

Chapter 251

Love, the love of ordinary people, with the extension of mutual combination time, has slowly become family affection, perhaps closer relatives than their brothers and sisters, or familiar with their left hand and right hand. But once the abnormal factors are mixed, this thing is complicated, such as power, such as money.

Dong Li doesn't know what he thinks. Whether it's through Ouyang to send evil fire in his heart or to achieve some purpose, these things are not understood by Dou Sheng Xiaomin. President Wang was so fated that he rescued him. The first sentence when he woke up was: "can I still walk on the sidewalk?"

A chicken feather, really a chicken feather. This matter cannot consider who is right and who is wrong. It can only end with a fine. When people live, the people in the bank will be relieved, and the superiors will be relieved. For this fight, it is as if it did not happen, and it passed quietly. There was no bonus for excellent units in the hospital!

For the Chinese new year, all units begin to have holidays, and the hospital only allows doctors and nurses to take turns. They take turns on standby, but some elective operations are not carried out. But there is no shortage of emergency surgery. During the Chinese new year, it is also a time period for the outbreak of gastrointestinal diseases.

After a few days of rest, Zhang Fan was called to the hospital. Because a doctor in the infectious diseases department was pregnant, she cried and wanted to change the Department. The scene was miserable. In the medical office, the female doctor covered her unborn stomach with her hands and cried: "when I entered the hospital, the leader promised me to stay for half a year. I said that the infectious diseases department was really short of people, and I understood the difficulties of my superiors, He went without saying anything. But this stay is six years. Now can the hospital understand my difficulties? "

It's really sad, choking, and even talking intermittently. "In the past six years, it's because I've been in the infectious diseases department, talking about breaking up one object, talking about breaking up one object, and listening to that I'm a doctor in the infectious diseases department, I hesitate to connect and kiss!" Although a little exaggerated, it really hurts to see her expression.

"I finally found an object. Now that I am pregnant, my husband just said, either change the department or resign. Is it easy for me! Woo! Woo! Woo! "

The director of the medical office had no choice. A pregnant woman stood in the medical office crying out of breath and couldn't be persuaded“ Why don't you take a break first? You are now the pillar of the Department. The Department can't live without you! " The director spoke in a gentle voice. At this time, he can only appease and appease the doctor's resentment for several years.

"Director, just let me go! Do you really want me to divorce my husband? " That's all said. The director of the medical department has no choice.

"You don't cry first, wipe your tears. You have a baby. You should stabilize your mood and don't get too excited. In this way, you go to rest first and I'll report this matter to the superior. You can rest assured that we will give you a satisfactory answer. "

It was not easy to persuade the female doctor to go, but there were not enough people on duty in the infectious diseases department. The director thought about it and thought about it. There was no way, because the results of this year's licensed doctor had just come down, the certificate had not been obtained, and many doctors could not be on duty alone. Just thinking about it, Zhang Fan was free.

"Zhang Fan, why?" The director of the medical office called Zhang Fan. What else can Zhang Fan do? He's been busy these days. At the beginning, he watched boss ma do it with ease. When Zhang Fan took over, it was all about things. This unit will check today and that unit will assess tomorrow. The day after tomorrow, the medical insurance bureau will stop the medical insurance of the hospital. Anyway, it's bullshit all day.

"Oh, director, I'm busy with my personal affairs." Zhang Fan means busy!

"Oh, well, that's all right. Let's put aside our private affairs first. The infectious diseases department of the hospital can't turn around. Hurry to the infectious diseases department on duty!" The director of the medical department doesn't care whether you have private affairs or not. His idea is that your dog is old. What private affairs do you have!

"Ah! Director, I'm really busy. I'm still off ~ ~ "Zhang Fan didn't finish his words. The director of the medical department directly interrupted Zhang Fan's words:" go to the acupoint again? I said to you, enough is enough. It's not negotiable. Come quickly and make up for your vacation after you're busy! "

Hey! Zhang Fan has no way out. It's all a lie. The director of the medical office pressed Zhang Fan with his acupoint! If you don't go, you can only leave it to Lao Chen and go to work by yourself.

Infectious diseases department, no one really wants to do it in the hospital. China has made great efforts to control this infectious disease. The purpose of the country is to prevent more than cure. Older people know the previous epidemic prevention station, and younger people know the CDC. The establishment of this unit costs no less than the hospital.

Although there is an epidemic prevention station, the hospital can not but set up this department. Because this infectious disease is divided into three levels, class A, class B and class C. generally, people are ill. The first time is to go to the hospital rather than the epidemic prevention station. The epidemic prevention station is to assist the hospital in control and treatment. When the epidemic situation is too large, the epidemic prevention station is dominant and the hospital is auxiliary.

Why is no doctor willing to work in this department? It's very simple. This disease is too vicious. The biggest characteristic of infectious diseases is that they can infect, which is all right. But what's more hateful is that many of these diseases have an incubation period. That is, when there are no symptoms, no one knows whether the other party has an infectious disease.

For a simple analogy, the poorer the region, the more tuberculosis, and the people in rich areas don't be happy, because the richer the region, the more AIDS! According to the current treatment method, antibiotics have been upgraded and studied for many generations. There are four generations of cephalosporins. The main drugs that can treat tuberculosis, isoniazid and rifampicin, have not changed for many years. This disease is not cured. Once it is carried for life, it will rebel again when it is in poor health that day!

AIDS is even more frightening. When it is not produced, it will not be able to find out according to the existing technology and equipment. In short, after HIV infection, there is a period of time. The body does not produce factors to fight it, and the hospital can't find it, because the existing means can only check the factors to fight AIDS, not the HIV virus directly. Is it terrible? It's terrible. So stay away from poison (a) and unclean sex (a)! It's important!

Doctors in other departments usually wear a thin layer of blue disposable masks, while doctors in the Department of infectious diseases are a thick mask in spring, summer, autumn and winter. Because many infectious diseases are transmitted by air droplets.

Respiratory tract, digestive tract, blood, direct contact and vertical infection are the main routes of transmission, especially in the digestive tract. An infection is a large and small group, such as schools, organs and units. Hushang, the top city in China, has advanced facilities and equipment.

But in the 1990s, there was a very serious outbreak of hepatitis A. people growing up around them should know that the clam was popular in those years, because it was not clean and carried a virus. That year, it directly led to the outbreak of hepatitis A among tens of thousands of people in Shanghai, including jaundice, stomachache and fatigue.

Not dozens of people, not hundreds of people, but tens of thousands of people. Tens of thousands of people in a super city are sick at the same time. The panic caused by others can scare people to death!

These are relatively mild and weak infectious diseases. The infectious disease that burst a little is the curse of the magician. For example, infectious diseases such as class A, cholera and plague.

These two diseases can destroy the country if they say bad words! Once the disease is found, it must be reported to the superior unit within two hours, and the patient must be forcibly isolated at the first time. What is compulsory is to forcibly control and forcibly isolate you whether you like it or not. For example, a case of cholera was found in the municipal hospital. Well, the infectious disease department will be put under martial law directly. The armed police will stand guard with bullets. If the treatment is not good, they will have to die in the infectious disease department even if they die. It's so terrible. Don't meet it. Once you meet it, it really depends on your next luck! This isolation includes medical staff! The patient is an accident, and what is the medical staff! Bad luck?

As we all know, there's nothing to say about blood transmission. It's just that according to the current technology, many pathogens can't be found out from the blood ~! So blood transfusion can save lives, but the risk is not small!

Direct contact is very bullshit. This thing is too dangerous. An anthrax almost shut down the postal system in western countries and Marubeni countries. In those years, there were many cases in western countries where anthrax was spread by e-mail. If you open this e-mail directly, you will be infected! It's a terrorist attack! And many sexually transmitted diseases are actually directly infectious, such as syphilis and condyloma acuminatum!

Being a mother is strong. A pregnant female doctor in the infectious diseases department was originally a very weak woman. She didn't go to the infectious diseases department because she was pregnant. It's not her fault. I can't even blame others. It's human nature!

No way. No matter how busy he is, Zhang Fan has to go to work. The infectious diseases department is like an extra department in the municipal hospital. Away from the main ward, in a small courtyard behind the internal medicine department of the hospital and a small building with a fence.

The wall of the yard is covered with barbed wire mesh that can be electrified. Usually, there is no electricity. Once it is needed, it is a prison. And the windows of the small building are all finger thick iron fences. The rooms on the third floor are generally single rooms. The duty and office of doctors and nurses are at the head of the first floor of the small building. It is estimated that the safety facilities of their office can be compared with the financial department of the hospital.

Department director Yu Hai, in his forties. He came from the epidemic prevention station and could have been the director of a department of the epidemic prevention station. As a result, he couldn't pee in a gourd with the boss of the epidemic prevention station. Finally, he found a relationship and came to the municipal hospital. He is a marginal department director, because he was very low-key, kind and peaceful.

Corey was originally two attending doctors. As a result, the female attending doctor was pregnant and went on strike. The remaining attending doctor was Yang Tao, an older unmarried man. It's fun. Xue Fei of the first Department of orthopedics is Ma you. Their level is the same as that of the second brother. It is estimated that all their income and wages have been sent to the mahjong table.

The rest are four residents. This department has a feature. The old doctor is not obvious. If he was either bewitched by his superiors or kicked into this department because of his mistakes, for example, Yang Tao was kicked from the respiratory department to the infectious department because he often skipped work and played mahjong.

In recent years, these residents are more sad, or those who have not been tested as practicing doctors for several years have finally passed the test, and they are old. It doesn't matter. They have no way to be assigned here, or if they don't do well, they will pass the score line.

Although the general environment is not good, the small environment of the Department is good. There is no obvious suppression from superiors and subordinates. Everything is discussed. This small environment is very rare in hospitals. For this, the hospital also turned a blind eye. It's really necessary to compete. It's hard for people to take off their white coats and go to a private hospital!

When Zhang Fan came to report for duty, Yu Hai was very polite. First, he took Zhang Fan and got a set of equipment, mask and hand disinfectant“ Dr. Zhang, you must protect yourself. You know that I don't have much nonsense in special departments. According to your level, you don't need to be familiar with this department. Just follow the duty. If you don't understand anything, you can ask me and other doctors. "

What can you say! Zhang fan can only do this. It's too uncomfortable to wear an airtight mask in a hot and dry room!

There are not many patients in the ward, just two or three birds, but only two or three birds can not be despised. The disinfection of this department is the most strict one in the hospital, which can almost be compared with the operating room.

Check the intensity of ultraviolet lamp regularly, take samples regularly and have physical examination regularly. Really can't be careless at all, because if you are careless here, it's a big deal.
