

Chapter 270

In spring, the slightly drunk warm sun raises the temperature of the world a little bit. Various projects have also started. The originally quiet city hospital, because of the construction of emergency center and pediatric center, the noisy noise makes patients more upset.

In the hospital, pain is the eternal theme, that is, obstetrics will be happier. Even strong obstetricians are happier than doctors in other departments. Because the hope and future of mankind are born here. In addition to obstetrics, one of the remaining departments is one. In most departments, the atmosphere is relatively dull.

Early in the morning, Zhang Fan went to the rheumatology department with a transfer form " Dr. Zhang, welcome! Come and sit down. I heard you came from orthopedics? " Director Wu wanghong spoke kindly with Zhang Fan.

"When you enter the hospital, you are the orthopaedic department." Zhang Fan is a little tangled. He is a resident doctor and can't talk about his origin! However, it can also be seen from the side that Zhang Fan has emerged in the municipal hospital. Even the director who doesn't care much about gossip knows Zhang Fan's deeds. The conversation was polite with equal status.

"Oh, we are still sister majors. This time, I am more familiar with the Department, and there are many opportunities for cooperation in the future. Dr. Zhang, be familiar with it for three days, and then take care of the bed directly. How's it going? "

"All right, director." Zhang Fan said that what does director Wu mean by saying that this major is a sister major? In fact, it is a very heavy topic.

In rheumatology department, many diseases can lead to the disability of human limbs, especially joints. When internal medicine can not alleviate the development trend of this disease, in order to improve the life of patients, surgery can only be done.

Patients still have a hope for post-traumatic surgery. After the surgery is done, they will always recover by being careful. That is to say, it is a life ordeal, because the disease will not develop again. The disease of rheumatology department can't, and surgery can't end the disease! It's just boiling water.

"In these three days, you will follow Dr. Hu Jun to get familiar with the work of the Department and the personnel of the Department. Come on, let's go to the morning meeting. "

The work of rheumatology department has begun. Once the medical records of this department are opened, it gives people a feeling of height. After turning over more than a dozen medical records, it can be seen that the results are very similar. No matter how detailed the medical records are written and how wonderful the condition analysis is, the final treatment is almost the same, Nonsteroidal drugs for pain relief, hormone anti-inflammatory and immunosuppressive enhancement! Seriously, please ask for orthopedic consultation!

"This is Dr. Zhang. I think everyone should be familiar with it, surgeon. I won't introduce you one by one. Let's get to know each other slowly at work! Work." Director Wu wanghong went to the clinic.

"Doctor Zhang, let's go round the ward." Hu Jun and Zhang Fan started ward rounds, "three beds of ankylosing spondylitis and eight beds of rheumatoid arthritis ~ ~."

The end of ward round is to give medical orders, modify medical orders, write medical records, open new test sheets, and then discharge when discharged and admission when admitted. This is the day's work of internal medicine. In the pain and groans of the patient and the sad faces of his family members, Zhang Fan ended his day's work in the rheumatology department.

Zhang Fan feels a little awkward in this department. How to say, surgery, patients are more critical and dangerous, and the family members always have a glimmer of hope. Maybe the operation will succeed and the patient will recover. Other internal medicine departments are not like this department. Even if other departments cannot be cured, at least the quality of life of patients can be improved.

Even in the oncology department, although the air is filled with sadness, it is always the kind of sadness that people can vent.

The rheumatology department, how to say, is a bit like haze weather, there is a melancholy that can not be relieved, the patient always has a patient expression, and the family members also have a confused face and don't know the feeling of the future. It can be said to be suffering, continuous suffering in pain!

Three days later, Zhang Fan began to be on duty independently and manage the patient independently. As the old rule, these three days are the time for liver. Every time he enters a department, as long as it is a subject that the system does not open, Zhang Fan must work hard to understand the diseases of the Department.

If you want to understand the diseases in this department, you have to make great efforts to start with the formation of embryos! This is the difficulty of medicine. If you want to trace the source, you must first start research after the combination of cells or sperm and eggs!

Introduction to medicine, surgery is more difficult than internal medicine! This is for sure. You don't have any books. You are a scholar at most. Surgery focuses on the foundation, but it pays more attention to clinical practice. You can make progress only if you have a large number of actual medical records to practice. Without a good platform, a lifetime of surgery is the level of appendectomy!

When choosing surgery, Zhang fan can practice surgery countless times in the system. Except that the system is mandatory for the number of operations in reality, there are no other requirements, because the proficiency of surgery never ends. There is a big difference between 100 operators and 1000 operators.

So Zhang Fan is never free. He keeps practicing surgery in the system. Is it boring? It's very boring. He repeats the surgery again and again. But Zhang fanle is not tired. Hobbies are the biggest driving force!

"Zhang Fan, don't stay in a daze. I'm worried about whether you have Alzheimer's disease!" Shaohua was a little angry. It was not easy for them to live in a two person world. As a result, Zhang Fan began to be in a daze.

"Oh! oh I'm listening, you say it! " Zhang Fan hurriedly said that Shaohua talked about their bank gossip. Zhang Fan didn't like to listen and couldn't interrupt. He simply stole into the system and took the opportunity to practice several operations. As a result, Shaohua was not happy.

"No more!" Shaohua was a little angry and twisted his head to ignore Zhang Fan.

"Hehe, I'm angry. But I think you look very beautiful when you are angry. You have a special temperament. " Zhang Fan grabbed Shaohua's hand and began to coax Shaohua with a smiling face.

"How special temperament?" Shao Hua turned his head. Although his face was still taut, the corners of his mouth had turned up slightly.

"Well, it's like a ~"

"You hate it! Others saw it. " Zhang Fan couldn't make it up. He simply grabbed Shaohua and kissed him. Shaohua blushed and gently pushed Zhang Fan.

After a warm moment, Shaohua leaned against Zhang Fan's arms, played with Zhang Fan's fingers and said, "your fingers are so slender. I feel that my fingers are not as good-looking as yours."

Shao Hua said that Zhang Fan carefully looked at his hands and found that in the past two years, his fingers seem to have been transformed by the system. The slender and protruding finger abdomen can increase the sensitivity of his hands. This is the hands that surgeons want to have!

"Oh, by the way, you're in the rheumatology department now, aren't you?" Shaohua looked up at Zhang Fan and asked.

"Well, what's the matter?"

"I have a colleague, a woman, who asked me to ask for her this morning and said she wanted to go to the municipal hospital for treatment. Can you introduce an expert? "

"What's the matter?"

"Oh, it seems very troublesome. He said he was looking for an expert in rheumatology. "

"OK, no problem. Come to me tomorrow morning." Zhang Fan's hand slowly groped for a soft place and was slapped open by Shaohua!

Zhang Fan's private hospital can finally save Zhang Fan's worry. Batu, the ten-year Dean, is really not for nothing. First of all, he is familiar with his head in all superior units. Even if he is giving gifts, he knows who to send and how to send them!

Then there is the internal management, which is more convenient. Batu's management is booming inside the hospital. Batu is also very powerful in terms of market share.

I contacted the equipment manufacturer, medical representative, insurance company and taxi company. As long as it is orthopedic trauma or severed hand and foot, if it is sent to the hospital, there will be a benefit fee of 100 yuan whether it is treated in the hospital or not. Then let the salesman strengthen the contact with the doctors in the emergency department and orthopedic department of major hospitals in prefectures, counties and urban areas.

The three medical groups compare the income, operation volume and patient evaluation once a month, and get a comprehensive evaluation. The first prize will be awarded several yuan! There are many patients, good income, and the hospital is full of power! As long as Zhang Fan has time, surgery can be done at any time! The amount of surgery visible to the naked eye is rising!

The next day, after Zhang Fan handled his patient, he received a call from Shaohua, "Zhang Fan, my colleagues and I are here."

"Come directly to Fengshi department! Our director happens to be here. " Zhang Fan hung up. After a while, Shaohua and her colleagues came.

At the first sight of Shaohua's colleague, Zhang Fan sighed in his heart: what a pity!
