice president position or anything like that. Citic and Hunter Group have different business models. You'll have to learn from scratch and it might be a little tiring, but if you do a good job, you'll be promoted soon! At the company, I'll keep your identity hidden, is that okay?"

Alyssa smiled when she heard Leon's words. She knew he wouldn't be angry.

However, she still rejected Leon.

"No, I don't know anything about architecture and I don't know anything about design."

Alyssa knew herself. With Citic, she had confidence because there were many things she knew.

"You can handle the books, can't you?"

Alyssa nodded. She already had her CPA certification. She hadn't gotten her license yet, though.

"So, you can think about it. As long as you are willing to come to my company, there will definitely be a job for you. Seeing how serious you are, I suddenly kind of want to work with you. That would definitely be interesting."

This time, he was not admiring his wife as a husband, but as a leader looking at his subordinate.

Alyssa smiled and said, "I don't want to work with you. You might flirt with me after I work with you, but Hassan treats me well. He didn't ask me to work full time when I was pregnant. I just need to do what I need to do. I'd rather stay out of your work so I don't cause you any trouble."

Leon had just adjusted Hunter Group.

He still needed time to settle down.

She looked at Leon, "Should I trust what I find out?"

Her eyes were watery, like the eyes of a lost deer in the forest, looking pitiful.

"Sky's Riley is so famous. The project you mention is widely coveted in the industry. All the machines for filtering water in Hunter Group come from Sky. If Sky doesn't appeal, it won't just be a matter of losing money. A reputational loss is very serious."

"Of course, I know Professor King can't make a comeback, but I need evidence to help him overturn his case."

Alyssa pouted. She was well aware of the seriousness of this matter, so she was also worried.

"What you found out is that Nash stole Professor King's design and used that design at Venture Corporation three years ago. You need to find the evidence and expose Venture Corporation's lies. That's the best way to resolve it. Evidence is important."

Leon looked at Alyssa's puzzled face and continued, "I think you also need to talk to Riley."

Alyssa understood Leon's point. She should not only investigate the ownership of "Hydrodynamic", but also find out the evidence after determining the ownership of "Hydrodynamic", whether it was the evidence of Riley's infringement or Nash's infringement.

She thought about Leon's suggestion.

Now everything was clear.

Alyssa was not in a hurry anymore.

Alyssa nodded, "Okay, I get it."

"Alyssa, has it ever occurred to you that you've taken on a pretty tough case?"

Alyssa didn't understand, "How hard is it?"

"'Hydrodynamic' is widely used. If Riley does infringe, he will not only have to pay Venture Corporation, but he will also have to take all the proceeds related to 'Hydrodynamic' over the years."

Alyssa understood Leon's point, "I know what to do."

Leon nodded, "Get some rest! You probably have a lot of work to do tomorrow. You're pregnant now, so you should get more rest and not think too much."

Alyssa happily went over and kissed Leon. She felt that there was no better person in the world than Leon.

She closed her eyes in Leon's arms. She was fast asleep as she took Leon's hand, and Leon curled the corners of his mouth as he watched Alyssa sleep.

She never looked good when she was sleeping.

The next morning, Alyssa got up early to look up information. After she finished some of her research, Wendy's dinner was ready and Alyssa went to get Leon up for breakfast. As soon as she entered the bedroom, Leon grabbed her and kissed Alyssa for a long time.

"Breakfast is ready. Let's ... eat first."

Alyssa's whole body was tingling from the kiss, like an electric shock. She had no strength at all. Looking at Leon, she suddenly wanted to kiss him too.

However, if they continued like this, they probably wouldn't be able to eat breakfast.

As they kissed each other, they lost all their senses.

They quickly went to bed.

An hour later.

Alyssa sat in front of the window after showering and was picked up by Leon.

"You scared me." She had just finished showering and her hair was still dripping with water.

Leon didn't say anything, but carefully wiped the water from her head.

Alyssa enjoyed Leon's gentleness and smiled as she looked at Leon.

"Don't come to the window after showering in the future. The windows are closed tightly, but there will still be wind. You're pregnant, so take care of yourself."

Leon's voice was gentle.

She couldn't help but lean into him like a little sloth.

Leon didn't pull her away and directly carried Alyssa to the restaurant downstairs.

When she saw the meat, Alyssa sat down happily. She had already forgotten about Leon who had just carried her down.

Leon frowned at Alyssa who gorged herself on meat.

When he held her yesterday, he thought she was very thin and wanted to tonic her body. But now she seemed to have a good appetite.

Alyssa ate several pieces of meat before noticing that Leon hadn't moved. She hurriedly said, "Hurry up and eat. Don't you get hungry when you watch me eat?"

Why did he keep staring at her eating!

Leon frowned. He really wasn't hungry.

However, looking at Alyssa's fair face, he suddenly wanted to kiss her again.

Leon looked up. Seeing that Wendy had been watching him, he awkwardly sat down next to Alyssa to eat his breakfast.

Alyssa's appetite was good and she kept eating meat. After she got pregnant, she loved meat. Also, she got a lot bigger in her appetite. She probably could eat more than three times as much as she used to.

She ate a lot, but she was not fat.

She was even a little thinner than before.

Leon didn't understand what was going on.

Anyway, it was really enviable for people who ate a lot but didn't gain weight.

After breakfast, Alyssa took Leon to work.

Leon originally thought that Alyssa was pregnant and he should be the one to drive. But Alyssa didn't seem to be affected by her pregnancy at all.

If he said that, he would make Alyssa feel as if he thought she was incapable of anything.

After last night's conversation, he had understood what Alyssa was thinking.

Alyssa didn't want to be idle and still wanted to work at Citic.

Hunter Group did have a job for Alyssa, but Alyssa still didn't want to go there.

He respected her choice.

He wouldn't force her.

Now, she really needed the experience, too.

In the future, she would have to face many things. She was his wife, so naturally, she couldn't just be an empty vase.
