

Chapter 371

A clean hand wanted no washing! Gina, just wait and see! "Gary..." "Mr. Taylor, Frank has a bottom line. He would never do something like that." Gary ruthlessly interrupted Carlo. Carlo was also a heartless person! If he found out Judith's true identity, he might secretly hurt Judith and the children without understanding the actual situation. Now that Mila had yet to be found, it was not the right time to lay their cards on the table. "OK!" Carlo didn't doubt Gary's persistence. Instead, he looked at Gina with suspicion. He had been investigating the incident that happened at the hotel last time. Carlo suddenly realized that he did not understand Gina well. Trees with termites would one day fall. Things would come to light one day! Gina was about to speak when she suddenly saw Frank coming from upstairs with something in his hand. She swallowed back the words she was about to say. "Let's go." Frank glanced at Gary. His tone was extremely cold. "Alright." Gary stood up. Carlo felt heartbroken when he saw that Frank was unwilling to even call him. He stopped Frank with a dignified tone. "Frank, since you are back, let's have a meal together!" "No, thanks. I am afraid that I will vomit before I eat anything." Frank said indifferently and walked downstairs with Gary. "Frank, you..." When Gina saw this, she coldly smiled. Seeing Frank and Carlo completely broken off was exactly what she wanted. When she looked at Carlo, her gaze became very gentle. She suddenly stood up and chased after Frank. Frank's coming back today gave her a good opportunity. "Frank! Frank, don't go! Since you don't usually come back, how about you stay and have a meal with your father?" she shouted anxiously as she chased. Frank and Gary had already reached the stairs. Gina pushed Gary away and ran in front of Frank.

She looked up with a firm expression as if she was determined to keep Frank stay today, When Frank saw Gina's expression, he felt a bit nauseous. Knowing that Gina was going to play tricks again, Frank frowned and said angrily, "Get lost!" Calculation flashed across Gina's eyes before she hurriedly said, "Frank, we haven't had a meal together for a long time. Just stay and have a meal with us. Your father has been waiting for you to come back. Oh..." Gina let out a long scream and rolled down the stairs. Her frightened voice echoed in the resplendent villa. Gary's eyes were filled with horror. He thought, "This damned woman is simply insane. She wants to frame Frank again! Why is she so high on such tricks?" As for Frank, he stood quietly on the stairs, coldly watching Gina's farce. Gina rolled a few steps down the stairs, her whole body hurt so much that she frowned. "Mom..." Eliza and Carlo also hurried over to look. Gina looked at Frank with a painful expression. "Frank, it's fine if you don't want to stay. Why did you push me?"