

Chapter 264

„Jenny’s eyes flashed with a touch of sarcasm.

“Truly? You didn’t talk about it when I was cheated and oppressed by Kelly Wang and Clara, and now you come here to tell me how you feel? I’m sorry, but your sincerity makes me feel really cheap!”

“You...”

“Let go! I’m going in!”

“Jenny, listen to me...”

“I told you to let go!”

Jenny shook him off, but unexpectedly used a little too much strength and threw the man right into the railing.

Rovell let out a painful grunt, and many people around him looked over, a little surprised.

Jenny: “.....”

Little blush.

Well, it seems like it’s not good to drink too much of this wine ha, if you’re not careful you’ll easily lose control of your temper and expose your strength, you can’t even grasp the strength.

With all the strange looks from everyone around her, she hesitated on whether to just leave at this point or go over and check it out.

In the end, as some low voices began to ring out next to her, she was now at least considered a celebrity, and while it was not unusual for celebrities to see celebrities in a place like the Fairy Water Pavilion, it wouldn’t be good if word got out that she had hit someone in public.

She's thin-skinned, and she wants a face.

So in the end, I had to walk towards Rovell and whisper, "Hey! Don't pretend you're not dead, get up."

Rovell covered his stomach as he hit the railing, squeezing his whole face together in pain.

He managed to stand up and gritted his teeth, "I'm, I'm fine."

His face was white and his forehead was full of weak sweat.

Jenny looked at him as if he was weak, and it was hard to believe that he was really okay.

It was a little irritating.

A grown man, like a weak chicken, can't have a good fight when you bump into him like this?

It's not broken, is it?

Jenny Jing apprehensively said, "Why don't I help you back to the box! Uh, or maybe I'll go get a waiter?"

Rovell looked up at her.

"No, I just have a bit of a stomach ache, can you help me to the bathroom?"

Jenny thought about it, the bathroom had just been there herself, it wasn't far, so she agreed.

Helping him to the bathroom door, she said quietly, "Here we are, all right then I'll go first."

After saying that, he was about to leave, but was pulled by Rovell and brought the whole person inside the gents.

Jenny, who was unaware, was really taken in by him, and was surprised and angry.

"Are you fu*king crazy?Cut me loose!"

She couldn't resist bursting into foul language.

Rovell sneered and pressed her against the cubicle's wall panel, whispering, "Try screaming again?If someone outside hears you, let's see how you can explain!"

Jenny gritted his teeth.

So there's just something bad about being an entertainer.

Sometimes it's common to die for the sake of pride and to swallow your pride for the sake of reputation.

But where she was the one who was willing to endure and couldn't scream, she simply backhandedly covered Rovell Mu's mouth, then lifted her heels and stomped down.

"Well..."

Rovell grunted in pain.

Trying to struggle, but the woman was so strong that she didn't know where she had gotten the strength to winch both of his arms back, and his whole body was pressed back against the door panel, still in a face to wall position.

Immediately afterwards, countless fists muffled together came down on the back of his head.

Jenny is really mad!

Yaaaaay!He's already annoying enough as it is!He's not interested!

You had to go up to her, didn't you?Then let him try!

Jenny had just been tricked, and now he wasn't worried about breaking him, just a fat beating.

Later on, it was still too inconvenient for one hand, so I simply pulled out his belt, tied his hands behind his back, took off his socks and gagged him, and after freeing my hands, I punched and kicked him for a while.

Someone came in to use the bathroom outside and heard voices inside.

At first there was some surprise as to what was happening.

Later, when I heard the muffled sounds of the man inside and the woman gasping for air, it all became ambiguously clear.

The men usually know this kind of thing by heart, so they don't talk much and leave in silence after using the bathroom.

Poor Rovell tried to voice out for help, but no one paid attention.

Jenny played for ten minutes or so, but finally got tired of fighting.

Panting and cross-legged, with a small red face and a forehead drenched in sweat.

Rovell, on the other hand, had already given up on resisting, and curled up as a shrimp on the floor next to the toilet with his head down.

Jenny wasn't relieved and kicked him hard.

Gritting his teeth, he said, "If it wasn't for Old Lady Yu's face, I would have wanted to beat you up! You asked for it today. Next time you come near me, I'll kill you! Hear that?"

Rovell's nose was swollen and his eyes were soaked in blood, and he was nearly unconscious, not even having the strength to respond.

Jenny Jing Fang realized in hindsight that he had done too much, and thought about it, using his phone to send a text message to Patrick Hong.

"I'm beaten, come to the ladies room and save me."

After sending it, she squared off and washed her hands and left.

Jenny made up her mind that a good-looking person like Rovell Mu would never tell Patrick Hong that he was beaten by her.

After all, to everyone, she was just a little girl with no hands.

And being weak since childhood and not being able to do martial arts at all, no one would believe her even if they told her that she had beaten him.

And it really did turn out to be what she expected.

When he woke up from the hospital the next day, he refused to say who the person who beat him was, no matter how much Patrick Hong asked.

Patrick Hong was angry at first, yelling that he wanted to call the police and also set up surveillance.

Then I saw that he was really resisting too much, and I felt helpless to give up.

And although she gave up, Rovell thoroughly remembered Jenny Jing.

He didn't understand how someone who was clearly weak in the past could suddenly become so strong.

That day in the bathroom, he was really not polite and tried very hard to struggle.

But he really can't get away!

That woman, she's like the devil!

It was horrible!

On top of the fear, the resentment in Rovell's heart intensified.

Many people saw the day they were stretched out of the bathroom, and they were all upper class people in Visterdem.

Everyone knows that his Mu family's young owner was beaten up in the ladies' room, and there are even reports of ambiguous noises heard in the bathroom before, wondering if he was peeking at people going to the bathroom, or being fairy danced, or doing something shady.

Muyenze simply couldn't say anything!

God knows, at that time, he had pulled Jenny in just to take advantage of her previous feelings for him, to talk to her properly and get her back again.

And now we're in this mess!

Jenny!

Just the thought of those two words filled him with resentment and hatred now.

She hates him, doesn't she?

Don't want to be with him, do you? Then he'll have to!

Sooner or later, he would trample all of her pride underfoot and give her a taste of what it was really like to offend him!

Chapter 265

I'm sorry.

The entire Yu family mansion was brightly lit.

On the sofa in the living room, Old Mrs. Yu was sitting there with a smile on her face, opposite Mr. Guan who had a straight face.

"Don't worry, Mr. Kwan! I'll do what you've entrusted me to do as if it were my own."

The company has been in the process of developing the new product for the past two years, and is now in the process of developing the new product for the next two years.

This time I personally came to Visterdem for this matter, but this is after all a private matter of our Guan family, and I hope that the old man will keep it quiet.

My father has been seriously ill for a long time, and now his greatest wish is to find that child, so please let me know at once whether or not you can finally find it, so that I can confirm it beforehand, so that the old man doesn't get empty joy."

Old Mrs. Yu nodded her head.

"It's natural, Mr. Kwan, please rest assured that if there's any news, I'll let you know first."

"In that case, thank you old lady, it's a picture of the boy, but it was taken when he was a few months old, so maybe it won't serve as much of a reference at all."

Guan Jiming handed over an old yellowing photograph, looking a little regretful.

Old Lady Yu even took a closer look at it.

The photos are over a decade old, but they are in good condition except for some yellowing.

As you can see, the owner who owns this photo treasures it.

The old lady looked at it for a moment, not laughing.

"Speaking of children, they all look pretty much the same, but this one up here is exceptionally eye-catching, and in my opinion, it seems to be quite similar to Jenny when she was a child."

Next to him, a middle-aged man said evenly, "Mom, are you confused? Jenny's family has a father and a mother, when Mo Caiwei was pregnant with her, we even went to his house, how could we be involved with Miss Guan?"

Old Mrs. Yu smiled, "Yes, yes, I'm just saying that casually."

Guan Ji Ming, however, came to be interested.

"Are you guys talking about the Miss Jing who sang at the Immortal Water Pavilion last time?"

Old Mrs. Yu nodded, "That's her."

Guan Jiming smiled, "Actually when I first saw her, I felt that she was very similar to Little Wan, not referring to the facial features, but the kind of temperament on her body and the feeling that passed between her eyebrows and eyes, how old is she this year?"

"It's like twenty-five!"

"Twenty-five?" Guan Ji Ming looked pale.

If that child Wanda was still alive, she should just as well be 24 or 25 years old.
(loanword)

He was suddenly agitated, "Did you just say that her mother's name is Mo Caiwei? Did you see Mo Caiwei give birth to her with your own eyes?"

Old Mrs. Yu was a bit confused.

She wasn't in Visterdem at the time, so naturally she wouldn't have seen it with her own eyes, except that she had visited Mo Caiwei when she was pregnant, and then the baby came out and she had hugged her several times.

The old lady didn't know how to answer.

While hesitating, a voice suddenly came from the doorway, "Of course I saw it with my own eyes."

The crowd followed the sound and saw that it was a year-old middle-aged woman walking in.

The old lady was busy introducing, "Oh, let me introduce you, this is my daughter-in-law, Qiu Feng, Ah Feng, this is the second master of the Guan family in Kyoto, you can call him Mr. Guan."

Qiu Feng greeted evenly.

Guan Jiming even followed up with a question, "You saw it with your own eyes?"

Qiu Feng smiled slightly, "Yes

Ah, Mo Caiwei's mother died early, when she went into labor and didn't have a reliable female friend by her side, our two families are friends after all, and I gave birth two years before her, so I went over there to check it out, it would never be a lie."

Guan Ji Ming was a little disappointed to see that she had spoken truly.

Old Mrs. Yu's heart, however, was not confused.

Of course when Mo Caiwei gave birth, she didn't go in the field, but she sent her housekeeper to greet her, and doesn't remember Qiu Feng saying she went to see it.

Did she remember wrongly, or did Qiu Feng go quietly later?

Despite her doubts, she believed her daughter-in-law wouldn't lie about such a big deal.

So nothing more was said.

Guan Jiming was empty-hearted and obviously very lost, and everyone chatted some more before sending him away.

After Guan Ji Ming left, Old Mrs. Yu called out to Qiu Feng and asked, "Feng, did you really go to Cai Wei's birth back then?"

Qiu Feng's eyes turned.

Laughing, "Of course I went, can I still lie about this? But I was in a hurry to get there and the house driver wasn't back, so I took a cab."

Only then did Old Lady Yu nod at the news.

No wonder, she said how she didn't know that she didn't use the home driver.

The old lady went upstairs in contemplation, while behind her, Qiu Feng lowered her eyes slightly, an imperceptible darkness shining in her eyes.

.....

At noon, Jenny saw that it was almost time, and that Biden Lu should be arriving soon, which was why he packed up his things and rushed to the airport.

Unexpectedly, before we got to the airport, we received a text message from a man.

Say the flight is late, maybe two hours late.

Jenny didn't think it would be like this, but since it's out, it's too much trouble to go back in again.

Luckily, there was a rather busy Times Square near the airport, so I decided to divert there for a little shopping and wait.

It is now twelve o'clock in the middle of the afternoon, the time of the meal.

Jenny Jing had planned to receive Biden Lu and then go to dinner together, but now it seemed that, naturally, he couldn't make it.

So, it was decided to get together a restaurant on your own first.

Unexpectedly, I had just found a restaurant and was about to go in when I ran into a man at the door.

Mr. Kwan?What's he doing here?

Guan Jiming didn't expect to run into her here and smiled, "Hey, Miss Jing, you're eating here too?"

Jenny even smiled and nodded, "Yes, you eat too?"

"Yes, I'm getting ready to catch a flight back to Kyoto, and this is just in time for dinner, so when I saw there was still time, I came over here to have some."

Jenny nodded, and the two of them were speechless for a moment, so she was ready to greet and leave.

Unexpectedly, but then I heard Guan Ji Ming suddenly ask, "Is Miss Jing alone?"

Jenny nodded, "Yeah." "I'm also alone, so if Miss King doesn't mind, we can eat together instead."

Jenny was a little embarrassed, "This... will it disturb you?"

"No, it's just as well, last time Miss Jing was able to sing for me, I haven't had a chance to thank her yet, how about I be the host today and treat you to a casual dinner?"

Jenny was embarrassed and was about to refuse.

But Guan Jiming even added, "It's no fun for me to eat alone, so if you don't mind, just join in the fun."

Having said that, it would be unkind to refuse.

Besides, it doesn't make any difference if one person eats it or two people eat it.

So, after hesitating, Jenny said, "That's fine."

Chapter 266

While the restaurant is considered upscale for Visterdem, it's clearly not good enough.

And Guan Ji Ming's display of refinement, a look is not very likely to eat in such a place, today to come here, either this Guan rush time is too late, or there is some special place to attract him over.

Jenny was a little curious, but it was unfamiliar, so he didn't ask more.

They went into the restaurant, and the banquet was a lively affair.

But I don't know if it was her delusion, but there was always something wrong with the way Guan Ji Ming looked at her.

The enthusiasm was not at all like someone who had only met twice.

Jenny Jing secretly had an extra eye in his heart and asked, "What is Mr. Guan's business this time in Jiangcheng?"

Seki said, "Find someone."

"Oh? Can I ask who to call?"

Kuan Ji Ming paused and smiled, "A child of the deceased."

At this point, to the convenience of not continuing, Jenny saw that he did not want to talk more, so it was not a good idea to ask more questions.

So laugh it off.

At this time, the new dish came up, holding himself as a Visterdem person when doing his best to be a landlord, Jenny Jing introduced, "This gulao and pao is quite famous here, I don't know how the taste is over in Kyoto, Mr. Guan can try it."

Guan Ji Ming looked at the plate of goo and stared at it, slightly distracted.

Jenny found out and carefully asked, "Mr. Guan, are you alright?"

Guan Ji Ming came back to his senses and barely smiled, "Nothing."

Court's favorite food, too, is the cooch.

How nice would it be if she could be here?

Alas!

I don't know if it was Jenny's delusion, but she always felt that this Mr. Guan was in a somewhat low mood.

But remember that he had come to Visterdem looking for someone, or maybe he hadn't found them, or maybe because of something else.

After all, it was only the second time they met, and it was hard to ask too many questions, so she didn't say much.

After dinner, the time was just about right, and Guan Jiming also had to go to the airport for a flight, so he didn't drive, so he took Jenny's car along.

The two chatted a bit more on the way, and Jenny was very conscious of not inquiring about the other's identity.

Anyway, no matter what the identity, it has nothing to do with himself, just as a casual acquaintance to make a friend.

After arriving at the airport, Jenny Jing sent a message to Biden Lu, telling him that he had arrived.

Guan Jieming's flight was at 1:50, with a little over half an hour to go.

I don't know if it was really like he said, worrying about her being a little girl waiting here or wanting to talk to her more, but in any case, he kept Jenny company and refused to go in first.

He was like this, and Jenny was not in a position to refuse.

After waiting for a while, not long after that, Biden Lu came out.

The man was dressed in a black suit with a dark grey jacket over it, still instrumental and handsome, with a cold brow!

Jenny couldn't help but give a big smile and ran over to him.

"Jenny!"

The man's smile never curved down from the first moment he saw her, catching her in his arms and hugging her hard and hard.

"Did you miss me?"

Jenny's heart thumped.

Burying my face in his chest, I could also feel the strong beating of his heart.

She suddenly felt her eyes warm, and for no apparent reason she felt a tingle at the tip of her heart.

At this moment, no longer wanting to worry about anything else, I wrapped my arms around his waist and nodded.

The fullness of joy then seemed like an endless tide to the man's heart, and he picked up her Face, k*ss it deeply.

Jenny was a bit confused by the k*ss, but still obediently closed her eyes, her entire senses all filled with the scent that belonged to him.

Cold, deep, and overbearing....

I can't wait to possess her completely.

Standing not far away, Guan Ji Ming was full of embarrassment.

Originally saw Biden Lu, a little surprised, was about to go up to greet.

But now this....

The k*ss didn't last long.

After all, it was at the airport, and even though it was a VIP lane, there were a lot of people, and the little girl had to be considered for her thin face.

Indeed, as soon as she was released, she found her face flushed like two red apples, which was particularly touching.

Jenny didn't expect that she would actually be under this man's compulsion to k*ss him in public.

All that reserve, all that shyness, all of it was knocked out of the sky by thoughts.

It was only then that she realized that some feelings, perhaps already rooted in her heart, were just unwilling to see them and had been avoiding them, so she pretended they didn't exist.

But how can you really ignore something that already exists?

Like a seed planted, it needs only a little nourishment to break through the soil and grow into a towering tree.

And time and distance are the best nutrients.

It wasn't until he felt a hot gaze coming from behind that Jenny looked up.

Then, many passersby were seen looking this way, and her face was buried in the man's chest, but they couldn't see what she looked like.

But spare a thought for her figure and demeanor, this was a beautiful woman.

Beautiful men and women have always attracted attention, not to mention such a bold move.

Jenny's face reddened even more, and he was busy pulling his hair to shield his face, afraid that someone would recognize him.

God knows, she's a little-known actress now, okay?

There are enough black spots in itself, never get photographed and make headlines again tomorrow.

Biden Lu saw her covering her face and couldn't help but laugh.

"Shy?"

Jenny shook his head and tugged on his sleeve, "Let's go!"

"Well." He paused, but didn't move, instead raising his hand to shield her face.

Her face, already small, was almost completely blocked under his large palm.

Jenny Jing was a little startled, and when he looked up, he saw his glittering eyes, which were filled with gentle laughter, and said in a mute voice, "I miss you too, a lot."

Jenny suddenly laughed.

This man, really....

She answered that she missed him, and he had to say it again?

Do you have to be so serious?

Yet somehow, a honey-like sweetness rose up from the tip of your heart.

She nodded, "Yeah, I know."

Dragging him by the hand, he said, "Come here, I want to introduce you to someone."

Jenny obediently allowed her to hold her hand and walk to Guan Ji Ming.

Jenny was a little embarrassed, thinking that Guan Ji Ming must have seen that scene just now, but did it all, and can no longer erase what just happened, so can only pretend to be calm.

"Mr. Guan, the person I picked up has arrived, Biden, this is Mrs. Yu's friend, Mr. Guan."

Guan Ji Ming smiled and exclaimed, "Ah Shen, I really didn't expect that! I said why are you so fond of staying in Visterdem lately, but it turns out it's a golden house."

Biden Lu also smiled slightly, "Second Uncle is joking, I didn't expect you and Jenny to actually know each other, it seems I don't need to be introduced."