

Chapter 3260

few heavy knocks suddenly came.

Captain Tu and a few soldiers looked at each other, and suddenly they were a little flustered.

“Captain...” A soldier was a little worried.

At this time, Tianjiao was knocked on the door, who should it be?

Captain Tu was also a little panicked, and he couldn't help stopping for a while.

“No matter who it is, don't care about him.” Captain Tu made up his mind only for a moment. Even if the Heavenly King Lao Tzu is here, it is definitely not a good thing to destroy himself at this time.

If you don't kill George Han today, it's bound to be hard to vomit in your heart.

“But Captain, if the Lord City Lord sends someone over, then let's...” The soldier was a little anxious.

Indiscriminate use of lynching itself is a serious crime, and even using this ice blade without an order is a capital crime among capital crimes. If you still refuse to open the door, you can hardly imagine the consequences. So, instead of this, it's better to take advantage of the time when there is no one, quickly put the weapon back, and open the door at the same time, everything is still too late.

Thinking of this, a few soldiers apparently wanted to open the door.

“If anyone the fuck dares to move, don't blame Lao Tzu for being merciless.” The matter has reached this point, and there is no room for maneuver for Captain Tu.

Giving up at this time is equivalent to failing.

On the contrary, killing George Han and growing a sigh of depression in his heart is the best policy. As for other things, he has his own way after he understands this matter.

Thinking of this, his murderous aura is bound to appear, quite a kind of power of whoever moves and who will die.

“Let him come.”

When the atmosphere on the scene was extremely cold, George Han broke the deadlock with a faint smile.

The soldiers were stunned, and the captain of the Tu had already rekindled his anger: “Come and come, is it possible that I am afraid that I will not succeed?”

When the words fell, he held the ice blade directly at George Han and stabbed.

George Han frowned, and suddenly a streamer burst out all over his body. Between the electric light and flint, Captain Tu, who was about to rush towards George Han with an ice blade, was instantly repelled by the streamer.

“Bang!” With

a loud noise, Captain Tu did not advance and retreated, and his entire body crashed on the stone wall behind him. For a while, the entire interrogation platform shook and the ground shook.

“Puff!”

The severe pain caused by the huge impact hardly gave Captain Tu any time to respond, and a mouthful of blood had been directly sprayed out of his mouth.

A group of soldiers was taken aback for a moment, and the five old men of Old Ju were also dumbfounded.

I haven't seen what's going on yet, but the battle has already undergone a shocking reversal.

“Why? It really made me right? A pair of skins doesn't work? I can't even walk a stable way?” George Han smiled lightly.

Captain Tu wanted to fight back angrily, but the sharp pain in his chest made him unable to open his mouth at all. He could only stare at George Han as if he was about to kill the opponent from his eyes.

He glanced at a few soldiers, who were quite speechless for a while. Although they were small soldiers, they were not demented because of anger, nor were they emotionalized because of dignity.

They are not stupid. With George Han not moving at all, Captain Tu couldn't hurt George Han at all. At that time, they already knew something in their hearts.

And just this blow has completely expanded the count in their hearts countless times.

Or it can be said that as long as you are not a fool, you can clearly distinguish the form on the court at this time.

“We...Let's open the door.” Even with the power of the captain, even if he kept staring at the soldiers, at a critical moment, a few soldiers made their choice.

Then, regardless of Captain Tu's cannibalistic gaze, several of them pushed and squeezed, and quickly walked out of the interrogation platform.

“Ah, ah, ah!” In front of the interrogation platform, only Captain Tu roared angrily, but he couldn't do anything at this time except for Roar, and he couldn't even speak aloud.

“Unfortunately, tut.” George Han looked at this guy playfully, full of irony.

In just a moment, as the gate of the sky cell outside was opened, the sound of footsteps also approached from outside.

A group of obviously rich and well-dressed soldiers quickly walked into the interrogation platform under the leadership of a young leader. When they saw the scene in the room, they were obviously taken aback.

Was it because Captain Tu was interrogating the prisoner, or was the prisoner interrogating him?

At least what I saw before my eyes was more like the latter.

“Zhang Huwei, what are you doing here?” Captain Tu took a break, and he was better at this time. He bit his mouthful of blood and asked with difficulty.

Chapter 3261

“I also want to ask Captain Tu, what are you doing.” The young leader of the team asked softly.

You want to say that the prisoner tried him, but at the scene it was George Han who was still tied to the execution platform and could not move.

But if you want to say that he was interrogating the prisoners, he was covered in blood and embarrassed to the extreme. It seemed as if the Buddha had just been beaten by a group, but the prisoners at the scene were restrained and only a few old men were left. A terrible old man.

What’s more, his soldiers are all there, and they are all wounded, which is really curious and confusing for a while.

“It’s okay, it’s just for fun.” Captain Tu insisted. At this time, several of his subordinates finally found courage and quickly helped him up.

“Do I need a Thousand Cold Ice Blade to play?” Zhang Huwei glanced at the ice blade in his hand and said coldly.

Captain Tu did not speak, and hid the weapon behind him backhand: “By the way, Zhang Huwei seems to have not answered my question.”

“As a personal guard of the city lord, he is not good at protecting the city lord, but he ran away in a prison. Interesting.”

“I was ordered by the city lord to come to the jail to get people. Excuse me, does Captain Tu have any doubts about this?” Zhang Huwei raised his knife and bowed his hands in respect, and said calmly.

“The life of the city lord?” Captain Tu frowned.

“Huh.” Zhang Huwei smiled coldly, and lost a token and went over: “The city lord personally interrogated him and loosened him and took him away.”

“Yes.” After the words fell, several of Zhang Huwei’s men walked up to George Han’s. By his side, he removed the ropes from his body, and then escorted him to the front of Zhang Huwei.

After taking a look at George Han, Zhang Huwei took off his coat and asked the soldiers to put on George Han, then he waved his hand, turned George Han and walked outside the cell.

“Oh, by the way, no one, wait, leave quickly, the sky is heavy, and non-idle people can stay.” When the words fell, the old Ju and the old men also reflected, and hurriedly followed and left the sky prison.

“Damn it.” As soon as these people left, Captain Tu pushed away all the soldiers supporting him. The hand holding the token suddenly fisted and hit the table in front of him severely. .

With a loud bang, the table shattered, and the token in his hand suddenly shattered in his fist.

From the prison, it was already dusk.

Zhang Huwei stopped suddenly and glanced at Lao Ju and other five old men: "Are you planning to follow into the City Lord's Mansion?"

Hearing the voice, Lao Ju and the others could only look at George Han worriedly, and then stood helplessly. Earth, watching a group of people lead George Han away toward the city lord's mansion.

Along the way, the city is still very lively.

However, most of the roads that Zhang Huwei took with George Han were small roads. Although he could hear the noise of the city, he did not come into contact with too many people almost along the way.

After ten minutes, the group finally reached the door of a huge mansion.

The dozen or so guards in front of the door stood upright, complementing the stone lions in front of the door, making them extremely mighty.

"Go in." Zhang Huwei said, getting up and taking the lead.

This was also the only word he said in ten minutes.

As soon as he entered the mansion, the birds and the flowers, the rockery and the flowing water, were so beautiful. To say that the realm of the world was nothing more than that, but for George Han, seeing the hypocrisy of the previous city lord, these things are no longer enough to make George Han have anything to him. It's changed.

It's just a modest person.

Following Guard Zhang, the group passed through the main hall and into the deep and quiet backyard behind the hall. Finally, a group of people stopped in front of a house.

There are couplets in front of the house, the words praising chrysanthemum and bamboo, seem quite unique.

"Go in, the city lord is waiting for you inside." After Zhang Huwei said, he glanced at the surrounding soldiers. Suddenly, those soldiers not only opened the iron chain on George Han's last foot, but also a soldier. He also gave a set of unique clothes to George Han to wear with both hands.

After finishing these things, the group of soldiers followed Zhang's guard without a word, turned around and left, leaving only George Han standing alone in front of the door.

George Han couldn't respond a little at a time, didn't he want to take himself to interrogate? What do you mean by suddenly leaving?

Aren't you afraid to go in and kill the city lord?

Is it so interesting?

Looking up at the room in front of him, George Han gave a wry smile and pushed open the door...