

Chapter 3546

Hearing this, the fire monster was stunned at first, and naturally did not expect George Han to come to such a sentence.

But instead, when he understood, he laughed again, looked at George Han, and said thieflly: "Stinky boy, you have lost your ***ing heart, or I just hit you with a cerebral infarction.

"Is your kid sick?" "

How much strength do you use? You fool can have a little more strength than any other, and you won't be crushed like this by Laozi."

He was very angry, George Han should He knelt on the ground and begged it for mercy, not talking to him in this tone of voice. This is really intolerable and makes people angry.

George Han didn't show the slightest anger at his scolding. Instead, he had a faint smile: "It doesn't mean that I will lose if I press it like this, so why can't I do this?"

"Like this? You should know better than me that respecting your enemy is actually the same as respecting your own life, right?" "I'm not afraid to tell you, I only used half my strength just now."

The ruthless, at the same time, the hand began to slowly increase the strength.

"You are bragging to me, how can you be half-effective? You..." The angry and unbelieving fire monster roared, but only halfway through the words, he was completely mute.

Because obviously right between his roars, he could clearly feel that a huge force was spreading from George Han at this time, and he started to counterattack himself madly all the way.

He tried to resist, tried to increase his strength to suppress it a little bit, but...

but at this moment, his powers were preventing the Buddha as if he didn't eat, let alone suppressing George Han, even if he stopped himself

You can't even go back.

"How...how could...is this happen?"

Seeing himself slowly retreating, the fire monster finally lost his previous arrogance, and his face without officialdom still showed a panic-stricken mouth. .

He did, and so did the three other monsters.

They do not understand, and even these are completely beyond their cognition.

This... how did it become like this? !

It was obvious that the eldest brother had already formed an absolute suppression on that kid. He had only a life of death and there was absolutely no possibility of escape, not to mention that he could still complete the so-called counterattack.

But what you see in front of you is also true and appropriate.

For their surprise, George Han didn't show the slightest emotion.

He really did not deceive the fire monster, he really only used 50% of his strength, which is really true.

Of course, this is from George Han's point of view.

From another point of view, George Han may have deceived him.

Because George Han is only speaking from the power of his body and the power of the Seventh Spirit Monkey.

What he has been controlling his own burning silence just now is actually just the power of his own body. The fundamental reason for this is that George Han wants to try it.

Try what kind of effect your own strength will have after going through the Spiritual Qi of the Seventh Spirit Monkey.

In the comparison with the fire monsters, George Han really lost.

But George Han was not sad, but extremely happy.

To be able to have such a performance has actually far exceeded George Han's expectations.

Without the quintessential training of the Seventh World Spiritual Qi, George Han still believes that his own strength is enough to compete with the fire monsters, but George Han also knows that during that process, it will be very hard, and even if he doesn't die, he will lose his skin.

However, that has to be in its heyday.

George Han has gone through several battles in Yuetan now, and he has also spent a lot of energy to digest what he has learned. With such a situation, what else can George Han be dissatisfied with?

Of course, after trying his own strength, what George Han wants to do now is naturally not an experiment.

What he wants to do is to break the game.

"I forgot to tell you, the last person who questioned how much I tried, ended up badly."

"Now, I really want to do my best, I didn't want to do it, but I can't help it. I'm most afraid that others will say I'm bragging."

"Grandson, grandpa is here, you have to be prepared." After the words were finished, George Han suddenly swelled with jade energy...

Chapter 3547

Boom!

Yuguang explodes!

“Burning silence!”

An angry voice roared!

Right hand giant red!

“Heavenly Fire!”

Shuanghuo wrapped around his hands!

“Break it for me!” The two giant fists that wrapped George Han bombed forward.

The air is tearing, the earth is even shaking!

The sky was red, and the entire surrounding anti-Buddha was lit, and even the air was completely silent at this moment.

The fire monster resisted with all his strength, and countless fire water continued to drip down his body, and he already felt that his body was reaching its limit.

But this pair of fists from ShangGeorge Han was still unstoppable, and even... he was still retreating faintly.

“Goodbye.”

George Han finished his words and waved his left hand slightly. In an instant, the fire monster only felt that the giant mountain suddenly slammed into him. He didn't even take a single effort, and the whole person immediately retreated.

After retreating several dozen meters in a row, when his body flew upside down, George Han's fire suddenly exploded, and the huge sea of fire instantly swallowed the fire monster directly.

“Ah!” In the sea of fire, the fire monster screamed and screamed, and the three monsters could barely see a Hokage struggling inside the fire.

Not to mention being tormented there, even if the three monsters are looking at it, they all feel pain in their bodies.

Cruelty, this is just so ***ing brutal.

“Come back.” With a soft drink, George Han took it away, and the sea of fire suddenly disappeared.

Everything is back to normal.

Only a black shadow suddenly fell from the air, and then hit the ground heavily.

“Big brother!”

Seeing this, the three monsters hurried towards the place where the fire monster landed
, but the fire monster at this time was already rolling around in pain.

The water monster hurriedly summoned water energy and sprinkled it on the fire monster. With the white smoke billowing, the dark fire inside the fire monster was extinguished. It stopped rolling and struggling, lying on the ground and could only breathe heavily.

Seeing that the eldest brother was all right, the three monsters felt a little relieved and looked back at George Han.

There was still anger in their eyes, but it was clear that there was more fear in their eyes.

“Clap!”

George Han patted his face lightly with his right hand, then smiled at the four monsters, and said, “How is it? Does this face hit loud enough?”

If it’s just something else, Han Three thousand is indeed not too sure to win.

Although there are seven generations of spiritual energy, but these four monsters can be called heavenly kings, obviously they are not ordinary people.

However, only on the fire, George Han was full of confidence.

The Skyfire itself already has a certain degree of heat, and now he has cultivated the magical art of burning stillness. George Han’s confidence cannot be said to be bursting, but at least it is absolutely extraordinary.

playing with fire?

Will George Han be afraid? !

“You...”

Hearing George Han’s words, the three monsters were so angry that they pointed at George Han and wanted to say something, but they couldn’t hold back a single fart after holding it for a long time.

Facts speak louder than all eloquence, what else can they use to compete with George Han? !

“I don’t know how many years this king has controlled the fire, and the infinite fire under this jungle has also been absorbed by me. I don’t believe that the surname is Han. I don’t believe that you can beat me with anything.” Although the fire monster was seriously injured, But at this time, he still insisted and roared unwillingly.

“You’re already lying down, what’s not to believe?” George Han laughed softly: “Besides, since you asked, I’ll tell you mercifully, you’re not smoking ground fire. Didn’t you see what I was shouting just now?”

“Heavenly Fire.” “Since it is Heavenly Fire, how can Earthly Fire be able to fight?” The four monsters looked at each other in surprise, obviously not believing George Han’s statement. “You have a seed.” The fire monster roared angrily:

“The mountains don’t turn the water, the earth doesn’t turn the sky, don’t be complacent.” The words fell, the four looked at each other, and immediately, the sky and the earth suddenly changed color,

George Han raised his eyes When I looked back and looked back, the four monsters on the ground had already disappeared. What’s even more bizarre is that a strange sound suddenly came from outside the jungle far away..
