

Chapter 1601

Charlie was sitting in Weiliang's car on the way to Gu's home. Elsa sent him a WeChat message, saying, "Charlie, I have booked the air tickets for the two of us back to Aurous Hill. It's nine o'clock tomorrow morning, okay?"

"OK." Charlie replied: "How much is the ticket? I'll transfer you."

Elsa complained: "It's just a plane ticket, so you have to give me money? You are too far apart from me, right!"

Charlie said seriously: "You paid for me, how can I not pay you."

Elsa snorted and asked, "Then you saved me several times, how can I not repay you? When will Mr. Charlie give me a chance to agree with me?"

Charlie was speechless and said helplessly, "Well, I won't be polite to you about the ticket. See you at the airport tomorrow morning."

Elsa said: "Then you get to the airport before eight o'clock, don't get up late."

Charlie said, "Don't worry, I will be at the airport on time."

After hanging up the phone, Weiliang on the side asked nervously, "Mr. Charlie, are you going back to Aurous Hill tomorrow?"

"Correct."

Weiliang asked again: "Mr. Charlie, when will you come back again?"

"Not sure yet."

Weiliang felt cold.

He originally thought that if Charlie would stay in Eastcliff, he would go to his uncle's house every three to five to fawn on him. Maybe after a while, he would be able to forgive him for what he did before and restore his fertility.

But Charlie will leave Eastcliff tomorrow, and he won't have a chance to cheat in the future. What can he do?

If Charlie intends only to recover him after three to five years, how can he live these three to five years...

Charlie also saw through his thoughts and said lightly: "Even if I am not in Eastcliff, you can still perform well in front of your uncle's family. If they are satisfied with your performance, I can consider getting you back to normal in advance."

Weiliang breathed a sigh of relief and hurriedly said, "Mr. Charlie, don't worry, I will work hard!"

When Charlie returned to Gu's house, Philip had already gone to the Gu Group.

He recovered from a serious illness and was in very good physical condition, so he devoted himself to work, struggling to strengthen his control in the Gu Group.

Except for the servants at home, Charlie only saw Sara lying on the sofa reading a novel.

Because all the villas are heated by the floor, even though it's cold outside, the villa is still very warm. The temperature in the room is constant at about 28 degrees. You can wear shorts and short sleeves at home like summer.

Sara was wearing a lace nightdress, and her slender and white legs were overlapped and exposed to the air.

Her figure is indeed the best among all the women Charlie has ever seen. Even the little pepper Aoxue who has been practicing martial arts all the time can't compare with it.

This is mainly because Sara's body proportions are so good, she is the nine-headed body that all female stars dream of.

The so-called nine-headed body refers to the height of a woman, which is equal to nine times the length of her own face. A woman with this ratio has the most perfect body. It is extremely difficult to find a woman with such a perfect body ratio in life. It's not an exaggeration to pick one.

Chapter 1602

Seeing Charlie's return, Sara stood up happily, ran to him three or two steps, and said with a smile: "Charlie, why did you come back so early? I thought you would not come back until the evening!"

Charlie felt that his arm was being held tightly by her hands, and it was inevitable that he was a little bit disheartened, but he didn't dare to think about it, and said, "It's nothing more than attending a birthday banquet, and I am back when it is over."

After speaking, Charlie asked her: "Aunts and uncles are not there?"

"Yeah." Sara said softly, "Dad has gone to the group, and Mom has gone to a charity dinner. There are charity auctions and wine parties. They won't eat at home at night."

Charlie nodded. He knew that with Lenan's status, she was also a top-ranked super celebrity in Eastcliff. Her husband made a high-profile comeback, and she had to use her method to make a high-profile comeback to be able to support her husband.

Sara asked tentatively at this time: "Charlie, are you sure you are leaving tomorrow?"

Charlie said, "Yes, I will leave tomorrow."

Sara looked a little lost, hesitated for a moment, remembered something, and said: "Charlie, you accompany me out for a tour!"

Charlie asked her: "You are a big star, just go out on the street, won't you be followed by the paparazzi?"

Sara smiled and said, "Just like the last time I picked you up at the airport, just disguise it!"

After speaking, Sara said again: "I'll take you to the place we played when we were young, do you remember the place 9T Street?"

"9T Street?" Charlie frowned, always feeling that this place's name was strange and familiar.

Sara said: "It's the place where we often asked our parents to take us when we were young. There are many small vendors, small shops, lots of delicious and fun things, and it is next to Hwai Lake. When we were young, it was winter, we went to Hwai ice skating, do you remember?"

In Charlie's mind, a fragment of childhood suddenly appeared.

In the picture, he and Sara together, led by their parents, went to 9T Street to eat candied haws, and play ice carts on the ice.

The winter in Eastcliff is very cold. Thick ice will form on the lake in Hwai. After the ice is frozen, people will go skating and playing ice carts on the lake. The children are all sitting on the self-made ice carts. An iron rod stabs and moves on the ice.

At that time, children didn't have any electronic products to play with, so when winter came, Charlie wanted to go skating in Hwai.

He still remembers that Sara's parents had a very beautiful courtyard house on Hwai. Every time his parents took him to Hwai, they would first take him to visit Sara's parents, and then have a meal in the courtyard of the house.

Thinking about it now, those memories that have not appeared in his mind for more than ten years are still vivid after so long.

At that time, Sara was just a follower. Wearing a thick cotton-padded jacket, like a small cotton ball, her little hands stretched out from the sleeves of the cotton-padded jacket, grabbing the corners of her clothes tightly, and would not let go.

At that time, she always put the same word "Charlie" on her lips, her voice was sweet and waxy, and she was a little bit shy, it was really cute.

However, that place he loved most when he was a child, he hasn't been there for 18 years.

Thinking of this, Charlie's heart was full of nostalgia.

So he asked her, "Sara, is your courtyard on the back beach still there?"

"Yeah!" Sara said with a smile: "That is a protected building, and it is not allowed to be demolished. My dad spent a lot of money to renovate it two years ago. If the traffic in the city center is not too heavy, we would all want to move there for permanent residence."

As she said, she couldn't hide her excitement and asked, "Charlie, do you want me to take you there now?"

The memories in Charlie's mind swarmed, and his heart suddenly became excited, and he blurted out: "Okay!"

Chapter 1603

After receiving Charlie's definitive answer, Sara danced happily, ran back to the room, and immediately changed into a thick long down jacket.

To prevent people from seeing her, she also brought a warm mask and a furry hat with two cute rabbit ears.

In addition, she also holds a pair of round-framed black-rimmed eyes in her hand. After wearing it, she is a cute and adorable girl. She has a great style, a deviation, who will make all men crazy in love with her.

She has a simple mind, no love experience, no experience of getting along with the opposite sex, and no secretive thoughts like those girls outside.

Charlie saw the shadow of his childhood from her face. Looking back now, Sara was the sweet burden of his childhood.

The reason why I say it is a sweet burden is that, although he doesn't want her to be with him every day, calling him Charlie like a stalker, but deep in his heart, he really enjoys the feeling of turning around him.

Sara saw Charlie look at her a little lost, her pretty face suddenly flushed, and she said timidly: "Charlie, why are you looking at me like this..."

Charlie came back to his senses and smiled awkwardly and politely and said, "It's just that I suddenly thought of things when I was young, and I was a little distracted."

Sara's heart was sweet and joyful, she lowered her eyelids slightly, and whispered, "Let's go quickly!"

In order not to expose Sara's identity as much as possible, Charlie and she drove the humble old Volvo all the way from the villa area to the city center.

Hwai is in the center of Eastcliff and it can be said to be one of the most prosperous places in the city.

Moreover, this place has not been over-developed. The old courtyard houses are well protected. If you want to see the life of the Eastcliff, you have to come to this place.

More than half an hour later, Sara drove into an alley near Hwai Lake. From this slightly narrow alley, it is difficult to tell whether every household in it is an ordinary family or a large family.

In Eastcliff, there are two kinds of people who live in the courtyard.

One is a very poor person who lives in an old bungalow. There may not even be a toilet at home. You need to run to the public toilet every day. Even in the middle of the cold winter, you have to get up and run to the public toilet;

There is also a very wealthy person.

If you want to live in a courtyard house, you must first have enough money to make the courtyard house very livable.

Because courtyards are mostly single-story buildings, from the outside, no one can see what the inside looks like. Only when you come in will you find the differences.

Some courtyards are crowded with briquettes, bicycles, and kimchi jars full of aisles. It is very difficult to walk. There are also many shabby-built shacks and there are many safety risks.

But there are also courtyards, from the outside, they do not show the mountains or dew, and are not eye-catching at all, but after entering, they found that there is a cave inside.

Other people's courtyards are crowded and messy, while Gu's courtyards are Carden and antique!

Inside, there is not only a whole piece of white marble carved into the wall, but also nine Carden Tamrons with different poses.

Chapter 1604

This is the Nine Dragon Wall that was unique to ancient royal buildings. It can be said to be the highest standard. There is a similar Nine Dragon Wall in the Forbidden City.

It's okay to put it in modern times. If it's in ancient times, no one can use such high-standard things except the emperor.

Once discovered by the royal family, it would be a crime of treason, and it could even punish the nine races.

Moreover, this courtyard has four entrances and four exits, and the entry yard has actually built a miniature version of Suzhou garden, with rockery, pavilion, small bridge, and running water.

There were only a few loyal servants of the Gu family in the courtyard, so Sara had no scruples, took off the mask, took Charlie's arm, and said to him, "Charlie, do you remember this yard? When we were young, we often play hide and seek here."

Charlie nodded and said, "I remember, but I always feel that it is not right in the memory."

Sara smiled and said, "This is a refurbishment. Compared with before, there are some changes."

After that, she pointed to the frozen water and said, "There have always been many good koi carps here. Some have been raised in Gu's house for more than 30 years, and some are still what you have seen before! But now It's cold. The koi have been raised in the next wing, and they will be released when the spring begins. Would you like to go and see?"

Charlie said in surprise: "How long does the Koi live?"

Sara smiled and said: "The life span of a koi is about sixty to seventy years. If it is well raised and taken care of, it can live a few more years."

With that said, Sara shook her fingers seriously and said: "Look, there are several kinds of pets. If you raise them well, they may live longer than you. The other is the koi, and the other is the tortoise and Parrots, macaws and sunflower parrots can live to 60 or 70 years old."

As soon as the voice fell, she took Charlie and said, "Come, I will take you to see them, and see if you can recognize them!"

This wing room has a large area, and more than half of the area inside has been made into a constant temperature fish pond, in which a lot of huge koi are swimming around.

Sara pointed to one of the koi, which was nearly one meter long, and said excitedly: "Do you remember it? You used to name it Nobita. The name from Doremon."

Charlie smiled and nodded: "Remember, in the impression when I was a child, he seemed to be the largest."

Sara nodded and said, "It is a Taisho three-color koi. My dad said that the price of buying it was worth the price of a three-bedroom in Eastcliff Third Ring Road."

Charlie was slightly startled, although he was a little surprised, but he was not too shocked.

The koi thing is actually very expensive. Some time ago, the eldest lady of the Zhong family spent more than 10 million to procure a piece of koi. Charlie had also seen it.

Therefore, the value of precious koi cannot be measured by the dimensions of ordinary ornamental fish.

At this time, Sara bent over and squatted on the edge of the fish pond, beckoned and called Nobita to the huge koi, unexpectedly the koi swam over directly, Sara reached out to touch it, and it did not hide at all.

Sara touched the koi while saying, "Nobita, look, Charlie came to see you, do you remember him? He still remembers you."

Although Koi is not afraid of people, he may have some familiarity with Sara, but after all, it is not human, and it is impossible to give Sara any response.

And Sara was talking to it, and then raised her head and said to Charlie: "My dad said, Nobita is only 30 years old this year. If he takes good care of him, he can live for another 40 years. We played with him when we were young. Soon, when we have a baby, the baby can play with it too!"

Chapter 1605

Although Charlie didn't respond to Sara's words, his childhood memories continued to emerge in his mind, and they were still imperceptibly, making him feel a little closer to Sara.

He even came up with an imaginary picture in his mind. If his parents were still alive and he has not lived in Aurous Hill, should he be married to Sara now?

Perhaps the one who is guarding this pool of koi now is no longer the one who is walking with Sara, and perhaps his parents, Sara's parents.

Even, it is really possible to follow one or two and a half older children, chatting around him and Sara, crying to their parents, and then asking them many details and memories about the Koi.

He knew his father's character. Changying, the second master of the Wade family, had a good word. If he was still alive, if he dared to say not to marry Sara, he was afraid he would break his leg.

Moreover, most of Eastcliff's top rich second generations were married earlier, because the family had arranged the marriage partner early, and generally they would organize the wedding immediately when they reached the legal marriage age.

In that case, he might have married Sara in the door when he was 22 years old.

Counting it down to now, he may have been married to Sara for four years. If he was more efficient, it would be normal to have two children.

Seeing that Charlie was a little lost, Sara asked quietly beside him, "Charlie, what are you thinking?"

Charlie smiled bitterly and said, "I think of my parents."

Sara sighed softly: "I also thought of Uncle Wade and Aunt An just now. I was just thinking that if there was nothing wrong with them that year, we might have already been married, and we might have had children. If they were here today, maybe three generations have gathered."

Charlie was obviously startled.

Unexpectedly, Sara thought of it too.

He couldn't help but sigh. Sara accepted her fiancée since she was a child. For so many years, she has always regarded finding and marrying him as her life goal. If she really loses him in the future, how will he face Philip and Lenan? In the future, under the Jiuquan, how will he face the parents who have made a promise?

Sara on the side didn't know that Charlie was struggling in his mind, so she gently pulled his hand and said, "I'm sorry, Charlie, I shouldn't mention Uncle and Auntie, which made you sad..."

Charlie shook his head and smiled, and said, "It's okay. After so many years, it's not so sad anymore, it's more of a regret..."

Sara clasped Charlie's ten fingers along the way, pulled him up, and said with a smile, "Charlie, let's go out and play!"

Charlie nodded, shook off the melancholy thoughts in his mind, and strolled around the courtyard with Sara, and then went to Hwai together.

Along the way, Sara was unwilling to let go of his hand, and Charlie didn't force her to see that she was so interested.

Although the weather is very cold now, for the authentic Eastcliff people, this is the best time to come to Hwai for skating.

Therefore, the whole Hwai is very lively, and the ice is full of men, women and children playing around.

Charlie and Sara came to the ice hand in hand, rented a small ice car with two seats at the Old Master on the shore, and then he took Sara to play on the ice.

At this time, there was an extremely surprised look in the crowd, staring at Charlie forever!

The owner of this look is Elsa.

Elsa is also a native Eastcliff girl. Because she will leave Eastcliff to return to Aurous Hill tomorrow, she also misses the skating experience in Hwai. She took a little cousin at home and ran to Hwai to play together.

Chapter 1606

The two of them came earlier than Charlie and Sara. They had been playing happily for more than half an hour, and when they were about to take a break, they saw Charlie walking hand in hand with Sara!

Sara wears a thick mask, black-rimmed glasses and a cute rabbit ear hat, so Elsa can't recognize who she is, but Charlie didn't do any treatment to cover his face, plus it was day and not night. The lover of the dream, so she naturally recognized Charlie at a glance!

At this moment, she felt that the three views and cognition of the whole person had been subverted!

Moreover, the two are so close, it is very abnormal at first sight!

If she remembers correctly, even if Charlie and Claire have never been so close!

Could it be... Could it be that Charlie derailed long ago?

She always showed her love to Charlie, Charlie always refused her without hesitation and righteously. She thought that he was loyal to Claire, but she didn't expect that he would be in Eastcliff with a young beauty. Skating hand in hand!

Although she can't see Sara's face, she can tell from Sara's figure that this must be a superb beauty. With such a figure, she has already killed herself and even Claire so much that she has no chance!

Elsa's mood suddenly sank to the bottom.

She thought desperately in her heart: "No wonder Charlie is always unwilling to accept my love, it turns out that he has a new love in Eastcliff..."

Elsa's cousin suddenly stunned when she saw her sister, and asked curiously: "Sister, what's the matter with you?"

The cousin asked with a smile: "Are you reluctant to leave? Or you should stop working in the Emgrand Group and come back to Eastcliff!"

Elsa was also a little confused in her heart.

The family really didn't want her to go back.

Dad, uncle and grandfather hope that she can stay in Eastcliff, and hope that she will have some development with Weiliang, the eldest of the Gu family.

But Elsa wanted to go back.

The reason for wanting to go back was not for the job of the Emgrand Group, nor for the mysterious chairman of the Emgrand Group, but for Charlie.

Charlie saved her more than once, and that time when she injured her leg, she had skin close to him. In fact, from the depths of her heart, she had been completely devoted to him long ago. She even felt that if she could not be with him in this life she would be able to achieve peace, even if she was his underground lover, she was willing.

After all, she loves him with all the wishful thinking and has no returns, and being an underground lover without a reputation, she can become his woman anyway.

Even if she would be scolded by others, even if she would become a mouse on the street, even if her good girlfriend Claire turned against her, she would not hesitate.

However, at this moment she suddenly realized that she didn't even have the qualifications to be Charlie's underground lover.

Because, at this moment, the girl who was sitting on the ice cart and playing with Charlie happily should be Charlie's underground lover, right?

Thinking of this, Elsa's eyes were red and moist.

She suddenly envied the girl who she could not see her face. Although she was just an underground lover of Charlie, Charlie was so attentive and considerate to her, playing with her like a boyfriend. This is not what she has always been the most desired?

Chapter 1607

At this time, Charlie didn't know that he was being closely followed by Elsa.

He has been completely immersed in the recreational sport that he loved very much when he was a child. Everyone has a childlike heart, and Charlie is no exception.

When he was happiest, a child with his feet on the ice skates slid faster and faster on the ice, and came straight to the ice carts of Charlie and Sara.

Unexpectedly, the child lost control of the direction. When he got closer and closer to Sara, he didn't turn around, and slammed into her in a daze.

As soon as he ran into her, the child screamed that he was hurt. Sara was shocked when she saw it!

Although the child seems to be in his early ten years and weighs no more than sixty or seventy pounds, the impact of inertia cannot be underestimated after he gets up fast.

What's more dangerous is that the children wear ice skates instead of roller skates. The thing is sharp. Once a person is pricked or scratched, it can easily cause serious injury!

Seeing this, Charlie suddenly jumped off the ice cart in a hurry, then hugged Sara in his arms and turned around half a circle, and lifted her away from the position where she was about to be hit.

However, seeing that the child was about to hit the ice truck, Charlie couldn't bear the child's injury, so he kicked the ice truck along the way. The ice truck was between the sparkling flints that the child was about to hit, and from the ice. Jumped out in the other direction.

The child didn't have much experience, and he didn't have any emergency response ability. He was about to hit an ice truck, so he was so scared that he covered his eyes.

At this moment, the ice car was kicked away by Charlie again, and as a result, the child continued to rush forward, and the speed was even faster than before!

Elsa, who was not far away, was always on the three-point line formed by the child, Charlie, and herself. Charlie and Sara just blocked the little girl, so she didn't see exactly what happened, nor did she. Saw a little girl out of control on the ice.

She only saw that Charlie actually hugged the woman by her waist, and directly gave the woman an ambiguous princess hug, and her heart was sour and angry!

She couldn't help but secretly think in her heart: "Charlie is too much! It doesn't matter if you come to Eastcliff to meet a lover, and you dare to show affection so grandiosely in public places like Hwai, is this not too reckless?"

Just when she was angry in her heart, a black shadow suddenly rushed over in front of her, and her cousin shouted next to her: "Ah! Sister Elsa, be careful!"

As soon as the voice fell, the dark shadow rushed to Elsa's eyes!

At this time, Elsa turned her attention away from Charlie and Sara to the shadow that rushed towards her.

When she saw clearly that it turned out to be a girl who was covering her eyes and screaming in terror, she was also frightened not knowing what to do.

Anyone who has skated on ice or snow knows a basic safety rule, that is, you must stay away from people who are out of control!

On ice and snow, if a person can't brake, his speed will easily reach a very dangerous state. If hit by a person at high speed, or hit by a car at high speed, there is no big difference.

The ice skates and snowboards are very hard and sharp and can easily cause very serious injuries.

Elsa didn't know what to do at this time. Deep down, she was even prepared to be hit hard by the child.

At the moment when the kid's ice skate was almost reaching her, she closed her eyes in shock and screamed.

However, after a while, the expected impact did not happen!

Chapter 1608

At the spur of the moment, Charlie put down Sara in his arms and quickly caught up with the little girl who was out of control. A second before she was about to collide with Elsa, he abruptly hugged her!

Elsa opened her eyes and found that Charlie had stopped the out-of-control little girl at a critical moment, and she was really happy and angry.

Happily, Charlie will always appear in front of her like Prince Charming at critical moments, and block all dangers for her;

Angrily, she had confessed to him for so long, and devoted herself to him hoping to be his underground lover, but he has repeatedly rejected her righteously, and has refused until now.

But she never expected that this guy would quietly find an underground lover in Eastcliff!

Charlie hadn't noticed Elsa at this time.

His attention is focused on the child, because he knows very well that once a collision occurs, the child is more likely to be injured. For the same collision, the adult may be relieved, but the child may need to be hospitalized.

Fortunately, the child was only frightened, but did not suffer any substantial harm.

At this time, the little girl opened her eyes, seeing that Charlie had saved her and prevented her from hitting anyone. She took a breath and said gratefully: "Thank you, uncle, thank you..."

Charlie smiled slightly, put her on the ice, and told her: "Little girl, you must remember to slow down when you skate."

The little girl nodded hurriedly: "Thank you Uncle, I see..."

Charlie watched her slowly slide away, and then he was relieved. He was about to go back to find Sara when he suddenly saw a familiar face, staring at him with uprightness.

He glanced and asked in surprise: "Elsa?! Why are you here?"

Elsa deliberately wrinkled her nose and snorted, and said, "Hwai is not yours, why can't I be here?"

Charlie didn't know that Elsa was angry with him at this time. Seeing that she seemed to be a bit aggressive, he smiled and said, "I didn't mean that. I just think it's a coincidence that Eastcliff is so big, how can we touch here on."

Elsa curled her lips: "Or the old saying goes, there is no impermeable wall in the world! I used to come to Hwai every winter for skating. I have been in Aurous Hill this year. I had no chance. I thought I will leave tomorrow, so I came to play before I go. Here, I ran into you before I thought..."

With that said, Elsa glanced at Sara who was walking over, and said to Charlie: "If I didn't come, I'd not know, that you have a little lover in Eastcliff!"

When Charlie heard this, he knew that she had misunderstood his relationship with Sara, so he hurriedly said: "Elsa, you must have some misunderstanding about this matter. I don't have any lover. Don't talk nonsense."

Elsa curled her lips: "Everyone is an adult, so don't try to cover it up here, aren't you afraid that I will go back and tell Claire?"

Charlie said seriously: "Elsa, you really misunderstood me about this."

As he was talking, Sara had already arrived. She saw Charlie talking to a beautiful woman, so she took Charlie's arm and asked intimately, "Charlie, is this lady your friend?"

Charlie nodded: "It's my college classmate."

When Sara heard that it was Charlie's college classmate, she looked around and saw that there was no one else nearby except Elsa and her sister. Out of courtesy, she took off her mask and proactively reached out to Elsa with a smile. Said: "Hello sister, this is Sara!"

Chapter 1609

Sara took off her mask because she felt that the woman in front of her was Charlie's college classmate. Whether she positioned herself as Charlie's friend or Charlie's fiancée in the past twenty years, when she met Charlie, Give a minimum of respect.

Therefore, she decided to take off the mask.

However, this move scared Elsa to the point of being struck by lightning, standing still and unable to move!

She looked at Sara's beautiful and familiar face and was speechless in surprise!

Moreover, some people don't know the identity of Sara's, and don't know that she is the daughter of the chairman of the Gu family, but Elsa is also the eldest lady of the Eastcliff family after all, so she knows the identity of Sara well!

At this moment, she felt that the whole person's worldview had been subverted.

Charlie, how could you be with Sara, a girl of heaven? Moreover, the two of them also went skiing hand in hand with an ambiguous posture. More importantly, Charlie gave her a princess hug just now!

God!

The gap between the two is really too big!

Sara can be said to be the girl with the best overall strength in Eastcliff.

Although her family background is not the top in Eastcliff, it is second only to the Wade family and the Su family;

However, Sara's appearance, build, temperament, talent and popularity are a bit higher than those of the Wade Family and Su Family girls.

Therefore, in comprehensive consideration, no one from the Wade family and the Su family can compare to Sara.

Or in other words, Sara is not only the most outstanding one in Eastcliff, but also the most outstanding one in the whole country.

Therefore, Elsa was extremely shocked and incredulous.

why?

Elsa is still in shock, her cousin has already covered her mouth in surprise and exclaimed: "Wow, it's really Sa..."

Sara hurriedly put her finger to her mouth, made a silent gesture, and said with a smile: "Shhh...don't shout, there are too many people here."

Elsa's sister nodded hurriedly, and asked in a low voice with excitement: "Miss Sara, can I take a photo with you?"

Sara stuck out her tongue and smiled and said, "It's okay to take a group photo, but it's better not to post it on social networking sites, okay?"

"Of course!" Elsa's sister said excitedly: "Don't worry, I will never leak!"

After speaking, she took her phone out of her pocket and leaned in to take a few photos with Sara.

Elsa came back to her senses at this time, and said to Sara with an apologetic expression: "I'm sorry, Miss Sara, I was so shocked just now, I didn't react at all."

Sara smiled sweetly: "It doesn't matter! Sister, don't be so polite!"

Chapter 1610

In fact, like Claire, she is also a fan of Sara. If it weren't for Charlie's presence, she would have rushed over to take a photo with Sara.

Therefore, Elsa couldn't help but tentatively asked: "Charlie, how did you meet Miss Sara?"

If he says that Sara is a customer who asked him to see Feng Shui on her own, then it is obviously unreasonable to come to Hwai ice skating car hand in hand with the customer;

But if he says that Sara is the one he knew when he was a child, it would suddenly reveal his identity.

After all, in Elsa's eyes, he is an orphan who has been living in the Aurous Hill City Orphanage.

How could an orphan who had lived in Aurous Hill since he was a child know the eldest lady of Eastcliff's Gu family? This is obviously unreasonable.

So Charlie felt that it seemed difficult to explain this matter to Elsa without revealing his identity.

But just when he hesitated, Sara replied smoothly at this time: "Charlie and I have known each other since we were very young!"

After listening to Elsa, she was dumbfounded!

She suddenly became suspicious, thinking: "Charlie has lived in the Aurous Hill Welfare Institute since he was a child. After leaving the orphanage at the age of eighteen, he worked on the construction site, and then met Claire's grandfather, who arranged for him. He went to Aurous Hill University to study for a year, and then he married Claire..."

"Calculated like this, Charlie's life path shouldn't have left Aurous Hill. Then how could he know Miss Sara's family? The identities of these two people can be said to be one place each day. don't know how many levels are in between!"

"Could it be that Charlie has any secrets she doesn't know?"

"This matter seems to have only this kind of explanation..."

So Elsa asked subconsciously: "Miss Sara, how did you and Charlie know each other since childhood? Didn't Charlie grow up in Aurous Hill?"

Sara subconsciously wanted to tell the truth, Charlie reacted and hurriedly said to the side: "This matter is a long story..."

Charlie knew that Sara's words just now must have subverted Elsa's consistent perception of him, so Elsa could not give up, she would definitely break the casserole and ask the end.

If he doesn't give her an answer that satisfies her today, then she will definitely do everything possible to explore the truth of the matter in the future, and may even talk to Claire about it.

Thinking of this, Charlie said: "Actually, when I was young, Miss Sara's parents took her to the Aurous Hill Welfare Institute. At that time, they donated a lot of money to the Institute, and they also reached a group with me. One's charity assistance is a family helping an orphan. At that time, I met Miss Sara, and because I was a little older than her, she always called me brother and we always get along as brothers and sisters."

Sara heard this and knew that Charlie definitely didn't want to reveal the identity of the Wade Family Young Master so she nodded and said to Elsa, "Yes, so Charlie and I met a long time ago!"

Elsa suddenly realized.

Rich people like to engage in charity, which is not unusual.

The reason Charlie said, as a whole, sounds like nothing is wrong, and it fits Charlie's entire life experience.

In addition, Sara next to her also affirmed Charlie's statement, so Elsa did not doubt it anymore.

She just reproached and said: "Charlie, you know a star as big as Miss Sara, why have I never heard you talk about it?"

Charlie smiled and said, "You don't know me. I've never liked showing off. There's no need to always talk about my knowledge of Miss Sara. Besides, I'm just a rag in everyone's eyes. I said that, and everyone would definitely not believe it. On the contrary, it will definitely cause everyone to laugh at it. If this is the case, why should I ask myself to be boring?"
