

Chapter 2053: One After Another

“The bed is not small. Come up and sleep with me for a while.” Jiang Yao patted the empty space beside her. “Hug me for a while. I was scared to death today. When I fell to the ground, I felt a pain in my stomach. I wanted to cry.”

Her tone did not fluctuate much. It was calm, as if she was narrating a familiar story. However, the people who heard it felt their hearts churn non-stop.

That was the second time.

Lu Xingzhi realized that was the second time he had watched her get injured in front of him.

The bed was not very big. The two of them had filled up the entire bed. There was not a single gap left between them.

His distinct aroma filled the space between their breaths. Hugging him felt like leaning on a tall mountain, putting her at rest.

She seemed to want to say something to him, but as she leaned into his arms, she did not have the time to say anything before drowsiness started to sweep over her.

Jiang Yao woke up earlier than the doctors expected and went to bed faster, but Lu Xingzhi did not feel sleepy.

It was not until his phone suddenly rang that Lu Xingzhi snapped back to his senses. He was worried that his phone would disturb Jiang Yao, so he quickly picked up the call.

“Colonel, our troops seem to have been possessed today.”

The phone call was from Zhou Junmin. “It’s late at night, and three pregnant women had problems, one after another. They were all sent to the hospital.”

“One after another?”

Lu Xingzhi did not quite understand that term.

“Firstly, a sergeant’s wife, who had been married for less than half a year, went to the infirmary. She said that she had a severe stomachache. When the sergeant carried his wife to the infirmary, his wife’s pants were covered in blood. She said the pain had started intermittently after dinner, but they did not pay much attention to it until they saw the blood. Then, they felt something was wrong and went straight to the military doctor, who told them they had a miscarriage. He told them to go to the hospital immediately. They had left for about half an hour before two more women went to the infirmary. One was six months pregnant, and one was about to give birth. After the check-up, they had signs of miscarriage. They were all sent to the hospital.”

“The army is taking this matter very seriously,” Zhou Junmin said. “Including your wife, four pregnant women had problems today.”

“One was an accident. Then, five or three experienced the same situation on the same day, so we couldn’t say they were accidents.” Lu Xingzhi lowered his eyes and looked at the person beside him. Sure enough, he saw that Jiang Yao had already opened her eyes. The ringtone must have woken her.

“Colonel, you’re in the hospital. Please check on the situation,” Zhao Junmin said. “By the way, how is your wife?”

“She’s fine.”

Lu Xingzhi instructed Zhou Junmin to help him keep an eye on the Ye family. Then, he hung up the phone and looked down at Jiang Yao. “Go to sleep. I’ll go and check on the situation.”

The people the army sent to the hospital should be arriving soon.

Jiang Yao nodded. She was very sleepy. Not long after Lu Xingzhi left, she quickly fell asleep again.

Lu Xingzhi asked the nurse on duty to find his comrade, who had just arrived at the hospital for more than ten minutes. His newly married wife had a miscarriage. The soldier stood there with bloodied hands and stared blankly at his wife, who was being pushed into the emergency room.

“What did the doctor say?” Lu Xingzhi walked over and patted the man on the shoulder..

The soldier turned around to look at the person speaking to him. Then, he said, “They can’t save the baby. I didn’t even know she was pregnant. She didn’t know either. This is my fault. It’s all my fault for not taking good care of her. It’s all my fault for not taking good care of myself and our baby. She will hate me.”

Then, the soldier hit himself across the face. He slapped himself twice. If Lu Xingzhi did not hold him back, he might have hit himself until his wife came out of the emergency room.

Lu Xingzhi could empathize with that feeling because he had also experienced the same sense of self-blame. He wished that he could beat himself to death.

“This has already happened. It’s useless to blame yourself. “Just remember to take care of her more carefully in the future,” Lu Xingzhi said. Support our FreeWebNovel.com

Even though the soldier did not hit himself anymore, his mood did not improve.

Lu Xingzhi stood with him for a while. When he saw that there was nothing to do, he was about to go back and accompany Jiang Yao when an elderly nurse walked toward them angrily with a report in her hand. She gave the person beside him a good scolding.

“What’s wrong with you? Even if you don’t want the baby, you can do an abortion at the hospital. Do you think this is okay because you are you? You can’t just take any random medicine to abort the baby. Don’t you know that can kill someone? Don’t you know some people can no longer have children because of these medicines? You are a soldier. One would think you are a responsible person. You’re married but not in a hurry to have children. Can't you be more careful? Wait if you are not in a hurry to have children. How dare you buy abortion drugs yourself?"

The nurse's anger was obvious. She rolled up the report in her hand and slapped it on her palm. "This was delivered on time. If it came later, who knows what else would happen?"

"What? Abortion medicine?"

The soldier shook his head and said, "We didn't take any abortion medicine! My wife and I have been married for half a year and want to have a child. We'd be happy if we knew she was pregnant. Why would we want an abortion? My wife was fine during the day, but she suddenly told me at night that she felt a slight pain in her stomach. At first, I thought that she had eaten something bad.

Later, she said she was bleeding and couldn't stand up from the pain. I sent her to the military doctor only to find out that she had a miscarriage. We didn't even know that she was pregnant. Why would we take abortion medicine?"

The nurse thought the soldier did not look like he was lying, and he looked sorrowful from the knowledge that they had lost their baby. The nurse's expression softened. She said, "But according to the results from the check-up, your wife's miscarriage was caused by abortion drugs. She must have taken those drugs."

"That can't be. Is the result wrong?" The soldier shook his head with certainty.

"My wife wouldn't take any abortion drug."

"The result is correct."

The head nurse flattened the results sheet and looked at the emergency room. The result was correct. How could the husband say his wife did not take any abortion drug? Did his wife take it without his knowledge?

"The army sent two more women over. Are they here yet?" Lu Xingzhi suddenly asked. "His wife was his childhood sweetheart, and they grew up together.

They have been married for about half a year, and they are very close. His wife wouldn't have taken the drugs secretly.."
