

Chapter 303

Nina Hua paused and looked at him, somewhat unwillingly.

But if it was too late to get the car at this point, it was obviously too late, and the man was so strong, he certainly wouldn't let her leave.

Just take your mind off it, it's just a ride, right?What's the big deal.

It was to get into the car without further reluctance.

She didn't refuse again, and only then did Kepler's look slowed down, following her into the driver's seat.

Late at night, the car sped silently down the cold, silent roads of Kyoto, flanked by bustling night scenes, as the two sat in the car, neither of them speaking.

It was already very late at this time, Nina Hua was actually a bit tired, she had only recently given birth and her energy was not as strong as normal, so she was a bit drowsy as soon as she got into the car.

But it's winter, and the night temperature is low, even with the heater on in the car, it's still a bit chilly for Nina Hua, who is weak after giving birth, added.

She gathered her jacket and tried to wrap herself tighter.

Yet there was one who moved faster than she did, reaching out and tossing her a jacket.

Nina Hua was stunned.

The jacket was a seasonal one, and it gave off a faint scent that belonged solely to this man.

He gripped the steering wheel and didn't look at her, the cold face over there was still there.

Nina Hua, however, only felt his heart warming slightly, and his heart, which had been in a cold war for months even, tended to gradually warm up.

She coughed a little uncomfortably and didn't refuse, wrapping her jacket around her and saying a vague, "Thank you."

Kepler didn't answer her.

But that icy face had softened considerably.

The atmosphere in the car was a little delicate.

Though neither man still spoke, it was clear that the atmosphere was less stiff and cold now than it had been when they first got into the car.

Nina Hua didn't really like this feeling.

The feeling was out of control, something she had tried once before, and had thought that bravery would bring her unexpected rewards, but all she was greeted with was bruises all over her body.

So she didn't want to be touched again, and all she wanted to do in life was to live in peace and quiet with Happy.

Those youths and throbs had been buried long ago, more than six months ago, in that desperate night.

She looked away from the window, and just then, Kepler's phone rang.

She gave him a look, and Kepler frowned and picked up the phone with some impatience in the end.

He didn't say much, but responded with a couple of hmmm's and a very cold attitude.

So Nina Hua couldn't guess who the electrician was from his words, but she didn't care, whoever it was, it had nothing to do with her.

Kepler quickly hung up the phone.

He was silent for a moment and suddenly said, "In a few days, bring Lele back to Jin's house with me."

Nina Hua's eyelids jumped at the words.

The drowsiness that had risen up was swept away.

She looked vigilantly at Kepler and said in a cold voice, "What do you mean?"

Kepler frowned, as if phrasing his words, and after a moment, he replied, "The family called, they want to meet the boy."

"No!"

Nina Hua refused without even thinking about it.

The atmosphere in the car fell into a stiff, cold silence again.

Kepler's face darkened.

Nina Hua held his arms and turned to look out the window, his face also gloomy, no longer speaking.

It took half a moment before I heard Kepler say, "I've already agreed to this matter, and I have to do it even if I can't."

"By what?"

Nina Hua blew up all of a sudden.

She turned her head, her eyes fetidly red as she glared at the man in front of her, "I told you, this child has nothing to do with you! And even less with your family! Why do they have to bring Lok Lok if they want to see me? I disagree!"

Kepler's face was tense.

"Nina Hua, I'm not discussing with you, I'm informing you!"

Nina Hua was so angry at him.

"I'm not going to bother wrestling with you!"

She said, lifting his jacket off him and throwing it at him, and went to wrench on the door.

"Stop the car! I'm getting off!"

Kepler's face became even more ugly.

When Nina Hua saw that he never stopped, he got even angrier, and finally put his heart on the line and went to grab his steering wheel.

Kepler's eyebrows jumped sharply.

"Nina Hua, what are you doing?"

"Can't you hear me when I tell you to stop the car?"

"You're fu*king crazy! It's on the viaduct!"

"What happened on the viaduct? If you want to live, pull over! Otherwise I'll drag you into the river with me. Do you believe me?"

In the end, the car finally came to a violent stop on the side of the road with a sharp brake.

Kepler's iron face was staring at her with a deadly glare, and Nina Hua was so furious that she pulled the door open and jumped out of the car.

"I told you! There's no way you're going to take the baby away from me without my permission! Unless I'm dead and you step over my corpse! Otherwise this child will have nothing to do with your Jin family for the rest of his life!"

Nina Hua turned and strode away after yelling this call in a fury.

Kepler held the steering wheel, his whole face so black that it almost dripped out of the ink, he coldly stared at the back of the woman in front of him, the bones of his fingers holding the steering wheel were white.

After half a moment, a sudden slap on the steering wheel!

Then, start the car and drive forward.

.....

When Nina Hua returned home, it was already midnight, nearly one in the morning.

She can't take care of the baby on her own, I'm sure.

So as soon as he returned to China, he hired a reliable woman of the month with the help of Jenny.

When Nina Hua went out today, the baby was naturally taken care of by Mrs. Moon.

By the time she got home, Mrs. Moon was asleep with the baby.

Nina Hua gently pushed open the door, only to see the baby sleeping soundly in the cot.

To make it easier for Mrs. Moon to get up in the middle of the night to breastfeed, a floor lamp was placed in the corner and was on all night.

The orange light was now spilling down, illuminating the room in a warm and serene way.

Nina Hua looked lovingly at the child in the cot, he was sleeping so soundly, his pink little fists clenched tightly together, simply adorable.

Her heart softened into a piece and she couldn't help but quirk her lips, lean over, and k*ss the child's face.

However, only just touching the child's forehead, I suddenly felt something was wrong.

The child's temperature was surprisingly high, and when you touched it, it was like touching a ball of burning carbon.

At first, Nina Hua thought it was because he came in from outside and his body was cold, thus he felt hot when he touched the hot powder gnocchi.

However, when she covered her face and then took her forehead to touch the powdered gnome's forehead, the gnome was still so hot.

Nina Hua's face turned pale!

"Little Zhao, Little Zhao wake up!"

She was busy pushing awake Mrs. Moon, who was sleeping next to her, and ran out to flip out the thermometer again.

Zhao, the moon's wife, still didn't understand the situation, opened her eyes in confusion and asked, "Miss Hua, you're back, what's wrong?"

Nina Hua's face didn't look too good, "Lele seems to have a fever."

Chapter 304

"Huh?"

Little Zhao turned pale with fright as well.

They were busy taking the child's temperature by hand, and when they did, it was 38.5 degrees.

Nina Hua ton only felt the whole thing was bad, it was good that Xiao Zhao was experienced and hurriedly reassured, "Don't panic yet, a child's fever of 38.5 isn't too serious, let's hurry to the hospital now, it will definitely be fine."

Only then did Nina Hua nodded blankly.

Nina Hua had been drinking at night, so naturally he couldn't drive.

Embarrassingly, Jo also can't drive.

The villa they lived in was considered a rich area, but there were taxis passing by, but it would take at least ten minutes to walk out to the ring road to get a taxi.

It was closer to Maple Bridge Villa from here, just five or six minutes away, but now it was so late, it was hard to disturb them, and secondly, I didn't know if Jenny and the others had returned.

Nina held the baby in her arms and was so anxious that Zhao comforted her as he tried to call the car in on his mobile phone.

However, in the middle of the night, even if a car came in, it would be ten minutes later.

Just then, Nina Hua suddenly saw a black Land Rover parked not far away.

The car was somewhat familiar, and there was a little starburst flame flickering in the driver's seat of the car, like someone was smoking.

She turned pale, gritted her teeth, and ran over there with the baby in her arms.

"Where are you going, Miss Walsh?"

Little Zhao kept up.

Nina Hua ran over to the Land Rover and smashed the door a few times with a bang.

The car door opened to reveal the man's cold, wildly handsome face.

It really is Kepler!

She was supposed to be angry when she saw this face, but at this time, it was as if she saw a savior from the sky, and her eyes were red.

"Kepler, take me to the hospital, count me in for begging you, quick!"

Kepler's brows furrowed.

Looking at the child in her arms, her face changed slightly, then violently threw the cigarette out the window far away.

He didn't bullshit, let alone ask any questions, and just said in a deep voice, "Get in the car!"

Nina Hua was busy holding the child and got into the passenger seat next to him.

And then Jo followed and was a little surprised to see her getting into a stranger's car.

Nina Hua didn't have time to explain too much to her at this time, and only signaled to her to hurry up and get into the car, before the group drove off to the hospital.

After all, Kepler is a driver from the past, racing is his strong point.

At this point, it couldn't care less whether it ran a red light or not, and sped along, cutting the half-hour drive, hard, to ten minutes.

The group soon arrived at the hospital.

Nina Hua handed the child over to the doctor and the test results came back quickly.

The child had a cold, a bit of a cold and flu, and also, yellowing of the skin and irises, predicting possible jaundice, to be determined after further tests.

As soon as Nina Hua heard the jaundice, his face went white, and his entire body slumped down in his chair.

The doctor reassured, "Jaundice in newborns is not an uncommon phenomenon, this child is a little late, but it may not be a good thing, and it's usually not dangerous if it's detected early."

Only then did Nina Hua settle down a little.

The gnomes were quickly taken away by the doctor for new tests, as well as a patch to reduce the fever.

Nina Hua followed at the same pace the entire time, fearing that the child might make the slightest mistake.

And the baby was at home with a cold and fever, and Xiao Zhao was also feeling a little guilty and self-conscious because of his poor care, and didn't even have the courage to meet Nina Hua's eyes.

Kepler had gotten a rough idea of what was going on.

But compared to Nina Hua and Xiao Zhao's depressed mood, he was much more calm.

Because there are so many tests to be done, some of the more important ones need to be signed by the family.

Nina Hua's hands were shaking as he signed.

After signing it, the nurse frowned at the curved, unshaped words on it.

"It's not good enough to sign, it's too shaky, it doesn't even look like normal writing, what if you don't recognize it then? Re-sign it!"

I said, and brought a new sheet over.

Nina Hua's face was slightly pale, and Kepler, seeing this, directly took a pen and swished his name on it.

The nurse looked at him, then at the name he signed.

"You're the kid's father, right? That's an okay word, so let's do it, you guys wait here for a while, the check will be done in half an hour."

Afterwards, take the list and walk away.

After the doctor left, Nina Hua sat silently in his chair, his entire air pressure depressed.

Xiao Zhao came over and guiltily said, "I'm sorry, Miss Hua, I didn't keep an eye on Le Le, that's why he caught a cold, I'm really sorry."

Nina Hua looked at her and didn't say anything.

It seems to have lost even the strength to blame.

Little Zhao looked at her like this and couldn't help but feel even more guilty.

Kepler stood beside him, leaning against the wall, but didn't speak, only looking at Xiao Zhao with a somewhat cold gaze.

About half an hour later, the little gnome was finally examined and sent out.

Nina Hua stood up in a hurry and looked at the doctor nervously.

"Doctor, how's my boy he?"

The doctor's face was serious: "The fever is not a big problem, two fever-reducing patches should get better, but now it has been confirmed that it is jaundice, so the child will be hospitalized for observation for the next two days, you go and pay your fees first, and you will be able to see the child later when this side is settled."

Nina Hua blanched.

Kepler directly took the list and turned around to pay the bill.

Since you are going to be hospitalized, you definitely need to prepare a lot of things.

Zhao even took a taxi back to get his things, and when he came back, the little gnome was already settled in the hospital room, with Nina Hua and Kepler both guarding there.

She didn't know Kepler, but watching the two of them just now, she about understood that the relationship between them was extraordinary.

So, after silently putting the stuff down, he didn't dare say anything and turned around and went out.

It wasn't long before the doctor came in.

Handing them a box of medicine, they were instructed to wait until morning and leave for a light at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

As Nina Hua listened to the doctor's explanation, he probably knew that although the little gnome was sick, it was good that Lucky had found out early that it wasn't dangerous.

It was only a slight relief.

At this time, she was also able to pay attention to Kepler and Xiao Zhao.

First, she calmed Xiao Zhao down a few times before letting her out and leaving Kepler alone.

"Thank you."

She said with her head down.

In any case, if he hadn't been there this time, she wouldn't have been able to find a car to come over at the moment, and she wouldn't have known how much to panic then.

Kepler looked at her and tugged at the corner of his lips in a light mockery.

"Thank me for what?"

Nina Hua pursed her lips.

"Thanks for driving us here."

"Heh!" He sneered, "Nina Hua, you seem to have forgotten that he is not only your son, but also my son."

Nina Hua: "....."

Chapter 305

It was the truth, but how could it be so unpalatable coming from his mouth?

Nina Hua resisted the urge to roll his eyes, disgusted, "You don't touch porcelain, I'm telling you, for Lele, there's no need for a father like you?"

"What's wrong with a dad like me? Can I have him without me?"

"You!"

Nina Hua didn't expect that he would drive at the drop of a hat, and was suddenly furious.

As it turns out, women will always be at a disadvantage when it comes to the whole sleaze thing.

She bit her lip and said, "Fine, if you have to acknowledge him, that's fine, wait until he grows up a bit, if he really likes you and has to acknowledge you and go with you, I won't stop him, but until then, your Jin family don't want to snatch him away!"

Kepler frowned at the news.

He held up his arms, knitted his eyebrows in thought, and asked, "Did you have some misunderstanding about Ken?"

Nina Hua snorted and didn't say anything.

Kepler could only continue, "No one in the Jin family has ever said that they want to take your child away, and I didn't mean it."

Nina Hua was startled.

She raised her head and looked at him suspiciously.

"You coaxed me?"

"Do I have to?"

Nina Hua was silent.

As he said, it did seem as if that wasn't necessary.

Today, he is no longer the down-and-out teenager he was back then, he no longer needs to look up to anyone, he can get anything he wants, and naturally, he doesn't need to coax anyone anymore.

Only then did Nina Hua settle down a little.

However, remembering his previous attitude in F, there was ultimately some uncertainty.

Another apprehensive question, "And before you..."

Kepler laughed.

He doesn't smile often, and even if he did, it was just a gentle tug on the corner of his mouth, the smile not seen much, the irony more than anything else.

Thus, it was rare to see him smile today, and Nina Hua was even slightly dazed.

Kepler is good-looking, and when he's not smiling, his eyebrows are cold and wild.

When you smile, it is as if the sun suddenly shines in an icy cold place, which gives people an indescribable sense of joy.

Inexplicably, Nina Hua had some heart palpitations.

In the next second, I heard him say, "I think that since you are so reluctant to let the child go, and the child is so dependent on you, you might as well just not let the two of you be separated."

Nina Hua was startled, and a sense of surprise suddenly came over him.

However, right after that, the man was heard to say, "How about...all follow me?"

The smile Nina Hua was about to raise froze on his face.

As if he had admitted it, Kepler leaned on his chin as if he was really thinking seriously about the feasibility of this matter.

Nina Hua was simply about to be mad at him.

"You wish!"

She exhaled and reached out to push him out of the room.

"Get out of here and don't let me see you in here again!"

Kepler grabbed her hand and stopped at the door with a step, allowing her to push as hard as she wanted.

Nina Hua was extremely angry, pulling his hand and biting it down.

The man's arm was full of muscle and she bit down on it, not hurting him, but nearly chipping her front teeth.

Nina Hua was on the verge of tears.

Seeing her look like a fried kitten, Kepler was in a rare good mood.

He cupped her chin, forcing her to release her grip and lift her head.

Nina Hua struggled twice, didn't struggle away, and cursed at him, "Kepler! Are you a man or not? Is that how you bully a weak woman?"

"A weak woman?" Kepler seemed to have suddenly heard some kind of joke and laughed gloomily, "I don't remember you being some weak woman, and also, don't you know best whether I'm a man or not?"

Nina Hua: "....."

Her face held red, and she wasn't sure if it was from shame or anger.

Half a dozen times, before biting out, "Don't you dream, I'm telling you, I'm not going to marry you!"

Kepler raised his eyebrows.

The already cool eyes cooled even more.

"Where did Miss Walsh want to go? I never said I was going to marry you."

Nina Hua was startled.

Then the face changed dramatically.

"So what do you mean?"

"Heh, modern people, isn't it normal for a man to fall in love with a woman? If every relationship was responsible to the end, then I'm just afraid everyone would be a lover."

Nina Hua was so angry at his call that his face went blue and white.

She gritted her teeth and said, "Kepler, why didn't I see that you were so shameless before?"

Kepler also sneered.

"Yeah, I didn't know before that people could still be shameless to this extent, didn't I learn that from you Hua family? Now that Miss Wahl is feeling this humiliation too, does it feel good?"

Nina Hua sneered.

"Want me to be your girlfriend? Dream on, I'm telling you, even if all the men in the world died, I wouldn't be with you."

A touch of mockery flashed across Kepler's eyes.

"So I'd say that you Wards are most used to putting gold on your faces, girlfriend? That's a polite way to keep you UW, but in reality, to be frank, it's just an eye woman, now do you understand?"

Nina Hua's face swished completely white.

Kepler gently moshared with the finger that cupped her chin before releasing it.

"It's a very favorable offer to you, take my word for it, consider it carefully, and get back to me when it's done."

Afterwards, turn around and leave.

.....

Jenny only learned of Lele's hospitalization at noon.

She rushed to the hospital, where the little gnome had just finished her light work and was lying in a soft ball in an insulated bed, sleeping soundly.

She pulled Nina Hua over next to her and asked, "Is he okay?"

Nina Hua shook his head.

"The fever came down and now it's just for jaundice, which the doctor said was no big deal."

Jenny was only relieved by this.

"You should have called me last night, you were alone with the baby, how could you care."

Nina Hua barely smiled.

There was no mention of Kepler, only a faint, "Not a big deal, don't you still have a play today? How come you have time to come over?"

Jenny blasted her with a glance.

"My godson is so sick, I'm not allowed to take a leave of absence."

Nina Hua couldn't help but laugh, "Don't spoil him so much, it's okay for him to be small now, if he gets any bigger he should be spoiled."

Jenny shook his head.

"It won't."

She reached out and touched the little gnome's forehead, and sure enough there was no fever, but the little face, which had been pink and tender, was now all waxy and yellow, and the whole group looked especially pitiful.

She sighed in disbelief.

To the little gnome, he whispered, "Little Lele, you must be healthy, get well soon, and when you get better, Godmother will take you to eat delicious food and play football with you."

Nina Hua only felt warm and soft as he watched this scene.

It was already evening when I came out of the hospital.

Jenny Jing accompanied Nina Hua to finish his meal before leaving.

Originally, she wanted to accompany Nina Hua to the night vigil here as well, but Nina Hua sternly refused.

With Zhao here, and so many doctors and nurses, there was already enough manpower.

Jenny staying behind served no other purpose than to follow the worry.