

Chapter 294

Zhang Fan didn't expect that Lv Shu's  car was really good. The small motorcycle with stepless speed change made her fly. More than ten minutes later, LV Shuyan and Zhang Fan came to the door of the hand and foot hospital.

Zhang Fan jumped off the motorcycle and ignored LV Shuyan. "Thank you for inviting you to dinner that day!" While talking, he ran towards the hospital. LV Shuyan was going to leave. As a result, she saw the doctors in the hospital and seemed very polite to see Zhang Fan.

Her curiosity paused, looked around, then parked the motorcycle out of the way, took off her hat, took it in her hand, and slowly entered the hospital.

After Batu's management, the hospital felt a little reborn. The feeling of grass-roots team in the past has gone forever. On the white wall, there are a large list of cases, many enlarged photos of various hand and foot injuries and some precautions.

How to get injured, how to treat and how to recover after operation are all revealed. There are also many written descriptions, starting from the history of hand and foot surgery in teasu city.

Batu's reporters are very popular. They are full of brush money and write with both voice and emotion. It seems that if there is no hand and foot surgery hospital, the streets of chasu city are full of people who lack hands and feet.

Although exaggerated, the hand and foot surgery hospital has indeed done a lot of practical things. Before the establishment of the hand and foot surgery hospital, once people in this area were injured by hand and foot injuries, two options were very clear. One was to find a way to go to the bird market, a bird market seven or eight hundred kilometers away. 2、 Stump embedding!

LV Shuyan slowly looked at the medical records hanging on the wall. Zhang Fan had already run into the doctor's office " What's the situation? " Now his doctors, Li Liang and song Bing, have grown up. They don't need to call Zhang Fan for general surgery.

Although Zhang Fan comes here for surgery as soon as he has time, there are fewer calls for emergency surgery than before.

"A four year old boy accidentally cut off his right hand from the upper end of the carpal bone when an adult was cutting a bone. Because they are children, Li Liang, they have never done such replantation of broken limbs for children, so I called you. "

Lao Chen no longer cares about the external things of the hospital and focuses on the operation. Although the operation level can not reach the height of Zhang Fan, he has been a doctor for decades and still has some vision!

What surgery can be done and what surgery must be notified to Zhang Fan. What he does and sees is very accurate!

"Yes!" Zhang Fan nodded and said, "are all the surgical instruments ready?"

"Ready!"

"OK, let's go out to meet the patient." Speaking, Zhang Fan came to the door of the hospital with a group of doctors and nurses. Zhang Fan walked in the front and middle of the crowd. A group of people were silent, only the sound of footsteps. He quickly came to the door of the hospital. Carts and emergency vehicles are ready.

Wait quietly“ He? This hospital? Ah! " LV Shuyan quietly left the hospital as if she had found something. After passion is fatigue, everything is the same. For example, that's the same.

When she came, LV Shuyan let Zhang Fan's adrenaline soar. At this meeting, she seemed to have found Zhang Fan's secret. It seemed that it was not a secret. She was a little tired and a little depressed. She drove home slowly on her motorcycle.

Zhang Fan looked at the end of the road. At this time, he couldn't pay attention to anything else, except the injured.

Pediatric diseases, especially orthopedics, is a relatively independent department in surgery. Pediatric general surgery and pediatric cardiac surgery can almost be attached to general surgery and cardiothoracic surgery.

But this pediatric orthopaedics department can't be attached to the ordinary orthopaedics department. Adult orthopedics has developed soundly, and the change is only the change of bone.

Pediatric orthopedics is complicated. Children, especially these young children, are still developing rapidly. Some bone injuries are really difficult to deal with.

It is a big mistake not to simply think that children's bones are a reduced version of adults. The bone scale of the joint and the compensatory nature of later development should be taken into account. Not like adults, just consider the present.

A simple pediatric orthopedic operation. Do it in the adult way. Well, it's good. It's very good. The alignment, line and physiological anatomy are very good. As a result, six months later, the child's bones are a little deformed.

What's the situation? It's because doctors don't take into account the development of children and growing children. Therefore, pediatric orthopedics is more difficult than adult orthopedics!

A simple fracture can be seen clearly by an X-ray for an adult, but not for a child. An orthopaedic doctor without some qualifications really can't see it.

Separated bones and undeveloped bones. Is there a fracture or no fracture? The little doctor picked up the child's X-ray and lost his head!

The importance of Lao Chen is very obvious at this time. If it is an adult operation, according to Li Liang's current level, the problem is not big. Compared with Zhang Fan, that is, the length of operation time and the degree of injury are different.

But the child's trauma is hard to say and do well. It affects the child's life. The baby began to grow and face the world. Can't cause the child's deformity because of the problem of operation!

On the road, far away, the police car drove over. Originally, four mounted police opened the road in front. When passing through the urban area, another police car with what kind of big horn also joined!

Police lights, sirens, motorcycle headlights flashing continuously. Are undoubtedly telling passers-by and passing vehicles, please get out of the way! Please get out of the way. Most people, in this case, especially special vehicles such as 120, 110 or fire engines, will give way or stop at the roadside.

But I'm afraid that people who don't know their last name after driving on the bus will become the boss of heaven as soon as they grasp the steering wheel. His second son, I'm walking well on the road. Why make way for you? I didn't pay the vehicle and ship tax!

Therefore, vehicles with horns are very important at this time. This is a race against time. If they can be faster, they will have more opportunities and more vitality, and children will have a better future.

The medical staff of the hospital stood under the steps early. The motorcade coming from far and near came quickly. When the motorcade arrived at the gate of the hospital, the traffic policemen with flashing lights stopped and got off.

Regardless of the blood stains, he helped the child's father pack the child out of the car. The child is already a little sleepy. The performance before ischemic shock" Come on, put it on the flat car. Help the child! Raise the injured limb! " Lao Chen organized nurses and young doctors.

The child was put on the flat car. When Zhang Fan saw the broken limb picked up by the nurse, it was bloody and white! The tender little arm was swollen like a turnip.

Li Liang quickly took the bottle containing the little hand from the child's mother. The pale and extremely pale little hand is like the little hand of a rubber doll. Poor! The child's mother couldn't stop crying. She looked at Li Liang and looked forward to her eyes. She had endless pleadings. She wanted to say it and pray to the doctors and nurses in front of her, but she was worried about delaying time. She had to bite her lips and try her best to be a Ninja! ninja! Blood oozes slowly from the broken lips and teeth ~!

Zhang Fan looked and relaxed a little. The incision was straight, the broken limb was well preserved, and the injury time was not long. "Go directly into the operating room! Prepare for surgery. Prepare blood, open venous channels and correct shock! Come on, Lao Chen, you're ready to sign the consent form for the operation! Explain your condition. "

"OK!" Zhang Fan has no time to comfort or explain his condition to his family. With time, the cells of the severed limb will produce botulinum toxin, which is why once the time is too long, even if the incision is straight, the hospital will not replant the wounded.

Botox is deadly!
