

My One In A Million Wife Chapter 308

It took her some time to return to her usual self, declining in a croaky voice, "That won't be necessary..."

She had denied the man's offer because she had the capability to take her grandmother in as well.

After all, she was an influential and wealthy woman who possessed properties, cars, businesses, yielding influences over her underlings. In short, she didn't have to rely on others.

Although she was touched by the man's words, she had no intention of giving in to his suggestion because she didn't want to owe him any favors.

"Why are you here?" Ashlyn turned around and asked, avoiding the man's gaze in an attempt to divert the man's attention.

Lucas looked at Ashlyn quietly, recalling the purpose of his visit.

Initially, he had dropped by because he wanted to keep her to himself in the emergency room once again.

He had planned to get the director to get Ashlyn over to tend to him once he reached the hospital but came across the feud Ashlyn was involved in as soon as he reached the emergency room.

Nonetheless, Lucas was certain fate must have had brought him to her because he showed up when she needed him the most.

Therefore, he was in a very good mood. It was obvious as it was written all over his face.

has been hospitalized. His name is Joseph. I believe you have run into him back in the day," Lucas made use of his friends and lied to asked as either, but he insists on checking in to the hospital." Lucas could be he had dropped by the hospital because he on him. Where is his ward?" Ashlyn got his phone as he replied calmly, "I have no idea. Let me a random ward on

"What is this so-called emergency? Why the hell does he need sure Mr. Nolan has proven his sincerity, right? Look! He has reserved in such a healthy and normal man, he couldn't figure out the reason Lucas had gotten him over days' worth of leaves if you're able to put on a great show according to his request. Apart from that, he'll get you the a sudden because he had been longing for the latest set of was never a filthy rich family. Instead, they had by his side since the heard as someone approached the ward. Immediately, Joseph pretended reached the doorstep of the ward. Spencer played along, rushing over to answer the door instantly.

noded in return. She turned around to ask Joseph, who was Cough... Cough... Cough...