

Chapter 238

After reading an outpatient and writing out the checklist, Zhang Fan got up and went to the examination bed. "Chen Jun, I'll give you an examination. Don't be nervous and relax." While wearing gloves, Zhang Fan explained to brother Chen Yantang what to do next.

"Well, OK, Doctor Zhang, I'm not nervous." His mouth is not nervous, but judging from the tension of his hip muscles, we know that he is nervous to death.

In winter, although there is heating in the clinic, the door is wide open, and the hands are cold after writing for a long time, so Zhang Fan rubbed his hands and asked Chen Jun to relax. "Chen Yan is your cousin?"

"Well, my uncle's child. My sister is excellent at work and for the elderly at home." As he spoke, he boasted about his sister, because his sister's marriage was a big problem at home. She couldn't look up to her with poor conditions, and she couldn't look up to her with good conditions.

After preparing for the examination, Zhang Fan smeared a little liquid paraffin on his gloves and said to Chen Jun, "I'll put my finger into your rectum for a simple examination. Don't be nervous. Come on, breathe in and then breathe out. Relax. Yes, that's it. Relax."

While talking, Zhang Fan slowly entered the other party's rectum with his fingers. Finger examination, especially the examination of rectum, is very important. Although it is a routine and simple examination, the effect is very good, but it is because of the large number of outpatients, the doctors are too busy or other factors. This examination is often abandoned by doctors and open enteroscopy directly. I can't tell right from wrong. But one thing is clear. It is irresponsible for anorectal doctors to suspect that patients have rectal diseases without finger examination.

Zhang Fan checks slowly with his fingers. How does this normal finger check feel? In fact, it is a comfortable feeling to give feedback to doctors for all normal examinations.

The human body is wonderful. The heart beats regularly. The doctor listens with a stethoscope. Although it is not a song, the normal frequency is comfortable. The normal breathing of the lungs is very comfortable for ordinary people who are not doctors to listen with a stethoscope. The soft breathing sound is like the breeze on the hill.

But once there is an abnormality, amplify the sound. Even non professionals know that there is a problem, because the sound emitted by the tone and frequency will make people feel uncomfortable.

Finger inspection is also a truth. After inserting the finger, the root of the finger is covered with a rubber sleeve like an elastic mouth of a rubber, which is not tight or loose. The intestinal wall in the middle of the finger is constantly stroked, warm but not hot, just like a warm treasure with appropriate temperature. Feedback to the doctor feels comfortable.

Once something goes wrong, which feeling is an unspeakable discomfort. Sometimes, it can also make doctors have a severe diaphragmatic response. Even professionals see it every day, but some diseases can still make people have a strong diaphragmatic response. It is estimated that this is an inherent factor in human genes to avoid danger.

Zhang Fan slowly rotated his fingers and kept touching where he could reach. The patient was lying on his stomach and couldn't see the doctor's expression, but Zhao Zipeng stood beside Zhang Fan and looked at Zhang Fan frowning. He knew there was a problem.

"Trouble!" Zhang Fan said in his heart, this is Chen Yan's cousin, an acquaintance, because Zhang Fan touched the hard and uneven lump inside the rectum.

Normal people's rectum is soft and flat when touched, which can be said to be as smooth as silk. Even some venous plexus can make people feel smooth, but this abnormal thing is not so.

In particular, some tumors and malignant tumors are really outstanding. It feels like it can fight with your fingers.

After the inspection, Zhang Fan slowly withdrew from his finger and looked at the finger. There were blood and pus. Zhang Fan said quietly to Chen Jun, "well, the inspection is over. Look at your nervousness. Bai is so strong. Get up and lift your pants. "

Then Zhang Fan took off his gloves and washed his hands. Sitting on the seat, he said to Zhao Zipeng, "open an enteroscope and add urgency."

Zhao Jun had packed up and came out. When he heard Zhang Fan's words, Zhang Fan said again, "this is Chen Yan's brother. Hurry up to check and join the team, which is also the welfare inside the hospital."

"Oh, thank you! Thank you. Which director Zhang? I'll go to the bathroom first and then have an examination. I'll feel like going to the bathroom again. Ah! " Chen Jun politely said to Zhang Fan.

"All right! Go. " After waiting for the patient to go out, Zhang Fan said to Zhao Zipeng, "see if he has left." After watching Zhao Zipeng go out, Zhang Fan takes out the phone and calls Chen Yan: "Chen Yan, are you busy, come here if you are not busy."

Because he is an acquaintance, Zhang Fan must explain clearly to others. Chen Yan fell down as soon as she heard it. They were all engaged in medical treatment. It must not be a good thing for someone else's doctor to call her. If she was in a general condition, Zhang Fan wouldn't call. If it was a little more serious, she would explain it clearly on the phone. But now there's nothing. Just let her go. This is a big trouble.

Medical people are particularly sensitive to this kind of thing. Zhang Fan makes a phone call. Chen Yan thinks, tears are coming out, "I hope my brother is not the worst one!" Thinking about it, tears fell naturally. How old is my lovely nephew! This is not to scare yourself, but to understand the industry and Zhang Fan.

When the head nurse in her heart saw Chen Yan, she answered the phone and burst into tears. She hurriedly asked, "what's the matter?"

"My brother is not feeling well. I asked Zhang Fan to check it today. As a result, Zhang Fan asked me to go."

If it's other young doctors, the head nurse can also comfort: let other old doctors look again. Maybe there's nothing, but Zhang Fan's examination, that is to say, it's the end in the municipal hospital.

"What did Dr. Zhang say?"

"He asked me if I was busy. If I wasn't busy, I'd hurry over." Chen Yan covered her mouth, but her tears couldn't stop.

"What are you crying for? Is crying useful. Let's go. I'll go with you. If Zhang Fan scares you today, I won't clean him up. Let's go. " The head nurse, like an old hen, escorted Chen Yan to the outpatient building.

This is the sadness of colleagues in the medical industry. If their close relatives are unfortunately ill, they are the first to know, and they are also the most stressed, because they understand, other families do not understand, they almost have to make all decisions, and they bear the pressure.

It doesn't matter whether it's fair or not. Who told you to do this!