

Chapter 2742– 2743 of A Dish Best Served Cold Novel

Chapter 2742

That being the case, it's time to tell Mark's family.

"Well, I will do it now."

Tang Hao nodded, and then went down to arrange this matter.

"What, Tang Hao, are you planning to go to Noirfork yourself? Just to visit a junior's widow?"

"Your specifications are too high."

"Inappropriate, inappropriate."

In the Temple of Martial Arts, when Tang Hao suggested that he would personally lead the team to Noirfork to condole Mark's relatives, he was met with unanimous opposition from the King of Fighters Mo Gucheng and others.

"What's wrong with this?"

"Don't forget what happened to Mark!"

"He sacrificed for the country, he died for the country."

"No matter how big the specification is, it should be."

"So, there is nothing inappropriate."

Tang Hao retorted.

"There are many people who die for the country every day. This time, you personally lead a team to visit his junior widow. What about the others?"

"Are you looking forward to it?"

“If all of you are like you, we don’t have to do anything at all, and we will go to condolences the children of martyrs all day long.” The King of Fighters Mo Gucheng objected.

“you”

“You are arrogant!” Tang Hao was so angry at the words of the King of Fighters, there was already a little more anger in his words.

“Okay, okay, stop arguing.”

“Don’t say a few words.”

“You said you guys, as long as Mark is involved in anything, you are sure to fight.”

“It was Lao Ye before, and now you are Tang Hao.” The Sword Saint hurriedly interrupted their quarrel and shook his head with emotion.

“However, this matter, I think it is still according to the rules.”

“What did we do before, what else do we do.”

“Our Wushen Temple dispatched a working group to represent the Yanxia Martial Arts and our Wushen Temple to visit and condolences to Mark’s children and relatives in Noirfork.”

“As for you, don’t go in person.”

“Although what the King of Fighters said just now is straightforward, it also makes sense.” Quan.cōm

“There are too many people who have fallen on the mission. We have not had a precedent for the Lord of the Martial God Temple to visit in person before. It is better not to set this precedent this time.”

“You can’t favor one and the other, right?”

“But Sword Saint, Mark is different, he is a title.” Tang Hao still wanted to speak, but was directly interrupted by Sword Saint.

“Well, Mark’s matter, let’s stop here. Just do what I said.”

“Our Martial God Temple has already spent a lot of time on him.”

“Now that he has fallen, don’t waste time on him.”

The Juggernaut waved his hand and motioned not to mention Mark again.

One country, one power, after all, yes.

Seeing that Juggernaut had already spoken to this point, what else could Tang Hao say?

I can only swallow the words to my stomach, and obey the Juggernaut's arrangement.

"Gucheng, let you choose the candidate for this visit."

"Old Tang is right. Although Mark is a junior, he is a titled master after all. The level of this candidate should be as high as possible."

"I think, let your son Wu Ya, be the leader of this condolences group, and lead the team."

"Wu Ya is the first person under our Hot Summer title. Let him go. The specifications are sufficient and there are no bad rules."

The Juggernaut looked at the King of Fighters Mo Gucheng again, and left the matter to him.

"Yeah. Don't worry, I know it in my heart."

Mo Gucheng readily agreed.

Chapter 2743

So, that night, Mo Gucheng, the King of Fighters, decided on the candidate.

It was decided to send three people from the Wushen Temple to form a sympathy group to represent the Yanxia Martial Arts and the Wushen Temple to go to the land of Noirfork, the hometown of Mark, to give condolences to Mark's widow. The head of the condolences group was the son of Mo Gucheng, Mo Wuya.

"what?"

"Dad, you let me be the leader of this condolences group to visit an unknown bastard?"

"Did you make a mistake?"

"Isn't it enough that the bastard robbed me of my spot? I listened to you and didn't go to him to settle the account. Now, in turn, let me visit his relatives and friends. Isn't this humiliating me?"

"I'm not going!"

“I can’t afford to lose this person.”

After returning home at night, Mo Gucheng told his son Mo Wuya about the incident.

After the First World War, Mo Wuya was almost beaten to death by Mark.

Of course, when he was in Japan, Mark called himself Chu Tianfan.

Therefore, Mo Wuya and the others did not know that Brian Chu and Mark were actually the same.

However, it didn’t matter, it didn’t prevent Mo Gucheng’s hostility towards Mark.

After all, Mo Wuya struggled for decades in order to successfully enter the Lord’s Temple of Martial Arts and become the seventh god general of the Pillar Kingdom in the summer.

It can be said that he has been practicing for half of his life and has been working hard for this goal.

The previous trip to Japan can be said to be the last test for him to become a titled master.

However, Mo Wuya never expected that he would fall short for Shan Jiuren.

This Linmen who stepped into the Martial God Temple was beaten to pieces by a fellow named Chu Tianfan. He almost lost his life.

If it hadn’t been for his father to use countless resources and treasures to treat him at all costs, otherwise, Mo Wuya would have lost his soul for nine days and would have lost his life.

Later, Mo Wuya, who was recovering from his wounds, was undoubtedly overjoyed when he learned that Chu Tianfan, who had been hit hard by Japan, had fallen.

Because, once Brian Chudied, no one would compete with him for the title of Grand Master.

He Mo Wuya can still enter the main martial arts temple.

However, what Mo Wuya didn’t even dream of was that after walking a Chu Tianfan, he killed another Mark halfway.

Seeing the title position he got, he changed hands again.

It is conceivable that at that time, Mo Wuya was so broken and angry in his heart.

The most irritating thing in life is this. It is obvious that success is at your fingertips, but it fell into the last darkness before dawn.

At first, the King of Fighters did not dare to tell his son this news. It wasn't until Mo Wuya was well injured that he learned that the Martial God Temple had awarded a title to a young man named Mark.

At that time, Mo Wuya was dissatisfied, and even rushed to the Temple of Martial God to argue with the God of War and others, and threatened to go to Noifork to confront Mark and compete openly.

But at that time, Mo Wuya was badly injured after all, so the King of Fighters stopped his impulsive behavior.

In addition, Haotian Grandmaster Tang Hao also personally went to Noifork to review Mark's strength, and once again determined that Mark's strength should surpass Mo Wuya, and he was well-deserved to become the seventh titled master in the summer.

God of War Ye Qingtian and Tang Hao both supported Mark, and his son was defeated tragically. In short, even if the King of Fighters was dissatisfied, he had to acquiesce to the reality that Mark had occupied his son's place.

It's just that although it has been several months since this matter, Mo Wuya still cares about it now when it comes to mentioning it.

Now that his father arranged for him to visit Mark's relatives, Mo Wuya was even more dissatisfied.
