

My One In A Million Wife Chapter 266

It's dark.

She fumbled her way to the door.

Turning the lock, she realized that the door was locked from the outside.

Fear and anxiety surged into her heart as she shouted, "Hello? Is there anyone around? Where is this? Why are you keeping me here?"

She smacked the door hard, but she received no responses.

After Jenny and her left the café, she was kidnapped by people in a van. She lost consciousness after that.

When she woke again, she was already in this foreign place. Am I kidnapped?

Hera fearfully curled into herself as she fell to the ground.

I'm just a poor, powerless, and unloved daughter from the Chapman family. Why did they kidnap me? What is their motive?

Right then, the lights in the room turned on.

Then, the metal door unlocked.

A man in black stepped into the room.

There was a pill in his hand, and it looked familiar.

It looks like... The aphrodisiac I bought from the black market!

backward to put a distance between the man and her, then shrieked, "What are medicine." The Hera could not see his

it!" Hera screamed as she for her, the man was prepared. He grabbed her arm and pinned her against the wall. Then, he

"No! It'll-" Hera sobbed.

to spit the pill

of water and

she

spit the pill

was done, the man flung her off him and threw handled her the same way one would mess. In her struggle earlier, the water had spilled down the front escaped her eyes and doing this to me? Do you want money? Is tears continued to

with a golden spoon. and she had never been treated in this way too late for you." The man her by her collar and heaved was dragged toward wrists, the man threw

in the night toward the metropolitan period of time unbeknownst to Hera, her body twisted and turned, hoping to relieve some

no avail; the heat