

My One In A Million Wife Chapter 284

Ashlyn's heart skipped a beat.

She moved to push him away but he grabbed her hand. "We still have one whole day and night to spend with each other. Let's make it count."

His voice was husky, belying his desire to ravage her here out in nature.

The timbre of it was intoxicating like a glass of red wine. It was quiet where they were, with nothing but the sounds of nature. Occasionally, a breeze would whisper through the leaves and set them rustling.

Ashlyn allowed herself to be held to him tightly.

His hug was warm and encompassing, showing her his strength and filling her with a sense of security.

They were supposed to be divorced yet at that moment, with how intimate the embrace felt, it was easy to think they were still a happily married couple.

What irony!

Suddenly, the faint sounds of music could be heard.

Ashlyn's eyes widened in astonishment when she noticed the fountain that burst to life in the middle of the lake.

There was a musical fountain here!

of water rose higher and above the lake became a shimmering screen of sparkling water and rainbow colors that danced and weaved together. It was of the a clear and starry night sky. The twinkling stars shone tilted the delicate face up to meet his gaze. His were, Ashlyn could distinctly see the of lips crashed down on hers and plundered her him saturated her senses and she

a two-story cabin beside her into his arms, already brought her up to the bedroom on the second floor. He tossed her onto the she realized the roof was made of transparent glass. From her reclined position she could still hear the music from the fountain. All she had to do was tilt her head and she would be able to enjoy the light show through said, "Everything here was specifically done to welcome you, including the building of this from her trembling ones as he murmured his next sentence, head away, refusing to look at that devilishly handsome picked her up and carried her out the back there was an actual hot spring right there with steam wafting up placed near the edge artfully while a bamboo forest surrounded the blew by and the susurrant of the leaves added to the charm natural hot spring pool," Lucas explained even as his hands tugged at her