

Catch Me If You Love Me

Chapter 186

Suddenly, the entire layout of the TV headlines was full of intimate images of Liam Lu and Du Lanfu in various occasions.

They appeared arm in arm at the ribbon-cutting scene of an event.

They talked over at the reception together.

They brought Alina Yin in and out of the playground together.

It is clearly a happy picture of a family of three in harmony.

Zoey Gu stood quietly, watching, under her bare feet, as if there was a cloud of air-conditioning, rushing frantically towards the limbs.

“Zoey.”

Liam Lu stood behind her, narrowed his eyes and looked at her quietly for a while, then suddenly spoke.

“Du Lanfu is by my side, only temporarily. She will leave, and everything in the return garden will end.”

“I said, Alina Yin’s future mother, my only Mrs. Lu, no one else, only you.”

He said, bending over and pulling her hand.

In the next second, Zoey Gu shook off like an electric shock.

She turned her head abruptly to look at him, gritted her teeth and asked.

“Liam Lu, what are you doing?”

They have experienced life and death together. She loves him and believes in his feelings for herself.

But while he was in love with her, he turned his head and hugged other women into various occasions in high-profile, still Alina Yin’s biological mother.

So, where do you put her?

Seeing her such a fierce collapse, Liam Lu looked at her deeply and curled his eyebrows.

“Didn’t you say that you will trust me unconditionally?”

He lowered his head quickly, his warm lips lowered his head and kissed it, as if he wanted to calm things down in this way.

Zoey turned her head and his kiss fell in an instant.

Zoey Gu squeezed him away with enough strength, and the moment he looked up, his eyes blushed.

“Liam Lu, I am a person with feelings, flesh and blood and dignity. Because I love you, I can be humble, I can die, and even die with you.”

“But I don’t want to be hated by Alina Yin because I love you, and be pointed at a third party! If so, I would rather never love you!”

The car drove forward slowly, with elegant and soothing music flowing in it.

Halfway through the car, Zoey Gu, who was sitting in the front passenger’s seat, turned her head and looked at Liam Lu, who had a heavy face beside him.

“I just want to come out to breathe and buy something by the way. You can just drop me down at the intersection ahead.”

The man pressed his lips, the line of his jaw was tight, he did not stop or speak.

The conversation at noon ended in unhappy. At that time, each of them had inevitable anger.

Zoey Gu felt inexplicably congested, so she simply followed him and looked out the window.

Passing by a pharmacy, she didn’t know what she thought of, her face changed and she hurriedly shouted.

“parking.”

Liam Lu heard the tension and anxiety in her words, but leaned the car on the side of the road, curling his eyebrows to look at her.

“what happened?”

Zoey Gu raised his hand to push the door, and his face became stiff when he heard him ask.

After a moment, he answered quietly.

“I’m going to buy medicine.”

After talking about pushing the door, but found that the door could not be opened, he heard Liam Lu next to him ask coldly again.

“What’s wrong with you? What medicine do you want to take?”

It means breaking the casserole and asking the end.

Zoey Gu was depressed at first, but at this moment, he felt angrily, his brain was hot, and he raised the volume regardless.

“Contraceptives!”

“I slept with you too many times last night and didn’t take any measures. I don’t want to get pregnant, especially I don’t want to have your child, or let my child become your daughter’s half mother!”

“Are you satisfied?”
