

Chapter 1963– 1964 of A Dish Best Served Cold Novel

Chapter 1963 Chu Family Forbidden Land

Qingyang Town.

At this time, it was early morning.

Although it has not yet reached June, Fenghai City, as an inland city, has started the scorching summer season early.

Taking advantage of the coolness of the morning, there are already many old farmers in the town riding electric bicycles to work.

But if you look closely, you will definitely find that almost all the people who go to the land today are elders over fifty, and few young people are engaged in this ancient production activity.

This generation of farmers may be the last generation of farmers in Vietnam.

After a few decades, it may be hard to see the scene of old farmers ploughing their fields in full swing, replaced by the roar of various big machines.

Farmers, this ancient and great profession, will eventually decline.

“They, for the prosperity and rejuvenation of Vietnam, have shouldered endless suffering.”

“May this era live up to them~” On the roadside, a few professors who came to the countryside to investigate, looked at the old farmers facing the morning sun. Send out a long emotion.

But at this time, not far from these professors, an ancient house, like a wild beast, stood in this ancient place.

That old house occupies a huge area.

In ancient times, the status of having such a courtyard was absolutely comparable to that of a prince.

In this era, it is very rare to see such a high-door courtyard in such a remote town.

Yes, this old mansion is not elsewhere, it is naturally the place where the old prince of the Chu family lives.

Almost instantly, this old mansion attracted the attention of these professors.

“Master, ask, is there anyone living in this old mansion?” “Is it private?” In doubt, these professors who came to the country to investigate could not help asking.

The old man took a look, and then said: “Of course it’s private.”

“Isn’t it an illegal building that covers such a large area? The government has always ignored it?” the professor asked again.

The old man smiled and said, “Do it?” “That can’t do it.”

“This old Chu family house is very mysterious.”

“It existed before the founding of the People’s Republic of Vietnam.”

“Listen to my grandfather, the relevant department decades ago When the local tyrants divided the fields, I thought of demolishing this old house.”

“But you know, what was the result?” The old man said mysteriously while smoking a cigarette.

“How?” The professors who came from the city suddenly became interested and all leaned their heads.

“As a result, the next day, all relevant leaders were removed from their posts, and the leader of Fenghai City was also transferred.”

“What?” These people trembled when they heard it.

There was horror in his eyebrows.

In an instant, the ancient and heavy house in front of it suddenly became more and more mysterious.

However, Mark naturally didn’t know about these discussions outside.

At this time, Mark, following the old lady, had already arrived at the inner courtyard of the Chu family’s old house.

When Mark was a child, when he was staying in this old house of the Chu family, the old lady told Mark that this inner courtyard was forbidden by the Chu family and he was forbidden to play inside.

However, even so, Mark still entered once.

That was the time, Mark got the chance to change.

Now that the old lady brought him here for the second time, Mark was inevitably uneasy.

“Grandma too, is that Yinjuan also in our Chu family’s ancestral land?” After more than ten years, Mark set foot here again, and the surrounding environment did not change much.

Just like time, here it is static.

The trees are still lush, and the springs in the courtyard are still eternally gushing out.

Everything here has witnessed the vicissitudes of time.

Chapter 1964 the secret of the old house

The old lady nodded: “Yeah.”

When Mark heard it, he was shocked: “Grandma, this dragon body, is there any connection with the ancestral land of our Chu family?” “And grandma, I was back then? When you came here for the first time, you said that under this old house, the greatest secret of the Chu family is buried.”

“You didn’t tell me back then because I was weak.”

“Now, I can beat the titled master. Can you tell me?” At this moment, Mark finally asked the biggest doubt in his heart.

Although he was once the eldest son of the Chu family, Mark always felt that he knew little about this family.

He couldn’t imagine the origin and background of a family that could write such a strange book as “The Book of the Clouds”.

Also, what is the secret of the Chu family in his grandma’s mouth?

However, facing Mark’s questioning, the old man shook his head.

“Mark, you know, grandma has stayed here all her life. In addition to helping the Chu family look after this old house, another purpose is to find a descendant who can bear the heavy responsibility for the Chu family. , This secret man.”

“However, you are still not enough now.”

“My Chu family is the No. 1 wealthy family in the world.”

“If you want to shoulder this secret, wait until you stand tall, then talk about it.”

The old man The deep words rang slowly.

After Mark heard it, he was undoubtedly more curious.

What is this secret that the grandma has kept for a lifetime?

“Okay, stop talking nonsense.”

“Same as last time, let’s go in.”

Before speaking, the old lady led Mark to a dry well.

The bricks and tiles by the well are already covered with moss.

At a glance, I know that it has been abandoned for many years.

In the well head, there is no bottom, a piece of black hole, no one knows where it will lead below.

Mark still remembered that when he first came to the mouth of the well, his legs were so frightened that the old lady asked him to jump, but he never jumped alive.

In the end, the old lady kicked Mark in.

Now that more than ten years have passed, Mark is coming, and there is no doubt that he no longer has the last fear in his heart.

“Grandma, you didn’t cheat me?” “The Yin tornado is really inside?” “But why, when I went in last time, I didn’t find it?”

Mark stood at the mouth of the well and looked down, still hesitating in his heart.

Then he turned his head and asked the old lady suspiciously.

However, the old lady was too lazy to take care of him, and kicked him with a kick. Mark was upside down and kicked in by the old lady.

“Ciao!” “Come back?” At the moment when he was kicked in, Mark’s old face turned black. With a cry in his heart, he fell into the endless darkness below.

“It’s a long time, this bastard, for so many years, I still haven’t made any progress. I have to let my old lady kick down?” “By the way, I forgot to tell you. After a while, go west and enter Tangmen.”

“That Yin Tornado, in the Tang Sect.”

Only then did the old lady remember that he had forgotten to talk about business, and hurriedly lay down at the mouth of the well and shouted loudly.

After speaking, the old lady turned around and went back to the room.

“a*shole, if you are lucky, you should be able to get a big chance.”

“However, it depends on whether you have the blessings gone.”

The old man smiled lightly, but the smile was a bit cunning and inept. kindness.

An old and rude look.