

Chapter 3772

This altar is in the shape of four images and is trapezoidal.

Although it is built of loess, the workmanship is not sloppy at all. There are pattern carvings on all sides of the altar, mainly beasts from the four directions, and the corresponding totems of gods and beasts are carved in the direction of east, west, north and south.

Among them, the Suzaku Linglong is majestic and majestic, the white tiger is poised, not angered and arrogant, the Xuanwu sits peacefully, and is as stable as Mount Tai, but only this dragon from the east is like an eggplant beaten by frost, wilting, how can there be any dragon majesty Arguably.

It's more like a sick... worm!

As for this pillar, there is no need to say more, just hearing the name will tell you a thing or two.

The dragon and the ant-man here should not be dealt with.

There is only one thing that George Han still doesn't quite understand. The Dragon of Silver Armor clearly said that this place should be a swampy land, but it is surrounded by loess, and there are mountains above it.

You still believe in drought, but where did the swamp come from

? !

In the blink of an eye, hundreds of ant-men have already urged the two to come to the pillar. After that, a group of flying ant-men carried an iron chain as thick as a human arm, and killed the two of them by wrapping them on both sides. The dead were tied to the trapped dragon pillar.

Amelia Su looked at George Han, only to see him nodding slightly to indicate that he didn't need to worry.

And almost at the same time, accompanied by a fire in the distance, the next second, the fire fell instantly, and it didn't stop until the front of the altar.

Along with its shape, a beautiful figure appeared in front of the two of them.

She is about 1.65 meters tall, with fiery red skin all over her body, and even her hair is upright and blood-red. Although this look is indeed a bit weird, it is better than her face, which is quite exotic.

"Participate in the city master."

As soon as she landed, the entire ant army knelt down and shouted.

"This is the queen ant." Amelia Su looked at the woman's tail and said softly to George Han.

George Han nodded, as it should be.

While the two were looking at her, she was also looking at them. At the end, she said, "Humans?"

"Yes." George Han said, "The ant queen?"

"Exactly." She said, "You know me. ?"

George Han shook his head: "I don't know, I'm just guessing based on your appearance."

"Why did you come to my Fire City?"

"I was entrusted by someone to come here to find the swampy land. The entrance to the central area is the entrance that descends into the swamp, and I didn't know how to get here." George Han thought for a while and said.

Hearing George Han's words, she obviously frowned: "This place is very dry, do you think there is a swamp?"

George Han is also very strange about this. After all, coming in from the entrance of the crater, the two couples have almost reached the bottom, but there is not much water here, let alone swampy land.

"I'm taking the liberty to ask, is it a dragon who asked you to come here?" she said.

George Han really wanted to say how do you know, but in order not to expose the Silver Armored Dragon in advance, George Han did not choose to confirm, of course, he did not deny it, just looked at her lightly, waiting for her next sentence .

"That's not surprising." She sneered: "For so many years, he doesn't know how many people have come here to find a swampy land, but in fact he just wants people to come to the city of fire to find treasures, you have been deceived. Already ."

"Deceived?" George Han and Amelia Su frowned almost at the same time.

She nodded, then smiled: "Yes. If you don't believe it, you can ask any of the people in the city at will, and I believe they will give you a very satisfactory answer."

"For the sake of you being deceived, I'll spare your life." After she finished speaking, she turned to the little ant leader next to her and said, "Let them go, take them to eat, and then let them go around the city to understand and thoroughly. After that, they want to leave. I will send them out of here."

"But the city owner..."

"Do as I tell you."

"My subordinates understand." The little ant leader took the order, and looked at the flying ants in the air, and suddenly, the flying ants worked together to remove the trapped dragon iron cable from the two of them.

The queen ant glanced at the two of them, and with a move on her body, it turned into a fire and disappeared in place, heading towards the direction from which she came.

At this time, George Han and his wife, who were put down, also descended from the altar under the respectful invitation of the ants.

"Come with me." The little ant leader finished speaking and walked forward first.

Chapter 3773

"It seems that we may have been deceived." Amelia Su couldn't help whispering in George Han's ear.

Judging from the current situation, George Han agrees with Amelia Su's opinion. Otherwise, how could this ant queen be so generous not only to kill herself and others, but also to let George Han go wherever she wants to go. What about turning around?

If there is really any ghost, isn't this asking for trouble?

Secondly, and also the most important core point, that is, the queen ant even said that she can ask herself and others to ask the people in the city.

She can control the soldiers, but how can she control the people of a city?

Therefore, from these two points, and the surrounding environment is so dry, George Han really tends to be deceived.

But in the end he was brought by the four dragons. He looked at the Buddha's face without looking at the monk's face. He should not use the relationship between the four dragons and himself to do this kind of thing

.

However, they have come, and there is no reason to leave.

It really doesn't work, it's acceptable to treat it as a special two-person trip with Amelia Su.

Thinking of this, George Han pulled Amelia Su and followed the ant army towards the central city.

Just like when they first arrived, the central area of the city was very lively, with all kinds of stalls lining the streets, and the vendors were doing their best to sell, creating a prosperous city scene.

However, with the appearance of the two couples, this excitement soon came to an abrupt end and replaced with another.

"Look, this is a human race. It's really tall."

"Yeah, a head is bigger than several of us, it's really scary."

"However, what are these humans doing here? The terrain here is bad, what's there to do?"

"Hurry up and get out, the food here is not enough. These two people are so big, they are prisoners. We have to be poor as well."

"Humans are so abominable, do you want to deprive even this underground space?"

A group of ant residents whispered, but almost all of them pointed at George Hanliang and his wife.

Hearing these words, George Han and Amelia Su felt somewhat uncomfortable, especially in this situation, they really felt like they were crossing the street.

However, George Han and Amelia Su didn't plan to argue, and the little leader who led them forward didn't plan to stop either, but just continued to move forward with the two of them.

After about ten minutes, the group finally came to the most central part of the city.

The leader turned his head at this time: "You two, is there anything else you're interested in seeing? If so, please let us know. Let's rest first, eat something, and then continue to go."

"Let's eat first." George Han replied.

The little leader nodded, and after instructing the younger brother next to him, the younger brother left quickly.

"It's not that our conditions are poor, but the two are really too big, so we must not be able to go to ordinary restaurants, we can only make do with the two of us for a short rest in the central square. As for the meal, I have already arranged for someone to go there. Ready." It did n't take long for the words to fall, and a group of ants came over neatly with bowls nearly twice their body size.

After taking over their jobs, Amelia Su and George Han looked at each other and smiled bitterly for a while.

That's two bowls of something similar to mashed potatoes.

"There is very little running water in the city of Earth Fire, so the products are scarce. Don't dislike it. These things are actually the rations for a dozen of us for nearly a month." The little leader said.

George Han and Amelia Su heard the words and put down their bowls.

"What do you two mean?"

"Since it's your rations for nearly a month, how can we take it out?" George Han finished his words and looked at Amelia Su: "It seems that we really should go, otherwise if you do, it will only bring them more trouble and consumption."

Amelia Su nodded, "Yes."

"The two of you won't look around more?" the little leader asked in confusion.

George Han waved his hand: "I don't think so, we'll wait here, you go and tell the queen, we'll say goodbye, and then leave." The little leader glanced at the two of them and nodded: "Then you two. Wait a moment."

After he finished speaking, he was about to leave with someone.

As soon as he left, George Han smiled slightly, glanced at Amelia Su, stood up, and walked slowly towards a residential house not far away...

