

My One In A Million Wife Chapter 300

Janet blinked her eyes in disbelief, and felt a bit dizzy.

It was as if she just hit the jackpot and only regained her composure after some time. She looked pleasantly surprised and opened the door, "Ms. Berry, sure! I'd be glad to. Hurry, get on the car."

All of a sudden, she felt proud as a peacock and eyed Charlotte who was just nearby, "Hey Charlotte, are you seeing this? I'm fetching Ms. Berry today."

The little girl's eyes reddened at the sight and peered at Ashlyn.

Lochlan hurriedly coaxed her, "Ms. Berry just had lunch with us the other day, so don't feel bad. I'll ask Ms. Berry to go nature drawing with us tomorrow okay?"

Tomorrow was rest day for all the performers.

It was tiring to practice every single day. Ashlyn wanted them to work hard but she wanted them to play equally hard as well. So she gave them a day off.

Charlotte's pretty little face gleamed with delight when she heard him, "Really?"

"Of course." Lochlan caressed her hair and held her hand as they got into a car together.

Ashlyn caught the glimpse of them as she sat in the Mercedes and titled her brows at the sight.
